VIGOROUS

Senator Morgan Criticizes the President's Action in Regard to Cuba.

Trial of the Competitor Crew a Text For Vigorous Talk.

Sherman Invoked the Rule of Secrecy and the Doors Closed.

Washington, June 5.—In the senate amendments to the joint resolution for the reorganization of the Northern Pacific were offered by Mr. Mitchell, of Oregon, and Mr. Nelson, of Minnesota, providing that the new company shall be liable on the land warranties of the old company, and also for injuries to persons and properties.

Mr. Morgan asked for action on his resolut on requesting the president for information as to the capture of the Competitor by a Spanish warship, and the condemnation to death of United States citizens; whether any demand has been made for the release of the United States citizens. The senator said that while the case was one of great gravity, involving the unwarranted condemnation to death of American citizens, yet no information was available except through press reports and rumors. The executive branch had not given the slightest information on the subject. Mr. Morgan read the statutes requiring the president to make a demand for the release of all American citizens. He argued that it was the duty of the president, under the constitution, to keep congress advised on the state of the Union, and in particular on foreign affairs. Of late a courteous custom had arisen to adopt resolutions making requests on the president for information, but this did not relieve the president from the duty of giving full information. And it was only of late days, Mr. Morgan said, that this failure of the executive to give information to congress had grown up.

When some question was raised by Mr. Sherman as to the propriety of Mr. Morgan's making public use of the testimony of Mr. Lawrence before the committee on foreign relations, the Alabama senator sharply rejoined that there should be no such concealment and hiding of facts from the country.

Mr. Morgan said that the testimony of Lawrence, who was present at the Competitor trial at Havana, showed the grossly irregular character of the proceedings. "And yet," declared the senator, "the president pays no more attention to the subject than though it had been the slaughter of some poor negro or mulatto in the Cuban army." Mr. Morgan said he did not want congress to leave Washington, thus committing to the president the sole authority to demand or withhold a demand for the release of the American citizens, to recognize or withhold recognition of belligerency.

Mr. Mills reminded Mr. Morgan that the Lawrence testimony had shown that the American on trial at Havana had not understood any of the proceedings which were conducted in Spanish.

"Yes," Mr. Morgan continued, "the testimony of Mr. Lawrence shows that the entire trial was in the Spanish language. When the American prisoner was told to stand up he said: 'I do not understand what you have been saying. How am I to answer you?' A brief explanation was made. Then the sentence of death was pronounced on that American citizen." The senator said occasional groans and shrieks were heard from the stricken country, telling us of the terrible butchery going on there. But so far as authentic and official information was concerned it was withheld. He had received several letters from Cuba, some with the seals broken, detailing the conditions prevailing. Before congress adjourned it should know from the president what the situation was, and if it was true that hundreds of men are penned in a small room; whether these American citizens are to meet death without a demand.

Mr. Morgan said he had great respect for the office of president; it was an American characteristic to be proud of their government; but this was a government of law, not of private will. The president is enjoined to execute the laws; he swears in his official oath to obey the law. The senator had requested information of the president, and he had replied that it was incompatible with the public interest, although section 200 of the statutes provided when a demand was made for the release of an American that all the facts relative thereto, as soon as practicable, be communicated by the president to congress.

The senator declared that every day of the confinement of the American prisoners at Havana was a day of American dishonor. He did not know what would become of the delay and inaction. Possibly in the end the Americans would be so humbled as to sue to Spain for pardon. But congress, which was the sole war power, should not leave without authorizing that power to be used if necessary. "In the event that those American prisoners are not released and delivered to the president," concluded Mr. Morgan, "we should authorize the president to send ships of war sufficient to secure their release."

As Mr. Morgan closed, Mr. Sherman rose quickly and stated that the proceedings were of such a character as to come within senate rule 35, requiring secrecy. Thereupon the presiding officer, Mr. Platt, directed the galleries to be cleared and the doors closed. Rule 35 covering business requiring secrecy is seldom invoked, being different from the rule governing ordinary executive sessions.

At 1 o'clock the senate doors were opened, and Mr. Lodge moved to take up the immigration bill, but before the spectators had secured their seats in the galleries, another order to close the doors was made, Mr. Hill and Mr. Harris protesting against taking Mr. Morgan from the floor.

At 1:15 p. m. the open session was resumed, and Mr. Lodge moved to take up the immigration bill. On a yea and nay vote, many senators refrained from voting, breaking a quorum. The vote was 23 to 8, or fourteen short of a quorum. A call of the senate disclosed forty-eight senators, more than a quorum, making it evident that a filibuster was in progress.

Mr. Hill and Mr. Harris urged that the bill should not be pressed in the absence of Mr. Gibson, of Maryland, who has taken a leading part in opposing the bill.

Mr. Lodge said Mr. Gibson was perfectly aware the bill would come up, and if it was to be considered at this session it must be done at once. Finally the obstruction was withdrawn, and the bill was taken up and made the unfinished business without division.

Mr. Morgan offered an amendment that the proposed restrictions on immigration should not apply to persons "arriving from the island of Cuba." Having secured the right-of-way for the immigration bill, Mr. Lodge agreed to allow it to be laid aside temporarily, and Mr. Mitchell spoke on his resolution for the election of senators by vote of the people.

Mr. Aldrich, from the committee on rules from the senate, offered a resolution for the adjournment of congress on Monday next at 2 p. m. The resolution was referred to the appropriations committee.

The discussion behind the closed doors was devoted entirely to the Cuban question, and the greater part of the time was consumed by Senator Morgan in the continuation of his speech in open session.

Senators Sherman and Lodge made brief explanations of their visit to the White House and their conference with the president, saying they had gone there as a sub-committee of the foreign relations committee. They expressed the opinion as a result of that interview that the executive was using all due vigilance in the protection of the rights of American citizens, and said that while it might be well enough for congress to put forth its opinion in regard to the situation in Cuba in the shape of a joint resolution, there was little probability of getting such a resolution through without prolonged debate, which, in view of the general desire for early adjournment could not be had.

Senator Morgan's remarks were upon the lines he had followed in the open senate. He said that entirely too much confidence was reposed in the executive in this matter; that whatever was done should be done with the concurrence and co-operation of congress and intimated congress should not adjourn without taking some action for the protection of our own people in Cuba. He said the object of his measure was to secure the right of Americans and the refusal of the president to furnish information as to what had been done in connection with the Competitor affair left congress dependent entirely upon unofficial sources for information.

Senators Turple and Pasco made brief speeches. The Morgan resolution went to the calendar.

THE HOUSE.

Washington, June 5.—In order to circumvent Mr. Kem, the Nebraska Populist, who has been blocking all unanimous consent legislation for over two weeks, Mr. Henderson, from the committee on rules today presented a special order making tomorrow individual suspension day. The rule was adopted without division. There has been a tremendous pressure from members for recognition to pass bills of local importance, and this order will give them the opportunity.

Mr. Grosvenor called up his resolution requesting the president and the several cabinet officers for a detailed statement for the removals from office since March 3, 1893, and the appointments since that date, together with the number of ex-soldiers who have been appointed, promoted, reduced or removed.

There was some good-humored fencing over the resolution. Mr. Grosvenor demanded the previous question, and refused to yield to Mr. Dockery, who wanted an amendment to extend the resolution so as to go back to March 5, 1890, and take in the last administration. Mr. Dockery suggested that unless his amendment was adopted, the resolution might be suspected of partisanship. Mr. Grosvenor laughingly expressed his amazement at such a suggestion.

The resolution declaring Mr. Martin (Pop), from South Carolina, entitled to the seat occupied by Mr. Lockhart (Dem) was agreed to, 114 to 5, the chair declining to recognize the point of no quorum and Mr. Martin was sworn in.

The Rinaker-Downing contested election case from the Sixteenth district, which was recommitted two weeks ago for the purpose of obtaining a recount of the votes in the district, was called up in the house this afternoon.

RELEASED ON PAROLE.

Hammond Sails From South Africa For America.

London, June 5.—The Pall Mall Gazette late this afternoon, says it learns that a dispatch has been received here from Pretoria saying that the Johannesburg reform leaders have been released on parole. The dispatch adds that John Hammond, the American engineer, sails for Southampton on board the steamship Athenia, on his way to the United States.

Weather in May.

May was quite a remarkable month from a weather standpoint. It was the warmest May in twenty-five years, the record showing an average of 53 degrees. The thermometer reached the highest point touched on any May day of record in the office, 88 degrees on the 7th and 9th. On the 8th it stood at 87 and the 10th at 86. The coldest day was the 13th, when the temperature dropped to 38 degrees. The prevailing direction of the wind was northeast, the total movement 8162 miles and the highest velocity forty-two miles on the 3rd. The total precipitation was 5.18 inches. There were but five clear days, eighteen were partly cloudy and eight cloudy. There was frost on the 20th.

HEAVY RAIN STORM.

St. Paul, June 5.—A Fergus Falls special to the Dispatch says: There was a tremendous rain last night, the fall being 4.67 inches. The railway tracks were washed badly and all trains were late. The storm was limited to the territory between Barnesville and Alexandria, but extended northwest.

THE BRITISH W. T. A.

London, June 5.—At the concluding meeting of the British Women's Temperance association, various resolutions of a temperance character and urging the government to insist upon Armenian reform were carried. Votes of thanks were accorded to Lady Henry Somerset and Miss Frances E. Willard amid great enthusiasm.

A RUSSIAN EXPOSITION.

Washington, June 5.—Advices received at the Russian legation here are that after the closing of coronation festivities there will be opened on June 9, the exhibition of Russian art and manufactures at Nizni-Novgorod.

HERMANNS

Chief Harrigan, of St. Louis, Says the Fugitive Minister Is Located.

He Knows Where the Alleged Criminal Is Now in Hiding.

If Utah Authorities Send Enough Money He Will Be Arrested.

St. Louis, June 5.—Chief Harrigan and his detectives think they have located Rev. Francis Hermanns, the fugitive minister of Salt Lake City, Utah, who is charged with a double murder. They have not only learned positively that Hermanns was at the Union station in this city about May 11, but they have traced his movements since then, and Chief Harrigan admits that he knows where the alleged criminal is in hiding.

The chief acknowledged more than this. He admitted that yesterday he sent a telegram to Chief of Police Peate, of Salt Lake City, informing him that Hermanns had been located and telling him that if the Salt Lake authorities would send enough money here, the St. Louis police would bring about the fugitive criminal's apprehension.

Chief Harrigan refused to go into details of the work his department has done in the case. He was traced to St. Louis by means of two baggage checks, Nos. 1276 and 23,721, which were issued from the baggage room at the Kansas City Union station on the evening of May 10. The description of the man to whom these checks were given tallied precisely with that of Hermanns.

THE VIRGINIA DEMOCRATS.

They Boom Senator Daniel For the Presidency.

Staunton, Va., June 5.—The Democratic convention adopted strong resolutions in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at a ratio of 16 to 1. The unit rule was adopted and a resolution passed declaring that the Democrats of Virginia would hail with enthusiasm the nomination of Senator Daniel as one of the candidates of the party on the national ticket.

Delegates-at-large were elected as follows: John W. Daniel, W. A. Jones, Clause A. Swanson and H. S. Morrison; alternates, W. O. Harraway, Roger Gregory, George B. Keezell, Frank Tinnie. The electors-at-large are: W. H. Mellwaine, of Dinwiddie, and J. W. Marshall, of Craig. Peter J. Otey was chosen for national committeeman.

FIGHTING IN CUBA.

More Insurgent Losses According to Weyler's Bureau.

Havana, June 5.—Further advices from Santiago De Cuba say that an expedition under the leadership of Rus has been landed at Marabi bay. Maximo Gomez, on May 20, was encamped at the Anton farm, twenty-seven miles from Puerto Principe.

The insurgents attacked the military line in Pinar Del Rio, near Mariel, in the front and in the rear, but were repulsed, and Col. Tort, acting in conjunction with troops from the south of Melina, province of Havana, has inflicted severe loss upon the enemy. Lieut. Perez was seriously wounded and seven soldiers were slightly wounded.

The troops under Maj. Carreiso have been engaged with the rebels at Cienaga De Sapata, the rebels losing eight killed. Col. Pavlo has been engaged with the insurgents in Matanzeas, the rebels leaving five killed and retiring with their wounded.

During several skirmishes which have recently taken place in the provinces of Havana, Matanzeas, Santa Clara and Santiago De Cuba the insurgents left fifteen killed and the troops captured five prisoners. In Pinar Del Rio nine insurgents have surrendered to the Spanish authorities at different places. The troops had four killed and nine wounded.

SECURED A NEW TREE.

Washington, June 4.—The agricultural department has added a new and very beautiful tree to the tree tribe of the United States. This is a native of Southern Africa, where it is known commonly as the "silver tree." Secretary Morton has received from an entomological agent of the department at the Cape of Good Hope, a number of the seeds of the silver tree. Some attempts have been made to acclimate it in Southern Europe, but so far as known without success, and one species is reported to exist in California. It is said that while even in Washington it can be cultivated in a greenhouse, it may be successfully introduced in Southern California and Southern Florida.

A fallacy

You think of Scott's Emulsion as only for those who have consumption or who have inherited a tendency to it. Almost its greatest use is for those whose condition is so impaired as not to be able to get the good they should out of their ordinary food. Strange as it may seem, it is nevertheless true, that in nearly every case with these, SCOTT'S EMULSION of Cod-liver Oil brings back appetite, stimulates digestion, restores color and plumpness, and controls the diseases of thinness. The diseases of thinness are consumption and scrofula, poor blood—starved blood. The former comes of the latter. "Just as good" is not Scott's Emulsion.

Received Fatal Injuries in a Runaway Accident.

Newport, N. H., June 5.—Austin Corbin, the well-known capitalist of New York, died at 9:42 o'clock last night from injuries received by the running away of the horses attached to his carriage at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, while Mr. Corbin was driving from his estate and game preserves, two miles from here, accompanied by his grandson, Edgell Corbin, and the latter's tutor. The driver was John Stokes.

When coming out of the entrance gate the horses shied and in their fright dashed across the road, colliding with a high stone wall. The carriage was overturned sufficiently to eject with great force all its occupants, with the result that one of Mr. Corbin's legs was broken in two places and the other wrenched, while his head was terribly bruised. The driver was injured internally and died at 8 o'clock. Edgell Corbin had one leg broken besides other injuries, while the tutor escaped with a severe shaking up.

INSTRUCTED FOR SILVER.

The North Dakota Democrats Get Into Line.

Jamestown, N. D., June 5.—The Democratic state convention met here yesterday. John Burke, of Rolette, was chosen temporary chairman and afterward made permanent chairman of the convention. The chair appointed a committee of seven on resolutions. The committee reported resolutions favoring free coinage of both gold and silver, which were adopted. The following delegates to the Chicago convention were elected: Senators Roach and Williams, of Grand Forks; J. H. Holt, of Burleigh; H. R. Hartman, of Cass; Eaton, of Ramsey; Wilson, of Pembina.

On motion of Martin Ryan, of Cass, the delegates were instructed to vote for free coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, and to vote for a candidate for president who would stand on that platform.

THE SHILOH ASSOCIATION.

Officers Chosen at the Recent Annual Meeting.

St. Louis, June 5.—The City of Shiloh Battlefield association informs the Associated Press that at the annual meeting of that association very recently held on the grounds the following officers were elected: Gen. John A. McClernand, Springfield, Ill., president; Col. W. A. Looney, Memphis, Tenn., vice president; Capt. F. Y. Hedley, Bunkerhill, Ill., and James Williams, Savannah, Tenn., secretaries; James Coleman, Monticello, Ill., treasurer. The new organization and the national Shiloh commission are in hearty accord and will co-operate with earnestness.

ATTACKS UPON GERMANS.

A Scheme to Russianize the Chinese Army.

London, June 5.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says that in consequence of the indignities to which German officers have been subjected recently by the Chinese soldiers they were detailed to train, culminating in the murder of one of the Germans by the bodyguard of the viceroy of Nankin, many of these officers have left Nankin.

German warships have arrived there and have demanded an indemnity for the attacks made upon the German officers. These attacks, according to the special dispatch, are believed to be part of a scheme to drive out the Germans and place the Chinese army under Russian control.

STATE SUPREME COURT.

New Trial in Peterson Libel Case Granted.

St. Paul, June 5.—Chief Justice Start yesterday afternoon handed down a decision in the case of ex-Senator S. D. Peterson, respondent, vs. the Western Union Telegraph company, appellant, reversing the order of the lower court and granting a new trial as requested by the telegraph company. The suit resulted from an alleged libelous telegram sent to Peterson while serving in the legislature, and the solon secured a good-sized verdict against the telegraph company for delivering the message, which was anonymous. Other decisions were:

The trustees of Macalester college and Albert A. Page, respondents, vs. George W. Nesbitt, appellant. Order affirmed.

James H. Mahler and Lucia R. Mahler, appellants, vs. Merchants National bank and A. K. Brockelsby, defendants, United States Bank of Hartford, respondent. Order affirmed.

Emil Malmgren et al, plaintiffs, respondents, vs. William N. Shandrew, et al, defendants, Charles Hunsaker et al, appellants. Judgment and order affirmed.

John McKasy, as assignee of E. R. Smith & Co., insolvents, respondent, vs. Joseph P. Huber et al, appellants. Order reversed and new trial granted.

Mary A. Weltsch, appellant, vs. the Town of Stark, in Brown county, respondent. Order affirmed.

F. S. Pinkus, appellant, vs. Minneapolis linen mills et al, respondents. Order affirmed.

David Teser, in behalf of himself and all others intersted, appelant, vs. J. C. Ogorman, as receiver of Seymour, Sabin & Co., J. C. Ogorman, J. N. Searles, respondents. Order affirmed.

GUILTY OF BOODLING.

Peoria, Ill., June 5.—Representative Simon Schaffer, of Chicago, was found guilty yesterday afternoon of "boodling" in connection with a bill introduced in the last legislature affecting Peoria distilling interests. A motion for a new trial was entered at once.

A JURY OF HONOR.

Madrid, June 5.—A jury of honor composed of generals will be appointed to arrange the dispute between Marshal Martinez De Campos and Gen. Borrero.

TO BE REORGANIZED.

Berlin, June 5.—The budget committee of the reichstag today adopted a bill to reorganize the Fourth battalion.

FOR THE SUFFERERS.

Cleveland, June 5.—The master plumbers at their session yesterday voted to appropriate $500 for the sufferers of the St. Louis tornado.

UNVEILED

Were Erected By Pennsylvania on the Battlefield at Gettysburg.

Interesting Ceremonies at the Unveiling of the Memorials Today.

Gettysburg, Pa., June 5.—An immense crowd of veterans of the war and others gathered on the battlefield here today to witness the unveiling of the splendid equestrian statues erected by the state of Pennsylvania in honor of the memory of Gens. George S. Meade and Winfield S. Hancock, two Pennsylvania soldiers, the record of whose gallant participation in the battle of Gettysburg will forever live in American history. The ceremonies began with the unveiling of the Meade memorial at 10:30. This duty was performed by Master George Gordon Meade, a grandson of the dead hero. As the drapery fell from the beautiful statue, a salute was fired by light battery "C," U. S. A., which came here from the Washington barracks under command of Capt. Lancaster. This was followed by the dedicatory exercises conducted by George G. Meade Post No. 16, G. A. R. An oration by Gen. David McMurtrie Gregg, of Reading, the famous commander of the Second cavalry division in the battle of Gettysburg, concluded the Meade ceremonies.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the Hancock statue was unveiled. The ceremonies were much the same as at the Meade unveiling in the morning. Battery "C" fired a salute, Gen. Gobin transferred the statue to the state and Governor Hastings received it. The oration was delivered by Gen. Henry H. Bingham, a congressman from Philadelphia, who was on Gen. Hancock's staff at Gettysburg. Hundreds of Grand Army men, who attended the annual meeting at Chambersburg, stopped here on their way home to participate in the ceremonies.

Among the distinguished men present were: Maj. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, commanding the U. S. A.; Gen. Brooke, U. S. A., who commands the department of the Platte; Col. George Meade, the son of Gen. Meade; Lieut. Col. Brooke Rawle and Maj. Edward Carpenter, of Philadelphia, and Col. Finley, of New York, who was on Hancock's staff. Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, of New York, who commanded the Union left in the battle here, was unable to come. He sent a letter expressing his regret and eulogizing in patriotic language the heroes whose memory was honored today.

The statues installed here are very handsome. They were erected at the expense of the state and cost over $100,000. The work was begun about two years ago under the direction of a committee consisting of Gen. J. P. Taylor, president; Gen. S. J. S. Gobin and Wilson Hazleburst, and Col. John P. Nicholson and R. Bruce Ricketts, all of whom were present today. The foundations for the statues are ten feet below the surface and are built of Gettysburg granite. The pedestals are of white granite. The Hancock statue stands on East cemetery hill, nearly opposite the National cemetery. The statue is ten feet high, resting on a pedestal of block granite, the whole seventeen feet long, ten feet wide and twelve feet high. The horse and rider face to the southwest, Gen. Hancock as if directing the movement of troops on that line.

The statue to Gen. Meade stands on an elevation west of his headquarters and quite near the "bloody angle." Its pedestal is composed of three massive granite blocks weighing twenty, twenty-eight and thirty-five tons respectively. It is almost fifteen feet long, eight feet wide and ten feet high. Both statues are of the best quality of bronze, of heroic size, and are about thirty feet from the ground to the highest point.

CLAIMS THE ESTATE.

A Reputed Daughter of Kate Stetson Appears.

Kansas City, Mo., June 5.—Mrs. Catherine Shirley, the local claimant for the Stetson estate, claims to be the daughter of Mrs. Kate Stokes-Stetson by Carl Anthony. Her story is that her mother, then Kate Stokes, married Anthony many years ago when she (Kate Stokes) was a circus rider. Mrs. Shirley claims that she was born at Quincy, Ill., nineteen years ago as a result of that union, and that her mother left her in the care of a Mrs. Snyder, frequently providing her with money from New York. It is not known that the Anthonys ever got a divorce. Mr. and Mrs. Stetson never had any children, and it is doubtful if Stetson ever knew that his wife had a child living. Mrs. Shirley was married when quite young, but is now separated from her husband.

A BEAUTIFUL LEGACY.

Chicago, June 5.—The wooded island in Jackson park is just now the largest and finest rose garden in the United States. Two million flowers are in full bloom, including sixty-five varieties. The garden is a legacy of the World's fair.

FILLED CHEESE BILL.

Washington, June 5.—The senate yesterday passed the filled cheese bill by a vote of 37 to 12.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has always been kept up to the standard. It is the same it was forty years ago, the best sold.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The Spanish cabinet has had a long discussion over the Campos-Borrero affair. They decided to prevent the duel and as a result of the decision both men have been placed under arrest in their houses. Gen. Borrero refuses to retract his offensive statement and prefers to resign the command of the Fifth army corps.

The Presbyterian general assembly made the following appropriations: To foreign missions, $108,000; to home missions, $100,000; with the direction that the board of home missions set apart 5 per cent of the contributions for the purpose of restoring the reserve fund; church extension, $50,000; assembly's fund, $3000; total, $310,000.

A trolley car on the Cudahy line of the Milwaukee Electric Railway company was ambushed last night at a point two miles south of the city, and fully twenty shots were fired into it. Two men were shot, one fatally. They are: John E. Breen, motorman, of Manistee, Mich., 27 years old, shot through the lower abdomen, will die; Adolph Schwarz, conductor, of Milwaukee, shot through the leg, condition not serious.

The French government has made a formal protest against the action of this government in putting an absolute embargo on French cattle.

Judge E. D. Humphreys, of Valparaiso, was nominated yesterday by the Republican convention of the Fifth Indiana congressional district over Congressman J. Frank Hanley by a majority of fifty-two-one-hundredths of a vote, out of a total of 245 votes. The contest was a bitter one.

Jacob Rich as an individual and the First Street railroad of San Jose, Cal., have filed a petition in insolvency. The total liabilities are placed in round numbers at $600,000. The assets consist of the electric and horse lines in San Jose and suburbs of the company and a large amount of real estate owned by Jacob Rich. All the property is encumbered for its full value.

Senator Allison, chairman of the senate committee on appropriations, expressed the opinion in view of the progress on legislative matters yesterday that final adjournment of congress was possible by Saturday or at the latest by Monday.

The United States Church Army, a body like the Salvation Army, has been founded in New York. Col. Hadley commands it and ex-Postmaster Thomas L. James is the treasurer. They have leased a building on Lexington avenue which will be used as a training school. Like schools will be established in the slums.

THE DAKOTAS.

NORTH DAKOTA.

The case of the state vs. C. W. Blunt was concluded at Devil's Lake Wednesday. Blunt was found guilty of rape in the first degree and the lightest sentence he can receive will be ten years. The crime for which he was convicted was an assault upon the person of little 10-year-old Vannetta O'Hara, daughter of P. E. O'Hara, at Churches Ferry last January. The verdict gives universal satisfaction.

While moving a house J. W. Fennell, who lives at Gilby, was struck by the sweep of a capstan in the stomach. He was driving the team and the clevis slipped from the sweep. He died from the injuries received. He was an old resident and leaves a family.

The annual encampment and convention of the Seventh Day Adventists of North and South Dakota begins in Jamestown this week and continues in session for ten days. Many of the Adventists come by team overland from all parts of the two states, and pitching their tents in the groves near the city, enjoy a ten-days' campmeeting each year.

A list of school indemnity lands ceded to the state has been filed. It comprises 12,800 acres in the Bismarck district.

Col. Creel has called a meeting of the military board of the state guard to convene at Devil's Lake June 6. Action will be taken in the matter of an encampment.

Citizens of Bismarck are making elaborate preparations for the entertainment of visitors during the state firemen's tournament, to be held June 16,17 and 18. In addition to the other features a carnival of sports has been arranged.

Sheep shearing in Morton county has begun and it is estimated that the clip will exceed that of last year. At Glen Ullen, a large wool point, shearing began several days ago.

The damage case of Conductor Carnathan against the city of Devil's Lake will come up for trial at the December term of the district court. Photographs have been taken of the water troughs that line the streets of the city for use in the trial. The one in which the little girl was drowned has been furnished with protectors since the accident occurred. The troughs are even with the sidewalks and there is great wonder that this was the first fatal accident to occur from that source.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

There was one death as the result of wild parsnip poisoning in the family of Ole Orslal of Buffalo township.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Notice is hereby given that default has been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Helen C. Kennedy and Frank L. Kennedy her husband, mortgagors, to Mark H. Shryer, mortgagee, bearing date the 29th day of November, 1893, with power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, on the 29th day of March, 1894, at 2:50 o'clock p. m., in Book 89 of mortgages on page 461, which default has continued to the date of this notice, by the failure and neglect of said mortgagors to make payment of the entire principal and interest by said mortgage secured, and which default has continued for more than one year.

And whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of forty-three hundred seventy-six and 55-100 dollars, and whereas the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: Lots three (3), four (4), nine (9), ten (10), eleven (11) and twelve (12), all in block 20; lots three (3) and four (4) in block fourteen (14); lot eleven (11), in block eight (8); lots twenty-four (24), twenty-five (25), twenty-six (26) and twenty-seven (27), in block forty-one (41); and lots three (3) and four (4), in block thirty-five (35); all in First Division of New Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof in the office of the register of deeds, in St. Louis County and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 6th day of July, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of forty-three hundred seventy-six and 55-100 dollars and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises and seventy-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Notice is hereby given that default has been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by James Muckle and Elizabeth A. Muckle, his wife, mortgagors, to John C. Whiteford, mortgagee, bearing date the 23rd day of October, 1890, with power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, on the 28th day of October, 1890, at 8 o'clock a. m., in Book 62 of mortgages, on page 114, which default has continued to the date of this notice, by the failure and neglect of said mortgagor to make payment of the promissory note for $900 and interest by said mortgage secured, which by its terms became due and payable on the first day of October, 1895, and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of seven hundred and ninety-four and 20-100 dollars, and whereas the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: Lot number nine (9), in block number two hundred eighty-two (282), in Fourth Division of West Duluth, Minnesota, according to the accepted and recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 22nd day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of seven hundred and ninety-four and 20-100 dollars and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Notice of Assessment

For Improvement of the Parkway Space on Superior Street From Eight Avenue East to Twenty-Second Avenue East.

Office of the Board of Public Works,
Duluth, Minn., May 22, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the board of park commissioners of the city of Duluth has filed its report in the office of the board of public works of the city of Duluth, showing it has caused the parkway space between the curb and the sidewalk line on both sides of Superior street in the city of Duluth to be improved by the planting of shade trees at a cost of eighteen hundred and thirty ($1830) dollars; and that the board of public works of said city will meet at their office in the city hall in said city on Friday, the 5th day of June, A. D. 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. to make an assessment for the amount of the special benefit beyond the general benefit to all real estate in the city derived from such improvement upon the real estate that may be found and determined to be specially benefited thereby. The highest amount in the aggregate of said special benefit to be so assessed has been determined by said board of public works to the sum of nine hundred fifteen ($915) dollars.

All lands in said city to which special benefits result from said improvement will be assessed in proportion, as near as may be, to the special benefits resulting thereto from said improvement. All persons interested in said proceedings shall have the right to be present and be heard at said time and place in relation to the making of said assessment.

RESOLUTION OF THE COMMON COUNCIL.

To the President and Common Council:

Your committee on drains, sewers and parks, to whom was referred petition of Charles S. Pierce for a sanitary sewer in West Third street, from Twenty-third avenue west to a point 96 feet east of Twenty-fifth avenue west, having considered the same, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

J. W. Rowley,
Arthur J. Harker,
Committee.

Be It Resolved by the Common Council of the City of Duluth:

That the petition of Charles S. Pierce, asking for the making of the following improvement, to-wit: That a sanitary sewer be constructed in West Third street, from Twenty-third avenue west to a point 96 feet east of Twenty-fifth avenue west, and said Charles S. Pierce and others being the owners of property fronting upon the line of said proposed improvement or those who are to be assessed therefor, be and the same is hereby referred to the board of public works to investigate the same and to determine the following questions and report their answers to the same to this council:

First. Is the contemplated improvement necessary and proper?

Second. Is the improvement petitioned for by a majority of the owners to be assessed therefor?

Third. Can real estate be found benefited to the extent of the damages, costs and expenses incurred in making said improvement?

Alderman Rowley moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was declared adopted upon the following vote:

Yeas—Alderman Christensen, Coventry, Crandall, Dahl, Hanson, Harker, Harwood, Krumsieg, Nelson, Olafson, Richardson, Rowley, Trevillion, Mr. President—14.

Nays—None.

Passed June 1, 1896.

Approved June 2, 1896.

Henry Truelsen,
Mayor.

Correct attest:

C. E. Richardson,
City Clerk.

WEST END

Several West Duluth People Thinking of Emigrating to the South.

J. J. Frey Will Leave Next Tuesday to Investigate Georgia Lands.

Tent of the Maccabees Has Been Organized at Proctorknott.

There are quite a number of West Duluth people who again have an attack of the Georgia-Florida fever, and it is probable that a small colony will soon be transplanted from here to the regions of the sunny South. J. J. Frey, the real estate man, is interested in the country, and will start next Tuesday to look over some lands in Southern Georgia. This is his second trip of investigation, the first one extending only to the northern part of the state. This time he will visit the territory surrounding Valdosta, located not far from the boundary line between Georgia and Florida. His intention is to secure a fertile piece of territory which may be profitably divided up into small farms for fruit raising. He will be absent several weeks.

MACCABEES AT PROCTORKNOTT.

A tent of Maccabees has recently been organized at Proctorknott with the following officers: J. L. Gallagher, commander; L. J. Dousseron, lieutenant commander; T. Haley, record keeper; John Preston, chaplain; M. Jollymore, sergeant; A. Jollymore, master-at-arms. The tent is reported to be in a very prosperous condition, new candidates being admitted at each meeting.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

Rev. F. E. Higgins, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Barnum, will preach at Asbury M. E. church next Sunday at 10:30 a. m. and at 8 p. m. He will also hold services at Proctorknott at 4 o'clock p. m. Dr. Forbes will officiate at the dedication of the new Methodist church at Hibbing.

Mrs. Archie Boyd and family will leave shortly for Hibbing, where Mr. Boyd is in business.

A. La Framboise and Mr. Wood have secured the yacht Rambler and will run it between West Duluth and up river points during the summer.

John Forsyth has finished his new residence at Proctorknott and has moved his family there to reside.

Mrs. B. E. Simpson is building an addition to the Proctorknott hotel.

Rev. F. Higgins, of Barnum, will preach at the preparatory services at the Presbyterian church this evening.

Miss Susie McLindon, who has been visiting her uncle, P. F. Smith, for some time has gone to Bridgeport, Wis.

The dance by Pearl Hive, No. 4, K. O. T. M., takes place this evening at Great Eastern hall. Supper will be served in Gilby's hall, and a chartered car has been engaged to transport the Duuth visitors to their homes.

Capt. Green, of the Mitchell & McClure tug Ada Barrett, was presented with a beautiful pair of marine glasses yesterday by the new crew.

Alexander Smith has just returned from the celebration of a golden wedding at Preston, Wis. Mrs. Smith and sister, Mrs. J. W. Preston, who accompanied Mr. Smith to Preston, will remain there for a time visiting.

The West Duluth Ball club will go to New Duluth Sunday to play the New Duluths a return game.

Wall paper at Nygren's.

The State Fair.

The Minnesota State Fair association has set aside a space 100 by 300 feet in the building immediately west of the grand stand, to be devoted to the exhibit of the products of the Northwest. This building is provided with an asphalt floor, good light and well protected.

The Minnesota state fair will occur during the first week of September and commence simultaneously with the meeting of the G. A. R. Good authority places the attendance on account of the Grand Army at not less than 100,000 people, the majority coming largely from the Middle and Eastern states. This will undoubtedly afford a fine opportunity for displaying the resources of the different portions of the state and St. Louis county would do well to see that an exhibit of the resources here is made.

This boat will also make an excursion in the interest of the churches of Superior and Duluth on Saturday, and one on Tuesday, June 9, under the auspices of the Minnesota firemen.

IT has been held that consumption is hereditary, and the fact that one person of a family had died with consumption was considered a sure sign that others of that family could not escape it. This is partly true and partly untrue. A man with weak lungs is likely to transmit that weakness to his children. But there is no reason in the world why the weakness should be allowed to develop.

Keep the lungs full of rich, red, wholesome blood, and the weakness will disappear. Decaying tissues will be thrown off, and new material will be added until the lungs are well and perfectly strong again. This is the thing that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does. This is what makes it cure 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption where it is taken according to directions. It searches out disease germs, wherever they may be in the body and forces them out of the system. It supplies the blood with rich, life-giving properties. It makes the appetite good, digestion perfect. Sold by all medicine dealers.

THE PRODUCE MARKET.

There was not much of interest in the market on Michigan street today, except that supplies were plentiful. Some Wisconsin berries were in the market, but they were extra fine and were snapped up right away.

DULUTH QUOTATIONS.

Note—The quotations below are for goods which change hands in lots on the open market; in filling orders, in order to secure best goods for shipping and to cover cost incurred, an advance over jobbing prices has to be charged. The figures are changed daily.

MADAGASCAR'S CASE.

London, June 5.—Secretary for foreign affairs, George A. Curzon, in the house of commons, today, replying to a question as to whether Great Britain and the United States would assent to the island's conversion into a French colony, in view of their engagements with Madagascar, said the matter was receiving the attention of the government and the latter expected shortly to receive information as to the views of the United States on the subject.

THE SUIT DISMISSED.

New York, June 5.—The suit brought by Henry M. Washburn and others to prevent the payment of interest upon the debenture stock of the National Wall Paper company has been dismissed by Judge Wheeler, of the United States circuit court. Judge Wheeler held that, while at the time the suit was begun, there had been enough money earned by the company to pay the dividend, that condition no longer exists. It is held in the decision also that debenture stock is more like a debt against a corporation than of the character of stock.

LEADING BREWER DEAD.

Cincinnati, July 5.—Herr John Hauck, president of the John Hauck Brewing company, died last night, aged 65 years. He was a multi-millionaire and one of the most prominent brewers in the West.

RIO GRANDE DIVIDEND.

New York, June 5.—It is officially stated that the directors of the Denver & Rio Grande railroad have declared a dividend of 1 per cent, payable July 15.

HIGHER

Higher Cables and Bullish Indiana Report Sent Up Wheat Prices.

Loss of Twenty Points in Indiana Condition During Last Month.

Great Falling Off in Seaboard Clearances of Wheat and Flour.

Wheat opened very strong this morning and ruled strong and advancing all day. The opening advance was due to higher cables and the Indiana crop report and was strengthened further by late cables showing an additional rise. The figures representing conditions of wheat in Indiana, given out yesterday, were not quite as low as the precise result as given out this morning. The condition of that state is 53.8 now as compared with 71 a month ago, a loss in condition of 20 points during May. With such a piece of well authenticated bull news to begin with, the price started strong. A great falling off in the seaboard clearances of wheat and flour compared with the heavy amount shipped yesterday, did much to quiet the demand and when New York wired that cablegrams from Paris again referred to recent rains in France having benefited wheat the enthusiasm on the buying side cooled off a little more.

July opened here 3¼c up at 59c, reacted to 58¾c, but soon became stronger and advanced to 59¾c by 10 o'clock. It then eased off to 59c but recovered and after noon sold up to touching 59¾c. The mills bought 25,000 bus at ¼c over July and shippers took 100,000 bus at the July price. The close was 1½c higher all round than yesterday, except for wheat to arrive which was 1¾c higher. It is estimated that wheat stocks here will increase 100,000 bus this week. Traders were bidding 73c for September this afternoon.

Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 60¾c; July, 61c. No. 1 northern, cash, 58¾c; June, 59¼c; July, 59¾c asked; September, 61¾c asked. No. 2 northern, cash, 56¾@57¾c. No. 3, 54¾@55¾c. Rejected, 51¾@55¾c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 60¾c; No. 1 northern, 59¾c asked. Rye, 32c. No. 2 oats, 18½@19c; No. 3 oats, 18@18½c. Flax, 79¼c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 225; oats, 37; rye, 11; barley, 22; flax, 6. Receipts—Wheat, 124,906 bus; oats, 67,207 bus; rye, 9512 bus; barley, 20,457 bus; flax, 6447 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 102,223 bus; oats, 2387 bus.

THE LIVERPOOL MARKET.

Liverpool, June 5.—Closing: Wheat, spot steady; No. 1 northern spring, average price per cental, 5s 1d. Futures steady; current, second, third, fourth and fifth months, 5s 3¾d. Maize, spot, firm; mixed American, per cental, 3s 1½d. Futures quiet; current month, 3s 1½d; second, 3s 1d; third, 3s 1¼d; fourth, 3s 1¾d; fifth and sixth, 3s 2¼d. Flour, first bakers Minneapolis, average price per sack of 280 pounds, 17s.

NEW YORK MONEY.

New York, June 5.—Money on call easy at 2 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4@5½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.88¾@4.89 for demand and $4.87¼@4.87½ for sixty days. Posted rates $4.88@4.88½ and $4.89@4.89½. Commercial bills $4.86¼. Silver certificates 65¾@66¼; sales 30,000 at 66. Bar silver 65¾. Mexican dollars 53½. Government bonds steady. New 4s registered, $1.10½; coupon, $1.10½; 5s registered, $1.12¾; coupon, $1.13¼; 4s registered, $1.07½; coupon, $1.09¼; 2s registered, 94½; Pacific 6s of '95, $1.00½.

NEW YORK GRAIN.

New York, June 5.—Close: Wheat, June, 65¼c; July, 66½c; August, 66¾c; September, 65¾c; December, 67¼c. Corn, July, 31½c. Oats, July, 23¼c.

CATTLE AND HOGS.

Chicago, June 5.—Hogs, official receipts yesterday, 24,395; shipments, 6041. Sheep, official receipts yesterday, 11,192; shipments, 2561. Estimated receipts hogs tomorrow, 11,000; estimated receipts hogs today, 17,000; left over, 2000. Market active and 5c higher than yesterday's closing. Light, $3.35@3.45; mixed, $3.05@3.35; rough, $2.85@3.00. Cattle receipts, 3500. Market dull and generally 5c to 10c lower; quality inferior. Beeves, $3.35@4.20; cows and heifers, $1.50@3.85; stockers and feeders, $2.50@3.70. Sheep, receipts, 11,000. Market slow and weak.

THE MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Minneapolis, June 5.—Wheat, stronger, closing: June, 56¾c; July, 56¾c; September, 56¾c. On track—No. 1 hard, 57¾c; No. 1 northern, 56¾c; No. 2 northern, 56¼c. Receipts 251 cars.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 307 Board of Trade, Chicago, June 5.—The wheat market opened strong on a continuation of yesterday's bull feeling and on the Indiana crop report which showed a decrease in growing wheat of more than the most sanguine bull had anticipated. Additional advices came from Kansas and Michigan and Ontario of poor prospects and the Modern Miller summary was exceedingly favorable to holders and predicted only 55,000,000 bus yield for Kansas. This is about double last year's crop, but only about one-half of the early estimate. The advance to 59c brought heavy realizing sales, but on the consequent decline the wheat was rebought. The most prominent of our local operators are arrayed on the buying side and though outside trade is not yet broad, it shows some increase. If crop conditions as reported are true present prices of wheat will look very low when the crop is harvested.

Corn and oats rather heavy and seemed little inclined to advance with wheat.

Provisions more active with some good buying by packers.

Puts, July wheat, 58¾@¾c.

Calls, July wheat, 60⅞@61c.

STOCKS IN WALL STREET.

Manhattan the Feature of the Early Trading.

New York, June 5.—The stock market opened irregular with the trading in small volume. Bay State Gas and Manhattan were conspicuous for strength, advancing 1⅛ and ¼ per cent respectively. The changes otherwise were slight. Manhattan was the feature of speculation up to 11 o'clock, and on large transactions advanced ½ per cent to 105¾, declining later to 104½ on realizing orders. Interests identified with the management have been conspicuous purchasers of the shares which tended to induce covering on a larger scale. Expectations of favorable action on the propositions submitted by the company to the rapid transit commission is the ostensible cause of the buoyancy of the stock. The general list was more active and also displayed aggressive strength. Tobacco rising 1¾ per cent. Silver certificates were off to 69 on realizing orders.

The market relapsed into dullness after 11 o'clock, but prices were well sustained, except Tobacco, which receded 1 per cent to 64¼. Ruling prices showed at 12 o'clock sharp improvements in the grangers and other leading properties, and a more cheerful tone was discernible than had been noted for some time past. The sales to noon were 60,500 shares.

A PIGMY GRAVEYARD.

Farmer John Lapping, of Waynesburg, Pa., has uncovered the graves of twenty pigmies in a field that is rich in archaeological treasures, says the Chicago Times-Herald. The skeletons had been placed in the graves unprotected by masonry. The heads had been bent forward over the breast and the limbs had been drawn up. In every instance the face had been turned toward the east. Mr. Lapping also found a diary bound in deer skin. It had belonged to his grandfather and the latter, on Oct. 17, 1796, noted the discovery of the skeleton of a person not over three feet high. The graves are supposed to have existed for thousands of years.

A LAKE THAT DISAPPEARS.

There is a lake near Valdosta, Ga., which disappears every three or four years and comes back again, no matter what be the condition of the weather, says the Louisville Courier-Journal. The lake is three miles long and three-quarters of a mile wide, with an average depth of fifteen feet of water, but at the present time the water is rapidly passing off through the subterranean passages and in the next two or three weeks there will be left in its place a mammoth basin, furnishing as pretty a beach as can be found anywhere. After a month or so it begins to return, and then in a couple of weeks it is the same magnificent stretch of water as it was before.

ORDEALS FOR PRESIDENTS.

In writing of the "Pardoning Power" (invested in the president) Hon. Benjamin Harrison says in June Ladies Home Journal: "The papers in these murder cases are usually voluminous—a full record or an abstract of the evidence making part. If the trial seems to have been fairly conducted, and no new exculpatory evidence is produced, and the sentence does not seem to have been unduly severe, the president refuses to interfere. He cannot weigh the evidence, as well as the judge and jury. They saw and heard the witnesses, and he has only a writing before him. It happens sometimes that the wife or mother of the condemned man comes in person to plead for mercy, and I know of no more trying ordeal than to hear their tearful and sobbing utterances, and to feel that a public duty requires that they be denied their prayer."

TELEPHONING ON LIGHT.

A Great Discovery Made by Prof. Bell.

When walking through the laboratory of the "Volta bureau" with Dr. A. Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, I picked up on one of the shelves a piece of pine board about half an inch thick and eight inches square, says a writer in the World's Progress. Out of the center of it extended a speaking tube, which apparently rested against a thin disk of bright metal sunk into the opposite side.

This metal was like a silver mirror and was about as large around as the bottom of a tumbler. I asked Dr. Bell what it was, and he told me it was a perfected instrument whose original construction enabled him to project his voice from one point to another through the medium of the sunbeam. It enabled him, in other words, to send sounds along a ray of light without the aid of an electric wire. He took the instrument and put the tube in his mouth, holding the mirror so that it caught the sun and cast a little shadow-disk of light on the opposite wall. Then by breathing slightly he made this shadow increase and diminish and assume various shapes perfected instrument whose original mirror diaphragm.

"That shows you," he said, "how the by the action of his breath against the the ray. Now, if you will put a little bottle with some soot in it where that shadow is on the wall and speak into the tube you will find that the sound will travel along the ray of light, and by having a receiver connected with the bottle one would be able to hear what you are saying. We have spoken by this means to and from points 200 yards apart, and action of the diaphragm is carried along speech may be sent along a beam of light there seems to be no reason to doubt that in this we first used selenium, a very rare substance and very sensitive to light. We have found, however, that we can produce very good results with common soot, and the discoveries may yet be made which will make such an invention commercially practicable."

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF ST. LOUIS COUNTY.

HERALD'S CIRCULATION HIGH-WATER MARK..... 17,148

THE WEATHER.

United States Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth. Synopsis of weather conditions for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m. (Central time), June 5.—The disturbance which was central in Manitoba yesterday has moved to Lake Superior, as a storm of slight energy. It has been followed by a marked increase in pressure from Manitoba southward to Colorado.

Showers have occurred in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Manitoba, the Dakotas, Nebraska and Colorado. The heaviest was that at St. Paul with a rainfall of .80 inch. The weather is now fair in all districts, except in the upper lake region, where local showers are reported at this morning's observation.

In the lake region and the Mississippi valley the temperature is higher than at the same hour yesterday; it has become about 10 degrees cooler in the Dakotas.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 62; maximum yesterday, 88; minimum yesterday, 48; rainfall, .06 inch.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity: Fair and slightly cooler tonight and Saturday; fresh and brisk westerly winds this afternoon and tonight; Saturday westerly winds becoming variable.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Official.

Chicago, June 5.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow: Minnesota: Fair tonight and Saturday; cooler in eastern portion; warmer in west portion; variable winds. For Wisconsin: Probably thunder showers this afternoon in the eastern portion tonight; fair in west portion tonight; Saturday, fair; cooler in western portion tonight; fresh southerly winds.

The depth of water over the miter sill in St. Mary's ship canal at 7 a. m. was 14 feet 2 inches and the forecast is that it remains stationary during the next twenty-four hours.

THE KING OF LONG ISLAND.

A Newport dispatch announced the death last evening of Austin Corbin, the well known New York capitalist and millionaire, who has been styled the king of Long Island, on account of the manner in which he developed that territory and converted it from a practically unoccupied waste into the home of thousands of people. In recent years Mr. Corbin has had in view a line of steamships to run across the Atlantic in five days, and a few weeks ago The Herald received from him a large and handsomely printed brochure devoted to this subject, explaining the advantages of a shorter route to Europe and giving the favorable comments made by the American and English press on his project. Mr. Corbin was a man of great business energy and indomitable pluck and had he not met with a fatal accident yesterday he would probably have achieved success with this object before his career was ended. But this is merely speculation on what might have been. The book of his life has closed, and it is left to others to take up the project that he inaugurated.

Mr. Corbin was born in Newport, R. I., in 1827. He studied law with Chief Justice Cushing of New Hampshire and Governor Metcalf of Rhode Island and graduated from Harvard law school. He practiced awhile at home, but in 1851 he removed to Davenport, Iowa, where he remained until 1865. He was successful as a lawyer, but did not practice long. In 1854 he became a partner in the banking firm of Macklot & Corbin, which was the only concern of the kind in Davenport which did not suspend payment in the financial panic of 1857. With the prestige thus earned, Mr. Corbin was enabled to organize the first national bank which began business under the national currency act of 1863. One result of the succesful operation of that bank was that Mr. Corbin was enabled in 1865 to come to New York with a handsome fortune. His coming, however, was only a step in his career. He founded the Corbin Banking company, and with that as a means he acquired interest after interest, until he became one of the leading men in railroad and various other matters.

The development of Coney Island into a great fashionable summer resort first brought him into general prominence. For many years that famous beach had been given over to the lowest and most depraved characters. Its condition was such that scarcely any one dared to remain within its borders after nightfall. Its western half was a pandemonium, its eastern a dreary waste. In 1873, Mr. Corbin, while spending a week in the neighborhood, saw and appreciated the remarkable natural advantages of the place as a summer resort. In the following three years he had succeeded in purchasing a large portion of the island. In 1878 he opened both a new railway system from New York to his property and a great hotel on its ocean front. Both road and hotel sprang into instant popularity and rewarded their founder and his associates to a degree that was almost unparalleled. Subsequent improvements still further increased the popularity and pecuniary value of Manhattan beach, until it became, as it has since remained, one of the best paying properties of its class upon the American coast.

Immediately following his success with Coney Island, Mr. Corbin turned his attention to Long Island and the Long Island railroads. This great territory, despite its wonderful beauty and healthfulness, its proximity to New York, and its natural availability to be the home of a great population, had been so overlooked and neglected as to be practically a terra incognita to the outside world. Its roads were disgraceful, and its railways a laughing-stock to the general public and a burden to its people. Mr. Corbin secured control of the railroads on the one side, taking the position of president, and on the other organized a vast scheme whereby the island was to be developed into a territory of homes, hotels and clubs. Both ventures proved more than successful. The railways, which for years had done nothing but oscillate between bankruptcy and insolvency proceedings, were amalgamated into one system. This was so ably managed as to become remunerative to its owners and a source of prosperity to the entire island.

The other scheme was equally prosperous. Babylon, Patchogue, Shelter Island and the smaller communities became thriving towns, with an increase in wealth and population such as had never been dreamed of by its former citizens. So rapid was the development of Long Island under the Corbin regime that it was soon found necessary to establish new ferries and other lines of communication between it and its neighbors. Mr. Corbin was also instrumental in once reorganizing the great Reading railroad of Pennsylvania. Personally he was remarkably well preserved, the gray in his hair and beard being the only visible indication of his years. He was large, athletic and active, moving like a man of 30. Prompt and decisive, he was somewhat arbitrary in his government, but eminently just in his treatment of his armies of employes. Impetuous and somewhat brusque in his manner, he had the faculty of winning not only loyalty but esteem from those who came in close contact with him, and he earned respect by the jealous pride with which he regarded his commercial honor.

DOWN WITH MERRIAMISM!

The Wadena Pioneer last week rose to the defense of Mr. Merriam from the attacks which The Herald and other papers have been making upon him and the political machine which he has put in control of the Republican party in this state. The chief burden of its defense was that Mr. Merriam personally is a gentleman of good standing in the business world and of irreproachable integrity. The Elk River Star-News replies to the Wadena paper in a vigorous manner and shows that while the statements made by the Pioneer as to Mr. Merriam as a business man may be true, his political career is of a very different character. The Star-News says:

"But Mr. Merriam from a business standpoint and Mr. Merriam from a political standpoint are two very different people. From a business point of view he is all the Wadena paper claims for him, but in politics he represents a system that is a menace to our political institutions and endangers the stability of our form of government. While fitted by education and training to fill any public office creditably, his occupancy of any prominent office cannot be a credit to the people, because of the methods he is popularly understood to adopt to forward his political ambitions. Mr. Merriam's theory of politics carried out would mean the utter disqualification of the poor man from holding any office for which there is a rich competitor. His theory of politics came within a few hundred votes of wiping out the handsome Republican majority in Minnesota a few years ago, and just so sure as Merriam triumphs it will only be a question of time when public liberty will be trampled into the ground. The newspapers of Minnesota cannot afford to endorse Merriamism in politics. They owe it to their professional pride, to the maintenance of their influence and standing, to denounce it in unqualified language. We say, down with Merriamism wherever it shows its head! No man who loves his country can endorse venalism in politics, and no newspaper with a particle of pride or self-respect ought for a moment to even tacitly approve of boodleism."

Today Mr. Merriam is using every means at his command to nominate Dave Clough for governor, and the Merriam machine is conducting the Clough campaign in the style that has made Merriamism a stench in the nostrils of the people. There is nothing too disreputable politically which the machine will not do to carry its point. Officeholders are being coaxed, bullied and threatened to work for Clough. All sorts of promises are being made that will never be kept. Every man who can be whipped into line feels the lash of the machine. When none of these methods will succeed, boodle will undoubtedly be used.

Can St. Louis county Republicans afford to endorse Merriamism and all that the word implies? Yet they are asked to do it when they are asked to support Clough for governor. Clough means Merriam, and nothing else. Down with Merriamism!

REPUBLICANS WORRIED.

According to a Washington dispatch, some of the Republicans at the capital are worried over the results of the Oregon election. The regard it as significant of a free-coinage move which will sweep the West. For this reason nearly all of them use this as an argument for a compromise platform plank at St. Louis. Among those who apparently favor such a straddle is Senator Chandler. He has been for several years past inclined towards compromises on money questions, and is known in private among his senatorial associates to lean towards free coinage. He said, in commenting on the Oregon election: "I see no reason why we should lose Oregon and other Western states. If, however, the convention declares for the single gold standard, there may be some doubt of the result."

It is assumed by other Republican senators, who, like Chandler, are regarded by the goldbugs as weak on the money question, that the Republican voters of the West who are clamoring for free coinage can be held again in line by some mysterious utterance in the platform, to be subsequently interpreted to them upon the stump. Senator Burrows and Senator Gallinger are both reported as urgent that the utmost care should be exercised in the declaration of the St. Louis convention upon the financial question, and that the plank shall be so worded as to give as little possible offense to those Republicans who are preparing to join the Democrats in a combination with the Populists and Silverites.

How far these views may extend among the delegates at St. Louis it is impossible to say, but it is significant that Senator Foraker of Ohio intimated the other day that the money plank would not be so strongly pronounced in favor of the single gold standard as many of the goldbugs are claiming. It is very clear that the Oregon election and the great popular enthusiasm for silver shown in the Democratic caucuses all over the country must have a powerful effect at St. Louis. It is now certain that the Chicago convention will adopt a free silver platform and put up a free silver candidate. Will the Republicans adopt a directly contrary policy?

Jim Hill has started out surveyors again over the route of the proposed line from Fosston to Duluth. It is said that he has done this to create the impression that he is about to build, and thus to defeat the proposition in Polk county to give $100,000 in bonds to the Hines' road. Mr. Hill has worked this bluff so often, however, that it is now quite a chestnut, and few people pay any attention to it. He should try some new game to gull the people. Perhaps his friend, Attorney General Childs, might enjoin Farmer Hines from proceeding further.

Mr. Towne will no doubt have an enthusiastic reception. He deserves it on account of his good work for Duluth and the whole state. The placing of Duluth harbor under the continuous contract system is an achievement of the very greatest importance.

The Virginia Democrats endorsed Senator Daniel for a place on the presidential ticket. If the Chicago convention should select Senator Daniel it would make a good choice. He is one of the ablest men in the country, and is an eloquent speaker.

Mr. Lee deserves the support of St. Louis county Republicans, because he is fought by the Merriam machine and because he lives in the Sixth district. And he will get the delegation from this county.

The best newspaper of The Herald's great series every week is the Saturday edition. Tomorrow The Saturday Herald will be filled with many interesting special articles, beautifully illustrated, in addition to presenting all the news of the day.

The Clough boomers continue their loud boasting. They make lots of noise, considering the small size of their following. But all their shouting will not avail. Dave Clough is hardly in the fight.

Mr. Towne's return from Washington will be the occasion of a great popular demonstration tomorrow. Everyone should turn out and do honor to Duluth's able congressman.

The Kentucky Democrats turned down Secretary Carlisle and the goldbugs very hard. It is a great victory for Senator Blackburn and Gen. Hardin.

Do not miss The Saturday Herald tomorrow. Bright and breezy and up-to-date.

CLAPP'S LIVELY FIGHT.

Minneapolis Journal: The Pioneer Press prints a long editorial in opposition to Clapp's candidacy for governor, in which it says that "those who are cooperating with Mr. Clapp are working against every sustantial interest which St. Paul has at stake in the coming election, and in that of two years hence. What substantial interest St. Paul has that would be injured by the election of Moses Clapp is not apparent. But what substantial interest Mr. Merriam, for whom the Pioneer Press always talks, has in the election two years hence, is not so difficult to understand. What the Pioneer Press says shows up very plainly the participation of Governor Merriam in the desperate contest now being carried on in Ramsey county, and the part which his senatorial ambitions play in this gubernatorial contest. It is also apparent, too, from this editorial that Mr. Clapp must be making a very lively and very promising campaign.

DEPENDS UPON HIMSELF.

Elk River Star-News: As to Congressman Towne, his return to congress depends wholly upon himself. The Republicans will be pleased to send him back as a Republican upon a Republican platform. "Wall street agents" are an unknown quantity in the Sixth district, and we suspect they are merely a figment of Bro. Day's imagination even in the First district, where it is quite evident he has all he can do in bringing people to his way of thinking without attempting to regulate the politics of the Sixth district.

CLOUGH MEN'S PROMISES.

Minneapolis Journal: If half of what is told is true, the Clough men are doing all they can to estrange the friends of Lee and Towne in the Sixth district. These men have many mutual friends, who are anxious that there should be a perfect and friendly understanding between them and who view the movements of the Clough men with some alarm. That such an understanding would give Lee and Towne complete control of the district is everywhere admitted; hence the desire of Clough's admirers to stir up strife. There are some natural difficulties in the way of such an understanding, however, and of these Clough's friends are taking the fullest advantage. Towne and Lee are on opposite sides of the money question, for instance, a fact which the silver admirers of the governor have used for all it is worth. They are reported to have made all sorts of overtures to Towne men in Duluth, and to have gone so far as to offer to guarantee Towne enough votes outside of St. Louis, Lake and Cook counties to renominate him on a free silver platform, regardless of the action of the St. Louis national convention.

DULUTH'S NEW FAME.

St. Paul Dispatch: Duluth is the Mecca of women who, when men die, suddenly remember the quiet marriage of long ago. The hegira is hastened when the dead man has left money.

USELESS TO REMAIN.

London, June 5.—A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from Lorenzo Marques, Delagoa Bay, says that Mr. Painter, an American prospector, has arrived there aboard the Harlech Castle from Tamative, Madagascar, where the English and American consuls told him that it was useless to remain because the French had refused licenses to foreign prospectors.

A HANDSOME SURPLUS.

London, June 5.—A Capetown dispatch to the Times says that in the house of assembly, Mr. Spring, in announcing the budget, said that the available surplus was £1,250,000; estimated surplus, net for the year, £822,000.

FIRE IN BOSTON.

Boston, June 5.—At an early hour this morning fire began in the large Boyleston brewery of Haffenrefer & Co., in the Jamaica Plain district, and destroyed the main building. The loss will be at least $200,000.

NOMINATIONS CONFIRMED.

Washington, June 5.—The senate has confirmed the following nominations: William Churchill, of New York, to be consul general at Apia, Samoa, and John M. Vandiver, to be postmaster at Rome, Ga.

ANARCHY IN CRETE.

Sounds of Battle in the Villages Heard.

London, June 5.—The Times has a dispatch from Athens which says that telegrams from the island of Crete indicate a state of anarchy in the whole western portion of the island. In numerous villages the Turks are besieged by the insurgent Christians. Wherever the Mohammedans are in a majority, they plunder and murder the Christians. The sound of battle in the villages is distinctly heard on board the warships in Suda bay.

The present administration was refused endorsement in every convention.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—
Default having been made in the payment of the sum of twelve hundred thirty-five dollars and seventy cents ($1235.70), which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Huntington W. Merchant, single, as mortgagor, to Edward Farquhar, as mortgagee, bearing date the 7th day of July, 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 8th day of July, 1892, at 8 o'clock a. m., in Book 103 of mortgages on page 71; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lots numbered twenty-five (25) and twenty-six (26), in block numbered nine (9), and lots numbered one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4) and five (5), in block numbered thirteen (13), all in Merchant's Park Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof; said lots being situated in St. Louis County and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 18th day of July, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of twelve hundred thirty-five and 70-100 dollars, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—
Notice is hereby given that default has been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Gust J. Miller and Emma L. Miller, his wife, mortgagors, to Lucius H. Whipple, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of March, 1893, with power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, on the 2nd day of March, 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in Book 125 of mortgages, on page 39; which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Lucius H. Whipple, mortgagee, to John C. Whiteford, by written assignment dated the 13th day of April, 1893, and recorded in the office of said register of deeds on the 13th day of April, 1893, in Book 97 of mortgages, on page 419; which default has continued to the date of this notice, by the failure and neglect of said mortgagors to make payment of the promissory note for $1000 and interest by said mortgage secured, which by its terms became due and payable on the first day of April, 1896, and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of eleven hundred and sixteen and 39-100 dollars, and whereas the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The westerly one-half (w½) of lot number three hundred and forty-nine (349), in block number one hundred and ten (110), Duluth Proper, Second Division, according to the duly accepted and recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 22nd day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of eleven hundred and sixteen and 39-100 dollars and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one yeaord s druls hrduih duH shrdh r one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—
Notice is hereby given that default has been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Adolph H. W. Eckstein, mortgagor, to John M. Root, mortgagee, bearing date the 14th day of August, 1891, with power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, on the 14th day of August, 1891, at 4 o'clock p. m., in Book 71 of mortgages on page 492, which said mortgage was duly assigned to Ella J. Sawyer by written assignment thereof, duly recorded in the office of said register of deeds in said county and state on the 5th day of September, 1891, at 4 o'clock p. m., in Book 73 of mortgages, on page 515, which default has continued to the date of this notice, by the failure and neglect of said mortgagor to make payment of the principal and interest and the whole thereof by said mortgage secured and which default has continued for more than two years.

And whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of eight hundred ninety-seven and 28-100 dollars, and whereas the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: The southwest quarter of the northeast quarter (sw¼ of ne¼) of section numbered thirty-four (34), township number fifty (50) north, of range number fifteen (15) west of the fourth principal meridian, containing forty (40) acres, more or less, in St. Louis County and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the sixth day of July, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of eight hundred ninety-seven and 28-100 dollars, and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

DULUTH'S FLAX MARKET.

Its Great Growth is Alarming the Chicago People.

The rapid advancement of Duluth as a flax market is beginning to be felt in other markets, especially in Chicago, which has heretofore had a large "bulge" on the Western portion of the business. A year or two ago Duluth had but a few thousand bushels of flax stored in the elevators, and today it runs to almost 2,000,000. The Paint, Oil and Drug Review, of Chicago, has noticed this and comments upon it as follows:

"The distribution of the visible supply of flaxseed in the Northwest at the present time affords a topic for reflection, inasmuch as it presents a condition of affairs altogether anomalous when contrasted with that existing in previous years.

"The latest advices from Duluth show that at present there are about 2,000,000 bushels of flax at that point, as against some 3000 bushels a year ago. And it should be borne in mind that this is 1,000,000 bushels less than the quantity shown by earlier statements, while it is nearly treble the amount of available stocks in Chicago.

"That so large a proportion of the crop for the current year should have been diverted from what has been heretofore regarded as its natural outlet appears, at first, a cause for surprise. Yet the causes are not far to seek.

"A large amount of capital has been invested in elevators in Duluth, which is naturally looking for the return which it is quite possible had been promised before investment. Duluth, moreover, lies several hundred miles nearer the flax growing district of the great Northwest than does Chicago, and has as good water connections with the East as has this port. Carrying charges for seed do not materially vary at the two points, although a little more liberality is manifested by the warehousemen of the Minnesota city. It is generally understood that the Duluth stocks are destined for consumption by Eastern mills, which are rapidly reducing them as the season advances. Formerly these buyers supplied their wants in the Chicago market, and the 'new departure' inaugurated this year calls for some comment. It is not likely that the carriers of Duluth, having once realized the fruition of their expectations, will fail to put forth efforts for a continuance of a trade which they have found profitable.

"Under such circumstances it would be, to say the least, sound 'horse sense' for the warehousemen and traders of Chicago to consider the situation in all its bearings. It will scarcely be sufficient to pass the question over with a bald assertion that the elevators of Duluth will be found tolerably well filled at the opening of the coming crop year. That they will have ample room may be set down as certain, particularly in view of the fact that there has been already withdrawn from them something like 1,250,000 bushels, and that Buffalo, Central New York and Pittsburg are certain to drain them still further between now and July 31.

On June 10 and 11 the Northern Pacific railroad will sell tickets to Portland, Ore., at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip, allowing stop-overs going and returning, with choice of routes returning. A small additional charge will be made for passengers wishing to return via San Francisco. For further information, call at city offices, Spalding Hotel block. R. A. Eva, General Agent.

WILL WELCOME HIM.

Plans For the Reception of Congressman Towne.

Congressman Towne will be given a reception tomorrow evening that will be a credit to the people and to him. It will evince the pride the people of Duluth take in the record made by the brilliant representative of their district. All of those who will be present to throw up their caps may not exactly agree with Mr. Towne on money and the tariff, but honesty of purpose and ability always make friends, and, without exception, his townsmen like him and believe in him. And so Duluth will tomorrow night turn out regardless of politics and whoop it up for Charley.

A meeting of the committee on arrangements appointed by the Republican County league was held last evening at the Spalding hotel and a program decided upon. Mr. Towne will be the guest of Mr. Munger at dinner at the Spalding in the evening, and at 7 o'clock he will be escorted from the hotel to the corner of First street and Fourth avenue west, where preparations for an open-air meeting will have been made. Here Mr. Towne will be extended the hand of welcome by the community, and speeches and music will be the order of the hour. Five-minute addresses will be made on the part of the people of Duluth, and it is expected that Mr. Towne will respond with a speech. There will be no politics in it, but it will be simply a welcome home from the neighbors, as it were, to which everybody is invited.

All organizations, both civil and military, are requested to take part, and they are requested to communicate at once with City Clerk Richardson, if they intend to be present, in order that plans may be formed accordingly. Alderman Rowley will have charge of the erection of the platform and R. S. Munger will secure the music. If the weather is unfavorable to the open-air demonstration the exercises will take place under cover.

Reception and Promenade.

On Monday a reception and promenade for the benefit of the building fund of the Women's and Children's home will be given in the steamer North West. It will be a very fine affair, and will give an opportunity to inspect the handsome boat, which has been newly furnished and equipped for the present season. Hoare's orchestra will play, and there will be dancing. Vocal and instrumental music will be given by a number of local musicians.

IS IT DEAD?

Business Men's Association Seems to Have Entirely Disappeared.

Born in October Last and Sank Into Oblivion in January.

Does the Duluth Business Men's association lie wrapped in the cold embrace of death, or is it merely slumbering? If dead, it must be of some exceptionally swift and deadly disease, for when it last gave demonstration of its existence it was in a state of robust health and had money in its purse. Born Oct. 7, 1895, it was last heard from in January last. Its career even at that early period of its existence had already given assurance of great usefulness. Friends who are able to furnish any tidings of its present whereabouts and condition are requested to communicate at once, in order that measures may be taken for its resuscitation, or the coroner notified, as the occasion may demand.

A Herald reporter started out on a search yesterday, a tour of the morgues being first undertaken without result. Remembering that G. R. Laybourn had upon a time officiated as secretary of the organization, a visit to that gentleman's office was made. Mr. Laybourn was found seated at his desk burrowing into a big stack of mail.

"These inquiries concerning the same matter are all ahead of you," remarked Mr. Laybourn, sticking his head up out of the mass of letters, in response to a question as to the association's present state of health. "Your communication will be numbered 4,560,401 and will be answered in its regular order," continued he.

"You have had similar inquiries, then," remarked The Herald man.

"A few—just a few. I answer them during the day, and attend to my own business at night," came the response in muffled tones, as Mr. Laybourn burrowed down again. "The worst of it is," continued he, as he arose in a few moments to breathe, "I can't convince people that I am no longer secretary. They won't believe it. They follow me around the streets, chase me up alleys and I even find them sitting on my door step in the mornings when I open the door to get the milk and let in the cat." And Mr. Laybourn mopped his brow and started nervously at the mail carrier's step resounded in the passage.

The Business Men's association has not had a regular meeting since January, although in the opinion of the majority of its members the interest in it should be maintained. It fills a field that is not occupied by either the chamber of commerce or the jobbers' union. It was organized as a sort of bureau of publicity, to advertise Duluth's advantages and endeavor to attract new enterprises to locate here. Among the literature published by it were statistic cards, giving comparisons of population, ore shipments, flour output, etc., for a period of years. Numerous business men who believe it is a good thing to blow the horn and remind people that Duluth is still at the old stand and intends to do business there for a number of years, would like to see the wheels of the association go around again. Its present officers are: C. H. Graves, president; A. H. Burke, vice president; Henry Nolte, secretary; George W. Buck, treasurer.

An American Evening.

The "patriotic evening" at the First Methodist church this evening will undoubtedly attract a large number of people. It will be given under the auspices of the Chautauqua Literary circle. The addresses, songs and all of the features of the entertainment will be of a patriotic American character. Ex-Governor A. H. Burke will preside and will make an address. Rev. Dr. Humason will also speak and will doubtless stir up strong feelings of patriotism and love of country. Judge Page Morris will address the gathering on "The American Eagle," and that great bird will unquestionably receive a great send off. Pictures of men and women who are famous in the history of the nation and many scenes of interest will be presented. The idea is a new one and is highly commendable.

IF YOU WILL USE A LITTLE REASONING

And not be influenced by the claim that catarrh is a blood disease, you can easily prove that catarrh is climatic. Have you not the severest catarrhal attacks during winter and spring, and have you but little evidence of catarrh during the summer? Yes. Well, this proves it is a climatic disorder, inflaming the membrane of the nasal passages. It is a waste of time and money to invest in blood remedies. The proper treatment is a local application, and the most prompt to cure is that popular remedy, Ely's Cream Balm.

Do not be hoodwinked. Use no "just as good." Salvation Oil is what you want when in need of a good liniment.

COVERED WITH HUMOR

When I was thirteen years old I began to have sore eyes and ears, and from my ears a humor spread. I doctored with five different skilful doctors, but they did me no good. My disease was eczema. By this time I had gone all over my head, face, and body. Nobody thought I would live, and would not have but for CUTICURA REMEDIES. I used four boxes of CUTICURA, five cakes of CUTICURA SOAP, and three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT. My hair all came out at that time, but now it is so thick I can hardly comb it. I am sixteen years old, weigh 130 pounds, and am perfectly well.

THE PARTY ARRIVES.

Minnesota Iron Company Stockholders Are on the Range.

A number of those who are to attend the meetings of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad and the Minnesota Iron company and kindred corporations came in over the Omaha on a special train of five cars about 6 o'clock this morning. The special stood in the Omaha yards until 10:30, when the Omaha train from Chicago brought in another private car containing a few of the party who did not come with the special. Among those on the Omaha was ex-Governor Roswell P. Flower and wife, of New York.

As soon ase the car was transferred from the Omaha train to the special, to which President J. L. Greatsinger, of the Duluth & Iron Range, had attached his private car, the special was switched to the Duluth & Iron Range tracks and the entire party proceeded to the range, where they will spend the time between now and Monday morning in looking over the mines.

The party is one of the smallest ever in attendance on the annual meetings of the Minnesota companies. There were only twenty-seven in the whole party, which is a decided drop from the immense party of financial heavyweights which came up on the North West last year.

Ex-Governor and Mrs. R. P. Flower, C. W. Hillard, Mrs. Schley, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seibert, Mr. and Mrs. Donald, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Flower, Townsend Lawrence, New York; Benjamin Brewster, ex-attorney general of the United States; George Brewster, Pennsylvania; Isaac H. Wing, Bayfield; H. H. Porter, H. R. Bishop, J. C. Bishop, M. J. Carpenter, A. J. Paterson, Benjamin Haskell, C. P. Coffin, J. H. Chandler, William Harriman, Mr. Hague, J. C. Moise, G. W. Noyes, James Belden.

The party will be together in Duluth Monday morning, and the annual meetings will be held at 10 o'clock on that day, after which the visitors will return to their homes.

WORSE THAN USELESS.

Do Not Use Cathartics For Indigestion.

The commonly used remedies are worse than useless, as they do not remove the cause. Cathartics are injurious, for although they move the bowels for a time, their action weakens the digestion and thus increases the difficulty they are intended to cure.

Persons using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will not be disappointed as their use not only properly digests the food, but gives proper assimilation and cures constipation by producing the proper quantity of bile.

The fact that they are used so largely by physicians is a great point in their favor, and many physicians treat their cases of indigestion almost entirely by these tablets or the same ingredients. The only difference being that when dyspeptics apply to a physician for them he charges you two or three prices for them besides his advice. Whereas if you go to your druggist he will sell you Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets for only 50 cents per box.

They may also be had by mail by enclosing price to the F. A. Stuart company, chemists, Marshall, Mich.

TO BLUFF HINES.

Surveyors Again at Work on the Fosston Line.

A Crookston dispatch says: A party of surveyors arrived here yesterday from the St. Paul offices of the Great Northern railroad. They went out last night to Fosston, where they will make a survey of the extension of the Great Northern to connect Fosston with Duluth. They brought with them a large quantity of supplies and a complete camping outfit. The members of the party are very reticent about their movements, but it is supposed that the line, if extended, will run directly to Duluth.

This survey at this time is regarded as simply a bluff on the part of the Great Northern, with the ultimate object of defeating the farmers' railroad projected by D. W. Hines, but it is thought that Hines will refuse to be bluffed, as the majority of the people favor Hines more than Hill. Its especial object is probably to make Polk county voters believe that there will be a direct line to Duluth even if they defeat Hines' bond proposition. Considerable opposition exists to the voting of bonds, and it is generally claimed that part of the $100,000 Jim Hill was reported as willing to spend to defeat the bonds has already been "pinched." It is not at all certain that the Hines bonds will be voted, and if they are not the progress of his road will be slow, and that of the Fosston-Duluth extension of the Great Northern slower still.

ALL SILVER DELEGATES.

The Kentucky Convention Instructed For Blackburn.

Louisville, Ky., June 5.—The Democratic state convention closed yesterday afternoon as the free silver men had secured everything in the organization, as well as in the platform. The resolutions not only instruct the Kentucky delegation for Senator Blackburn for president, but also for the unit rule so that the two delegates from the Louisville district will have no voice whatever at Chicago. The free silver men have the four delegates-at-large and all the other delegates, except the two from the Fifth district.

RODE A VIKING.

"The Viking" is a winner, and those who were fortunate enough to see the road race on Saturday, were convinced of the fact, when John Locking won the race so easily in 29 minutes 15 seconds. He says: "I never could have done so well had I not ridden a Viking, the smoothest, easiest running wheel made." In a field of forty-two, there were three Viking wheels entered, and they finished in first, fifth and sixth place, a pretty good record, and very satisfactory to the agents.

ASSESSMENT FOR Public Park.

Office of the Board of Public Works,
Duluth, Minn., May 25, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the board of park commissioners of the city of Duluth has acquired by purchase, in the name of the city of Duluth, the title in fee simple to the following lands for the use of the city of Duluth for park purposes, to-wit:

Block 117, Portland division; blocks 98, 106, 110, 114, 115, 117, 118, and lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16, in block 111, all in Endion Division, and all being in the city of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota; and that the board of public works of said city will meet at their office in the city hall in said city on Friday, the 5th day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. to make an assessment of the sum of ten thousand one hundred eighty-four ($10,184) dollars and fifteen (15) cents, upon real estate within said city especially benefitted by such acquirement for the amount of the special benefit derived therefrom beyond the general benefit to all real estate in said city. The said sum of ten thousand one hundred eighty-four ($10,184) dollars and fifteen (15) cents is by said board of public works deemed to be the amount of such special benefit.

All lands situated in said city and to which special benefits result from the acquirement by the city of Duluth for park purposes of the lots and parcels of land hereinbefore described will be assessed in proportion as near as may be to the special benefits resulting thereto from such acquirement. All persons interested in said proceeding shall have the right to be present and be heard at said time and place in relation to the making of said assessment.

Miss Shanley, sister of Bishop Shanley and Mrs. C. E. Judd, formerly of this city, now of Los Angeles, Cal., died last night at St. Paul. Miss Shanley has visited in Duluth several times. She has been in failing health for some time. The funeral will take place tomorrow in St. Paul.

An entertainment will be given on Sunday evening in Turner hall. A play entitled, "Papa's Liebschaft" will be presented.

The amount of bail fixed in the case of Frank Riley, who is charged with being implicated in the larceny of some whisky from Zien's saloon, was reduced to the sum of $250 by the district court today, a bond in that sum being accepted and Riley ordered released.

Herbert Spencer, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Spencer, was bitten by a Newfoundland dog on Wednesday evening. He caught the dog under the left arm, and his teeth penetrated to the lungs. It is not believed that the result will be fatal, but the injury is a very bad one.

The Saturday club will hold its regular annual business meeting tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., in its rooms in the Temple Opera block.

Campers on Minnesota Point are taking advantage of this fine weather, and it is fast filling up.

A Large Hole Was Made in the Side of the Steamer.

How Diver Colwell Lost His Life at the Cayuga's Wreck.

Chicago, June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—A gaping hole in the black side of the Goodrich line steamer Virginia, just above the aft gangway, tells this morning of the narrow escape the steel lake greyhound and 200 passengers had last night from being the central figures in a terrible lake tragedy. While the Virginia was returning from Milwaukee last night, she collided with the schooner Mary A. McGregor. A thick fog prevailed at the time, which rendered objects invisible at a distnce of a few feet.

A panic on board the Virginia followed and a rush for the upper decks was made by the terrified passengers. The quick command of Capt. Stein, of the Virginia, who was on the bridge, in altering the course of the steamer just as the two vessels came together, prevented a horrible disaster. As it was, there is a large hole in the side of the steamer, while the schooner had her bowsprit carried away and was otherwise badly damaged by the collision.

The schooner was bound from Racine to Milwaukee. Capt. Stein said that the collision was unavoidable. The Virginia, he said, was running slower than usual and to this fact he attributes her escape from foundering.

AFTER A FOSSIL BOARD.

Congressman Burton is after the lighthouse board with a sharp stick. Both before and after he introduced his bill providing for the location of sixteen gas buoys on the great lakes he consulted members of the board about the matter, and they encouraged him to push the measure to the utmost. As is usual, the house commerce committee sent the bill to the board, with a request that it pass official opinion upon it. After nearly two months' delay the board has sent a letter to the committee disapproving of the bill on the ground that the board already has ample authority to locate gas or other buoys. The fact of the matter is, as developed by the Cleveland Leader correspondent, that the treasury officials turned down the bill because it carried an appropriation of $25,000. The lighthouse board would like to have the money, but Secretary Carlisle laid his heavy hand on the bill.

DIVER COLWELL SUFFOCATED.

Harbor Springs, Mich., June 5.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was in a race to reach the wreck of the steamer Cayuga that John Colwell, the diver, lost his life yesterday. There has been great rivalry between Colwell and another diver, and Colwell threw himself over and dropped so rapidly that the air failed to reach him and he was suffocated in his armor.

The Canadian Pacific steamer Alberta will start her summer run June 29, and will close August 29. Capt. McAllister, who has had charge of her since she was launched, stays with her.

A German naval captain has invented a new lifebuoy. It consists of a large cork ring, capable of floating three persons, and provided with a kind of net which affords a support to the feet. Its principal feature, however, is that it is fitted with an electric light and a small supply of provisions.

The steamer Choctaw arrived at Cleveland in tow of the tug Favorite and was placed in dry dock. She has a hole in her side, 10 foot fore and aft. It will take at least two weeks to make repairs.

The new whaleback 137 went to the Missabe docks to load ore this afternoon. Her propeller, the Rockefeller, is already loaded with 2800 tons of ore.

TO ORGANIZED LABOR.

President Thomas in Regard to the Towne Reception.

To Organized Laboring Men of Duluth—Gentlemen: The committee having in charge the demonstration and reception in honor and welcome to be accorded Congressman Charles A. Towne on his arrival home Saturday evening, June 6, have extended through me, as president of the Trades and Labor assembly, an invitation for all labor organizations in a body or individually to be present and participate in a short parade and open-air meeting.

I have been assured by the committee that the reception is to be strictly nonpartisan in nature, speakers having been selected from all the different political parties to welcome in a mass meeting of our people the home coming of a distinguished citizen, whose fame in one short term of congress became world-wide.

C. M. Thomas,
President Trades and Labor Assembly.

WAIVED EXAMINATION.

Dr. Sweeney Will Go Before the Grand Jury.

Dr. R. O. Sweeney, the Lester Park druggist, who was arrested yesterday afternoon on complaint of Detective Donovan, charging him with infringing on saloon keepers' prerogatives in selling liquor to be used as a beverage, appeared before Judge Boyle today and, waiving preliminary examination, was held to the grand jury in $150 bail, which was furnished. Attorney Hollembach appeared for the doctor, who will make a fight.

The arrest is the outgrowth of complaints made by the Retail Liquor Dealers' association, the members of which say that their business is being cut into by parties who pay no license and dispense liquor on the sly and under various pretenses. The saloon men think that, inasmuch as they pay a round sum for the privilege of conducting their business, they ought to be protected from "boot-legging" and allied industries.

MAKING THE PLANS.

Arrangements For the Reception of Mr. Towne.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the reception of C. A. Towne tomorrow evening has been busy all of today making plans and has the general outline pretty well formulated. At 7 o'clock Mr. Towne will be escorted to the common at the corner of Fourth avenue west and First street. Mayor Truelsen will deliver an address of welcome on behalf of the city, and will be followed by several of Duluth's orators, after which Mr. Towne will respond. Music by a brass band and glee clubs will vary the program, and an opportunity will be afforded everyone to meet and greet the man who by his eloquence, loyalty and courtesy has made friends for Duluth wherever his voice has been heard. This demonstration is not a party affair, but will be shared in alike by people of all shades of belief, irrespective of political affiliation. Labor unions, military companies, civic societies and organized bodies are cordially invited by the committee to be present, either classified or individually. All societies are invited to attend in uniform, carrying the insignia of their order. The Duluth Cycle club is invited to join in the procession, also lady and gentlemen bicyclists will have a place in line. The organizations intending to join should notify C. E. Richardson, secretary.

THE BREAD CONTEST.

Nearly Three Hundred Loaves Entered Today.

The annual bread contest of the Imperial Mill company opened this morning at the Columbus block and closed at 1 p. m. There were 280 loaves entered, and a more beautiful array of bread never was seen. About 250 sacks of flour of 49 lbs. each are offered as prizes. The prizes are as follows: First, 10 sacks; second, 9 sacks; third, 8 sacks; fourth, 7 sacks; fifth, 6 sacks; sixth, 5 sacks; seventh to eleventh, 4 sacks each; twelfth to nineteenth, 3 sacks each; twentieth to forty-fifth, 1 sack each.

At 1 o'clock the judges began the work of selecting the prize winners, and it will be a difficult task. Those selected to act are all bakers: Joseph Mannheim, James Gray and E. Bjorlin. The bread will be turned over to Capt. Miller, of the Associated Charities, and he will distribute it to the hospitals and Children's home.

The Northern Pacific Steamship company's steamer Olympia, to sail from Tacoma, June 21, will connect at Hong Kong with the steamer Congello, sailing from that port about July 25 for Port Natal, East London, Delagoa Bay and Cape Town, in South Africa. Freight will be carried on this steamer, and through bills of lading issued to cover. For freight and passenger rates call on R. A. Eva, general agent Northern Pacific railroad, Spalding Hotel block, Duluth.

QUEER IDENTIFICATION.

Texas Sifter: Col. Sumpter McBride, of Austin, has been spending several weeks in New York. A few days ago, being in need of some money, he applied to a Broadway bank to cash a draft.

"What is your name?" asked the paying teller.

"Col. Sumpter McBride, sir, of Austin, Travis county, Tex."

"You will have to be identified, colonel."

This was something the colonel had not taken into consideration. He knew of nobody who could identify him, and was about to leave the bank when a happy thought occurred to him. He reached into his breast pocket and brought out a photograph of himself, and holding it under the nose of the bank official, said:

"There, sir; I guess that settles it."

"Of course, that's your photograph; but how does that identify you?"

"Well, sir, will you please tell me how I could have my photograph taken if I wasn't myself?"

LIGHT IS ETERNAL.

Ages and ages ago, when the earth was young and man had not yet begun to live on it, because as yet the conditions were not favorable to the life that mankind needs, monster fishes swam the slimy seas and giant animals stalked over and through the marshy lands, says the Philadelphia Times. Monster trees for great distances. In our experiment grew from the sloppy, moist ground, while grasses taller than we ever saw and plants with huge stems and gigantic leaves grew beneath their branches.

Then, as now, rain fell, clouds floated by and the bright sunshine was over all. The brighter the sunshine the ranker and taller grew the trees, the grasses, the ferns, and the weeds. Year after year they grew and blossomed and died, over and over again, just as plants and trees do now. Again and again, in those ages, great earthquakes occurred, and the waters would roll in places where they were not before, and where they were once would be bare ground. The giant trees and the plants beneath them would be packed and buried in the mud and would see the sunshine no more. Over and over again trees and grasses, plants and ferns grew in the sunshine; over and over again they were buried and packed down in the darkness, ever undergoing chemical changes.

Ages came and went, and finally man, the crowning work of the Creator, appeared upon the scene. Centuries came and went before he discovered the buried sunshine. Many are the legends as to how and when he first learned the warmth imprisoned in the black mineral that, now and then, was found above the ground. As every good deed sooner or later leaves its good record on the annals of time, so the short lives of the tiniest ferns of ages ago are now making light and happiness in many a home that would be dark, cold and gloomy had not the Creator in his wisdom, ages and ages ago, buried the sunshine in the earth's dark bosom to lie until such time as he was ready to bring it again to the light of day.

A BLESSING IN DISGUISE.

Bob Ingersoll said: "I am not sure we ought to mourn for the dead. I do not know what is better—life or death. It may be that death is the greatest gift that ever came from nature's open hand. We do not know. There is one thing of which I am certain, and that is, if we could all live forever, we should care nothing for each other. The fact that we must die, that the feast must end, brings our hearts together, and treads on the weeds between the paths. And so it may be, after all, that love is a little flower that grows on the crumbling edge of the grave. So it may be that, were it not for death, there would be no love, and without love all life would be a curse."

FAILURE AT ST. LOUIS.

The Clothing House of Klaw & Co. Has Suspended.

St. Louis, June 5.—The wholesale clothing house of I. Klaw & Co., 621 North Ninth street, did not open for business today, the establishment being in custody of the Bank of Commerce, a creditor to the amount of $40,000. The total liabilities are $112,000. Of this amount $80,000 is secured by deeds of trust, $21,000 is due to outside creditors and $31,000 is due for merchandise.

"The cause of the failure," said David Goldsmith, the firm's attorney, "is that the credit of I. Klaw & Co. had become impaired to such an extent that they were unable to carry on their business further. It is not yet known what will be done with the stock or whether Mr. Klaw will resume business or not.

PEARL BRYAN'S MURDER.

Important Testimony Given in the Walling Trial.

Newport, Ky., June 5.—The most important testimony yet secured in the Walling trial was given today by new witnesses who had not been found when Scott Jackson was tried. Mrs. Elizabeth Ware, keeper of the toll gate near the scene of the murder of Pearl Bryan, testified that about 2 a. m. Feb. 1 a one-horse carriage rushed through without paying toll. She heard them coming and tried to get out in time to collect toll. She called after them, but they dashed on, paying no attention to her.

Much importance is attached to this witness as it corroborates the evidence of Jackson as to the route which was taken.

Scott Jackson, who has been condemned to be hanged as the accomplice of Walling, is sick. He was crying today, the first indication of weakness on his part since his trouble last January.

SHOT BY A CONVICT.

A Missouri Prison Officer Filled With Lead.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 5.—F. G. Norville, a St. Charles county convict, who was released from the penitentiary yesterday, fired on Prison Officer Rayburn today as the latter was leaving home for the prison and filled his body with the contents of a shotgun.

The ex-convict fled, but was run down with bloodhounds and captured by the sheriff and police three hours later. The prison officer, who is desperately wounded, may recover. It seems the convict had a grudge against the officer as a result of some trivial matter.

TEMPERANCE DELEGATES.

London, June 5.—Miss Frances Willard and Lady Henry Somerset are greatly pleased with the work concluded by the British Women's Temperance association yesterday evening. The following have been elected delegates to the Woman's National Christian convention at St. Louis, in November next: Lady Henry Somerset, Mesdames Hughes and Ward-Poole and Misses Agnes Weston, Agnes Slack and Mary Phillips.

SOLD GOLD FOR COAL.

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 5.—The owners of the Cambria gold fields have just discovered that the coal which they have been selling at $2 per ton carries $5 to $8 gold per ton.

CHARITIES CONFERENCE.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 5.—The national conference of charities and corrections divided into sections this morning for the consideration of various subjects. W. G. Fairbanks, of Middletown, Conn., read a paper on "How Patriotism Should Best be Taught in Juvenile Constitutions." Mrs. M. Fullerton spoke of the work being done to improve the condition of the poor of New York city. Percy Wade, of Baltimore, read a paper on "Convalescent Homes for Treatment of Insane." Dr. Hal C. Wyman, of Detroit, contributed one on "Some Methods of Caring for Chronic Insane People," and Hon. W. P. Letchworth, of Buffalo, on "Provisions for Epileptics." At the general session E. A. Faulkner, of Atchison, Kas., read the report on soldiers' homes.

A MURDERER HANGED.

Joseph Windrath Executed at Chicago This Afternoon.

Chicago, June 5.—Joseph Windrath was hanged shortly after noon today.

Manacled, but struggling feebly with his guards, and with incoherent cries ringing from his lips, Windrath was executed this afternoon in the county jail. Even to the last second Windrath feigned insanity. As the steel bracelets were snapped on his wrist, he kept up a continual cry of "Hang up Mannow." "Hang up Mannow." "Hang, hang, hang." Then he changed to "I will sleep bye and bye."

As the rope was placed around his neck his eyes glared again and he commenced shouting this time "Put the straps on." "Lennox, open the bad box," the cries coming chokingly as the jailer tightened the noose. Not until the drop fell, and the rope tightened for the last time around Windrath's neck, were the awful cries stilled.

The condemned showed great vitality and it was fourteen minutes later before his heart ceased beating. Death was caused by strangulation.

Windrath was executed for the robbery and murder of Carey B. Birch, money receiver at the Armitage avenue station of the West Chicago Street Railway company. Birch's murderers were masked, but Windrath and Julius Manasow, an ex-convict, were arrested for the offense. Manasow turned state's evidence. Windrath, whose behavior in court and in jail was wildly eccentric, was sentenced to be hanged, but at the moment fixed for his execution a respite of three weeks was granted pending investigation as to his sanity. A jury found that he had been shamming. Windrath was born in Germany and is said to have a long criminal record there.

LITTLE GIRL KILLED.

Result of a Quarrel Between Two Men.

Milwaukee, June 5.—A special to the Wisconsin from Lancaster, Wis., says: Jack Webb and J. W. Schiffman, engaged in a quarrel at British Hollow, Grant county, when the former fired four shots at his antagonist. Shiffman was struck twice, once in the hip and once in the hand, taking a finger and thumb.

The fourth shot struck a 10-year old daughter of Peter J. Blinder, a merchant, in the head, inflicting a wound from which she died in an hour. Webb is in jail.

SOUGHT THEIR CELLARS.

St. Joe People Scared By a Bad Storm.

St. Joseph, Mo., June 5.—A severe wind storm early this morning caused many people in this city to seek their cellars. The wind blew a perfect gale for about half an hour and many were terror-stricken. Trees were blown down and outhouses overturned in the city, and it is feared there was a severe storm in this vicinity.

OCEAN RECORD BROKEN.

The Steamer St. Paul Breaks All Previous Records.

New York, June 5.—The American line steamer St. Paul has broken all Southampton records. She was sighted east of Fire Island at 12:22 this afternoon. The St. Paul left Southampton on May 30, about noon, and passed the Needles about 1:25 p. m. Allowing an hour and a half from Fire Island to Sandy Hook light ship, she will be due at that point before 2 o'clock this afternoon, and her time will be about 6 days 5½ hours.

The best previous Western record of the St. Paul was made on her last voyage, which ended on May 16, and was 6 days, 9 hours and 5 minutes. She had, therefore, on her present trip reduced that time over 3½ hours, and not only has she reduced her own record, but has also made a new Western record from Southampton. Until today the Southampton record has been held by the American liner New York, and was 6 days, 7 hours and 14 minutes, made in September, 1894.

The St. Paul passed the Sandy Hook lightship at 2:05 p. m.

THEIR DUE

Judge Morris Passed Sentence Upon the May Term Criminals.

James W. Fowler, the Undertaker, Given One Year and Three Months.

He Broke Down While His Attorney Pleaded For Mercy.

James W. Fowler, the West End undertaker, who was convicted of indecent assault upon Mary Miller a week or two ago, was sentenced by Judge Morris this morning to spend one year and three months at hard labor in the state penitentiary at Stillwater. When Fowler entered the court room and while he stood before Judge Morris' desk he was to all appearances a broken man. He could hardly stand, apparently, and while M. H. Crocker, his attorney, was pleading for mercy for him he gave way to tears.

In passing sentence upon him Judge Morris said that while there was nothing to excuse his crime, he thought that the girl and the aunt with whom she lived were in a measure to blame for the trouble, and he did not regard Fowler as a man who had committed a crime in cold blood.

After hearing his sentence Fowler seemed relieved, and he did not appear to have any difficulty in getting out of the room.

There was an unusually light criminal grist this time, and there were but six prisoners to sentence, three of whom had pleaded guilty and three had been convicted by juries. John McLeod, who was allowed to plead guilty to petit larceny, was sentenced to forty days in the county jail. Bert Sullivan, who pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree, and John F. A. Behring, who was found guilty of uttering a forged instrument, were sentenced to the reformatory at St. Cloud. Albert Quade, who pleaded guilty to forgery, was sent to Stillwater on the reformatory plan.

Edward Lee, who was convicted of grand larceny in the second degree, received the hardest sentence of the lot. He will spend two years at hard labor in the penitentiary.

John Clark lost his suit against the Village of Farmvell yesterday afternoon. Judge Moer finding in favor of the defendant. The next case taken up was that of D. S. Hardin against Arthur C. Jamison et al., which was on trial at noon.

Judge Morris took Peter Ellsworth's damage suit against the Mountain Iron company from the jury yesterday afternoon and directed a verdict for the defendant. A motion for a new trial by the plaintiff was entered upon the minutes of the court. Judge Ensign at noon was hearing the case of Robins against the St. Louis Lumber company.

CHARGE AGAINST HERMANNS

Is Thought to Have Caused Two Deaths.

Minneapolis, June 5.—Mrs. Clara Crowley, of this city, believes that Rev. Francis Hermanns, the Salt Lake murderer, is responsible for the death of one sister and the disappearance and probable death of another. Bertha Wangen was his first wife, and she died of the grippe, her malady being aggravated by Hermanns' efforts to have her declared insane.

He then attempted to marry Caroline, her sister, and had great influence over her, although utterly repugnant to her. She had not been seen since the spring of 1892, and Mrs. Crowley believes her to have been murdered by Hermanns.

SCOTCH-IRISH CONGRESS.

Robert Bonner President For the Eighth Time.

Harrisburg, Pa., June 5.—Robert Bonner, of New York, was today for the eighth time elected president of the Scotch-Irish congress now in session here. Detroit, Nashville, St. Louis and San Francisco put in claims for the next meeting of the congress. The executive committee will make a selection before adjournment.

Dr. McCook called attention to the fact that the house in which Robert Fulton was born in Lancaster, Pa., is about to be torn down, and it was directed that Governor Hastings' attention be called to this fact, with a view to obtaining legislation by which the state could come into possession of the building.

THE GLASS FACTORIES.

Millville, June 5.—While nearly all of the flint glass bottle factories throughout the country will shut down on June 30, it is probable that several factories in this city will continue operations during the summer to fill orders. The green trade all over the country is in excellent condition and factories are being pushed to their utmost. All the window glass factories in this section have closed, with the exception of three at Bridgeton and Quinton, which will run until the end of June.

A PLUCKY TEACHER.

Corporal punishment in schools has passed under a judicial review at Chambersburg, says the Philadelphia Ledger. A boy had kicked a little girl on the play grounds at recess. When school was dismissed the boy was called forward for punishment, but refused to go, and when force was used he drew a knife upon the teacher. The latter conquered, however, and gave the lad a thrashing which drew blood. The father of the boy had the teacher arrested for assault and battery. The presiding judge said that the boy's act was one of insubordination, and that it had to be decided then and there who was the head of the school. In the opinion of the judge the whipping was not too severe. The jury agreed with him and the cost of the prosecution was placed on the boy's father.

VOLNEY ASHFORD'S CASE.

England Asked That His Sentence Be Annulled.

San Francisco, June 5.—Volney Ashford, mentioned in the advices from Honolulu, is in the French hospital in this city, where he has been confined for nearly nine months, suffering from a variety of ills which ended in a paralysis stroke. An effort was made to see Col. Ashford relative to other advices from Honolulu, but he declared he had no other information to give. He referred the reporter to his brother, Attorney Clarence Ashford, and that gentleman made the following statement:

"Ashford, having been convicted by the military court of the offense of failure to disclose his alleged knowledge of treason committed by others, the British government to whom he appealed, represented to the Hawaiian government that the conviction was considered upon insufficient and illegal evidence and requested that the conviction be set aside and the sentence founded thereon be annulled. I understood that request has not been finally answered by the Hawaiian government, though negotiations have been proceeding between the two governments for some months."

BOARDS OF ARBITRATION.

Results Have Been Surprising to German Merchants.

Washington, June 5.—A matter of much more than usual interest which is just now before the German buisness world is brought to the attention of the state department by United States Consul Monoghan at Chemnitz. The project is to establish boards of arbitration for merchants somewhat similar to those already operating successfully in settling disputes between workmen and their employers.

The various chambers of commerce have endorsed the idea, which originated with the Prussian minister of commerce and the matter has made such headway that six Brunswick chambers of commerce have established such a board. To this all commercial and trade disputes are referred, and the results have been surprisingly satisfactory to merchants generally, who are saved the expense of law suits, the expenditure of valuable time in tedious litigation, and best of all, know that their cases are being settled by fair and expert judges who from their familiarity with the commercial practices and the particular lines of business involved in the dispute are vastly more capable of arriving at a sound conclusion than any civil judge.

THE OAKS

Lord Derby's Canterbury Pilgrim Won the Rich Oaks Stakes Today.

The Prince of Wales' Brown Filley Thais Two Lengths Behind.

The Crowd Was Enormous and the Prince Was Heartily Greeted.

Epsom, Eng., June 5.—Lord Derby's Canterbury Pilgrim was the winner today in the race for the Oaks stakes, one of the most highly-prized honors among British set turf events. The prince of Wales' Thais was second in the race, and J. C. Hill's Proposition was third under the wire. The Oaks stakes is of 4500 sovereigns for 3-year-old fillies, to carry 126 pounds each, the owner of the second horse to receive 200 sovereigns and the owner of the third horse to receive 100 sovereigns out of the stakes; distance about a mile and a half; 201 subscribers. The weather was stormy last night, but the wind cooled the atmosphere and the rain laid the dust. This morning bright sunshine and a fair course favored ladies' day of the summer meeting. The crowd was enormous, the prince of Wales' sensational winning of the Derby stakes, with Persimmons, and the enthusiasm which followed having served to stimulate greatly the interest in the present meeting here.

A good field of starters being assured the sporting world turned out in force and long before the hour of racing began the prince of Wales and his party met with one of the most enthusiastic receptions on record on their arrival at the Downs station from Victoria. Always a popular man, since he won the blue ribbon of the turf, the prince seems to have risen in the esteem of the public and especially of that great portion which is interested in horse racing. The warmth of the popular greeting was all the greater because of the fact that in the prince's party were the princess of Wales and the Princesses Victoria and Maud of Wales. There were also in the party Prince Christian of Denmark, the duke and duchess of York, the duke and duchess of Saxe-Coburg and the duke of Cambridge, Prince Christian of Saxe-Weimar, the duke of Westminster, the marquis and marchioness of Londonderry, the duchess of Devonshire, Countess Cadogan and most of the aristocracy of Great Britain.

The betting on the Oaks was 12 to 8 against Thais, 9 to 2 against Sister to Ella Tweed, 10 to 1 against Helm and Canterbury Pilgrim and 100 to 9 against the others. Tattersall's ring was almost as packed as upon the occasion of the race for the derby stakes and the attendance as a whole was much larger than witnessed at any derby for the past few years.

Out of the big list of entries, however, only eleven runners came to the post. They were: The prince of Wales' br. f. Thais, by St. Zerf, out of Poetry. (J. Watts); Mr. Botterill's ch. f. Sister to Ella Tweed, by Salisbury, out of Galop (Calder); Lord Elsmere's b. f., Miss Frazer, by Fitzsimmon, out of Windlass (Pratt); J. C. Hill's b. f., Proposition; Sir F. Johnstone's ch. f., Mell Melo, by Melanion; Lord Londonderry's ch. f., Nenemoosha; H. McCalmont's ch. f., Amphora; Lord Rosebery's ch. f., Avilion; the duke of Westminster's b. f., Helm; Lord Derby's ch. f., Canterbury Pilgrim.

The result of the race was as follows: Lord Derby's ch. f., Canterbury Pilgrim, won; the prince of Wales' br. f., Thais, by St. Zerf, out of Poetry, second; J. C. Hill's b. f., Proposition, third. The post betting was 100 to 8 against Canterbury Pilgrim, 13 to 8 against Thais and 100 to 7 against Proposition. The Galop filly led to the straight and then Thais took the lead, but was passed below the distance by Canterbury Pilgrim. The latter won easily by two lengths. A length separated Thais and Proposition.

INDIAN SNAKE PLAGUE.

So large is the number of people who succumb every year to the bites of snakes—in India the annual quota of victims exceeds 22,000—that the labors of those who are devoting their lives to the discovery and development of antidotes must naturally constitute a source of much interest to the public, says the New York Tribune. That the Indian fakirs have long possessed some means of rendering themselves invulnerable in this respect is a matter of common notoriety, and from the article which we publish today upon the subject it would appear as if the secret of the immunity which these wise men of the East enjoy from the ordinary effects of the bites from venomous snakes has at last been found out by their brother sages of the West, and that in course of time all serpents save those born of alcoholic phantasy will become innocuous to the human race.

THE LONGEST SHOT.

Yankee Blade: The longest distance that a shot has been fired is a few yards over fifteen miles, which was the range of Krupp's well-known "monster" 120-ton steel gun, firing a shot weighing 2600 pounds. The 100-ton Armstrong gun has an extreme range of fourteen miles, firing a shot weighing 1890 pounds, and requiring 900 pounds of powder. These guns, however, proved too expensive, being unable to stand firing 100 times, and their manufacture has practically been abandoned. The 80-ton Armstrong gun hurls a solid shot for a distance of twelve miles, and the discharge of the gun cannot be heard at the place where the ball strikes. From twelve to thirteen miles is the computed range of the most powerful guns now made, and to obtain that range an elevation of nearly 45 degrees is found to be necessary.

NEW IDEA

Commissioners Favor Selling the Bonds as a Popular Loan.

If the County Attorney Approves This Will Be Done.

Commissioner Dinham Introduced a Resolution Touching Several Matters.

In addition to the bid for county bonds mentioned in yesterday's Herald, W. J. Hayes & Co., of Cleveland, offered to take $100,000 at par less $2682, or $150,000 at par less $4026; Farson, Leach & Co., of Chicago, asked 4½ per cent commission, and N. J. Upham & Co., of Duluth, asked 4½ per cent commission. None of these bids were satisfactory to the board, and at last night's meeting all were rejected. In addition to the plan outlined by the county auditor of taking up the bonds with the sinking fund, a plan which met with favor with the members of the board, was to make the sale of the bonds in the nature of a popular loan.

Under this arrangement the bonds will be issued to any amount the purchaser desires to the highest responsible bidders. Bids will be opened June 20, and the money is to be paid within thirty days from July 1, the date of issue. The independent school district of Duluth has $80,000 drawing 3 per cent interest, and the directors may decide to take some bonds and get another 1 per cent.

The resolution favoring this plan was referred to the county attorney. The plan of taking up a part of the bonds with the sinking fund, which is drawing but 2 per cent, was also referred to the county attorney to decide upon its legality.

Commissioner Dinham's resolution on pauper burial and a county hospital was brought up, but action was deferred until this morning. The resolution is as follows:

"Whereas, the grand jury inquiring in and for the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, at the May, A. D. 1896, general term of the district court, made an investigation of the county poor farm, and severely criticized the methods of conducting said farm, to-wit: In reference to burying paupers, and the manner of marking their graves for identification, and also with reference to the ventilation of some of the rooms of the poor house;

"And whereas, it also investigated the hospital accommodation of county sick patients, and pronounced the same to be extremely dangerous for the sick and helpless, because of its being a portable fire-trap;

"It is resolved, that a suitable system of marking graves for identification be adopted, to-wit: That the burial grounds be laid out in blocks and lots numbered from one (1) upwards; and that suitable books be purchased, and the name, age and all particulars of the deceased be entered therein, together with the block and number of grave; also that indestructible headstones be placed at the heads of the graves, bearing the name and age, and date of death, corresponding with book entries.

"It is further resolved, that we immediately proceed to build a stone vault at the poor farm, St. Louis county, Minnesota, in which to place the bodies during the winter months until such time as decent interment can be made.

"It is further resolved, that a carpenter be sent out to the poor farm house to make such changes or additions to said house as will enable the superintendent to thoroughly ventilate said building.

"It is further resolved, that immediate action be taken towards the building of a fire-proof county hospital, for the accommodation of county patients."

At this morning's meeting of the board Commissioner Dinham's resolution was seconded. It was decided instead to have the poor farm committee look up the matter.

The only other business of importance was some little discussion of the bond matters. The county attorney said that the sinking fund could not be used, so the resolution calling for a popular loan was to be put on its passage this afternoon. There was some discussion as to the minimum amount to be sold. It will probably be $500, as smaller bonds are said to be not negotiable.

Street Was on End.

David Emerson, who hid his pocketbook between the ticks of the bed in his room at a lodging house at 17 West Superior street and then called out the police department to find it for him, was arrested in a badly demoralized condition by Officer Threaderoft this morning. David was drunk—awfully drunk, and was busily engaged in climbing up Michigan street which was, he insisted, standing on end. He spent the remainder of the day at the central station.

A Fireman Hurt.

Michael Kane, a fireman on the steamer Northern Wave, of the Northern steamship line, stepped into the cinder pit on board that vessel last evening and was badly burned about the legs. Kane sank into the cinders up to his knees and the lower part of his limbs are badly blistered, but the injuries are not considered dangerous. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital this morning, where he was reported to be resting comfortably.

LARGE REWARD OFFERED.

Efforts to Arrest the Miscreants in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, June 5.—The street railway company today offered a reward of $2000 for evidence which will result in the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who shot the two employes of the company on the Howell avenue line last night. There is little hope for the wounded motorman, John Breen. The bullet lodged in his intestines where it still remains. Fully twenty shots were fired into the car. Breen came from Manistee, Mich.

An explosive missile was thrown into a car filled with ladies on Wells street last night by somebody in a crowd which is known to have included an ex-conductor of the line. The car was filled with smoke and powder fumes, and the panic-stricken women immediately deserted the car and walked to their homes.

In a Speech Thursday, Governor Clough Called Bimetallists "Cheap Demagogues."

VETOED

President Cleveland Again Sends in a Veto to Congress.

This Time the General Deficiency Bill is Negatived By Him.

French Spoliation Claims Are One of the Objectionable Features.

Washington, June 6.—Shortly before noon President Cleveland transmitted the following veto message to the house of representatives:

To the House of Representatives: I hereby return, without my approval, house bill numbered 8293, entitled "An act making appropriations to supply deficiencies in the appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1896, for prior years, and for other purposes."

To the extent that the constitution has devolved upon the president a participation in legislation, I suppose his action on bills presented to him for approval involves a duty to be performed, like others pertaining to his office, with care and circumspection, and in full view of his responsibility to the people and his obligation to subserve the public welfare. It is difficult to understand why, under the constitution, it should be necessary to submit proposed legislation to executive scrutiny and approval, except to involve the exercise of executive judgment and invite independent executive action.

The unpleasant incidents which accompany the power would tempt its avoidance, if such a course did not involve an abandonment of constitutional duty and assent to legislation for which the executive is not willing to share the responsibility. I regret that I am constrained to disapprove an important appropriation bill so near the close of the present session of congress. I have, however, by immediate action after the receipt of the bill, endeavored to delay as little as possible a reconsideration of this proposed legislation, though I am thus obliged to content myself with a less complete explanation of my objections than would otherwise be submitted.

This bill is, in many of its features, far removed from a legitimate deficiency bill, and it contains a number of appropriations which seem to be exceedingly questionable. Without noticing in detail most of these items, I shall refer to two of them, which in my judgment justify my action in the premises. The bill appropriates $1,027,314.09 for a partial payment upon claims which originated in depredations upon our commerce by French cruisers and vessels during the closing years of the last century. They have become quite familiar to those having congressional experience, as they have been pressed for recognition and payment, with occasional intervals of repose, for nearly 100 years.

Those claims are based on the allegations that France, being at war with England, seized and condemned many American vessels and cargoes, in violation of the rules of international law and treaty provisions, and contrary to the duty she owed to our country as a neutral power, and to our citizens; that by reason of these acts arose in favor of such of our citizens as were indemnified against the French nation, which claims our government attempted to enforce, and that in concluding a treaty with France, in the year 1800, these claims were abandoned or relinquished, in consideration of the relinquishment of certain claims which France charged against us.

Upon these statements it is insisted, by those interested, that we, as a nation, having reaped a benefit in our escape from these French demands against us, through the abandonment of the claims of our citizens against France, the government became equitably bound, as between itself and its citizens, to pay the claims thus relinquished. I do not understand it to be asserted that there exists any legal liability against the government on account of its relation to these claims. At the term of the supreme court just finished the chief justice, in an opinion concerning them, and the action of congress in appropriating for their payment, said: "We think that payments thus prescribed to be made, were purposely brought within the category of payments by way of gratuity. Payments of grace and not of right."

From the time the plan was conceived to charge the government with the payment of these claims they have abided in the atmosphere of controversy. Every proposition presented in their support has been stoutly disputed, and every inference suggested in their favor has promptly been challenged. Thus inasmuch as it must, I think, be conceded that if a state of war existed between our country and France at the time these depredations were committed, our government was not justified in claiming indemnity for our citizens, it is asserted that we were at the time actually engaged in war with the French nation. This position seems to be sustained by an opinion of the attorney general of the United States written in 1798, and by a number of decisions of the supreme court, delivered soon after that time. We had certainly abrogated treaties with France, and our cruisers and armed ships were roaming the seas capturing her vessels and property.

So also, when it is asserted that the validity of these claims was acknowledged, in the treaty negotiations, by the representatives of France, their declarations to a contrary purport are exhibited, and when it is alleged that the abandonment of these claims against France was in consideration of great benefits to the government, it is confidently alleged that they were, in point of fact, abandoned because their enforcement was hopeless, and that even, if any benefit really occurred to us, by insistence upon their settlement in the course of diplomatic negotiation, such result gave no pretext for taxing the government with liability to the claimants.

THE VETO IS POTENT.

Washington, June 6.—The motion to pass the deficiency bill over the veto was lost by yeas 40, nays 149.

DAY IN CONGRESS.

Senate Talks About Public Building Appropriations.

Washington, June 6.—Vice President Stevenson was in the chair of the senate today, after an absence of two days, and announced his signature to a number of bills, including the deficiency appropriation and the filled cheese bills. Among the favorable reports was one from the library committee for a peace monument at Appomatox, Va., at the point where Grant and Lee met.

Mr. Allison reported a partial agreement on the sundry civil appropriation bill. He explained that a number of items in it were still open, including those for new public buildings at Salt Lake City and the capitals of the new states of Idaho, Wyoming and Montana, and additions for the public buildings at Kansas City, Savannah and Camden, N. J.

As to the last named cities the buildings were near completion, but work could not go on unless small additional appropriations were made, but the house conferees positively refused, said Mr. Allison, to assent to any public building items. The senate amendment of $35,000 for participation in the Brussels exposition next year was also resisted by the house, although the state department regarded it as most desirable that this government take part in the event. Mr. Allison said these and other items were of such importance to large interests that the senate conferees did not feel justified in abandoning them without the advice of the senate.

Mr. Dubois made a vigorous plea for public buildings at the new capitals. He said that it was notorious that the speaker of the house and the chairman of the house committee on public buildings declined to approve of any new public buildings, and yet said Mr. Dubois, Speaker Reed resided in a place of 153,000 people with a public building costing $1,159,000. The district represented by Chairman Milliken, of Maine, of the house committee on public buildings, had federal buildings in five towns. Mr. Dubois gave some other details of the Maine towns which have public buildings. No doubt, he said, there was no need of further public buildings in Maine. The chairman of the house committee lived in a town which would not make a suburb of one of these Western capitals. The county seats in some of these new states were larger than any town in the district recreated by these gentlemen (Reed and Milliken.)

Mr. Vest said it was an established policy to give the new states public buildings at their capitals. Mr. Platt thought the senate should take a firm stand in all proper public improvements; this government was not going into bankruptcy. After all the talk there was a good deal of money in the treasury, perhaps improperly raised by bonds, but nevertheless there. But Mr. Platt said it would be a queer policy for an individual to borrow money, put it in his pocket and refuse to pay a note when it was due, but this appeared to be in line with the policy of borrowing money on bonds, and holding onto it, until the bonds became due thirty years hence. After further debate in favor of the need of federal buildings the senate conferees were instructed to insist on all the public items alluded to. To emphasize the insistence a yea and nay vote was taken resulting 58 to nothing.

IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, June 6.—The house waited twenty minutes again today for the appearance of a quorum, and Speaker Reed admonished the members to be in attendance promptly hereafter, as their neglect in this regard causes the loss of valuable time each day. Under the special order adopted yesterday, the house then proceeded to consider bills under suspension of the rules. The bill which was under consideration when the house adjourned on the last suspension day, extending the jurisdiction of United States courts in the Indian territory providing for the laying out of towns, the leasing of coal, timber, farming and grazing lands was passed.

Mr. Loud, chairman of the postoffice committee, moved to suspend the rules and pass the senate bill to amend the law defining fourth class mail matter. The amendment related solely to franked matter, confining it to "printed or written matter." At present all "official" matter can be franked. Mr. Loud explained that the mails were weighted with all sorts of government supplies. Last year 1,250,000 pounds went through the Washington office. Mr. Cannon said he could see no reason why the government matter should not be handled by the postoffice department instead of the express companies.

Mr. Loud replied that this matter could be handled by express companies for one-fourth of what it cost the government. He volunteered the opinion that it cost the government twice as much to transport the mail as it should.

Mr. Kyle advocated the passage of the bill. The bill was passed, 102 to 35.

Mr. Powers, chairman of the Pacific Railway committee, moved to suspend the rules and pass a bill to define the rights of purchasers under mortgages on the Atlantic & Pacific Railway company, authorized by the act of April 20, 1871. Mr. Powers explained that the purpose of the bill was to enable the bondholders of two sections of this road to organize themselves into a corporation on the completion of the foreclosure proceedings now pending. Mr. Powers, in reply to a question, denied that the Atlantic & Pacific had any relation to the Southern Pacific.

Mr. Hopkins, Republican, Illinois, opposed the bill on the ground that it conveyed to the new company all the rights of the old company in respect to the lands originally granted to it.

Mr. Terry opposed it on the same ground. He pointed out that in the case of proposed reorganization of the Northern Pacific the rights of the government and the people residing along the line had been most carefully guarded. After some further criticism of the bill, Mr. Powers withdrew it. The speaker then laid before the house the president's message vetoing the general deficiency bill.

ANOTHER BILL FRAMED.

Washington, June 6.—Chairman Cannon, of the house committee on appropriations has a deficiency bill prepared, with the claims objected to by the president eliminated. As soon as the veto of the deficiency bill is sustained, which he anticipated, he will immediately ask the consideration of the new bill. It is believed the new bill can pass immediately.

AT HOME

Mr. Towne Returned Today From His Long Stay in Washington.

He Declines to Declare Himself on the Gubernatorial Question.

Complete Arrangements For the Reception in His Honor Tonight.

Hon. Charles A. Towne returned this morning from Washington. He went directly to his home at No. 3 Chester terrace and remained there until this afternoon. The Washington air evidently agrees with Mr. Towne, for he is looking very well, much better than when he left Duluth about six months ago. Mr. Towne simply smiled and looked interested when told that two of the gubernatorial candidates and several other politicians were in town. When asked if he would declare himself he declined absolutely to say anything as to his preference among the candidates, and would not give any idea as to whether he will say anything in the future. When asked as to his candidacy for renomination, he said:

"I guess everybody knows that I am after a renomination. I think I will get it without opposition. The large number of letters which have come to me unsolicited, assuring me of support, make me feel that I have the friendship of Republicans throughout the district. I think my record, too, is such that I am justified in expecting a renomination. The Sixth district, in my estimation, and I took some pains to investigate, is the very hardest in the whole country to represent. It has such wide and varied interests that require constant attention that it kept me busy all the time. The work of the river and harbor committee, too, is of the very hardest, and requires constant attention for months.

"Congress will not adjourn for several days, but I had but the Fond du Lac bridge matter left to put through, and arranged to have that taken care of if the suspension order is reported by the committee on rules. If this should not be done it will not pass this session.

"The Duluth-Superior bridge bill is in statu quo. I found that I was unable to determine what the sentiment of the people is and concluded to let it go over until next session, by which time I hope to make up my mind as to what is wanted."

Mr. Towne says McKinley's nomination is conceded in Washington. He will go to the St. Louis convention, and also expects to drop in and see the fun at the Democratic camp in Chicago.

Mr. Towne is somewhat modest about speaking of his own position in the house at Washington, but he did say that he knew he could accomplish more for the Sixth district next session than any other man who could be sent down, even though he possessed twice the ability, for the reason that he now has such a wide acquaintance in both houses. Mr. Towne was told by some of the old congressmen that no new member for many years had been able to accomplish so much and had made so many warm friends during his first session.

M. A. Hays is still in Washington, and has considerable work in the departments to look after. He will not return until several days after the adjournment.

THE TOWNE RECEPTION.

All the Arrangements Have Been Completed.

All arrangments for the Towne reception tonight are completed and the Sixth district congressman will receive a welcome that will demonstrate the fact that Mr. Towne has a few friends among the neighbors out here where he lives. It will be participated in, regardless of politics, by those who like him—that is, everybody.

Invitations to take part in the parade have been generally responded to by both military and civil organizations. The procession will proceed to the place selected for the speech making, at the corner of First street and Fourth avenue west, where a platform has been erected. The parade will move from in front of the Spalding hotel at 7:30 o'clock, in the following order:

Platoon of police.
City band.
Military escort, M. S. N. G.
Speakers and guests in carriages.
Trades unions.
Societies and clubs.
Duluth Cycle club.
Wheelmen.
Citizens on foot and in carriages.

The parade will form as follows: Police on Fourth avenue west and Superior street, military escort between the Chamber of Commerce and the Spalding, carriages at the Spalding, trades unions, societies and clubs on Fifth avenue west, and Cycle club and wheelmen on Sixth avenue west.

The line of march is on Superior street to Second avenue east, up Second avenue east to First street, on First street to Fourth avenue west.

For the meeting, of which R. S. Munger will act as chairman, the following program has been arranged:

Address..... John H. Norton
Address of welcome..... .....
..... Hon. Henry Truelsen
Selection..... City band
Song..... Glee club
Address..... J. L. Washburn
Selection..... Duluth City band
Address..... Hon. J. B. Cotton
Introducing Congressman Towne.
Address..... Hon. Charles A. Towne

After the addresses an informal reception will be held on the platform. The brief space allowed for preparation has not permitted the sending of formal invitations, but the committee want it understood that everybody is invited.

In case of rain, the meeting will be held in the lobby of the Spalding hotel.

NOTICE TO VETERANS.

All Union veterans who may be in the city are requested to meet at 7 o'clock this evening on the first floor of the Palladio building, for the purpose of joining in the demonstration in honor of Hon. Charles A. Towne and of testifying our appreciation of his great interest and cheerful and willing labors in behalf of the ex-soldiers, their widows and orphans.

Please be prompt in attendance After the reception is over, the Union Veterans' league will meet in G. A. R. hall for the transaction of business.

S. C. Maxwell,
President U. V. League.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

All members of the chamber of commerce are earnestly requested to assemble in front of the Chamber of Commerce building at 7:15 p. m. to join with other associations in giving a hearty "home coming" to the Hon. Charles A. Towne, who has done so much in congress the past winter for the Sixth district, and for Duluth in particular. We are the parent organization in the city and Mr. Towne is an honored member. We should be his body guard in the parade. Turn out and bring your badges. E. R. Brace, Secretary.

CARLTON COUNTY MATTERS.

Farmers Encouraged By the Fine Growing Weather.

Carlton, Minn., June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farmers are very much encouraged with the weather of the past ten days. Everything is growing very fast and planting is about completed.

S. S. Johnson, of Cloquet, has been appointed chairman of the Republican county committee, in the place of W. P. Allen, resigned.

Dr. Sukeforth was called to Willow River, Pine county, on Monday.

Max Wirth and E. C. Baumann, of Duluth, transacted business at the court house this week.

The Carlton County Racing association was organized this week with J. M. Paine president, Ed A. Paige, secretary, and Asa Paine, treasurer. They have a site for a track about half way between Carlton and Cloquet, upon a beautiful elevation, from which Lake Superior can be viewed with a glass. They have advertised for bids for clearing the grounds and putting the track in shape.

There seems to be a mania among the tramps for spring chicken, now that the oyster season is over. A young fellow was arrested on Friday for stealing one of W. J. Watt's thoroughbreds.

A party of eight landseekers have been looking over this county this week with a view to getting homes here. They are from the southern part of the state.

Signs have been posted on the bridge crossing the St. Louis river, warning the public that the bridge has become unsafe on account of decay of timbers. This budge was built only six years ago at quite a cost to the county, and at the time a great many were in favor of building an iron bridge, but this idea was fought on account of the additional cost, which now proves would have been economy.

A. M. Sheldon, of Cloquet, who has been manager of the bank of Prince, Sheldon & Co., of that place, has disposed of his interest in the firm and will leave for a new location in about two weeks. Mr. Sheldon is a shrewd business man and has many friends in Cloquet who will be sorry to lose him.

SHOT HER RIVAL.

Jealous Wife Pours Lead Into Two People.

Fort Smith, Ark., June 6.—Shortly after 9 o'clock last night, on South Sixth street, Mrs. Fagan Baurland shot and fatally wounded Maud Allen and then fired upon her own husband. The shooting was the result of an intrigue of long standing between Bourland and the Allen woman, and has not been unexpected, in view of less serious difficulties that have occurred from time to time. Bourland is quite wealthy, and his wife, a most estimable lady and a leader in local society. She has not been arrested, and probably will not be.

Three shots were fired, one taking effect in the Allen woman's left breast and one alongside the head. The last shot struck a rock and bounced against Bourland's leg. Mrs. Bourland disguised herself by blacking her face in order that she might come up on the couple unawares. It is thought the Allen woman will die.

METEOR WON AGAIN.

Emperor William's New Yacht is Very Swift.

Dover, Eng., June 6.—The yacht race today under the auspices of the Royal Thames Yacht club was won by Emperor William's new yacht, the Meteor. The Britannia was second, the Satanita third and the Ailsa fourth.

DAYTON MAN SUICIDES.

Dayton, Ohio, June 6.—At 5 o'clock this morning William Huffman, prominent in business circles and one time a city commissioner and trustee of the waterworks, was found dead in the bathroom of his residence. He had taken his own life while suffering from a severe illness. He was 58 years of age.

APPEAL

East St. Louis Sends Out Additional Cries For Help.

Field Relief Stations in St. Louis Will Be Closed Tonight.

And Future Succor Afforded at a Central Relief Depot.

St. Louis, June 6.—Pursuant to a resolution of instructions adopted at a meeting of the citizens' executive committee of East St. Louis, Mayor H. E. Bader of that city today sent out additional appeals for aid to all cities in Illinois with a population of 1000 or more. While the relief corps has sufficient funds to meet all immediate expenses, as well as continue its work ten days longer, it intends to overlook no opportunity whereby its means may be augmented. While the starving have been fed and most of the homeless housed temporarily, the need of relief work will continue for some time.

Another body, that of Jacob Wendt, watchman at the Union elevator, was taken from the river, increasing the list of known deaths to 204.

With the exception of a branch managed by the society of St. Vincent De Paul, in the First district, at Seventh and Lasalle streets, all field stations in St. Louis for the relief of tornado sufferers will be closed tonight. The most popular plan, and the one that will undoubtedly be adopted, is for the Merchants' Exchange committee to assume active control of the field. If this is agreed upon the organization will have charge of all money, as heretofore, and of all donations. One mammoth distributing station will be provided, and from it will be delivered all goods and other articles.

WATER POWER SALE.

Niagara Power Plant Sold For $4,000,000.

Chicago, June 6.—A special to the Record from Niagara Falls, N. Y. says: Schoelkopf & Co., it is said, have just sold their entire plant and water privileges to Morton, Bliss & Co., bankers of New York, for $4,000,000. Governor Morton is at the head of the purchasing firm, and it is understood that the big banking firm will bond its purchase for $10,000,000. The canal, water and all privileges were purchased by J. F. Schoelkopf, early in the eighties, for $76,000.

GEORGIA ELECTIONS.

Primaries Being Held in Many Counties Today.

Atlanta, Ga., June 6.—Primary elections or mass meetings are being held today in a majority of the counties in Georgia for the selection of delegates to the state Democratic convention, which will meet in Macon June 25. A few counties have already chosen delegates, and a number of others have postponed action until a later date. In some counties that are voting today expression will be made of a choice for a United States senator, the two candidates being Charles F. Crisp, the representative of the free silver element, and Fleming, of Dublignon, representing the gold standard.

The election of a majority of free silver delegates to the state convention is conceded, though the Georgia gold standard men will have a large representation therein.

DIED OF HIS WOUNDS.

Appleton, Wis., June 6.—Joseph Strong, the man shot here by an officer, April 16, while resisting arrest on suspicion of being Zuelke, the Markesan murderer, died this morning at the hospital. Strong carried a Winchester rifle, and attempted to shoot the officer, but the latter was too quick, and shot Strong in the lungs and shoulder. Strong was a morose fellow, slightly unbalanced, and possessed of a hallucination of being pursued by enemies seeking his life, which explains his desperate resistance of arrest and attempt to shoot the officer.

X RAY TESTIMONY.

Boston, Mass., June 6.—In the famous Rexford-Rogers suit for $50,000 damages, which has just been concluded, the X ray photographs were excluded by the court. Rexford, a boy of 3 years, fell into an elevator well of an apartment house and fractured his skull so badly that his mind was affected. A number of X-ray photographs of the boy's head had been prepared, but the judge refused to allow them to be presented in any form. The verdict was for the defendants.

FATAL SCAFFOLD ACCIDENT.

Bethlehem, Pa., June 6.—Cyrus Moser was killed and Alexander Kidd fatally injured today by the collapse of a scaffold at the top of an elevator shaft at Lips & Sullen's silk mills. The men fell to the water, a distance of thirty feet. Moser's neck was broken and Kidd had almost every bone in his body broken.

OLNEY NOT GUILTY.

Willimantic, Conn., June 6.—The jury in the case of Jeremiah T. Olney, the ex-school fund commander of Connecticut, who has been on trial for alleged misappropriation of state funds, returned a verdict today, "not guilty."

M. JULES SIMON DYING.

Paris, June 6.—The condition of Jules Simon, the distinguished French statesman, life senator and formerly premier, is considered hopeless.

LONDON

Still Excited Over the Prince of Wales and the Derby.

Rumor That W. W. Astor Has Renounced His American Citizenship.

Theatrical Gossip Which Will Interest the American Reading World.

London, June 6.—(Copyright by the Associated Press.)—As usual during Derby week, there has been the largest gathering in town of all sets, and the dull season in this respect was considerably enlivened. The event of the week was the Derby, run on Wednesday and won by the prince of Wales' colt, Persimmon. Seldom has there been such excitement in England. As for the prince of Wales, he is simply overpowered with applause every time he shows himself in public, and telegrams are still pouring in to Marlborough house congratulating him upon the success of his stable. The queen, Emperor William, the czar and most of the crowned heads have telegraphed to the prince upon the occasion. Letters have been written to the press extolling Persimmon, and the editorial writers continue to comment on the event with much gush and fulsomeness.

The only discordant voice thus far comes from Scotland, where the Rev. Mr. Fergus, at a meeting of the Religious Tract society, suggested that they send colporteurs to Epsom in order to induce the prince of Wales, and incidentally Lord Rosebery, to "try for a higher race than the Derby."

The prince of Wales' Derby dinner at Marlborough house was a most festive repast. The dining room was tastefully decorated; all the electrollers were fully lighted, bringing out to perfection the decorative beauty of the table and the dazzling brilliance of the buffet with its burden of rich silver and gold plate. The finest silver service the prince possessed was used upon this occasion, the menu was edited by the prince of Wales, and the wines were of the finest procurable, including Royal Tawney port half a century old, Royal White port and sherry, laid down at the time of the Georges; splendid champagne of the vintage of 1864, and madre and chamberlin of the rarest qualities. Each guest was waited upon by a special servant, and it was not until morning was far advanced that the last of the guests, who included the duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, the duke of York, Prince Christen of Schleswig-Holstein, Prince Soltikoff, the duke of St. Albans, the duke of Devonshire, the earl of Dunraven and C. D. Rose, drove up St. James' street.

There is not the slightest ground for suspicion that the Derby stakes was not won on its merits, after a most difficult finish, but in spite of this, thousands of people believe that the race was arranged for the prince's entry to win. Truth says: "Before the race the comments showed that the public had unquestionably swallowed the idea that Persimmon was a horse which it was prudent to support, and actually believed by tens of thousands that the various owners were so saturated with slavish and groveling servility that they were doing everything possible to smooth the way for the prince of Wales' colt."

The society newspapers comment upon the splendor of William Waldorf Astor's house party, which assembled at Cliveden on Saturday last to meet the prince of Wales. The guests included Lord Roberts, the duke and duchess of Buccleuch, the earl and countess of Yarborough and Lady Randolph Churchill. This has caused one of these papers to remark that it is likely Lady Churchill will become the second Mrs. W. W. Astor, thus reviving the old rumor which seems to be full of vitality. Another organ of society says that Mr. Astor was naturalized as a British subject some time ago, and predicts that he is going into politics and is "fishing for a title."

The London Figaro again devotes much space to the case of Mrs. Maybrick, printing letters from her mother, Baroness De Roques, and her lawyer. The most virulent articles which have appeared against Mrs. Maybrick are, according to the lawyer, written by the American portion of the British press, and her countrymen are said to be assailing her violently, and even at the United States legation hostile influences are alleged to be at work.

Truth, commenting upon the Henley prospects, says: "Neither London nor the Thames is likely to have a first-class crew. The old men have passed away and there are none to take their places. It does not look as if Yale will have such a combine against her as her presence demands."

Since the news of the failure of Messrs. Abbey, Grau & Schoeffel reached London many rumors have been current that their artists now under contract to them would transfer their allegiance to the new Imperial Opera company, which Col. Mapleson will take to America in the autumn. Mapleson's American representative now in London claims to have a cable from New York to the effect that Abbey will lose the Metropolitan Opera house, and the chances are that the Mapleson syndicate will secure it. Mapleson is at present under contract to appear at the Academy of Music.

The second Patti concert was given last Wednesday, June 3, and the prima donna was assited by the Royal Welsh Ladies' choir. She was also supported by Mesdames Amy Sherwin and Belle Cole, Edward Lloyd and Mr. Stanley.

E. S. Willard, whose season terminated at the Garrick theater last Saturday night, will not again be seen in London for at least twelve months. His American tour will begin in November next and extend to the following June. In addition to the new play, "The Rogues' Company," which has been a failure, it is understood that Mr. Willard will try and secure the American rights for "Rosemay," which Charles Wyndham is now producing at the Criterion.

A bazaar in aid of the actors' orphanage fund will be held at the Queen's hall on the afternoon of June 30 and July 1 and 2. The function, which promises to be one of the events of the season, will be given under the patronage of the princess of Wales.

CORBETT TALKS.

Admires Jackson But Says Fitzsimmons is All Mouth.

San Francisco, June 6.—In speaking of the refusal of Bob Fitzsimmons and Peter Jackson to accept the offer of J. H. Hildenbrandt, of Johannesburg, South Africa, to arrange a match between either of the pugilists mentioned, James J. Corbett says: "I am glad of this chance to show once again to the American public that Peter Jackson and Bob Fitzsimmons never had any intention of meeting me in the ring. They are always ready to fight with their mouths, but when it comes down to a substantial offer, they always manage to creep through and avoid a mate.

"I must say that I admire Jackson for his manliness in coming out openly and admitting that he does not want to try conclusions with me, but Fitzsimmons, on the other hand, never loses an opportunity to stalk through the public press his ability to defeat me, but when it comes down to actual business he has never come up."

OFFICIALS' MOVEMENTS.

Washington, June 6.—Secretary of Agriculture Morton has gone to Knoxville to participate in the commencement exercises of the university of Tennessee next Tuesday. While there he will be the guest of Assistant Secretary Dabney. Mrs. Morton and Mrs. Dabney will accompany the secretary. The latter will also deliver an address at the commencement exercises of Roanoke college, Roanoke, Va., Wednesday.

Chief Moore, of the weather bureau, has returned from a long trip of inspection of weather offices in the West.

CORN DUTY PERMITTED.

Washington, June 6.—Minister Ransom has informed the state department that Mexico has, by decree, provided for the exemption of the import duties on 38,000 tons of corn if the same is thrown into the states of Tamulipas and San Luis Potosi and sold at the cost price. In the case of corn imported to Yucatan and Campeche, 50 per cent of the duties are remitted.

ANOTHER HERMANN SUSPECT.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 6.—A man giving his name as J. Orris Brown is being held at Cleveland, Tenn., to await description and photograph of Hermann, the alleged murderer, which has been forwarded by the Salt Lake authorities. Nothing is known definitely, but he is believed to be Hermann.

ANOTHER ARMENIAN STORY.

Seattle, Wash., June 6.—"My mother and sister forfeited lives to save their honor," writes an Armenian of this city. After visiting Palon, formerly a city of 50,000 people, but which by the Turkish massacres has been reduced to about 300 souls, in quest of his mother and sister, the writer says that he found after having been stolen by the Turks, the women had thrown themselves into a river and were drowned, "preferring death to dishonor."

THE UMBRIA'S ROUGH TRIP.

Queenstown, June 6.—The Cunard line steamship Umbria, Capt. Dutton, from New York, on May 30, which arrived here at 6:50 a. m. today, had a rough passage, a strong southeast gale accompanied by heavy seas prevailing for the past few days. On June 2, the steamship passed through a perfect hurricane, during which high head seas swept her decks, and between June 3 and June 4 she only made fifty-five knots, or 100 knots below her average.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

JAPAN

Robert P. Porter Returns From the Realm of the Mikado.

Where He Has Been Studying Industrial and Manufacturing Conditions.

An Extraordinary Progress Made By the People of the Island Empire.

San Francisco, Cal., June 6.—Robert P. Porter, well known as United States superintendent of the last census, returned from Japan on the Peru yesterday. Mr. Porter has been in Japan since March 4, studying the industrial and manufacturing condition of the empire. He returns with a decided idea that the country is fully awake to the needs of the time and might prove a strong competitor of Western nations. Said he: "I am satisfied, after looking over the industrial situation that Japan has taken its position with the great civilized nations of the earth and has become an important factor in the commerce of the world. During my stay in Japan I think I visited more than 200 mills, factories and shops, covering every important industry. The weaving or spinning of textile constitutes the most important industry. There are fully 1,000,000 weavers returned in the census, 950,000 of them females. This tremendous force of weavers has enabled Japan not only to supply nearly all her own wants, but swell her exports of textiles from $551,990 in 1895 to $22,177,626 in 1895.

"In the investigation of the silk industry, I spent some time and I found the current wages for female weavers run from 3 to 6 cents per day for young girls, 10 to 15 cents for expert weavers. I also paid particular attention to cotton spinning and weaving. I see no reason why the exports of cotton to India and China will not reach $50,000,000 before another decade. The textile industry of Japan may reach nearly $100,000,000 this year. Among some of the other industries, notably the rug makers of the country, I found children of 7 and 8 years of age working for 1 cent a day, and 4 to 6 cents a day were current wages for adults for a day of 12 to 14 hours. In some of the manufacturing regions, the schools had been depopulated to one-third of their former number that there might be a supply of children to make matting. The wonder to me is that Japan has become so important a manufacturer without becoming a purchasing country."

Speaking of the foreign trade the student of figures says: "Japan's foreign trade has grown from $78,000,000 in 1885 to $296,000,000 in 1895, which is nearly half the Pacific trade. In my opinion it has room to increase, as Japan secures more and more of the markets."

DO NOT GROW CRITICAL.

"Do not drift into the critical habit," writes Ruth Ashmore in discussing "The Critical Girl," in June Ladies' Home Journal. "Have an opinion, and a sensible one, about everything, but when you come to judge people remember that you see very little of what they really are, unless you winter and summer with them. Find the kindly, lovable nature of the man who knows little of books. Look for the beautiful self-sacrifice made daily by some woman who knows nothing about pictures, and teach yourself day in and day out to look for the best in everything. It is the every-day joys and sorrows, my dear girl, that go to make up life. It is not the one great sorrow, nor the one intense joy. It is the accumulation of the little ones that constitute living, so do not be critical of the little faults, and do be quick to find the little virtues and to praise them. So much that is good in people dies for want of encouragement. As I said before, have an opinion, and a well-thought-out one, about everything that comes into your life, but do not have too many opinions about people. Their hearts are not open books, and as you must be judged yourself some day, give them the kindest judgment now."

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The American liner St. Paul made a new record on her last trip from Southampton to New York, where she arrived yesterday, making the trip in six days, five hours and thirty-two minutes.

The Campos-Borrero affair at Madrid is still the reigning sensation and it is believed that a duel between the disputants will occur, despite the surveillance of the authorities.

At Barcelona, Spain, after the Corpus Christi procession yesterday, two brass bombs, similar to those used in the Liceo theater outrage in November, 1894, were found in a street near the cathedral. Several arrests have been made on suspicion of having planned a bomb outrage.

Consul General Lee and Capt. Gen. Weyler had a long conference at Havana yesterday. Gen. Weyler promised Gen. Lee to attend to the case of Artist Thomas Dawley, an American, who is confined in Castle Morro.

Winners at Fleetwood Park, New York, yesterday were Amazon, Grateful and Newsboy.

A storm at Atlantic, Iowa, at 6 p. m. yesterday did about $10,000 damages by hail to the window glass and crops. Bull creek was greatly swollen and moved a few houses and barns from their foundations. One woman and several children had narrow escapes from drowning but were rescued.

St. Louis had some good horse racing yesterday. The winners were Elsie Barnes, Zoulika, Lord Zeni, Bing Binger, Ellen W and First Dol.

The Maher-Slavin fight at New York is off. The bout was postponed last week until tonight, owing to the interference of the clergy and others. The management of the Empire Athletic club, of Long Island, could not make satisfactory arrangements and declared the match off.

The annual convention of the association of Y. M. C. A. general secretaries of North America began in the Y. M. C. A. building at Cleveland, Ohio, last evening. Two hundred and fifty secretaries are present.

Sheriff Stanley, of Milwaukee, is protecting the tracks of the Milwaukee Street Railway company outside the city limits, and thirteen arrests of people said to be connected with the fatal shooting of Motorman Breen have been made. Authorities have learned that the ambushed party numbered fifteen persons.

Yale's Heneley crew left New Haven, Conn., yesterday, headed by the venerable "Pop" Smith. They were given a great ovation.

Two men died from the effects of the heat at Chicago yesterday. One was Christian Anderson, a saloon keeper and the other was a Polish dock laborer. The mercury did not go above 88, but the humidity was very great and made the heat difficult to bear. Brents Birkman was overcome by the heat last evening.

At Memphis, Tenn., Billy O'Donnell, of St. Paul, and John Lawson, known as the "Terrible Swede," met last night in a 20-round glove contest at the Auditorium. Honors were about even up to the eleventh round when Lawson began to show signs of weakness, but he managed to stay out the twenty rounds. The referee awarded the bout to O'Donnell on points.

A GREAT REMEDY.

For Sufferers From Piles.

Dr. Redmond, a specialist in the study and treatment of piles and rectal diseases, recently stated that the Pyramid Pile Cure, the new discovery for the cure of piles, was the most remarkable remedy he had ever seen or tried in one respect; and that was, the instant relief experienced in all cases, no matter how severe, from the moment the remedy was applied. This was the more surprising to him because he had carefully analyzed the preparation and no trace of opium, cocaine or similar poison could be detected.

Physicians look with great favor upon the Pyramid Pile Cure, because it is rapidly taking the place of surgical operations and because it is so simple, so easily applied and contains no mineral or other poisons so commonly used in pile cures.

Dr. Esterbrook reports that the Pyramid Pile Cure not only cures the various forms of piles, but never fails to give immediate relief on the first application, no matter how severe the pain or discomfort may be.

People who have suffered from piles for years are often astonished at the instant relief experienced from the first application. Another important advantage is the fact that anyone can use the remedy without detention from business or interference with daily occupation. Sold by druggists at 50 cents per package.

SKATES WITH GOLD RUNNERS.

If our winter has been comparatively mild, the Russians have, on the contrary, suffered much from the cold, says Modern Society. They consoled themselves with their favorite amusement, skating; and, as fashion has a voice in everything, the latest fashion this winter in St. Petersburg has been to wear gold skates! Massive gold, not gilt! The capital of Russia is the town of luxury par excellence, and the fashion of golden skates soon spread. One of the grandes dames of St. Petersburg had the blades of her skates enriched with diamonds. She paid nearly £2000 for them. But this was counterbalanced by the great success she had with them in the most elegant circles of the capital.

Other ladies were not long in following this lady's example; they also had their skates set with pearls and other precious stones, and, on dit, the jewelers made several pairs for which £4000 was paid. Just lately, wishing, doubtless, to eclipse all these marvels, the wife of a minister of the empire ordered a pair of skates which cost over £10,000; from every part of which shone diamonds, emeralds, rubies and sapphires of unsurpassed beauty. This piece of artistic jewelry the lady keeps, when not in use, under a glass case in one of her drawing-rooms.

TRADE OUTLOOK.

Mercantile Conditions as Seen By Dun.

New York, June 6.—R. G. Dun & Co. says: It is highly suggestive that with as little help as there is now from new business markets are so nearly maintained. Summer is close at hand, and with new crops promising well and old stocks large, it is no wonder that farm products are so cheap. The factories and mills are still waiting for the rush of business seen last year, and in spite of narrow orders at present are generally holding on with much confidence. It is so late that gold exports no longer alarm, for the date of expected returns draws near. The opinion gains ground that more active business is to be expected after the conventions have been held and the safety and sufficiency of crops have been assured. The low prices at this season affect farmers very little, but have the speculators who have bought from them for a rise.

Estimates of cotton acreage by the best authorities indicate a crop of 10,000,000 bales. The weather is favorable, and the surplus from past crops is certain with only a fair yield to be large enough to prevent any harmful rise, as a yield exceeding the maximum world's consumption of American cotton would probably cause some decline. The movement of cattle at the West is very heavy, at Chicago 10 per cent greater than last year thus far, and lard makes a new low record with enormous stocks accumulated.

The hardest problem of the day is whether iron and steel prices can be maintained, as they have been during the past week. The nail associations have failed thus far to win over competitors who undersell them and are able to manufacture 75,000 kegs against every 100,000 by concerns in the combination. The bar association asks for iron more than the selling price for steel bars. Open hearth billets are more freely sold at Pittsburg below the price asked for Bessemer and middlemen are still selling Bessemer billets about $1 below the price fixed by the pool. Naturally the doubt regarding the maintenance of prices greatly checks the demand for the present but the belief that a much larger demand is certain and will not long be delayed, is the one thing which prevents considerable decline.

The textile manufacturers are waiting, with some cotton goods reduced still further in price and ginghams to the lowest point ever known, while no increase appears in the demand. Sales of wool still fall below half the quantity required for a full consumption and prices have further declined, the average of quotations by Coates & Bros. falling below 13 cents for the first time, making the fall 47.8 per cent in five years. Clay worsteds and mixtures, fancy cassimeres and fancy worsted are a shade lower, the average of representative prices being 28.4 per cent lower than in the spring of 1890, against 27.37 a month ago.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Forman will celebrate July 4 in a fitting manner, a public meeting of its citizens having so decided. The usual races and sports will comprise the day's program.

The Rutland Agitator has suspended, after an existence of four months. The plant will be moved to a new location.

S. W. Kelley, for many years a leading Fargo citizen and waterworks superintendent, is said to have embezzled city funds and left several friends in arrears.

Next week will practically wind up the year's work at the state university at Grand Forks. This has been without exception the most prosperous year in the history of the institution, notwithstanding the discouraging outlook at the beginning of the year. The attendance has been large and a greater degree of interest manifested by the students than ever before.

The annual W. C. T. U. convention for Sargent county was held at Forman on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Several prominent workers in the prohibition cause were present, including Miss Preston, state president. The Sargent county Populists will hold a convention at Forman on Saturday, June 13, to elect seven delegates to the state convention at Grand Forks, June 17.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

It is rumored from New York that the English syndicate that has bought the majority of the Anaconda, Mont., Copper company's stock has begun an investigation of the Homestake property at Deadwood, with a view to possible investment. The proposition is to consolidate all the properties of this company the Homestake, Deadwood Terra, Highland, etc., into one with a capital of $15,000,000 and that a large block of this may be sold to the syndicate.

At Hot Springs Black Jack, an Indian from Rosebud agency, South Dakota, was up before the court commissioner this week charged with rape upon the person of an Indian maid. Sworn evidence of the Indian waived examination and was bound over, furnishing $1000 bond.

MRS. STOWE'S HOME.

"At the patriarchal age of 85," writes Richard Burton in June Ladies' Home Journal, of Mrs. H. Beecher Stowe, "this woman, this great writer and famed American, is quietly spending the evening of her life in Hartford's literary corner. In the pleasant western part of the town, known as Asylum Hill, the most popular section for residences of the better sort, is situated Forest street, short and beautifully tree-lined, running off south at right angles from the stately Farmington avenue.

A few steps down, the third house on the right is a pretty brick cottage of moderate size, painted gray, and attractive by reason of its well-kept lawn, its flower beds and trees. Here Mrs. Stowe has lived with her two daughters for more than twenty years, moving thither in 1873 from a larger house near by, which she built and occupied until driven from it by the inroads of business. Forest street is true to its name, for as one passes along it great trees and ample grounds with no fences and a general effect of unspoiled nature come into view.

The contiguous estates of Charles Dudley Warner and his brother, George, embrace several acres of land; the picturesque houses stand far back from the sidewalk; squirrels play boldly up and down the chestnut boles, and the woodpecker and robin rejoice in the green herbage. The former's land touches that of Mark Twain (Samuel L. Clemens), whose large, many-gabled house faces on Farmington avenue, just around the corner."

THE SHAH'S DESIRE.

The English papers are full of stories of the late shah of Persia, some of which are probably true, remarks the New York Tribune. When he was visiting England he frequently expressed his contempt for the mildness of English law. So he was finally taken to Newgate in order that he might see a gallows. He at once manifested great interest in it, and expressing a desire to see how it worked, asked the governor to hang a man. The governor explained that he had not at the time a man ready for the experiment; whereupon the shah expressed his contempt. But he intimated that that was of no consequence. "Hang one of these," said he, pointing to his suite, each man of which probably trembled in his shoes. And very great indeed was the shah's disgust when he found that he could not prevail upon the governor to do what he wanted.

CUSTOMS LAWS.

Personal Effects Which May Be Brought in Free.

It would be difficult to make out a list of goods that can be brought in from Europe free of duty, says the St. Louis Globe Democrat. It may suffice to observe that personal effects and household goods actually in use and necessary and appropriate for the use of the passenger according to his means and station in life and for the purposes of his journey, can be entered free of duty, provided they accompany the owners, or the owners thereof can make oath that they have arrived in the United States within one year prior to date of arrival of the goods, specifying the steamer and date upon which they arrived. If the owners have not arrived within the year, duty must be paid upon appraisement. Household effects, books and libraries, if used abroad not less than one year, and not intended for any other person, not for sale, are entitled to free entry, even if the owners have resided more than one year in the United States.

Old clothing and household effects sent as presents are dutiable. Paintings, statuary and other works are embraced in the term "household effects." Horses, carriages and saddlery are now embraced in the term "household effects." Cameras for private use and photographs taken as mementos, and not for sale, are free. Each passenger arriving is entitled to bring with him fifty cigars. Inheritances, presents from abroad, even if they are old, and properly household effects, must pay duty. Shotguns and bicycles are covered by the term "personal effects." Tools of trade, instruments, professional books, theatrical wardrobes, are free only when accompanying the owner. Every person coming from abroad is entitled to enter one watch of foreign manufacture free. Paintings, statuary, etc., are free, if household effects.

The effects of an American citizen who died abroad can be returned free, if accompanied by a consular certificate. Gloves, beyond what are in current use, ribbons, laces, etc., not made up, are dutiable.

HOME-MADE HAIR CUT.

A man with the remains of great personal beauty entered a compartment on the district railway, and with a sigh of great physical exhaustion removed his hat and sank back into a corner seat, says Judy. He had a spot or two of blood on his collar, sticking plaster on both ears, his forehead and the bridge of his nose, while his hair was cut very close in patches, as if to make room for surgical dressings which had been lately removed.

"Been in a railway accident?" asked the inquisitive passenger who sat opposite.

"No."

"Or run over?"

"No, sir."

"Been at an anarchists' meeting, perhaps?"

"Oh, dear, no!"

"Ah! I know—playing football?"

"I never played in my life."

"Well," with an injured air, "I give it up."

"I don't mind telling you if you want to know. The fact is, I've been trying to economize, and let my wife cut my hair this morning, and I'd sooner pay 5 shillings a time than to let her do it again."

STONE SOLES FOR SHOES.

A German inventor has hit upon a method of putting stone soles on boots and shoes, says the London News. He mixes a waterproof glue with a suitable quantity of clean quartz sand and spreads it over the leather sole used as a foundation. These quartz soles are said to be very flexible and practically indestructible and to give the foot a firm hold, even on the most slippery surfaces.

A WORD FOR CLAPP.

Perham Bulletin: The people of this end of the county, without regard to party, would like to see Moses E. Clapp receive the Republican nomination for governor. Moses wears no corporation collar, and he could be relied upon running the office in the interest of the people.

Notice of Assessment

For Improvement of the Parkway Space on Superior Street From Eight Avenue East to Twenty-Second Avenue East.

Duluth, Minn., June 5, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the board of park commissioners of the city of Duluth has filed its report in the office of the board of public works of the city of Duluth, showing it has caused the parkway space between the curb and the sidewalk line on both sides of Superior street in the city of Duluth to be improved by the planting of shade trees at a cost of eighteen hundred and thirty ($1830) dollars; and that the board of public works of said city will meet at their office in the city hall in said city on Tuesday, the 16th day of June, A. D. 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. to make an assessment for the amount of the special benefit accruing to the general benefit to all real estate in the city derived from such improvement upon the real estate that may be found and determined to be specially benefited thereby. The highest amount in the aggregate of said special benefit to be so assessed has been determined by said board of public works to be the sum of nine hundred fifteen ($915) dollars.

All lands in said city to which special benefits result from said improvement will be assessed in proportion, as near as may be, to the special benefits resulting thereto from said improvement. All persons interested in said proceedings shall have the right to be present and be heard at said time and place in relation to the making of said assessment.

ASSESSMENT FOR Public Park.

Office of the Board of Public Works,
Duluth, Minn., June 5, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the board of park commissioners of the city of Duluth has acquired by purchase, in the name of the city of Duluth, the title in fee simple to the following lands for the use of the city of Duluth for park purposes, to-wit:

Block 117, Portland division; blocks 98, 106, 110, 114, 115, 117, 118, and lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16, in block 111, all in Endion Division, and all being in the city of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, and that the board of public works of said city will meet at their office in the city hall in said city on Tuesday, the 16th day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. to make an assessment of the sum of ten thousand one hundred eighty-four ($10,184) dollars and fifteen (15) cents, upon real estate within said city especially benefitted by such acquirement for the amount of the special benefit derived therefrom beyond the general benefit to all real estate in said city. The said sum of ten thousand one hundred eighty-four ($10,184) dollars and fifteen (15) cents is by said board of public works deemed to be the amount of such special benefit.

All lands situated in said city and to which special benefits result from the acquirement by the city of Duluth for park purposes of the lots and parcels of land hereinbefore described will be assessed in proportion as near as may be to the special benefits resulting thereto from such acquirement. All persons interested in said proceeding shall have the right to be present and be heard at said time and place in relation to the making of said assessment.

WEST END

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Robinson Were Given a Surprise Party.

Services Which Will Be Held in the Churches Tomorrow.

West Duluth Republicans Will Join in the Towne Reception.

J. J. Robinson and wife were agreeably surprised at their home on Fifty-sixth avenue last evening. Their friends discovered that it was the silver anniversary of their wedding, and determined to make it a memorable time in the lives of the happy couple, so, armed with refreshments and presents, they gathered in front of the Robinson residence and demanded admittance, with friendship as the password. It is needless to state that they received a generous welcome and were given the freedom and hospitality of the house. The party brought Dr. Forbes with them, who presented Mr. and Mrs. Robinson with a silver cake dish, fruit basket, fruit spoon and other articles. About fifty were present, and an enjoyable evening was spent.

CHURCH SERVICES TOMORROW.

Rev. F. E. Higgins, of Barnum, will preach morning and evening at Asbury church tomorrow. Dr. Forbes went to Hibbing this afternoon, where he will dedicate the new Methodist church tomorrow. Monday evening he will lecture at Hibbing.

Services will be held at Westminster Presbyterian church tomorrow at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. by the pastor, Rev. George E. Keithley. In the morning communion services will be held, with an address suitable to the occasion. Evening topic, "The Body a Living Sacrifice." Sunday school at Bay View Heights in the afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

Rev. Warren will hold evening services at 7:30 p. m. at the Church of the Holy Apostles.

INVITED TO PARTICIPATE.

The West Duluth Republican club has received an invitation to participate in the reception to be given C. A. Towne at Duluth, this evening. All members of the club who can are requested to be at the West Duluth depot at 6:30, to take the "limited" in order to join in the parade. Those who are unable to be there at that time are requested to join the club later at Fifth avenue, where they will find the members in line. All Republicans not members of the club are invited to accompany them.

A YOUNG MAN HURT.

Edward, the 17-year-old son of Henry Scobie, an engineer on the Northern Pacific railroad, was quite seriously injured Wednesday evening at the Duncan & Brewer mill at Oneota. He was working near a gearing, in which his leg was caught, and the flesh torn to the bone.

THE MACCABEES BALL.

The dance given by the ladies of Pearl Hive, No. 4, L. O. T. M., was one of the largest given this season, at least 100 couple being present. Dancing was kept up until 3 o'clock, and the affair was a financial and social success.

WEST DULUTH BRIEFS.

W. C. Sargent, candidate for sheriff, was in West Duluth this morning digging post holes and otherwise making preparations to erect his political fences.

Born, to Samuel Cole and wife, a daughter.

Mrs. Cullen, who lives on Fifty-seventh avenue, accidently fell yesterday, fracturing her arm. She is 65 years old.

FEATS OF MEMORY.

Phenomenal Development of That Great Faculty.

An extraordinary development of the faculty of memory is noted in the person of Rev. William Cullen Hicks, a revivalist, who is at present holding meetings in the country districts of Kentucky, says the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle. Mr. Hicks is only 28 years old, but his familiarity with the Scriptures is something phenomenal. He always draws large crowds, being an attractive and forcible speaker, but his greatest reputation rests in his ability to recite with absolute correctness every chapter and verse in the Bible with the exception of the Psalms. He can start at the beginning, middle or end, and go backward or forward, and can repeat any chapter of any book of the Old or New Testament, without halting or hesitating. Reports from Adair county, Kentucky, where he is now sojourning, say that his performances are amazing.

Another case of unusual memory, which is attracting much attention, is the recent achievement of Secretary Carlisle in Chicago. Mr. Carlisle's speech on the finances was delivered without manuscript, and the speaker referred to his notes only two or three times during the whole of his address. As he gave many figures and statistics referring to this and other countries, the performance must be set down as a noteworthy one. It has, however, been equalled or surpassed by other men prominent in our public life. Edward Everett, Charles Sumner, Roscoe Conkling and James G. Blaine were famous for oratorical efforts which had all the force and attractiveness of extempore deliverances, but which had been carefully prepared and memorized. Mr. Conkling had special gifts in this direction.

It was often difficult for his hearers to persuade themselves that his flights of eloquence, flashes of wit, volleys of invective and appropriate gestures were not inspirations of the moment, when, in fact, they were the finished product of laborious preparation, and, in some cases, of private rehearsal. His great speech in New York in the Garfield campaign was a wonderful achievement in memory and in the oratorical art that conceals art. Mr. Blaine also generally knew precisely what he was going to say and just how he was going to say it, before delivering an important speech. It long ago ceased to be a secret that on the occasion of his last appearance in Rochester he secured the attendance of an expert shorthand reporter in his private room. The reporter seated himself at a table with paper and pencils, and Mr. Blaine, slowly pacing the room, deliberately thought out and dictated a speech. A type-written copy of the reporter's notes was immediately taken to the newspaper offices, and a few hours later Mr. Blaine delivered the speech, word for word, to a large assemblage of people. Between the dictation and the delivery Mr. Blaine had many callers, and his thoughts were diverted in other ways by the events of the day, but his memory did not fail him. Although this was by no means one of the most important mental efforts of his life, it was a peculiar and impressive one.

STOREHOUSE OF HONEY.

On Elk mountain, Susquehanna county, a few miles from the Jefferson branch of the Erie railroad, there is an extraordinary lot of wild honey, says the New York Press. The hive is located in a rift, which penetrates the rock probably to the depth of 100 feet. The orifice is thirty feet long and seventeen feet wide. The rift was discovered to be the abiding place of a huge swarm of bees, which flies in a close column, about one foot in diameter.

Many persons have tried to get to the honey stored by the bees, but were invariably driven back. One man, three years ago nearly lost his life in the attempt. Others have built a scaffold, 125 feet high, in the hope of reaching a place whence they vainly tried to run a tube into the hoard of sweets and extract a little. Within four years the bees have added probably not less than fifteen feet of honey to their treasure. It is thought that there are several tons of honey in the rock.

A man named Duncan, who lives in a cabin not far from the spot, each summer obtains from the rock, by the sun's heat, more than enough for his family. All through that region, the second highest point in Pennsylvania, wild honey is found in cracks of rocks.

Eczema is a frightful affliction, but like all other skin diseases it can be permanently cured by applications of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. It never fails to cure piles. S. F. Boyce.

Healthy, happy children make better men and women of us all. A little care and a little planning before birth is often more important than anything that can be done after.

On the mother's health and strength depend the life and the future of the children. A weak and sickly woman cannot bear strong and healthy children. Most of the weakness of women is utterly inexcusable. Proper care and proper medicine will cure almost any disorder of the feminine organism. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been tested in thirty years of practice. It is healing, soothing, strengthening. It is perfectly natural in its operation and effect.

By its use, thousands of weak women have been made strong and healthy—have been made the mothers of strong and healthy children. Taken during gestation, it makes childbirth easy and almost painless and insures the well being of both mother and child.

BOOMING

Wheat Advanced Over Two Cents on the Kansas Crop Report.

Further Evidence That the Winter Wheat Crop Is a Failure.

Another Bullish Factor Seen in the Light Shipments From Argentine.

If anything remained to convince the wheat trade that last year's serious failure of the winter wheat crop was being duplicated now, the Kansas state crop report, issued this morning, went a long way towards removing the specter of skepticism which might still be lingering in the dusty corners of unilluminated brains. The report in question made the present condition of wheat in the state 69, compared with 96 a month ago. The result was an excited advance in the price took place immediately at the opening and was added to after every reaction during the day. The Kansas report may be said to have been the head and front of the influence to which was due an advance in July from 55¾c as it stood yesterday afternoon to 62¾c near the close today. It was still bringing 61¾@62c as the closing hour stopped trading. Light Argentine shipments were also a factor in the advance.

Trading on the Duluth board was very active. July opened 3c higher at 60½c, advanced ¼c, eased off to 60¾c and then fluctuated between 60¼c and 60½c, until 10:40 a. m. when it sold up to 60¾c and continued to advance to 61¾c. Then there was a reaction to 60¾c, but again the bulls took hold and before the close the price touched 61¾c and the market closed strong with July at 62c. Sidlpar sold 40,000 bus of cash wheat at the July price, and the mills took 35,000 bus at ¼c over July. The close was 2¼c higher all round than yesterday. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 62¾c; July, 62¾c. No 1 northern, cash, 61¾c; June, 62c; July, 62c; September, 62c. No. 2 northern, cash, 58¾@59¾c. No. 3, 57½@58¼c. Rejected, 53¼@57½c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 62c asked; No. 1 northern, 62c asked. Rye, 32c. No. 2 oats, 18½@19c; No. 3 oats, 18@18½c. Flax, 79½c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 254; oats, 9; rye, 14; barley, 21; flax, 6. Receipts—Wheat, 242,543 bus; oats, 25,806 bus; rye, 7273 bus; barley, 17,373 bus; flax, 3752 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 120,649 bus; oats, 4400 bus.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 307 Board of Trade.

Chicago, June 6.—The wheat market today was a runaway and for a time looked like a repetition of that memorable Saturday a year ago when it advanced 5c. After the bell struck, trades were made at 62¾c for July which makes a net advance of 3c for the day. The cause of the strength was at the start the Kansas crop report showing a condition 30 points lower than a month ago. This made a higher opening, which attracted some short selling and realizing, but the leading local bulls instead of selling bought more, and at the close shorts and fresh buyers brought about a quick rally. Sales of flour are reported extremely large. Argentine shipments very light. Foreign markets are inclined to follow us up and the probability of a very bullish government report makes the situation very strong, and a further rapid advance is not improbable.

Corn and oats were dull but advanced some at the close in sympathy with wheat.

Provisions easier, but each decline attracts good buying.

Puts, July wheat, 59¾@60¾c.

Calls, July wheat, 61¾@65½c.

Curb, July wheat, 62½c.

Firm Opening With Raise in Prices.

New York June 6.—The stock market opened firm and fractionally higher, with Sugar and Manhattan in good demand at gains of ½ per cent each. Twenty-five thousand dollars of silver certificates sold at 69. A reactionary movement developed after 10:15 under the influence of profit taking, but the concessions were unimportant. Bay State Gas was an exception to the general trend of values, moving up 1 per cent to 28½; silver certificates are shaded at 69 under sales of $155,000.

The pressure against the market was unrelieved in the final hour, with Sugar bearing the brunt of the selling and scoring a decline of 1⅜ per cent, regardless of an advance in the refined grades of the product. Manhattan, Reading, Louisville & Nashville and the grangers receded sharp fractions. Near the close Sugar improved slightly. The general list left off heavy in tone. Transactions in silver certificates aggregated $155,000 at 69. The total sales were 48,900 shares.

BIRD PROPHETS.

If birds in general pick their feathers, wash themselves and fly to their nests, expect rain, says the Boston Transcript.

When birds cease to sing, rain and thunder will probably occur.

Birds flying in groups during rain or wind indicate hail.

Blackbirds bring healthy weather.

Blackbirds' notes are very shrill in advance of rain.

A solitary turkey buzzard at a great altitude indicates rain.

If the rooster crows more than usual, or earlier, expect rain.

Roosters are said to clap their wings in an unusual manner before rain, and hens to rub in the dust and seem very uneasy.

If the crows make much noise and fly round and round, expect rain.

The crow flying alone is a sign of foul weather, but if crows fly in pairs, expect fine weather.

Cuckoos hallooing on low lands indicate rain; on high lands, fair weather.

The cuckoo in April opens his bill, in May he sings all day, in June he alters his tune, come August, go he must.

When fowls roost in daytime, expect rain.

When the hen crows, expect a storm within and without.

When you see geese in water washing themselves, expect rain.

When the roosters go crowing to bed, they will rise with watery head.

If a rooster crows on the ground, it is a sign of rain; if he crows on the fence, it is a sign of fair weather.

A crowing rooster during rain indicates fair weather.

Birds singing during rain indicate fair weather.

Buzzards flying high indicate fair weather.

Domestic fowls dress their feathers when the storm is about to cease.

Kites flying unusually high are said to indicate fair weather.

Larks when they sing long and fly high forbode fine weather.

If owls hoot at night, expect fair weather.

If owls scream in foul weather, it will change to fair.

When quails are heard in the evening, fair weather is indicated for next day.

If storks and cranes fly high and steady, expect fair weather.

When the thrush sings at sunset, a fair day will follow.

When men-of-war hawks fly high, it is a sign of a clear sky; when they fly low, prepare for a blow.

BEASTS THAT GET SEASICK.

Human beings are not the only ones who suffer from seasickness, by any means, says the New York Sun. One hears a good deal about the pangs that have filled men and women with woe, but little is said of the menageries brought to America every year, or carried hither and yon in wave-tossed boats.

Lions and tigers may be majestic when they have unwavering earth or rock against their paws, but a seasick cat of these tribes is as forlorn as any man ever was and doesn't look a bit more kingly than a wet rabbit. Even its roars and growls have a weeping sound in them, quite in keeping with the general appearance of the beast.

A monkey is as pitiful an object when it is seasick as any other beast so stricken, and its forlorn facial expression is so human like and the way it clasps its paws across its stomach is so natural that the man who is not seasick necessarily sees something to laugh at in the misery of the creature. Not so with the seasick man. If he sees a seasick monkey he is sure to swear furiously, thinking the poor thing is mocking him.

It takes a dog to be woful at sea. It has a way of doubling all up, with its tail between its legs and head hanging down, that shows a deep-seated pain. To free itself the dog goes through all sorts of contortions. It will stretch out on the deck, groan and squeal, sometimes rising on its haunches and lifting its head, howl long and miserably, as some dogs do at the sound of music.

THE WEATHER.

United States Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth. Synopsis of weather conditions for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m., (Central time), June 6.—The barometer has fallen rapidly in the Upper Missouri valley, and a trough of low pressure extends from the Northern Rocky mountain region southeast to Kansas, attended by general rains in the Upper Missouri valley and on the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains. Southeast gales are reported in the Dakotas and Kansas, and thunderstorms in Montana and South Dakota.

Local showers have occurred since yesterday in Michigan, Eastern Wisconsin and Western Tennessee, but the weather was fair at this morning's observation in the Lake region, the Mississippi valley and the Southwest.

Duluth temperature at a. m. today, 56; maximum yesterday, 80; minimum yesterday, 49.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity: Cloudy, with occasional showers and probably thunderstorms tonight and Saturday; decidedly cooler tonight; continued cool Sunday; northeast gales.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Official.

Chicago, June 6.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Increasing cloudiness and probably thunder storms tonight and Sunday; probably cooler in the northeast portion tomorrow; increasing southeast winds. Minnesota: Showers and probably thunder storms this afternoon, tonight and Sunday; increasing easterly winds.

Depth of water over the miter sill in St. Mary's ship canal at 8 a. m. was 14 feet 3 inches and the forecast is that it will remain stationary during the next twenty-four hours.

CLOUGH'S DOUBLE DEALING.

Governor Clough has been playing a very pretty game in the Sixth district, but when its features become known to the people it will fail utterly to effect the object which he has in view. To the Duluth Republicans who are friends of Mr. Towne and believers in his views on the money question, Mr. Clough has been expressing his readiness to do all within his power to secure Mr. Towne's renomination on a free silver platform. In fact, it is well known that he has promised through his man Friday, Bob Dunn, to deliver enough votes in the congressional convention for this purpose, providing, of course, that the Towne men here will support him for governor and will send a solid delegation in his favor to St. Paul. This statement may be denied—it probably will be denied by both Clough and Dunn—but it is true. Their denials will be worth just as much as their promise to nominate Mr. Towne on any platform that he desires. It is not within the power of his friends in this district to carry out the promise, but as they never intend to carry it out they do not care about that feature of the case. Their object is to get delegates for Clough at St. Paul. When the congressional convention met, they would express to Mr. Towne's friends their sorrow that the pledge could not be carried out.

But while Mr. Clough and the other members and attaches of the Merriam machine have been making these overtures to the silver Republicans in Duluth, they have been pursuing other tactics in the western end of the district, where the anti-silver men are more numerous. Governor Clough was one of the speakers at the Park Region encampment of the Grand Army, held at Long Prairie, Todd county. In his speech delivered there last Thursday evening—a lengthy address, delivered from manuscript—he made an especially bitter attack on the silver men. The occasion was not a political one, and there was no particular reason why the money question should have been mentioned, but he went out of his way to roast the silver men as "cheap demagogues" and to glorify the single gold standard as the only true Republican doctrine.

The Herald regrets that but meager reports of this speech have been published, but sufficient has been given to show the double game that Mr. Clough is playing in this district. In one section he flatters the silver men and solicits their support, promising anything they want, while in another section he calls them "cheap demagogues" and pats the gold standard men on the back. His object is to "catch them coming and going." What do the friends of Mr. Towne in Duluth think of such double-dealing? What do the Republicans throughout the state think of such disreputable political tactics?

It is believed that Senator Quay will retire from the presidential race within a few days and request his friends to cast their votes for McKinley. But Tom Reed will not withdraw. His name will be presented at St. Louis and he will be balloted for, and he will go down with his colors flying.

AN IMPORTANT POINT.

The St. Cloud Journal-Press urges the Republicans of Stearns county to pay careful attention to the selection of a delegation to the state convention. It says: "This county should send fifteen of its best and most level-headed Republicans—men who will command the respect and confidence of the people. They should be men who are friendly to Congressman Towne, and whose Republicanism cannot be doubted. The convention may be a 'love feast' or it may have a very serious problem to solve. It will be well to be prepared for both phases of the question."

This is good advice and will apply with equal appropriateness to the Republicans of St. Louis county. The very best men who can be selected should be sent to the congressional convention at St. Cloud—men who are not only sincere and loyal friends of Mr. Towne, but who are level-headed and capable of meeting any emergency that may arise. And this raises the thought: what is likely to be the complexion of the St. Louis county delegation to St. Cloud if the Clough men should gain control of the county convention? Would they select a delegation that would be loyal to Mr. Towne under any and all circumstances? Because it must not be forgotten that nine-tenths of the leading Clough men here, and those who would control the county convention and select the delegates in case they won at the primaries, are well known not to be in sympathy with Mr. Towne's views and would not hesitate to abandon him, if it appeared to be essential to their own political plans, or if William R. Merriam, of whose political machine they form a part, should so direct.

This is an important point for every loyal friend of Mr. Towne to consider carefully. On the other hand, they will find that the vast majority of Mr. Lee's leading supporters here are tried and true friends of Mr. Towne, who do not, as do some of those on the other side, talk disparagingly of him behind his back and aid in fomenting discord in the district.

CLOUGH ADMITS DEFEAT.

Governor Clough is not in good spirits these days. He is plainly worried. Those who have seen him lately say that he wears an anxious look, which indicates that he does not believe the Merriam "machine" can secure his nomination. The Pioneer Press yesterday published a significant interview which he gave to a St. Cloud correspondent while on his way to a G. A. R. encampment. In this talk he virtually admitted that he will be beaten in Hennepin county, while he expressed hope of carrying Ramsey county. There is but little chance, however, that he can carry Ramsey, where all the young Republicans are working enthusiastically in favor of Moses E. Clapp and where the Pioneer Press is daily making hundreds of votes for Clapp by opposing him.

If, as Mr. Clough himself virtually admits, he cannot carry Hennepin county, his name will hardly be mentioned in the state convention. The indications are strong that Clough is already beaten. The leading anti-Clough candidate is William E. Lee, and with the solid support of the Sixth district, combined with the support already assured to him from other sections of the state, he can be nominated. If St. Louis county is in line for him, there will be little doubt of his success. This county's vote cannot now help Clough, because he is irretrievably distanced in the race, but it can nominate Lee.

WHY THE GOLD STANDARD FAILS.

Dr. Otto Arendt, a distinguished member of the Prussian house of deputies and the acknowledged leader of the bimetallists in the German silver convention of 1894, discusses "The Outlook for Silver" in the current number of the North American Review, and freely considers the chances of bimetallism in Europe and America. He reaches the conclusion that the adoption of bimetallism by all the leading nations of the world is not as far distant as many people believe, and he points out very clearly the serious mistake of any country now saddling itself with the single gold standard.

Dr. Arendt points out why the gold standard fails in a very clear manner. That a universal gold standard might be introduced is conceded, he says. But that it is practically impossible to obtain the gold necessary for that purpose is today admitted by the most inveterate gold men. Accordingly, the typical gold man of today always demands the gold standard only for his country. In London the saying is that England must adhere to the gold standard, but that it is very much to be desired that the rest of the world should adopt bimetallism. But the gold standard man of Germany wishes to have his country in agreement with England on the money standard. Austria-Hungary does not wish to depart from the German standard, nor Roumania from that of Austria-Hungary; and thus the present state of affairs necessarily leads to the extension of the gold standard, which is everywhere recognized as dangerous and impossible. One land after the other makes abortive attempts to introduce the gold standard, and lapses into fiat money. This is no longer the exceptional condition in the case of ruined finances, but it is the rule with all debtor countries. The attempts made in Russia and Austria-Hungary to introduce the gold standard will lead to no other result than that obtained in Italy; the gold has to be locked up or it will flow out of the country; and the first untoward event causes the reappearance of the gold premium, higher than ever.

"If," says Dr. Arendt, "the United States has thus far escaped fiat money, it is solely owing to the increase of the gold production. On this increase, in fact, depends the very possibility of the existence of the gold standard. The bad news from the Transvaal and from West Australia are more decisive than all declarations of British ministers. If a crash is imminent in West Australia, as would appear from the reports of Mining Councilor Schmeisser; if it is true that in the Transvaal the climax of the gold production has already been passed; if the wealth of Colorado is destined to be quickly exhausted by American energy—then it will not be long before all talk of a gold standard will subside, and that point may be reached in a few years."

SILVER DEMOCRATS ARE MAD.

The Democrats in Duluth who believe in free silver coinage and intend to elect delegates to the district and state conventions in favor of bimetallism are indignant at the presence here at this time, just previous to the primary caucuses, of United States Marshal "Dick" O'Conner, of St. Paul. They say he is here at the instance of Michael Doran, the agent of J. J. Hill, to help turn down the silver Democrats in Duluth. The Duluth Democrats who usually attend the state convention have always given the St. Paul "gang" a great deal of trouble by stirring up the delegates from the balance of the state to assert their independence, with the result that the St. Paul crowd have often been defeated.

They also assert that the St. Paul "gang" of Democrats, which put up the scheme two years ago to help elect Knute Nelson governor, are now planning to control the state convention in favor of the "goldbugs" and to re-elect Michael Doran, Jim Hill's agent in the Democratic party, national committeeman, so that the edict is sent forth to, if possible, prevent the election of Duluth silver men as delegates, knowing that if they are elected every effort will be made to defeat Mr. Doran and a gold standard platform, and this trust is delegated to the Honorable "Dick" O'Connor, the prince of manipulators of primaries. Duluth Democrats, however, believe in home rule and will give "Dick" O'Connor the biggest job he ever undertook.

The Pioneer Press yesterday published interviews with a selected list of St. Paul Republicans declaring against Clapp's gubernatorial candidacy, the gist of which was that Ramsey county should be modest and not present any candidates this year. Among those interviewed was Mr. Merriam, who expressed the opinion that it would be hardly fair to the rest of the state for St. Paul to ask any favors now. In other words, the machine in St. Paul would like to see Clough get another term in order that Merriam might stand a better chance in the senatorial fight two years hence.

The Wright county Times says: "Somehow the people of this country always did like to be free and independent." This is undeniably correct. And it is because of this desire to be free and independent that the Republican voters of Minnesota are determined this year to free themselves from the detestable yoke of the Merriam machine which has been dictating the platforms and the nominations of Republican state conventions for several years.

The London Spectator asks if there is a principle upon which the expenditure of $25,000,000 for the coronation of the czar can be even plausibly justified. "Is it not," asks the Spectator, "the waste of a Belshazzar, the display of an almost insane pride, a pouring out of treasure as Oriental kings sometimes pour it out, solely to excite an emotion of glory in one oversated mind?"

Capt. Van Sant, who is one of the gubernatorial candidates and has many friends here, very wisely concluded today, after looking over the political situation in Duluth, that the fight here is between Lee and Clough and that it would be unwise for him to make it three-cornered.

It is amusing to watch the gold standard papers which some time ago were denouncing ex-Congressman Breckinridge as a moral leper, now praising him because he made a speech in the Kentucky convention in favor of gold. In the eyes of some of the goldbugs, belief in the gold standard is the only virtue.

Gen. Clapp is putting up a splendid fight in Ramsey county and the indications are that he will achieve a splendid victory over the Merriam-Clough combine.

The Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin says that "Vilas is the senator from Gray Gables." It is an appropriate title for the prince of the cuckoos.

STEADILY GROWING.

Mazeppa Tribune: The opposition to Governor Clough is growing.

THE STATE APPOINTEES.

Little Falls Transcript: A state appointee is about as apt to forget to draw his salary as he is to forget to claim his county for Clough. And if he doesn't carry his county he will probably stop drawing his state salary.

Detroit Tribune: "Help me," he besought them, "for I am blind." They came in answer to his call, and there was pity in their hearts.

"Will some kind person wink at the soda water girl for me?" he asked, tremulously.

Whereupon they perceived that his extremity was indeed great.

Philadelphia Call: Workmen were engaged laying tracks for the trolley cars on an uptown street last week, when an inquisitive stranger bothered one of the men very much by questioning.

"Are you working for the contractor of this road?" was the final query.

"No, sor," replied the Irishman, petulantly. "I'm working for the extendor ay it."

Puck: Her Father—You ask for my daughter's hand in marriage. Have you fixed the date of marriage?

Suitor—I will leave that to your daughter, sir.

Her Father—Do you wish a church or a private wedding?

Suitor—Her mother can determine on that, sir.

Her Father—And what is your income?

Suitor—I will leave that entirely to you, sir.

LIFE AND LOVE.

Life and Love at the cross-roads met,
Out for a holiday;
Cried Love, "Sweet Life, thy cares forget,
Come, journey on without regret,
Through summer hours away."

A rose-white blur against the sky,
Crab-apple blossoms blow;
The drifting swallows homeward fly
To April slopes aglow;
And Life and Love in laughter vie
As on their way they go.

Pan's pipes sigh 'neath a crescent moon,
Lilac cobwebs float and stray;
Night moths seek the white flowers soon,
'Tis the daffodil month of May;
And Life and Love sing a merry tune,
They are comrades true for aye.

To June's rose-hidden portals led Glad Love his comrade true.
"Now we must part," was all Life said,
"And fare alone, for who Finds Love and June and roses red,
Has lived his day—adieu!"— —Nancy Mann Waddle in June Ladies' Home Journal.

MERRIAM'S CAT'S-PAW.

Hokah Chief: The 4-column editorial in last week's Midway News, containing clippings from a goodly representation of the state press, shows which way the wind blows as regards the renomination of Governor Clough. The Republican party has no further use for Clough, not so much because of any personal defects, but because he is the cat's-paw of the Merriam machine—the tool to do the bidding of Merriam and Tams Bixby.

THE MACHINE CANDIDATE.

Minneapolis Journal: No wonder Merriam is opposed to Clapp and in favor of Clough in Ramsey county. No wonder he is in favor of Clough throughout the state. Clough is the machine candidate. His defeat means death to the machine, his nomination means perpetuation of the corrupt methods which have become a byword throughout the state. Mr. Clough may be Ramsey's candidate, but he is not Hennepin's.

WANT MORE OF IT.

Wascca Radical: The agreement of Van Sant, Lee and Dustis that they would not oppose each other in Hennepin county, thereby allowing a free expression of the people without let or hindrance, was called "poolng," and complained of by politicians. If that be poolng let us have pooling all over the state.

WHERE TAM'S EYE IS FIXED.

Graphic Sentinel: There is not a man in the state at the present time that is receiving the attention and getting the free advertising that Tams Bixby is. Why, boys, Tams is not running for governor, but you can all bet your bottom dollar he has his eye on the horn, and if he comes out the little end this year it will be the first time for a long time.

SHOULD BE KEPT THERE.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: Congressman Towne will return home this week. He has put in a hard winter's work for his district and has been exceptionally successful for a new member. A great deal of a member's efficiency depends upon his acquaintance and his ability to make friends, as well as to keep in touch with the leaders of the house. There is good reason to hope that Mr. Towne himself will be one of the great leaders of congress, if he is kept there for two or three terms. And the only thing that will prevent his staying in congress for the next ten or twelve years is the failure of Mr. Towne and the G. O. P. to agree upon the fundamental principles of belief. And we sincerely trust there will be no difficulty on this score.

IS IT ANY DISGRACE?

St. Cloud Journal Press: The Duluth papers are much exercised over a rumor that W. E. Lee had a conference lately in Minneapolis with Gen. W. D. Washburn. Well, supposing he did—what of it? It certainly is no disgrace to meet Mr. Washburn, who has done more for Duluth and the whole Northwest than 10,000 of the curs who are barking at his heels.

HAS PLENTY OF GALL.

The Mesaba Range: One Bernard, who runs an alleged newspaper at Grand Rapids, Minn., went down to Minneapolis the other day and, through an interview with a Penny Press reporter, regulated politics in the Sixth district to a nicety. That Bernard knows as much about Sixth district politics as a tramp knows about soap but for pretentious gall he takes the bakery. If Mr. Clough has given him anything for his valuable support and influence he might as well have thrown his money into the fire.

THE LEGISLATIVE PLATFORM.

The Mesaba Range: People of the Mesaba range should not forget to insist that the legislative platforms this year shall demand a law taxing all real property alike; a law providing for a mining inspector to be elected by the people of this county; a law providing for more frequent paydays to lumbermen and miners; a law taxing royalties on mineral lands; and a law regulating carrying charges so that railroads cannot take more than the traffic will bear.

MERRIAM'S QUALIFICATIONS.

Belle Plaine Herald: Merriam has two things necessary for a successful politician—he is cunning and he has the sinews of war. Clough is man Friday.

ACROSS THE TEA TABLE.

"Who comes with summer to this earth,
And owes to June her hour of birth,
With ring of agate on her hand
Can health, wealth and long life command."

The agate is the gem-stone for June, and is the state stone for Minnesota, although the chlorastrolite, which is only found on Isle Royale, Lake Superior, might, perhaps, be a more significant state stone. Thirteen other states lay claim to the agate as belonging to their province. It is rather interesting to note that gems and stones were regarded with a somewhat superstitious awe, as far back as we can trace, and it is only within the last century that many illusions in regard to their power have been dispelled. Even yet we cling to certain beliefs of their good or evil influence, and though the arrangement of gems by months is no new fad, as we are apt to think, but was greatly in vogue at the time of the crusades, and in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, yet we each and all like to cling to the pretty fancy that something brings us that good luck which all of us crave. It is said that the use of a special gem for each month was probably taken from the arrangement of the original breastplate of the Jewish high priest, which contained twelve gems, one for each of the twelve tribes of Israel. So should you desire health, wealth and longevity, choose the agate for your talisman, if June's sweet smiles were yours at birth. To my mind Scott's "Talisman" is the most picturesque of his novels, though in a literary sense it is not his best. It was written at a time when his physical and mental powers were giving first indications of their future collapse, and yet, for glowing pictures, and unrivalled descriptions of a pomp and pageantry intensely dramatic and thrilling, he seems in that sense at his best. The pomp, the pride and circumstance of a glorious war is in it vividly inspiring, and the superstition in regard to the "Talisman" appeals to the love of romance which there are few of us realistic enough to disclaim, even in these degenerate days.

We have one point of resemblance to that vividly picturesque character known to the lovers of nursery lore—we wear rings on our fingers, in these days, but unlike her, we discreetly refrain from the bells on our toes. Polite society refuses to countenance musical performances of that kind, and demands that we encase our poor suffering feet in patent leather, and kid, and skins of beasts and animals. In the spring our fancies are apt to lead us to contemplation of something comfortable as well as fashionable and stylish, for, released from winter wrappings, our feet are apt to be unusually tender and sensitive, and to crave something light, and yet, should it be too light, the sensitive foot feels the heat of the sun-warm pavements, and suffers thereby. This summer we are promised by Dame Fashion shoes built especially for comfort. Lightweight leather is used, and curves, scallops, crosses and perforations are no longer in vogue. Low shoes, laced or buttoned, in both tan shades and black, are made of softest Dongola kid, which is soothing to the tenderest foot, the tips are pointed moderately, not extremely so, and still retain, that is the black ones do, the dressy patent leather tip. Quite the smartest shoe is the black satin one which goes without saying is a French shoe, and built of heaviest satin Francais. These, of course, are only useful for dress shoes, and should never be worn in walking. For stout walking shoes nothing is better than those we call common sense shoes, soft, stout leather or kid, broad heel, moderately pointed toe. There seems this year to be a desire to return to the black shoe, leaving the tan and russet shoes, both high and low, for outing and bicycle wear. Quite the nicest shoe for morning house wear is that dainty little bottine, which delights the soul of the Frenchwoman. Heretofore these were only found in low shoes, but they are given to us now built as high as the ordinary walking shoe. We call them congress boots. They have an elastic V at each side, and are made of softest French kid, with trimmings of patent leather. Next to the black satin slipper, frail and perishable, there is the smart, black patent leather slipper, with ribbon bow and small square buckle of cut steel, or rhine stones or paste jewels. I must confess to a sneaking liking for the glittering bejeweled buckle on the slipper, so that when those feet like little mice steal in and out there shall be a pretty twinkling thereof. Should you suffer with that tenderness and aching which is apt to trouble the foot in spring and early summer, try the water cure. Besides the daily bath, bathe the feet in very warm soapsuds before going to bed. This is a simple remedy, and one that is undoubtedly good, for besides giving relief to the foot, it draws the blood away from the head, and is productive of sound slumbers.

There is a soft frou-frou about the modern woman which proclaims silken petticoats to the knowing ones. To be up to date one must look to her petticoats. They are as expensive and fragile as the most frivolous worldling can make them. While we who study economy gaze aghast at the billowy ruffles and voluminous dimensions and silken crackle, and though our souls long for these dainty belongings, they make a deep hole in a purse and are many of them utterly nonsensical. To be smart one need not be extravagant. One handsome silk petticoat carefully worn should last a season. Then it can go in for repairs and do duty as second best. It should be supplemented by others, of course, but they need not all be bought at once; half-worn silk dresses or handsome silk linings can be easily made into very pretty petticoats by deft fingers. The dainty organdies must have a silk lining in these days, and then beneath that is worn a handsome silk petticoat. For house wear the fresh, clean, white petticoat is a luxury, and it is healthful. The silk petticoat, if worn on the street, is apt to catch dust and microbes and things, and though carefully brushed it will retain particles of dirt. The alpaca petticoat, useful as it is, has the same objection, so that the street petticoat should not be worn in the house. The pretty colored gingham petticoat for morning wear, with its linen lace trimmings and ruffles, or stout embroidery edging, goes into the wash tub and comes out a new thing; likewise the white petticoat. Nowadays the white petticoat is made of exquisitely fine lawn or dimity, and is a mass of ruffles and lace, so that only an experienced laundress should undertake the cleaning thereof. These are, of course, for best wear. We still have those old friends and stand-bys, the cambric and muslin petticoats, which satisfy our love of cleanliness and dainty belongings, though we make them this year very wide and starch them very stiff—quite as stiff as is the invariable rule of that eminently respectable darky laundress whose crisp purple calico and stiff white sunbonnet are outward advertisement of her calling in those states which were once in danger of being "over the border."

White nainsook petticoats are very smart, but should, of course, be used only for the house. They are greatly worn by those women who affect silken negligee. If used for this purpose, they are ruffled all the way up the front and have rows of tucking and lace insertion between the lace ruffles. For a negligee robe nothing is prettier than the pongees and wash silks; these are prettiest when made with a yoke both front and back, Watteau plait in the back, and soft full fronts, which can be tied or not, as one pleases, with broad ribbons which come from behind the Watteau back. These are, of course, trimmed with quantities of lace to correspond with the nainsook petticoat which is disclosed beneath the robe, as it is only fastened as far as the waist. For morning wear or breakfast sacques the wash silk is especially useful. These are pretty made with a short yoke and full fronts and backs; they can be held with ribbons and trimmed with pretty wash lace. They are cool, serviceable and dainty, therefore to be worn.

I must confess to a love of the frivolities of dress and fashion, and I believe that every healthy-minded woman has yearnings thereafter. Walter Pater says, you know, that "the power of fashion is but one minor form, slight though it may be, yet distinctly symptomatic of that deeper yearning of human nature toward an ideal perfection, which is a continual force in it." Therein lies a great elementary truth, and Walter Pater, observer that he was, knew whereof he spoke. Else why does our sister of the copper-colored race sew beads and quills and gew-gaws upon her garments? Because, forsooth, she has a longing to reach that ideal perfection which stirs even in the breast of the savage. Only the stern-visaged, flat-bosomed, flat-footed, latter day woman disdains the power of dress and dainty feminine fripperies and belongings. The type of the fanatical reformer. I must confess that the June magazines and papers have made me shiver. They contain the pictures of so-called noted women—women who have achieved success in colleges and on the platform and in the woman's club. I am reminded of a hoary old story of a little boy who informed a small companion, with a painful assumption of superiority, that his papa had his picture in the paper. "Has he?" eagerly questioned his companion. "What was he cured of?" I am led to believe that many of these grim-looking women have been cured of certain little old-fashioned traits which are essentially feminine and homey and motherly. There is a bold, self-assertive air about them which is as though they say, "Look at me, my achievements, successes and wonderful intellectual progress." They forget, apparently, that women have ever been the workers for the race. They were the first farmers, the first potters, the first weavers, shoemakers, tailors, basket makers, skin-dressers, food dressers and discoverers of all the valuable food plants of the world; one of the greatest astronomers was a woman, as was one of the greatest mathematicians. The new woman would pronounce them too—uneducated. Well, we must look at things relatively, and yet I fail to see what more the woman who has herself pictured as a model of intellectual progress has achieved than has been achieved by women in every time and place. With this exception—she seeks not adornment of her person and frowns sternly upon the aids of dress; she has eliminated one of the attractive feminine peculiarities, and, as Walter Pater says, an elementary force.

Do not imagine that I decry the woman's club, or college or societies, ah no, not indeed, I recognize in them an immense force of good, but I refuse to acknowledge, that all of the best things done by women, are done either in the clubs or colleges. So many women working from their own quiet, well regulated homes have achieved so much in the world, that I preach the home and its power for good far above every other factor in progress. And I truly believe that only from this humble spot does a woman ever work with a force that tells in the long run. I believe in emancipation for woman, but decry the too emancipated woman. I believe in women helping themselves and each other, but if the club takes a woman too much from her home, and makes her restless, and fills her with vague yearning and desires to shake off the so-called shackles which bind, and ever will bind woman to a home, then I decry the club and say it is a wrong thing. I have been a guest now and then at one of the first formed women's clubs in the country. The women are conservative, their club is a model, their line of study and their entertainments the most delightful elements in the social life of the town. More women have learned to use their powers of conversation and thought there than can be concealed of. The more we go about thrqugh our Western country the more are we led to believe that Madam Blanc knew what she was talking of when she said that the most delightfully cultivated society she met in America was in Galesburg, Ill. There is an element of freedom, expansion, and a breezy independence in the Western woman who is Eastern born, which is very attractive. She unites the two extremes, the woman of the conservative, conventionalized East, and the broad independent Western woman who partakes somewhat of the great rugged, free aspect of nature in the West. The West is hardly old enough for many of us to be Western born, and those who are so, are trained by mothers from an older civilization, so that I only beg the Western woman who has so much in her hand, who is growing and developing in one of the greatest states in the Union, to be a lover of her home, and to develop its attractions.

A keen observer of the physical traits of women has suggested that the color preception is much more largely developed in woman than in man. That women have a keener sense of harmonies in color than men, which is a direct argument in favor of my belief of the woman's place in the home. Man is supposed to provide, while woman utilizes these provisions. Place her amid the roughest surroundings and give her something, no matter what, and if she be a true woman she will make that cabin, or adobe hut, take on a look of warmth and color and homeliness which a man, strive as he will, can never succeed in obtaining. She will hang up a vivid blanket, or pin up a curtain, or tack about a few photographs, and harmonize her environments, but she will make it look homelike and give it a touch of color. One of the most potent factors in beautifying our homes is the arrangement of lights. A high overhead light is always unbecoming, very few sidelights unless just at the proper angle are equally unbecoming, so that the popularity of the lamp, which can be placed as one wishes is on the increase instead of the wane. We are, however, banishing the ballet-skirted lamp shade, and substituting the decorated or colored glass or porcelain globes, some of these are very beautiful, and a room lighted by lamps with these globes, looks as though it had been prepared for a Japanese fete. These great moony-looking lights make one look for an accompaniment of cherry blossoms or chrysanthemums. Given a home, and lamps and globes therefore my dear Modern Woman I am strong in my belief that if you are a true woman with a well developed color perception, as you should have, that your room and home will be an exquisite harmony of which you yourself are the divine touch of melody. —Agate.

COMMON SIGNS

The Following Symptoms as Arranged by Dr. Copeland Are the Most Common Signs of Catarrh of the Head and Bronchial Tubes.

Great numbers of people in this hard climate of ours suffer from the effects of catarrh, as from other subtle chronic maladies, without any correct or definite idea of the nature of their affliction. The following symptoms as arranged by Dr. Copeland enable sufferers to understand just what ails them. If you are a sufferer from catarrh of any organ go at once to the Copeland Medical Institute in the Providence building, where you can receive special treatment at nominal cost. The offices of the Institute are thoroughly equipped in appliances and medicines to speedily overcome catarrhal maladies.

The most prevalent form of catarrh, and results from neglected colds. Speedy and inexpensive cure by the Copeland system.

"Is the breath foul?"
"Is the voice husky?"
"Do you spit up slime?"
"Do you ache all over?"
"Do you blow out scabs?"
"Is the nose stopped up?"
"Do you snore at night?"
"Does your nose discharge?"
"Does the nose bleed easily?"
"Is there tickling in the throat?"
"Do crusts form in the nose?"
"Is the nose sore and tender?"
"Do you sneeze a great deal?"
"Is this worse toward night?"
"Does the nose itch and burn?"
"Is there pain in front of head?"
"Is there pain across the eyes?"
"Is there pain in back of head?"
"Is your sense of smell leaving?"
"Do you hawk to clear throat?"
"Is there a dropping in the throat?"
"Is the throat dry in the mornings?"
"Are you losing your sense of taste?"
"Do you sleep with your mouth open?"
"Does the nose stop up toward night?"

This form of catarrh is the easiest to cure.

Symptoms of Catarrh of the Bronchial Tubes.

When catarrh of the head and throat is is left unchecked it extends down the windpipe into the bronchial tubes and after a while attacks the lungs. Speedy and inexpensive cure by the Copeland system.

"Have you a cough?"
"Are you losing flesh?"
"Do you cough at night?"
"Have you a pain in side?"
"Do you take cold easily?"
"Is your appetite variable?"
"Have you shiftless in side?"
"Do you cough until you gag?"
"Are you low spirited at times?"
"Do you raise frothy material?"
"Do you spit up frothy matter?"
"Do you cough on going to bed?"
"Do you cough in the morning?"
"Is your cough short and hacking?"
"Do you spit up little cheesy lumps?"
"Have you a disgust for fatty foods?"
"Is there tickling behind the palate?"
"Have you pain behind breast bone?"
"Do you feel you are growing weaker?"
"Is there a burning pain in the throat?"
"Do you cough worse night and morning?"
"Do you have to sit up at night to get breath?"

If you have these symptoms you have Catarrh of the Bronchial Tubes.

In Duluth's Social Circles

Mrs. Thomas D. Merrill and Mrs. J. B. Weston gave an afternoon tea Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Merrill, which was one of the most prominent of the week's social affairs. The invitations were very pretty and quite original inviting the receiver "to drink a cup of tea" with the hostesses. The house was profusely decorated with apple blossoms, lilacs and spring blossoms of many kinds. Tea and chocolate were served. Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. McCordie, Mrs. Morris and Miss Simonds assisting in the serving.

Among those present were: Mrs. G. A. Tomlinson, Mrs. W. B. Silvey, Mrs. E. R. Brace, Mrs. A. M. Miller, Mrs. T. W. Hoopes, Mrs. Sterling Smith, Mrs. J. L. Snapp, Mrs. L. A. Barber, Mrs. J. H. A reception and promenade will be given on the steamer North West on Monday evening, and it will give a fine opportunity for the inspection of the palatial steamer and probably the only one which the general public will have this summer. The steamship company will not allow such a general inspection of the boats this summer as has been permitted before. The reception will be from 8 to 11 o'clock. Heare's orchestra will play, a musical will be given and there will be dancing.

The graduating exercises of the nurses of St. Luke's hospital were held on Wednesday evening at St. Paul's Episcopal church, and partook greatly of the nature of a social event. The church was beautifully decorated, and much care and artistic taste was expended on the floral display. The graduates were: Misses Flora Nesselroad, Ethel Clark, Adele Earnst, May Buckingham, Amorita Heath, Margaret Powell. The choir rendered special music, and the exercises were impressive and interesting.

After the church exercises a reception was held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Stone, of 108 West Third street, and a large number of friends called and extended their congratulations to the graduates.

Miss Mary Schneider and Eugene Charles Larpenteur, of Minneapolis, were married Tuesday at St. Anthony's church, at 8:30 o'clock, by Rev. Father Kosmerl. The church was artistically decorated, and the wedding was a very pretty one. The bride wore a handsome demi-travelling gown and carried white roses. The maid of honor was Miss Emily Cecil Schneider, sister of the bride, and Gustav Zenzius, of St. Paul, was best man.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Larpenteur and the members of the families of the contracting parties sat down to a wedding breakfast at the residence of the bride's parents, 410 First avenue west. Among the visitors from Minneapolis were C. M. Larpenteur and wife, Miss Margie Larpenteur, and Miss Emma Larpenteur, the father, mother and sisters of the groom, and Wilson Schneider, brother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Larpenteur left on the Eastern road for St. Paul, where they will take the Burlington route to Chicago, and thence extend their tour to the Eastern cities, returning to Minneapolis about the end of the month. They will be at home at 1811 Portland avenue, Minneapolis, after July 1.

The closing exercises of the Lowell Literary society were held last evening at the Lowell school on Duluth Heights, and were very enjoyable. A fine program was given. President Harry Routt delivered the welcome address and Miss Beatrice Coons, secretary, made a report. The club sang several songs, Misses Edith and Clem Blackwood played a piano duet, and Miss Grace Rathvon sang. Recitations and readings were given by Archie Thompson, John Hendry, Cecil Dieghton, Laura Scott, Minnie Rhodes, May Terry, Roger Smith, Frank Mahan, Garfield Blackwood, Beatrice Coons, Edith Blackwood, Grace Rathvon, Ethel Woods. Thomas Chisholm delivered an oration.

After the program a delightful repast was served, and dancing followed.

TO WOMEN ONLY.

Free Treatment For Diseases Peculiar to Females.

In a lecture to women recently Dr. Hartman, of the Surgical Hotel, concluded his remarks as follows: "No one knows better than I how much some women suffer with diseases peculiar to their sex. No one knows better than I do how many of these suffer with such diseases. Patiently, hopefully, wearily, and often silently, they eke out a miserable existence year after year. No martyr in poetry or heroine in romance makes a more touching appeal to human sympathy than the woman burdened with the care of a family trying to carry the extra load of some tormenting and ever-present female disease."

To all such we would say: Write him, giving him a careful description of your symptoms, and he will promptly advise you what to do, and continue to correspond with you until you are well. He will direct every detail of the treatment by letter without charge. The medicines he prescribes you will be able to get at the nearest drug store. Free book for females sent by the Pe-ru-na Drug Manufacturing company, Columbus, Ohio. Dr. Hartman's address is Columbus, Ohio.

RINGLING BROTHERS.

Great Progress Made By This Remarkable Circus.

Monday afternoon and evening Ringling Brothers' great circus will pitch its terms on the usual spot at the West End, and Duluth people will have an opportunity of seeing what is said to be the greatest circus ever on the road with no exception. The attraction which the circus has for the average citizen is just as great as it was when he was a barefooted boy and carried water for the elephant. He may attempt to disguise it by saying that he only goes for the satisfaction of his children, but if he has no children he usually makes a wild chase to borrow some, and most everybody gets to the circus.

Everyone in Duluth has had an opportunity of watching the progress of the Ringling circus for it has paid Duluth frequent and welcome visits for a number of years. Its growth has been a remarkable one. The five Ringling brothers are Northwestern boys, born in Baraboo, Wis., and from the wonderful manner in which their show has grown apace and steadily passed all its competitors until it stands at the head of the list, it is apparent that they were all born for the show business.

Not the least noteworthy feature of their circus is the manner in which they have systematized and divided their work. Not only does each department under a Ringling develop all that mortal man can accomplish, but the natural result of this is that the whole show has gradually grown from a small beginning to its present state. It is a tremendous undertaking to conduct a circus. To be sure a good day brings in a pile of money but the expense is constant and enormous. The salary lists amount to a small fortune and there are a thousand avenues of expense which are constantly and unexpectedly cropping up. All this is nothing to what it costs to start the show and to purchase everything necessary. To this new stuff has to be added every year, there are tremendous repair expenses, and a single wet day throws the right side of the ledger away behind.

These are a few of the difficulties to be surmounted, but the Ringlings have surmounted them all. Six years ago, when they paid their first visit to Duluth the show was small, but everything was of sterling quality, and there was just as much fun in going to it as to larger shows. Every time it has been here since it has been in a larger form, until this time it is without exaggeration the greatest show that ever stretched a tent.

SCIENCE AND INVENTION.

In glancing over the catalogues of the multitude of bicycle manufacturers represented at the various bicycle exhibitions of the season, the number of worthless trademarks, upon which thousands of dollars must have been spent for advertising, forces itself upon the attention. That there are any rule to be observed in selecting so simple a thing as a name for a bicycle would undoubtedly be news to many manufacturers who are supposed to be careful and practical business men. A few of the rules to be followed in selecting a trademark are that the name should be fanciful and arbitrary as applied to its trademark use—that is to say, it should be wrested from its ordinary uses and meaning, and applied arbitrarily to distinguish the trademarked article from another brand. The name must not be geographical in its principal ordinary use; nor should it denote the quality or quantity or weight, or number, or material of the article to which it is applied. It should not be deceptive in character, as to suggest that it contains certain materials which it does not contain. It is also extremely bad policy to adopt the maker's name or the name of any person for a trademark, since another person of the same name would under some circumstances have an equal right to adopt the same trademark and use it at the same time and for the same purpose. The manufacturer should further assure himself by extended inquiries as well as by search in the records of the patent office that the proposed name has not been used by anyone else as applied to the same class of merchandise.

Having finally adopted a suitable name the manufacturer should apply it as a trademark on his goods and immediately establish a commerce with some foreign nation (or Indian tribe), by sending some of the merchandise—bearing the trademark—to a foreign country (or reservation), and selling it there. Having done this, he should make formal application to the United States patent office for the registration of his trademark, which registration secures him the exclusive monopoly of the mark for the stated class or classes of merchandise for thirty years.

The benefits of a valid trademark are unquestionable. If the name chosen does not constitute a valid trademark per se any competitor can put an inferior or cheaper article on the market under the same name and thus ruin the trade and reputation of the higher class of merchandise. The enterprising and honest manufacturer who has been careless in the selection and registering of his trademark may have spent thousands of dollars in advertising his merchandise and establishing its reputation only to wake up some day to find a base imitation taking advantage of his outlay in advertising and usurping or annihilating his make and without fear of punishment or retaliation. There is, it is true, a common law rule in regard to what constitutes a valid trademark are in many respects the same as the statutory rules and the protection obtained is much less certain, convenient and satisfactory.

This is the one hundredth anniversary year of the discovery of vaccination by Edward Jenner, and many cities and societies of this and the old world have taken steps to commemorate the event. Notwithstanding the fact that there are many people today who do not believe in the efficiency of vaccination as a preventative of smallpox, it is unquestionably true that smallpox is now a rare disease in the districts where vaccination is practiced, and where, prior to Jenner's discovery, the scourge was common. It is said that in the city of Paris, in 1719, there were 14,000 deaths from smallpox, and in 1768-69 one-half of the inhabitans of Kamschatka died from the disease. The effects of vaccination have been tested by inoculating living human subjects with the virus of smallpox after the subjects had just been successfully vaccinated, and the smallpox virus had produced no harmful effects. Dr. Jenner died in 1822. His tomb bears the following epitaph:

"Within this tomb has found a resting place
The great physician of the human race,
Immortal Jenner! whose gigantic mind
Brought live and health to more than half mankind.
Let rescued infancy his worth proclaim,
And lisp out blessing on his honored name;
And radiant Beauty drop one grateful tear,
For Beauty's truest friend lies buried here."

As an indication of the congestion of values made possible by the modern passenger elevators in buildings and steel construction, it is interesting to learn that the site of the American Surety building, in New York, a piece of land about eighty-five feet square, cost $1,500,000, or at the rate of about $8,000,000 per acre. The building erected upon this land cost over $1,500,000 and is twenty-one stories high.

The English consul at Ispahan gives the following description of how opium is prepared. The people commence to collect the drug during May. The poppy head is lanced in the afternoon and the opium which exudes and dries during the night is collected into copper pots early the following morning. It is kept in store in these pots until it is required for exportation. Then it is taken out of the pots and sorted. For the succeeding manipulations each workman has a smooth board about twenty-three inches long and eleven inches broad. He takes from the bulk about one pound of crude opium and rubs it on the board a short time, then puts it in the sun for ten minutes and afterward takes it into the shade and rubs it continuously with an iron implement, something like a small solid spade, until it dries up to a certain degree. It is then collected into a mass and heated in trays over a small charcoal fire until plastic. Each man then takes about a quarter of a pound and kneads it again on the board until it dries up to the standard degree and assumes a golden yellow color. It is next made into cakes of one pound each, which are wrapped in paper and placed in tin boxes in layers alternating with poppy-chaff.

Suffered Eighteen Years.

Pains Departed and Sleep Came.

Mrs. Julia A. Brown, of Covington, Tenn., whose husband has charge of the electric light plant at that place, has been a great sufferer. Her ailments and speedy cure are best described by herself, as follows:

"For 18 years I suffered from nervousness and indigestion. I tried every remedy recommended by family and friends, but I could get no relief at all. Two years ago, while being treated by three local physicians, Drs. Barret, Maley and Sherod, they informed me that I had become dropsical, and that there was little hope for me. I then decided to try

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine,

I was then unable to get to sleep until well on toward daylight, and during all this time I had a deep, heavy pain in my left side. I was most miserable, indeed, but after taking one-half bottle of the Nervine I could sleep all night just as well as I ever did. The Nervine is the only remedy that gave me any relief whatever. I am now well and strong, and I thank God every day of my life for Dr. Miles' Nervine."

MRS. JULIA A. BROWN.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold on a positive guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. All druggists sell it at $1, 6 bottles for $5, or it will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of price by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

THE NATIONAL GUARD.

Aside from the general preparations for camp which must keep things more or less active during the remainder of the time before camp, the week has been a quiet one in National Guard circles. All the companies have held their regular drills, it is true, but that does not create much excitement. It does, however, develop the fact that all of the companies are improving in their drills, and the last battalion drill developed the further fact that the battalion, under Maj. Bidwell, is rapidly coming up, so that by the time for camp it will be able to compete with any battalion in the brigade.

There has been no battalion drill this week, but there was a good one last Saturday after the G. A. R. had been escorted to the High School. There will be another drill Wednesday evening.

• • •

The committee appointed to make arrangements to meet Congressman Towne invited the battalion to take part in the parade, and the invitation has been accepted.

A DUMB MAN

Even if attacked by foot-pads cannot cry out for help.

Some people can cry out louder than others.

The same is true in a man's body.

If the lungs are sick, they call attention to it with a cough.

The heart, when diseased, pounds away against the ribs.

The bowels notify us with pain and diarrhoea.

The brain and nerves with headache and pain.

The kidneys are dumb.

When they are sick (at first at least) there are usually but a few unimportant symptoms, and the consequence is that we neglect them.

Dr. Hobbs Sparagus Kidney Pills are what they need, and we ought not to wait till the last ditch is reached before we use them.

A little headache, a little nausea, pain or soreness in the back, restlessness at night, dull brain, failing eyesight, may be the only call for help your kidneys can give.

WHEN THE SWALLOWS HOMEWARD FLY.

People begin to ask themselves, "Where shall I spend the summer?" An ocean voyage, an inland jaunt, or a coastwise trip, which shall it be? In either case, one of the most useful traveling companions, one that never fails in an emergency to which it is adapted, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which remedies sea sickness, nausea, headache, biliousness and malarial complaints. Dyspepsia, rheumatism, nervousness and kidney trouble are also remedied by the great alterative and preventive. Tourists by sea and land, mariners, emigrants and Western pioneers all testify to its defensive and remedial efficacy. Bodily and mental fatigue are counteracted by it, and it prevents maladies which would otherwise be brought on by exposure. No one should start on a summer outing without it. It is the most genial and reliable of summer tonics, and suits the most fastidious palate.

THE BAR

St. Louis County Bar Will Do Honor to Judge Stearns' Memory.

General Term Day Will Be Set Apart For That Purpose.

Resolutions Will Be Presented and Speeches Will Be Made.

Before the special term of district court opened this morning there was a meeting of the Bar association in the matter of the death of Judge O. P. Stearns. W. W. Billson, chairman of the committee appointed by Judge Morris to draw up suitable resolutions, made a report. The committee suggested that a better plan would be to set a day apart for the purpose, some general term day, when the resolutions could be presented and acted upon and those who desired could make speeches.

This plan was adopted, and some day week after next the bar will meet, probably in court room No. 1, and a suitable observation of Judge Stearns' death will be held. The matter was left with the committee to confer with Judge Morris.

The special term this morning was a quiet one. The most important matter was the case of J. J. Hibbard, as administrator of the estate of John F. McLaren, against Frankie A. Breeze, formerly Frankie A. McLaren, a demurrer to the complaint in which was taken under advisement by Judge Ensign who had the calendar.

In the complaint it is alleged that John F. McLaren died Sept. 11, 1886, leaving considerable property, and in his will he named the defendant, G. W. Kimberly and H. H. Bell, executors, to manage the estate with reference to the interests of William McLaren, the minor heir of the deceased, with power to invest and reinvest the property.

It is alleged that the executors grossly neglected their duty, and the specific charge is that they loaned $3000 to one F. A. Sievert without any authority, taking as security a second mortgage on property which is alleged to have been worth only $2000. It is further charged that in April, 1891, the executors deposited some money in the Bell & Eyster bank when it was insolvent, of which $354.86 is still due with little hope of collection. It is claimed that though frequently ordered by the probate court to give an accounting, they always refused to do so. In 1894 they were ordered to appear before the court, but as they failed to do so they were declared in default and the plaintiff was appointed administrator. He foreclosed the Sievert mortgage, but that is $1556.25 shy. He sues Mrs. Breeze, as one of the executors, to recover $1911.11 with interest. John A. Keyes is his attorney.

The following call of court cases for next week has been made:

Wednesday—92, 95, 96, 97, 101, 103, 106, 110, 116.

POLITICIANS' DAY.

Van Sant, Lee and Others Were in Duluth.

This is evidently politicians day in Duluth. This morning's train brought in William E. Lee, of Long Prairie, and Sam R. Van Sant, of Winona. Both have been around the state nailing some boards on their fences and sizing up the lay of the land.

Capt. Van Sant would say nothing of the fight except that it is a "horse race" in which most anybody can pick the winners. He remarked with a sly smile, that he has some property in Duluth which he purchased at the tail end of the boom, and was looking it over.

Mr. Lee does not have much to say, but is as confident as ever and expects the Sixth district to be practically solid for him.

C. F. Hendry, of the Sauk Center Herald, one of the delegates-at-large to St. Louis, is in the city also. He is one of Mr. Lee's strong supporters and is looking over the situation with him. Senator W. M. Fuller, the Little Falls editor and politician, was also here yesterday and today.

On the other side of the house in the Democratic camp there is a nicer little war on than would be thought. United States Marshal R. T. O'Connor came up from St. Paul last evening and was closeted with some of the "gold" Democrats. He is looked upon as Mike Doran's emissary and was here supposedly to impress the administration admirers with the necessity of saving the day for Cleveland's financial policy—and Doran.

County politics is getting livelier. It is said that their are to be international complications in the coming campaign, or rather the present campaign, for to all appearances the campaign is wide-open. It is said that a circular in the Norwegian language has been receiving a big circulation among the Norwegians here, which has a bearing upon the political field. The circular is signed by I. J. Wagenstein, the architect, and John Rustgard, the attorney, and it is directed to all the Norwegian voters in the county.

It calls upon them to get acquainted with every candidate for office they can and find out how they stand toward Norwegians, presumably whether they feel disposed to give them offices or not. If it is found that they are opposed to Norwegians the idea is to slaughter the unlikely candidate. It is not at all likely that whenever a candidates feelings may be he will be persuaded to denounce a nationality or to say that the offices in his gift will ba denied people of that nationality.

THE PATRIOTIC PROGRAM.

Fine Addresses By Gov. Burke, Dr. Humason and Others.

The "Patriotic Program" given at the First Methodist church last evening, which was given under the auspices of the Chautauqua Literary circle, was a highly successful affair. The addresses, the songs and the art display all bore relation to subjects that are dear to the American heart, and if there left the entertainment one with soul so dead that he or she had not been uplifted and inspired with gratitude for the boon of American citizenship and a desire to be worthy of the glorious heritage purchased and preserved at such costly sacrifice, then, truly, that person is fit but for treason, stratagem and spoils. Taken all in all, it was a fitting climax of the "American year" of the Chautauqua course, during which American history, literature and art were the objects exclusively of the researches of the class.

President Watson Moore, of the circle, introduced as chairman ex-Governor Burke, who was received with applause. The selection of the chairman was peculiarly happy, as the ex-governor himself is an example of what, under American institutions, is possible of achievement unaided by the advantages of place and power.

After thanking the members for the honor conferred upon him, the chairman delivered an address which he modestly designated as prefatory merely, but which was a carefully thought out, instructive and entertaining disquisition on American literature, its masters and their triumphs. The chief charm of American letters, according to the speaker, consists in its breezy freshness, its purity and freedom from the unwholesome thought and pessimistic tone that characterizes in such great degree comparatively the literature of the old world. A glowing tribute was paid to Abraham Lincoln, known now as a statesman, as a patriot and as a martyr, and who will be known in time to come as the author of sayings, of texts, of truths.

Rev. Dr. Humason followed, his subject being "Bishop Vincent, the Founder of the College for the People." Dr. Humason cleverly drew the quaint, strong personality of this power in the world, this leader of a great educational movement, who himself bewailed his own lack of advantages in that line. The lack of a college education, which the bishop always regretted, the speaker garbled as being, perhaps, in the nature of an advantage, the freshness and originality of the bishop's character not being conventionalized and his thought deprived of its virility, as might have been the case had his mind been run in the uniform mould of college training. The growth of the institution known as Chautauqua was traced from its beginning as a scheme for a gathering together to study the word of God, thus having its foundation, as do all things that endure, in things making for the glory of the Creator. The traits of this unique personality were entertainingly set forth, and the struggles and triumphs of one whose life was dedicated with unselfish devotion to the betterment of his fellows were feelingly and gracefully drawn.

Judge Morris, who was to have delivered an address on the "American Eagle," failed to appear, and Chairman Burke called on R. R. Briggs. It was such a surprise as Marion, the "swamp fox," sometimes tendered the British in the days of '76, but Mr. Briggs proved equal to the occasion, delivering a pleasing and logical address on the groups of men who, at various periods of the nation's history, gathered to guard its cradle and preserve its life by sacrifices in court and camp. Mr. Briggs concluded his remarks by placing a garland of praise on the heads of the "uncrowned heroes" who contributed by their services in the ranks to the good and glory of the nation.

J. McGrew spoke entertainingly on incidents of the late war.

More Bicycle Races.

There is to be another set sporting event at the head of the lakes. It is to be given by the Marshall-Wells Hardware company, and will be called the Marshall-Wells Hardware company road race. The first annual road race of this company will take place June 27 on London road, and it is expected that there will be a large number of entries. Suitable prizes will be offered, and there will be an excellent list of events. The events are as follows: Five mile handicap, mile handicap, quarter mile open, flying start; boys' mile open, flying start, for boys under 14 years of age; fat men's race, half mile open, flying start; tandem, mile open, flying start.

Says it is Unjust.

W. T. Bailey feels that an injustice was done him by the publication of the allegations in the complaint filed against him by J. D. Reekie, who is interested with him in the Virginia sawmill. He says they have no foundation in fact, but that the publication of them has injured his credit. He exhibits the company's books, the correctness of which Reekie certifies to in his handwriting, to prove that instead of his being in debt to Reekie the latter owes him.

Change of Time.

Beginning Monday the Eastern Minnesota passenger trains will leave Duluth at 12:45 p. m. instead of at 1:40 p. m. as heretofore. The change is made to connect with the Great Northern's coast limited train at Elk River. The upbound passenger leaves St. Paul at 8:15 a. m., and Minneapolis at 8:40 a. m., arriving in Duluth at 1:15 p. m. instead of at 2:05 p. m. as heretofore, so as to connect with the Northern passenger boats.

Kruschke is Back.

I have again returned from my trip up on the range, where I have been trying to dispose of my stock of jewelry. Not being able to dispose of all, I again open up in the Spalding building, No. 428, where I invite all my old patrons. The goods will be sold at any price to dispose of them. Silverware, watches, clocks, jewelry, solid gold and rolled plate, Lake Superior greenstones, Thompsonite agates, a small lot of musical instruments, large variety of strings for all instruments, and trimmings. Remember I do all kinds of jewelry manufacturing, watch and clock repairing. Every job guaranteed to give satisfaction.

FREE.

I will repolish your watch cases, chains, pins, jewelry of all description, regulate your watches, and charge you nothing. Bring along your work. I work at the bench myself and will try in every way to please you. Remember the place, 428 West Superior street, Spalding house. R. C. Kruschke.

A DOUBLE MURDER.

House Was Fired to Conceal the Crime.

Louisville, Ky., June 6.—A special to the Times from Corydon, Ind., says: The house of George Craden, a farmer living near Ramsey, Harison county, Ind., seven miles from here, was totally destroyed by fire last night and Craden's wife and a son 13 year old were burned to death in the flames. Mr. Craden was absent from home at the time. Upon returning home at midnight, he discovered the bodies of his wife and child in the ruins.

Everything indicates that a double murder has been committed and the house set on fire to cover up all traces of the murderer. Much excitement exists at Ramsey on account of the tragedy. A telegram from that place says the people there have as yet made no charges against anyone, but they have strong suspicions.

Zien's Opening.

The Pacific beer hall, at 529 West Superior street, which will undoubtedly be one of the most popular resorts in the city, will be thrown open to the public this evening. Jake Zien, the proprietor, has spared no detail suggested by his long experience to make his patrons comfortable. The appointments are elegant, and the latest devices to contribute to the pleasure of an evening as his guest have been pressed into service. Music will be furnished this evening by Flaaten's full orchestra.

Realty Men in Line.

The Saturday half holiday idea has taken root in the real estate and loan concerns of the city and the following firms have agreed to close at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon until Sept. 1:

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Chicago Says Everything is in Readiness.

Chicago, June 6.—Everything is now in readiness at the Coliseum for the national Democratic convention to be held here in July. The blue print of the appointments, as submitted by Architect Beman, and ratified by Mr. Canda, representing the Democratic national committee has been formally accepted by the board of directors.

Dimensions of space to be occupied by the convention are 700 feet in length and 300 feet in width. The total seating capacity is 15,000. On the Sixty-third street side of the building is the public reception hall, 250 by 250 feet in size. The western side of this immense lobby will be lined with refreshment stands. Acoustic facilities of the immense building have been satisfactorily tested and have proved an agreeable surprise. Seats have been arranged with due consideration for an unobstructed view. The building will be lighted by electricity.

BIG LABOR PICNIC.

Milwaukee Will Hold a Large One Tomorrow.

Milwaukee, June 6.—Everything is quiet in street car strike circles today, the energies of the idle men being directed towards preparing for the big labor picnic tomorrow. Two thousand people are expected from Chicago and the demonstration will probably be the largest of its kind ever held in the city.

Breen, the motorman, who was shot on Thursday night, is resting comfortably today, but the result of his wounds cannot be foretold as yet. Hugh L. Thomas, of Philadelphia, who received a flesh wound in the leg last night, is still in the hospital. His wound is slight.

TRIPLE MURDER.

Armenian Family Murdered in California.

Fresno, Cal., June 6.—The bodies of Steve Shamarian, aged 55, his son Benjamin, aged 19, daughter Kueen, aged 30, Armenians, were found five miles from Fresno this morning, all having been shot in the back of the head. The murdered persons lived on a small ranch. The bodies were found a mile from home near an irrigation ditch. The sheriff believes he has a clue to the murderer. The father was one of the oldest Armenian settlers in the country and was well known.

ALLEGED POWDER TRUST.

New York, June 6.—The Herald says: What looks like a powder trust is now in operation backed by many millions of dollars and virtually controlled by three big manufacturing concerns, which will create the price of that commodity. The three companies are the Laflin and Rand Powder company, the Hazard Powder company and the Dupont, DeNemours company, all of this city. As a result of the combination, the price of rifle powder, or what is called sporting powder, has advanced from $3.25 for a keg weighing twenty-five pounds, to $4, while blasting powder has advanced from $2 to $2.25 a keg. The schedule for other grades has been correspondingly advanced.

TREASURY'S CONDITION.

Washington, June 6.—Today's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $265,384,000; gold reserve, $106,534,988.

SIGNED BY GROVER.

Washington, June 6.—The president has signed the filled cheese bill, the Arizona funding bill, the fortifications appropriation bill, and the bill granting right-of-way through the Great canon.

EX-GOVERNOR BEGOLE DEAD.

Flint, Mich., June 6.—Ex-Governor Joseph W. Begole died at a late hour last night. He had been failing gradually for the last two years. He was 81 years old and leaves a widow and several children.

GRANTED A PENSION.

Washington, June 6.—(Special to The Herald.)—An original pension was today granted to Servetus W. Clark, of Duluth.

WORDS

Some Strange Ones That Are Not Found In Dictionaries.

Curiosities of Expression That Have Drifted Into Our Daily Talk.

Picturesque English That is at Least Expressive If Not Elegant.

There are 3000 English words that are not found in the dictionary, says the New York Journal.

This discovery has been made by the American Dialect society, formed for the propagation of pure English. The society has a membership of over three hundred, among which are numbered many of the prominent philologists of the leading colleges of the country, foremost among them being Professors Child and Lanmar, of Harvard; Price, of Columbia; Wheeler, of Cornell, and Elliott and Bright, of Johns Hopkins university.

The central office which is situated in New York, has received contributions from local clubs throughout the country, which make it their business to trace up the origin of new words, and forward the result of their investigations to the central office. The principal purpose of the society is to get up a dictionary which will contain as many as possible of the newly coined words, with their popular definition. With this object in view, the society recently issued a circular which was sent to colleges all over the country, defining the scope of the society, in part as follows:

1. To ascertain and make public the fact that the word is used, or supposed to be used, in a special or local way.

2. To get reports from a sufficient number of reliable observers in different places to determine the extent of such usage.

3. To collate and publish the results.

This explanation followed it: "It would be possible, with a sufficient number of reports, to indicate on an outline map of the United States the exact area where each word or usage which we investigate is current. We have actually begun on such a plan."

A few of the words already sent to the central office are as follows: Ball up, core, cinch, co-ed, cram, crib, fiend, flunk, frat, freak, fresh, fruit, grind, grub, horse jolly, funch, hooko, play horse with pluck, play pony, prep, prime, quiz, ride, roast, sheepskin, snap, stunt, trot, smart, spank, a squabble, a regular dingbat, smouch, heap, way yonder, tote, yon coast, good scope of land, fisty mean, fotch holp, squex, trying to get a chaw on a fellar, cooster, potters around, do-ups for preserves, spock for pork Jolly, slob, scrammed, hunkersliding, quid, soger, dodunk, goober grubber, mommixed, muxed up, galleyized; wuzzled.

The American Dialect society was organized in 1888. The officers are Charles H. Grandgent, of Cambridge, Mass., president; vice president, Professor Kittredge; secretary, E. H. Barrett; treasurer, Lewis F. Mott. The origin of some of the words sent to the society are unique. "Coof," for instance, is the name of an off-islander in Nantucket. On Mount Desert the summer visitor is a "rusticrata," a stupid Vermonter is a "dodunk," a "goober grubber" digs peanuts in Tennessee. When a man is confused he is a "mommixed" in Kentucky, he is "muxed up" in Otsego county, "galleyled" in New Bedford, "stodged" in Indiana, and "wuzzled" in Central New York. "I don't hurt fer it" means "I don't care" in the Mississippi, while "I don't mind it a bit" implies terror in North Carolina, where a great calamity is scandalous. The sunset is "day down" on the Virginia coast. A man has "large money" in Cincinnati, he has "scuds" of it in Missouri, and a "session" of it in Georgia. When a Terre Haute citizen is sullen he is "putchiky," and if too weak to get out of bed is "on the lift," while a "pawky" Ohioan is one in poor health, and a mentally weak Kentuckian is "slack twisted." "Hoge" is a strong smell in New Hampshire, where a severe storm is a "tan toaster." Missouri slush is "sposh." Green corn remains "roast'n ear" in Florida, even when it is canned, and there a cow may give birth to a yearling.

Picturesque English is all around us in New York state. The society has hardly touched the mine of linguistic richness under its hand in this city. Our watermen say that a schooner is "wung out" when she sails wing and wing, and "drug" for drew and "scope" for scraped are frequently used.

"Geeswax Christmas" and "I'll be dingswizzled" and "hornswoggled" are used up the state to express amazement. The farmers of Orange and Sullivan counties have a practice of making their maple syrup by melting the sugar. This they call "alamagoosleum." On Staten Island splendid is galloptious," tidbits are "manavalins," and to turn is to "tarve." Patchogue says "nolnk" and "sulnk" for nothing and something. In the northwestern part of the state, when two young hearts begin to beat as one, they are said to be "scamuljugated."

The Ithacan, on entering the house, hangs up his "shock," his hat and coat. The Otsego thief, when caught, looks "meeckling," or guilty, even when he has stolen a "mere smitch," a very small quantity. Quarter eagles must be more common in the central part of the state than in the city, for they are still known as "twenty-shilling pieces," and silver dollars as "hardtack." There slouchy is "lopholly," sticky is "tacky," you are "bushed" when you are tired, you "change off" when you move, you "go large" when you are extravagant, you pronounce hoax as a dissyllable, you "pooster" about when you are fussy, you are in a "yang" when in a hurry, and when violent you do things "kabang," "kachunk," "kaflop," "kaslam."

In the Tennessee mountains streams flowing from the east are "sunrise waters," a mule that you can trust is "a confidential mule," a railroad train is a "smoke wagon," a kiss is a "smouch," cheese is a plural with a singular chee, sugar is "sweetening," but molasses is "long sweetening," a man subject to fits is "fitified," and very much is a "heap sight," or a "good few," or "some several," or "way yander." A man points to a hillside and tells you that he "lives on yon coast," and has a "good scope of land." He greets you with "How do you come on?" and asks you to "come in and rest your hat." A "toothbrush" to him means a snuff stick, "ill" means cross, "juberous" timid, "fisty" mean, "popular" stylish. His past tenses are "fotch" and "holp" and "weed" and "squez" and "swole." He tells you that "sickness is might interruptin'," that it is "a gosh wet spell" and "hit's too mygoodness cold," that he has "the beatenest boy and talkenest old woman ever you see," and that that young flirt is "tryin' to get a chaw on a feller."

The sty-baked or stay-at-home Jersey matron "coosters" or "potters" around the house, calls her preserves "do-ups," pork "spack," her husband—if need be—a "lobscouse" or "loper," meaning a worthless fellow. She "sides up" or "cleans up" or goes "strulling," wasting time about the village, but she does not care a "Dutch cuss" about going down country—that is, to New York city.

ABOUT ABYSSINIA.

Present Inhabitants Are of Egyptian Descent.

The following sketches of Abyssinian history, from an article by Edward Leyh, in the Baltimore "Correspondent," are of current interest:

"Abyssinia is not much smaller than Germany, and has about 4,000,000 inhabitants. The name of the country is derived from the Arabic word Habesch, which means a mixture. The population of the country has always been mixed. Originally the inhabitants were undoubtedly Soudanese negroes. About 650 before Christ, in the days of Psammetichus I, some 240,000 members of the Egyptian warrior caste emigrated to Abyssinia, giving the country their civilization, teaching the people all kinds of trades and the art of navigation.

"Christianity was introduced in Abyssinia about 330 A. D., but was several times forced to the wall by the Jewish and other nations, and in the fifteenth century there was great danger of its succumbing to Mohammedanism. The Christian religion as it is today in Abyssinia is nothing but heathenish, with a slight varnish of Christianity.

The writer then turns to recent Abyssinian history:

"About 1850 Kasa, son the regent of Quarra, extended his power and began to make himself master of Ethiopia. After five years of hard fighting, he succeeded pretty well in his purpose. Having conquered the chief of Ubie at the battle of Dobrask, he called himself Negus Negesti, i. e., emperor of Ethiopia, and adopted the name of Theodorus. His whole life was full of struggles, for he had to quell insurrections and overthrow pretenders almost continually. He introduced monogamy in Abyssinia and regulated church matters.

"During the sixties he got into trouble with the English on account of some missionaries whose presence in the country was distasteful to him. Sir George Napier landed 12,000 troops, and Theodorus lost the battle of Magdala, committing suicide soon after. The internal troubles of Abyssinia resulting from the death of Negus led the viceroy of Egypt to send an expedition into the Soudan, and the energetic commander of the Egyptian troops, a Swiss named Werner Munzinger, succeeded in annexing all the north of Abyssinia to Egypt.

"In 1872 Prince Kassai, of Tigre, made himself master of the throne of Abyssinia, and was crowned negus under the name of Johannes. He beat the Egyptian army comanded by Hassan, the son of Ismael Pasha, quelled several insurrections with a strong hand, forced King Menelek, of Schoa, and Ras Adal, of Godscham, to acknowledge his authority, and ruled supreme in all Ethiopia since 1882.

"In 1885 the Italians occupied Massowah, which the negus claimed as his own. His general, Ras Alula, beat the Italians at Dogali, but a new enemy threatened Johannes in the person of the mahdi. The negus went to meet him with an army, but was beaten and lost his life at Mitimuch, March 9, 1889. His nephew and successor, Ras Mangascha, was dethroned by King Menelek, who made an alliance with the Italians, acknowledging their suzerainty. He also acknowledged them as masters of Euthrea. The suzerainty of the Italians has nevertheless been badly wrecked by the battle of Adowa."

MURRAY'S DRUNKEN CRIME.

Xenia, Ohio, June 6.—At Cedarville, Rome Murray, while drunk, tried to kill his wife and baby with a hatchet. Their condition is dangerous. A crowd of enraged citizens tried to lynch Murray, but he was jailed at Xenia before they could act.

TWO INCENDIARY FIRES.

New Britain, Conn., June 6.—The Booth block, the largest business block in the city, was damaged by fire today to the extent of $65,000. The origin of the fire is not known, but the police are at work under the belief that it was incendiary.

New York, June 6.—Fire in the leather factory of Howard & McDermott at Schenck street and Park avenue, Brooklyn, today, did $150,000 damage, gutted three buildings and was the means of putting 500 persons out of work. Incendiarism is suspected.

A VETO EXPECTED.

Washington, June 6.—The general deficiency appropriation bill reached the president this morning, and it is probable that a veto message on it will be sent to the house today.

A COMPROMISE MADE.

Washington, June 6.—The conferees on the naval appropriation bill have agreed upon a final report on that bill. The agreement provides for three new battleships and fixes the price of armor plate at $425 per ton.

SEVEN PERSONS KILLED.

Loup City, Neb., June 6.—As a result of a cyclone and cloud burst here last night, seven members of Joseph McCoy's family were injured and one child killed. Many houses were destroyed.

A STRANGE LIGHTHOUSE.

The most extraordinary of all lighthouses is to be found on Armish rock, Stornoway bay—a rock which is separated from the island of Lewis by a channel over 500 feet wide. It is in the Hebrides, Scotland. On this rock a conical beacon is erected, and on its summit a lantern is fixed, from which, night after night, shines a light which is seen by the fishermen far and wide. Yet there is no burning lamp in the lantern and no attendant ever goes to it, for the simple reason that there is no lamp to attend to, no wick to trim, and no oil to replenish.

The way in which this peculiar lighthouse is illuminated is this: "On the island of Lewis, 500 feet or so away, is a lighthouse, and from a window in the tower a stream of light is projected on a mirror in the lantern on the summit of Armish rock. These rays are reflected to an arrangement of prisms, and by their action are converged to a focus outside the lantern, from where they diverge in the necessary direction." The consequence is that, to all intents and purposes a lighthouse exists which has neither lamp not lighthouse keeper, and yet which gives as serviceable a light—taking into account the requirements of this locality—as if an elaborate and costly lighthouse, with lamps, service room, bedroom, living room, storeroom, oil room, water tanks and all other accessories were erected on the summit of the rock.

VICTORIA'S WEDDING CAKES.

Germans are puzzled considerably by the wedding cakes which Queen Victoria sends to royal couples that are married in German palaces. The cakes seems to be ordinary fruit cakes, of the same general composition as the ones seen at most English and American weddings, but their composition, solidity, weight and appearance are matters of uncommon interest to the editors of German journals as well as the people at large.

To the recent wedding in Coburg the queen sent a cake which the editor of the Gotha Gazette studied deeply, in order that he might enlighten the anxious readers of his newspaper. He found that its diameter at the base was three feet four inches and at the top three feet. Its height was three feet six inches. It weighed 125 pounds, or twenty-five less than the cake her majesty sent to the wedding of the Princess Marie of Edinburgh several years ago. The editor explains that the density of the cake was remarkable, so remarkable, in fact, that a knife could not prevail against it, and a saw must be used to divide off the sections distributed among the guests.

The cake had been iced heavily in England, and its journey by sea and land from London to Coburg shook it up so thoroughly that most of the icing was in fragments at the end of the trip, and the cake was sent to a Coburg confectioner for repairs. Before the cake was sawed up it was displayed, with its top piece of artificial orange blossoms, among the presents of the princely couple.

WASPS COMMIT SUICIDE.

A short time ago M. Henry, being curious to see the effect of benzine on a wasp, put some of it under a glass in which one was imprisoned. The wasp immediately showed signs of great annoyance and anger, says the Popular Science News, darting at a piece of paper which had introduced the benzine into his cell. By and by he seems to have given up his unusual contest in despair, for he lay down on his back, and bending up his abdomen, planted his sting thrice into his body and then died. M. Henry allowed his scientific interest to overcome his humanity so far as to repeat the experiment with three wasps, only to find that the other two did likewise. He is, therefore, of opinion that wasps, under desperate circumstances, commit suicide.

The Chronicles of Wabojeeg's Wigwam.

Compiled for The Saturday Evening Herald by ON-INNE-COME-GUCK, The News Gatherer.

CHAPTER II.

The rattle of dishes from the banquet hall was the reveille that brought all from the land of dreams to the realization of another day of rain. The loud tat-too upon the lodge top and the wind's hoarse moaning kept up without abatement, gave warning that it would be a good day to stay inside and enjoy the warmth and the dolce far niente of the environment.

Refreshed by the ablutions in the ample basins provided in the lavatory corner of the kitchen, the music of the frying bacon and the odor of fresh corn, cakes and biscuits, but above all the fragrance of the coffee, started such appetites as are known only to those who live in the open of this delicious Wabasso land atmosphere.

At the announcement of Chef Boncoeur that all was ready, the quartet took seats1 about the rustic table and, with appetites that needed no coaxing, fell upon that breakfast with keenest relish.

Breakfast over, all gathered in the audience chamber and made Pukwana, till the air was hazy with the incense to the goddess of Nicotiana.

Wabasso got out his tackle and made it ready to start, at the first lifting of the rainy curtain that still shut them within their dome of comfort and luxuriant warmth and perfume.

Wabojeeg went many times to the eastern doorway and looked up into the driving, stormy clouds, and returning stretched himself at length upon the fragrant carpet beside the fire, and with half-closed lids made Pukwana in rings and wreaths and streamers.

The Meeda and the Spider assisted and watched Wabasso rig his lines and select his dainty flies, making all ready for a tramp along the beebe.

The pattering on the roof grew fainter and the wind fell to a gentler key, and occasionally a lighter beam shot through the smoke hole. Wabasso donned his boots and rain coat, and with rod in hand went out the doorway.

The Meeda, the Spider and Wabojeeg, after more hurried and less elaborate preparations, filed out into the world to follow Wabasso and go a-fishing.

The weather was fitful, and the showers and drizzle persisted all day, with but sligh intermissions. All the fishers returned towards evening with but little more than the proverbial fisherman's luck. However, when all the creels were emptied into Boncoeur's basket there were enough and to spare for a bountiful feast for the four keen appetites which were taken to the table when supper was announced as all ready by the chef.

Wabasso made the best basket of the four, and showed three 2-pounders and one of three and a half.

"How did you manage to hook those old settlers," asked the Spider, as he looked them over. "I couldn't strike one bigger than this," showing the finest of his catch, which would not go over a pound and a quarter.

"I can tell you," said Wabojeeg; "he went to the bottom for them, but don't start him on his fish stories till after supper, or he'll starve us to death."

"Yes," said the Meeda, "we were watching him wading on the flat rock in front of the fall above the second bend, admiring his graceful figure and skill as he made a beautiful cast, but just as his fly touched the outer edge of the foamy circle his feet shot out from under him and he went into the hole like an otter, scarcely making a ripple, but up to his chin when he got his feet, and when he scrambled out he had this fine fellow on his hook," pointing to the largest one in the basket. "He did it mighty quick, he's an expert, I can tell you," said Wabojeeg. "I held on to a little birch till I got through laughing as he scrambled out of that pool. Why, 'Venus rising out of the sea' was nothing to the figure he presented as he regained the rock and began reeling in his line," said the Meeda.

"What kind of walking was it on the bottom?" asked Wabojeeg, in a tone of simulated interest.

"O, it was good," said Wabasso. "I would have kept right on up the stream if I had not seen I was intruding upon a song of family gathering of the big bugs of the Salvelinus of the stream, so I made my conge as quickly as possible."

"The one you brought out with you, how did you manage to hook him?" asked Wabojeeg in feigned curiosity, as they took their seats at the smoking feast.

"Ah," said Wabasso, with his serious air of indubitable veracity, "why, he was sent by the family with the politest invitation for me to call again when the weather was better; this being their wash day, they could not entertain me as they would like to entertain so distinguished a visitor. Of course I accepted the apology and brought the messenger home to supper with us, as a reward for his kindness."

"See how like begets like," said the Meeda. "If Wabasso is not able for anything it is his amiability and punctilious attention to the little courtesies and amenities, even under water."

"Indeed, I have often to myself so remarked," said the Spider demurely.

"What a keen eye he has for situations, and how he takes them in, in an 'angenblick,' as it were, like a snap-shot kodak," said Wabojeeg. "I think it is only his native artistic instinct, quickened by practice; for to my certain knowledge he is in the habit of exploring the bottom of every stream he fishes."

"I consider myself quite a connoisseur in art, and this little water color sketch is very good, considering the weather and time of doing," said the Meeda.

"Yes," said Wabasso meekly; "if I had had more time I could have worked it up very effectively. However, I consider it only a memorandum sketch, to be elaborated later, and when elaborated you will say it isn't such a bad story, as fish stories go, and although not up to some of the story art of ancient and modern fishers, yet I feel encouraged to keep on by your kind and flattering reception of my first attempt of the season."

"Keep on, my boy, keep on," said the Spider, in an encouraging tone, "and you will catch up to and even surpass the fishermen of old."

"Thanks, gentle fishers and flatterers all; you do me proud," said Wabasso, as he pushed back his plate after draining to the dregs his third cup of the fragrant decoction of the Arabian berry. "I shall endeavor to merit your continued confiding approval by adhering strictly to the facts (as heretofore) whenever narrating my observations or experiences in anything relating to the ancient and fascinating art."

Having so spoken, Wabasso rose in his place by the well-cleared board, and with a graceful gesture waved the others to take precedence, while he brought up the rear of the procession as they filed into the audience chamber where burned the council fire. When all were seated or reclining around the sparkling fagots' cheerful glow, and pipes were lighted, the Meeda thus began:

"Ancient art, indeed! Why, there is no art much older than that of catching fish and the art of recording it. Fish-antedates Ducallou's flood. Some claim that the great Belus, who was the inventor of all the godly and manly sports in the dim hazy distance of the ages that are passed, inaugurated fishing also. Others contend, for the subject has often times been discussed with many arguments pro and con, that Seth, the son of Adam, was a fisherman not only, but taught the art to his sons, and by them it was transmitted to posterity. Others aver that he left it engraven upon the two pillars which he caused to be erected to transmit the knowledge of grammar, arithmetic, music and astronomy and the other most precious arts which his noble forethought and precaution saved from perishing in the Noachian deluge.

"Do we not read in the Prophet Amos: 'The Lord God has sworn by his holiness that lo, the days shall come upon you that he will take you away with hooks, and your posterity with fish hooks.' Job, in that supposed oldest book of Hebrew literature, asks as to Leviathan: 'Canst thou fill his skin with barbed irons? or his head with fish spears?' Isaiah the prophet says, when predicting the humiliation of Egypt, that ancient mother of all the sciences and arts: 'The fishers also shall mourn, and all they that cast angle into the brooks shall lament, and they that spread nets upon the waters shall languish.' I can see nothing more appalling than the disappearance of all the fish from the waters of a country befall a people who use it as food. The ancient carvings of Egypt, Assyria and India give further evidence of fishing's antiquity. In the old Greek mythology Hermes, or Mercury, who was the son of Jupiter and Maia, presided over commerce, wrestling and other gymnastic games and exercises, even over thieving, and everything, in short, which required skill and dexterity, without which no man can be successful or an expert fisherman. Mercury was also the messenger of Jupiter, and wore a winged cap and winged sandals. He also carried in his hand a rod entwined with two winged serpents, called the Caduceus."

"Yes," said the Spider, "all that is very convincing to my mind, but I can supplement your statement with some little things you have omitted, which tends to confirm my belief that he, if not the father of all who fish with the angle, is at least their tutaelary or presiding genius. Mercury was also a great inventor, and is said to have invented the lyre. He found one day a tortoise shell upon the sea shore; he made holes in the opposite edges of the shell, strung flaxen cords across its concavity, and the instrument was invented. The cords were nine in number, in honor of the muses. Mercury gave the lyre to Apollo, and received in exchange the caduceus."

"Which represents," said the Spider, "a fish pole with two eels twisting about it. As to the lyre, it isn't difficult to locate where it may be found; and as to the invensive, that faculty has certainly been bestowed upon the fraternity of the gentle art."

"There is but one link missing to make your proof irrefragible; that Hermes is still the god of fishermen," said Wabojeeg quietly.

"Pray what is that?" interrogated the Spider, turning his eyes on everybody, who answered inaudibly, with an explanation of how the orthography of Hermes' invention has been changed to liar.

"O come now," said the Spider, apologetically, "a fish liar, when in tune and fancy, is not such a bad fellow, while the common liar of everyday life is a mean, despicable cur."

"I agree with you," said Wabasso (who shoots at times with a bow equat to the one Ulysses left in Penelope's charge—the range of his arrows are really sometimes astounding). Continuing, he said: "I think the elongations of the fishermen are not lies sui generis, but simply liberality of statement, induced by the freedom of his calling and the nervous exaltation produced by the excitement of the sport and the redundant ozone of which he imbibes until in his exhilaration, what he fancies leaves the same impressions as are left by facts, and if that be not excuse enough, then the precedents and examples of the ancient writers and historians, as Pliny, Aristotle and Josephus, and even the more modern, if not recent and pious Dubastus, have set a pace that the up-to-date fisherman may emulate without incurring the contumely which is usually heaped upon him for his comparatively harmless fish tales. What think you of that wonderful river in Epirus, that when approached with a lighted torch immediately puts it out, or if an unlighted torch is held above its waters, immediately lights it? Or of the river Selarus, that in a few hours turns the rod of the unlucky angler into solid stone? Or of that famous Arabian stream whose waters turn the wool of all the sheep who drink from it into the brightest scarlet hue? Or of the Elusina that Aristotle avers will bubble and dance, casting up its sands at the sound of music, and when the music ceases, returns to its usual calm and placid demeanor? Josephus, the Hebrew historian, also tells of a Judean river that swiftly glides all the six days of the week, but on the Sabbath stays its current and rests in motionless quiet. Surely those who go down to the sea in ships see many wonderful things, a few of which are mentioned in the following lines, quoted by Walton from Dubartus:

"God quickened in the sea and in the rivers,
So many fishes of so many features,
That in the waters we may see all creatures:
Even all that on the earth are to be found,
As if the world were in deep waters drowned,
For seas (as well as skies) have sun, moon, stars;
(As well as air) swallows, rocks and starres;
(As well as earth) vines, roses, nettles, melons,
Mushrooms, pinks, gettiflowers and many millions
Of other plants, more rare, more strange than these,
As very fishes living in the seas;
And also rams, calves, horses, bears and hogs,
Wolves, urchins, lions, elephants and dogs;
Yea, men and maids, and which I most admire,
The mitered bishop, and the cowled fryer."

"Good," said the Spider, "but he might have made his catalogue longer. I notice he has left out the angle and devil-fish."

Continuing, Wabasso said: "Hear what a pretty story he tells on the cuttle-fish: 'The cuttle-fish will cast a long gut out of her throat, which (like as an angler does his line) she sendeth forth and pulleth in again at her pleasure, according as she sees some little fish come near to her; and the cuttle-fish (being hid in the grave) lets the smaller fish nibble and bite the end of it, at which time she little by little draws the smaller fish so near to her that she may leap upon her, and then catches and devours her, and for this reason some have called this fish the sea-angler."

The council fire had burned low by this time; outside the darkness had covered earth and sky as with a cloak of deepest black; the cool lake breezes rustling through the tree-tops or the shrill, sad cry of a belated sea gull were the only sounds that broke the solemn silence of night, so the four tired friends willingly turned to their couches after Wabojeeg had raked up the scattered embers and placed a good big cedar log upon them, for the night air was cold.

A PIRATE CRAFT.

Singular Predicament of an Honest Man.

It has surely fallen to the lot of few men to come near starving to death in a land of plenty, with over $900 in gold in their pocket—nay by reason of that very fact, says a writer in the London Standard. I had shipped at Rangoon on board a steamer bound for Shanghai. When I signed she was flying Jardine's flag at the main, but I believe she carried the ensign of every nation and half the house flags in the world in her signal locker. An opium smuggler I was prepared to find her, but that her chief business on the waters was piracy of the vilest sort and unredeemed by a glint of romance came upon me certainly as a revelation.

We attacked no ships so far as I know, but, handled with marvelous skill and knowledge of the intricate coast navigation, she would run in after nightfall among the rocks and banks where one would expect a sampan to take the bottom, while shrieks, flames, the report of firearms and clash of steel would testify to the descent of my defectable shipmates upon one or another of the numerous fishing villages which fringe the shores of the China seas.

After four months' duress I struck a blow for liberty. My little hoard of morphia—jealously guarded toward this eventuality—deepened the narcotism in which the whole crew lay steeped after a ghastly debauch as we rode at anchor, and, forsaking all my goods and chattels and seizing in lieu such moneys as I could find, I dropped into the dingey and pulled off, shoeless, hatless, arrayed only in a shirt, trousers and belt containing the above-named sum (close on £200), hoping to reach a German gunboat which had been sighted in the offing earlier in the day. But the night was thick and in less than an hour I found myself close in shore. The question of what to do was speedily settled by the boat capsizing among the breakers, leaving me no alternative but to land. Day was breaking, and lay till next morning in a tomb cut above the road in the hill side; and for the next three weeks I nearly perished for lack of nourishment, not daring to exhibit a gold piece, for I had no weapon, and would certainly have been robbed and murdered.

I would have gladly thrown away all but one piece, but there was no single small coin in the sum total, and no less suit would have been the same. Though a good walker at that age (I had made a record of twenty miles not long before and could cover 300 a week without bluster), I accomplished no more than 200 miles in twenty-two days—traveling only by night and hiding in ditches or ditches all day, often rushing back to my late deserted lair in terror of the advancing sun when no suitable place of concealment hove in view.

With paddy and plantains snatched precadiously here and there, I managed to exist during those awful weeks. Chan-Chan is no; regarded as a terrestrial paradise by those Europeans whom fate malign has compelled to sojourn there, but Walhalla was never hailed with greater ecstacy by the world-worn pilgrim than was that celestial sink by myself. Toward the twentieth day the smell of meat cooking absolutely overcame me one morning, and at the peril of my life I emerged into the light of day and laid felonious hands and teeth on what I believe was part of a baked cat, in the temporary absence of the legitimate landlord thereof.

THEY MARRY CHINESE.

A matrimonial bunco game is being worked with great success among Chinese in various parts of Idaho, says the Minneapolis Journal. The bunco team consists of two women and a man. Both the women are said to be of attractive appearance, one being a blonde and the other a brunette. The man is about 50 years old, six feet tall and passes himself as an old soldier. By some one of a half dozen clever schemes a Chinese is induced to marry one of the women. The wedding takes place all right, but the bride promptly deserts her husband, taking whatever valuables in the way of bridal gifts she has received and such of her husband's portable property as is easily carried off. According to reports they have done a profitable and extensive business during the past few months.

MENDING

Professional Patchers Who Can Fix Up Any Old Thing.

Wonderful Skill in Mending Valuable Old Pottery or China Ware.

Wood, Bone, Metals, Glass or Other Substances Firmly United.

Almost everything once broken may be mended. How many shattered bits of valuable bric-a-brac would be saved from the ash barrel if people knew how to mend things properly! There are in this city men who day by day perform little miracles in the art of mending, says the Philadelphia Times. Those miracles are the result of thoughtful years and the most studious application to the investigation of minute things. If you have broken glass, china, wood, metal, or broken bones, go to him of the mastic mystery and have your glass eye, your false teeth, or your tea-cup made whole.

One of these men said the other day: "I have studied the art of mending twenty-two years, and as a result this is my conclusion: As nothing in the universe of matter is capable of annihilation, so there is nothing broken it is not possible to mend; its a scientific study that requires the closest investigation of principle to understand its breadth and usage. First of all, the ingredients of my cement must be absolutely pure. Secondly, they must be amalgamated, that the mastic properties of each ingredient shall be wholly preserved, or the cement when finished will be lacking some quality, yielding poor results in using it. Thirdly, a perfect cement must be almost colorless and capable of hardening more firmly that the substance to be mended, wholly losing its viscidity. This is why when some article once mended by me is again broken it never breaks in the same place.

"In my long experience I have not only treated broken glass, china, woodenware, ivory, bronzes, cracked jewels, etc., but glass eyes and artificial teeth. Not long since a wealthy gentleman of this city came to me in sore distress, having dropped and seriously splintered his glass eye. Now, one would naturally suppose a false eye to be the easiest thing in the world to replace; this gentleman thought otherwise, saying that after an eye has been worn many years, as in his case, the nerves, ligaments and muscles of the eye socket having become moulded and shaped to the artificial organ, it is next to impossible to make another so exactly that much pain and annoyance will not be experienced in wearing it. The gentleman in question, being perfectly satisfied with my work, paid me $50 for mending his eye."

I glanced at an extraordinary specimen of Sevres china in the form of a huge plaque, which has no appearance of ever been cracked. "That," said the man, "I consider a wonderful piece of work. Before broken that plaque was invaluable. Well, sir, you see to the naked eye it is as perfect as before, yet it was shattered into a hundred pieces—I counted them myself—and many of these pieces were so minute they could only be handled by using pincers. Look at the 100 pieces now; they are wedded so inseparably it is impossible to detect a flaw upon the front of the plaque."

One piece after another was examined with the same result—no evidence of the articles having been broken being apparent.

In all large bric-a-brac houses that import articles of vertu men are employed to mend broken china, bronzes and marble.

An immense Cluny vase, for instance, was seen by the writer in New York that had been thus repaired and redecorated, yet the dealer's price for it was several thousand dollars, the same to a cent as would have been asked for it had it arrived in this country in a perfect condition. In no one sense this may be considered as a fraud upon the too trusting public or connoisseur, and yet this may be a question of opinion, as the strength of the vase and its artistic value were not in the least impaired through having been restored.

The menders and artists who do this work are well paid, as the selling qualities of the vase when finished depend wholly upon the dexterity and taste of the restorers. In this way many invaluable old bits of china are preserved, and the art of mending is of most importance to the collector, as age alone gives a market value to these specimens.

The writer has in his possession a Lucca Della Robbia plaque, most carefully mended in a way that would defy the critical examination of an expert, and this fact is the more satisfactory because no plaque of that exact design and pattern is purchasable even in Italy.

The following true story was told the writer by the party most interested:

A certain collector of antiques, and one of the largest in Italy, had for many years made a study of Lucca Della Robbia's porcelain Madonnas, plaques and bas-reliefs; continually seeking in out-of-the-way places, old monasteries, and tombs for specimens of the great master's majolca work. This object was continually uppermost in his mind but many hours of travel and days of labor sometimes resulted in no discoveries of any value. These original specimens are often found covered with earth or plaster, repainted, or wholly obliterated by inappreciative artists and modelers, who know not the value of the original. The expert has to submit these articles to a process which removes the outer covering of paint or plaster, often revealing a rare specimen of exquisite covering and masterful design. These pieces are sometimes discovered in the cellars of the poor or in the mountains among the peasants, where it is possible they have been allowed to remain for hundreds of years.

The gentleman above mentioned had a great reputation, not only for his expert ability in testing these "finds," but for a remarkable instinct that seemed to guide him to their hiding places.

One night in a dream he was told to go to a certain far-distant place called Monte Lupo, and that there, in a ruined part of an old monastery designated by a description of details of the building and locality, he would find a large porcelain Madonna.

The vividness of the dream and the great possibility that such a specimen might be found in that region haunted his mind for days with such persistency that he decided to visit the place, saying nothing of his mission to any one. On arriving at the isolated village he sought a peasant living nearest to the ruined monastery, and whose land embraced a part upon which the ruins stood. On making a thorough inspection of the place the location of the Madonna was found, as pointed out in a dream, unearthed, and proved to be one of the most perfect and beautiful specimens found in many years.

The collector paid the peasant $80 for his find, and in a few days sold it at the immense profit of $4000 to the Imperial museum of Austria. The Madonna was broken in one or two places, but the art of reproducing and mending made it possible to restore the article to its original perfection.

The new process of elaborate wood carving so extensively used in modern interiors utilizes the latest methods of cementing, so that the most fragile and delicate design can be made to adhere to the very firm foundation, the cement used on drying becoming harder than the wood itself.

ABOUT SHOPLIFTERS.

A detective in one of the big department stores up town said recently that his experience with women arrested for shoplifting was invariably the same, whether the woman was a professional thief or not, says the New York Sun.

"There is always a denial first," he said, "and that is immediately followed by emphatic threats of a suit for damages against the firm, unless the woman be at once released. This happens generally in the latter room to which we take the women after they have been positively detected, and it is surprising to see the pertinacity with which a woman will stick to the assertion that she is innocent, even when the stolen articles have been taken away from her. We expect this naturally enough from professional shoplifters, but it is surprising in the case of women who have never been arrested before and may not be justly held responsible for what they have done. In those cases where we know the woman is not a professional and is probably suffering from some mental irregularity, she would probably fare very much better after the articles have been returned if she admitted her weakness and when quietly at home.

But it seems a part of the disease—if it is that—to protest innocence and threaten revenge, and none of the women ever omits that feature of it. One woman, for instance, was apprehended in the store several times. She was the wife of a rich man who knew her peculiarity and had offered to pay for whatever she took. She was always followed and stopped in order to enable us to tell what the extent of her thefts had been. Every time that happened she maintained that she had taken nothing and threatened to bring a suit for damages against us. We saw what she had taken sent the bill to her husband, and he paid it. In another case a girl was arrested and a number of small articles were found about her. She had been watched for some time and there was no doubt of her guilt. If she had confessed—as she was a respectable girl who had never been arrested before—that might have ended the matter. But her employer engaged a lawyer and threatened us with a suit of $20,000 for damages. For our own protection, we had to press the case, and the jury convicted the girl without leaving their seats."

BEWARE

Of Setting Forest and Prairie Fires!

Office of State Forest Commissioner,
St. Paul, Minn., March 26, 1896.

Under the Act of the Legislature of Minnesota for the preservation of forests and for the prevention and suppression of forest and prairie fires, approved April 18, 1895,

The following are liable to a penalty not exceeding $100 or imprisonment not exceeding three months:

Any person refusing, without cause, to assist fire wardens in extinguishing forest or prairie fires.

Any fire warden who neglects to perform his duties.

Any person who wilfully, negligently or carelessly sets on fire, or causes to be set on fire, any woods, prairies or other combustible material, thereby causing injury to another.

Any person who shall kindle a fire, on or dangerously near to forest or prairie land and leave it unquenched, or who shall be a party thereto.

Any person who shall use other than incombustible firewads for fire-arms or carry a naked torch, firebrand or other exposed light in or dangerously near to forest land.

Any person who shall wilfully or heedlessly deface, destroy or remove this or any other warning placard posted under the requirements of the above mentioned Act.

Any railroad company wilfully neglecting to provide efficient spark arresters on its engines; or to keep its right of way to the width of 100 feet cleared of combustible material; or which shall fail to comply with other provisions of Section 12 of the above mentioned Act.

The following are liable to a penalty of not less than $5 nor more than $50:

Any railroad employe who wilfully violates the provisions of Section 12 of the above mentioned Act.

Any owner of threshing or other portable steam engine who neglects to have efficient spark arresters, or who shall deposit live coals or hot ashes without extinguishing the same.

The following are liable to a penalty not exceeding $500 or imprisonment in the state prison not over ten years, or both:

Any person who maliciously sets or causes to be set on fire any woods, prairie or other combustible material whereby the property of another is destroyed and life is sacrificed.

C. C. ANDREWS, Chief Fire Warden.
R. C. DUNN (State Auditor), Forest Commissioner.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Default having been made in the sum of thirty-eight thousand seven hundred and sixteen dollars ($38,716), which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice, upon a certain mortgage executed and delivered by Emil Hartmann and Betty Hartmann, his wife, Martha A. Mallet and Richmond D. Mallet, her husband, mortgagors, to the American Loan & Trust Company, a corporation under the laws of the state of Minnesota, of Duluth, Minnesota, mortgagee, bearing date the fourteenth day of June, A. D. 1889, and with power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 11th day of July, 1892, at four o'clock p. m., in Book 43 of mortgages on page 225; which mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was thereafter duly assigned by the said mortgagee to William E. Richardson by written deed of assignment of all of the property and effects of the said American Loan & Trust Company, including the said mortgage, made by the said American Loan & Trust Company to the said William E. Richardson under the assignment and insolvent laws of the state of Minnesota, for the benefit of the creditors of the said American Loan & Trust Company, which deed of assignment bears date the eleventh day of July, 1894, and was duly filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 12th day of July, 1894, and a copy thereof duly certified to as provided by law by the clerk of said court was duly filed in the office of the register of deeds of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 12th day of July, 1894, and recorded in Book "I" of miscellaneous on page 271, under which deed of assignment the said mortgage and the debt thereby secured was duly transferred and assigned to the said William E. Richardson, and was, at the time of said assignment, among the property and effects of the said American Loan & Trust company so assigned and transferred, and as such was delivered to the said William E. Richardson who ever since said time has held the same and now holds the same and is the owner of record thereof, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The northeast quarter of section number twenty-six (26), in township number sixty-three (63), north of range number twelve (12) west, of the fourth principal meridian, in St. Louis County and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County at the front door of the county court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on Saturday, the sixth day of June, 1896, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of thirty-eight thousand seven hundred and sixteen dollars and interest, and two hundred dollars attorneys' fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

THE SUIT

Particulars of Proceedings Recently Begun Against the Water Company.

Attorney General Will Endeavor to Have the Company Dissolved.

Full History of the Water Company Set Forth In the Information.

The city has placed in the hands of Attorney General Childs its plaint against the Duluth Gas and Water company, and that corporation will from now on have the state of Minnesota to deal with, the city merely sitting on the fence, as it were, while the state plays in its behalf the big brother act and mauls the water company around and cuffs its ears.

As the attorney general desires some time in which to familiarize himself with the case, and as he will be absent from St. Paul during a considerable portion of the present month, the preliminary hearing on affidavits has been postponed to July 6. This presentation of the matter on affidavits will be made before the attorney general in order that he may be advised as to the existence of probable grounds on which to support the application for the relief asked. On filing the application, a writ returnable before any judge of the supreme court in chambers, may be issued, directed to the respondent company requiring it to show cause why the prayer should not be granted, whereupon the respondent may either move that the writ be quashed or put in its answer.

In order that no time may be lost, a referee will be appointed to take the evidence as soon as the issue shall have been joined, and it is expected that the case will be in shape to be submitted to the court in October.

THE INFORMATION.

The information tells a sad story of betrayed confidence and disfigured hopes. It recites fully the history of Duluth's water system almost as far back as the time when the center of population was in the vicinity of Park Point; and water was peddled to the up-town districts in a barrel, down to the period when, with suspicion aroused, the city investigated the company's plant and found, as is in substance alleged, that the intake pipe was patched with shingles. If the state prevails against the company, the latter will, as prayed in the information, be shorn of the privilege conferred by its franchise, and will be dissolved, its creditors will cast lots for its assets and it will not have anywhere to lay its pipes.

The information sets forth in the outset the organization of the village of Duluth and of the present city as the successor of the old village in all its rights and powers. The pedigree of the gas and water company is also set forth, its organization under the laws of the state and its articles of incorporation as originally adopted and as amended. Succeeding allegations of the petition are in substance as follows: That the general business of the respondent corporation as a water company was to supply water to the village of Duluth and to the city of Duluth and to the inhabitants thereof and vicinity, and operating in that capacity under a franchise granted by the common council, March 30, 1883, by virtue of authority delegated to the council by the legislature, the company accepting the terms of the grant in writing and thereupon entered upon the streets and constructed its plant by virtue of its franchise. That the city, relying on the respondent should furnish a proper water supply; that it has constructed no other plan; and the existing plant has been its sole source of supply. That the company failed to furnish the pressure prescribed in its grant and that buildings have burned in consequence and that the city and its inhabitants have suffered loss thereby.

FURNISHED BAD WATER.

The tenth, and most important, recites that it is expressly provided by the ordinance that the company shall at all times furnish a supply of water suitable for domestic and other purposes, and that the water furnished by the company shall be good and wholesome, but that the company has willfully, constantly and repeatedly neglected, failed and refused to comply with the said provisions of the ordinance, in consequence of which, during the past eight years, the people have been subjected to epidemics of typhoid fever and kindred diseases, with which large numbers have been sick and of which hundreds have died. There follows a general description of the site of the city, the basin of Chester creek, the system of sewers, including the sanitary sewers, the bays, the St. Louis river and the ship canal, with allegations that the natural drainage of the city aid the outflow of the said sewers, some of which are in close proximity to the company's pumping station, the river, the bays and the ship canal passes out into the vicinity of the intake pipe, the discharge carrying with it the drainage filth of Carlton, Cloquet, Fond du Lac, New Duluth, West Duluth and a large portion of Duluth proper and Superior, and being met in that locality by the prevailing currents of the lake, flowing westwardly, with the result that all such filth is either held in suspension or deposited near the pipe. In this connection, it is further alleged that, owing to the shallowness of the water at this point, pure water could not be obtained no matter how far out the pipe was extended.

It is alleged that when the plant of respondent was located in its present position, there were but 8000 people in the village and that the plant was then beyond the inhabited part of the shore, but that the land was at that time platted into lots and streets and the respondent knew and expected that the city would grow and extend beyond the plant and that sanitary sewers and the drainage system that would be established would carry the drainage into the lake; that such condition had arrived, notwithstanding which the company refuses to adapt its plant to such conditions and has maintained the same where it was originally temporarily established.

WAS IN BAD SHAPE.

There follows a description of the situation as the council committee found it, it being alleged that the intake well was not cemented or walled up; that there was no water tight joint around the intake pipe and no attempt made to shut out surface water, except the introduction of some wooden plugs, which were ineffectual to prevent the entrance of shore and surface water, which was but a few feet distant; that the Fourteenth avenue east sewer was but 800 feet west, and the Eighteenth avenue east sewer but 1600 feet east of the pumping station, and that Chester creek empties in the immediate vicinity; that the intake pipe only extended 360 feet into the lake, the end resting on the bottom and not screened, and it is charged that by reason of the surroundings and the neglect to screen the pipe large quantities of surface water loaded with drainage filth and containing numbers of dead animals and fish were pumped into the mains and supplied to the city and inhabitants.

An incident occurring in the fall of 1895 is specially alleged, it being set forth that a citizen drew water from the respondent's main that was so foul that the superintendent of the respondent company declared on an inspection, that the plumbing must be out of order and that the water drawn must have flowed into the pipes from a neighboring sewer. Then follow allegations as follows:

THE 1888 EPIDEMIC.

That by reason of the bad water supplied by the respondent there occurred an epidemic of typhoid fever in 1888, and that at that time the council made an examination, disclosing that the intake pipe extended but 182 feet into the lake, ending in 19 feet of water, and that the pipe was broken 10 feet from shore, and that the end of the pipe was not screened. That the council thereupon passed a resolution requiring the respondent to extend its pipe such a distance as would enable it to furnish a sufficient and healthful supply of water. That the respondent neglected to do as directed, and that in consequence of such neglect another epidemic broke out in 1890. That thereupon the council made another examination, which disclosed that the intake pipe extended but 300 feet from the shore, ending at a point where the water was less than 30 feet deep. That the council then adopted a resolution by which the company was "notified and directed to take such immediate steps as might be necessary to enable the company to furnish the city and its inhabitants with a sufficient supply of pure and wholesome water," the resolution further notifying the respondent that it would be held to strict compliance with the terms of its contract with the city; the resolution also, reciting that the council had heard with approval the suggestion of the company that its pipe be extended 1000 feet farther into the lake, making a total of 1300 feet, recommending that the extension be made immediately, and expressly stating that the city reserved the right to require such further extension of the intake and change of location as might be necessary to insure pure and wholesome water. That, thereafter the company pretended to so extend, protect and screen its intake pipe, and reported that it had done so, the city and inhabitants believing and relying on such representations, but that such representations were found to be false and fraudulent by an examination made in December, 1895. That the fact that the pipe was under water and the intake well was under the pumping station and full of water, rendering it difficult to get at their true condition, by reason of which the city was kept in ignorance thereof. That by reason of the state of affairs alleged, typhoid fever continued with greater or less severity during the period included. That during the year ending March 31, 1894, there were 564 cases of typhoid fever and 62 deaths therefrom, and for the succeeding year, from the same cause, 691 cases and 74 deaths. That there occurred another terrible epidemic of typhoid fever in 1895, there having been during the year ending March 31, 1896, 2020 cases and 153 deaths. That this led to a further examination by the council, whereby the pipe and intake well were found to be in the condition before described, and the fraudulent and false nature of respondent's representation discovered.

Wherefore, the relator prays that due process of law issue against said company, requiring it to show by what warrant it claims to enjoy the rights and privileges of its franchise, and why the same should not be adjudged to be forfeited for willful abuse and improper neglect, and the company not only excluded therefrom, but that it be dissolved and a receiver appointed to take account of and distribute its property among its creditors.

The information will be signed by the attorney general as relator.

MARINE NOTES.

A Cleveland dispatch says that the Escanaba ore rate was established at 60 cents yesterday. Half a dozen boats were placed at the advance, and 5 brokers had tonnage they could get 85 cents from Marquette. They are working to get $1 from the head of the lakes, but as yet that rate has not been paid to Ohio ports. Carnegie has during the past few days bought about 300,000 tons of ore.

Duluth clearances—Australasia, 1800 tons ore, Onoko, 2300 tons ore, North Star, 60,000 bushels wheat, Vanderbilt, 40,000 bushels oats, 6000 barrels flour, Buffalo; Washburn, 2125 tons ore, 102, 2100 tons ore, South Chicago; J. R. Edwards, 650,000 feet lumber, Buffalo; Woolson, 950,000 feet lumber, Tilden, 800,000 feet lumber, Young, 600,000 feet lumber, Tonawanda.

A Sheriff's wheel of 7 feet 8 inches diameter has been ordered for the tug J. W. Bennett.

Charters for iron ore are frequently made at Milwaukee with local mine owners, Thursday, for instance, the steamer Thomas Cranage was placed at 55 cents from Escanaba to Erie. According to private advices the H. S. Pickands and Marengo are under charter at 60 cents from Escanaba to Ohio ports.

A $60,000 raft recently lost by the tugs Manistique and Protector on Lake Huron has been recovered almost intact.

A jam of vessels loaded with ore exists at Cleveland.

It is said that 60 per cent of the ore being received at Cleveland goes into stockpiles.

It is figured by local experts that the sum the underwriters will have to pay because of the wrecking of the Meaford's engines will be between $30,000 and $40,000. It is said that not a vestige of the engine remains undamaged; all of it must be torn out of her, and a new engine will have to be built to take its place.

HIGHWAY ROBBERS.

Two Masked Men Assaulted Z. d'Aoust Last Night.

A daring attempt at highway robbery was made at an early hour this morning. Z. D'Aoust, a saloonkeeper doing business at 525 West Superior street, being intercepted on West First street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, shortly after midnight, by two masked men, who after an unsuccessful effort to rob him, fired on him to prevent his interfering with their escape. D'Aoust got off with his money, about $75 in amount, and skin intact. The robbers are still at large, but they are known to the police and it is probable that they will be captured before many hours have elapsed.

D'Aoust was on his way to his residence, at 1913 West First street, when he was stopped by the men. He at once recognized both of them, although their faces were partially concealed by masks. Thinking it was a joke, d'Aoust remarked:

"Don't fool with the old man, boys."

The response was a blow in the face from the fist of the taller one of the two. At this d'Aoust, who is a powerful man, made a rush at his assailants, knocking one of them off the sidewalk. Both of the men were staggered by the vigorous resistance they met and commenced to beat a retreat toward Superior street. D'Aoust started to follow them at the same time calling for help when one of them fired at him and he gave up the chase.

F. H. Linton, of 831 West First street, who was aroused by the uproar, now appeared on the scene and the two proceeded to the central station and reported the matter.

A POPULAR LOAN.

Commissioners Will Dispose of Bonds That Way.

At yesterday afternoon's meeting of the board of county commissioners the resolution to dispose of the road bonds by a popular loan was passed substantially as outlined in The Herald yesterday. The sale will be advertised in every legal newspaper in the county, and the bids will be opened June 20. No bids for less than $500 will be received. It is expected that there will be no difficulty in disposing of the whole issue, as many of those with a few hundreds in their stockings will prefer to draw 4 per cent on the bonds than to bank their money at 3 per cent. Yet the scale is not expected to interfere a great deal with banks, so that in all probability enough money to take up the bonds can be produced from old stockings, the favorite bank of a good many people.

WOULD INJURE THEM.

Threatened Reduction of All Rail Coal Freight Rates.

The coal companies which operate in the Northwest from the head of the lakes are decidedly disturbed over a threatened injury to their business. They have discovered that under the revision of freight rates which is being considered and may be adopted West Virginia coal can be landed in the Twin Cities by an all rail shipment at a rate less than the present lake and rail rate via Duluth. If this should go into effect it would strike a serious blow at the coal trade here. It would enable the all-rail coal to enter the territory which has always belonged to the head of the lakes and possibly drive it out. It would not only take from the companies that neutral ground where the rate is equal and the coal sells on its merits but would cut off an enormous slice of their legitimate territory. There seems to be but one hope for the coal men if the cut is adopted and that is that the railroads from Duluth to the Twin Cities will cut the coal rate to a basis that will permit the Duluth companies to compete.

The Minstrel Show.

On account of the many requests received by Mr. Custance, the minstrels given by the boys of the high school will be repeated in the Assembly hall next Friday. The boys have kept up their practice and many new features will be added to the coming performance. The first part will be taken up by the minstrels with jokes and songs, and the second part will consist of specialties. Among the specialties are the popular amateur comedians John Doran and Charles Applehagen. Will Benson will render his difficult musical act. The Musical society of the school will also assist, and the performance will be concluded with a number of plastic groups. The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to the manual training department for the purpose of fitting out the new steam launch, which is now in the last stages of completion.

New summer millinery at Humes'.

A trip down the Point to O-at-ka, through the shady groves, is very refreshing.

The Detroit police have written Chief Hansen for the pedigree of A. G. Highton, who was arrested some time ago in that city for some bogus check episode there. The chief will send it down packed in ice and sprinkled with a strong disinfectant.

The reception committee of the firemen's convention will meet at the Spalding Monday afternoon at 4:30, and a full attendance is requested.

Since the "Tree Day" exercises at the Maynard school are to take place on their grounds, it will be necessary to postpone them to Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, if it should rain on Tuesday.

A marriage license has been issued to Martin J. Carey and Adaline May Hackett.

There will be no services tomorrow morning or evening in Pilgrim Congregational church. Rev. C. H. Patton will return and occupy the pulpit on June 14.

A young lady arrived last night at the home of C. B. and Ella J. Clement, 1021 East Second street, and will remain permanently.

The Zenith is Out.

The "Zenith of '96," the high school annual, sets a pace that will call for the best efforts for the editors of succeeding years to follow, in fact, the editors say as much themselves, doing great violence to their known modesty, in the cause of truth. They justly take pride in their work. They are generous, however, and they freely give coming seniors the recipe, feeling secure that they will not be eclipsed, perhaps, in their confidence in the saying that, no matter how the dough is mixed and kneaded, "it's all in the bakin'." In closing their prefatory remarks, the editors chuck the "under grads" under the chin, and say, in the superior way of seniors: "Model your annual after the 'Zenith of '96,' but don't try to make it as good, for that will be impossible."

The illustrations are replete with wit and artistic execution. The articles are, without exception, bright and entertaining.

"ELI, ELI"

Yale's Famous College Cry Will Rouse Old England in July.

The American University Oarsmen to Tackle the Britishers at Henley.

Nearly All the Crew Are Six Footers and Heavy Weights.

New York, June 6.—The first Yale crew that ever crossed the Atlantic will embark today to meet the pick of English university oarsmen in the royal Henley regatta, which begins July 6. Yale has decided to enter only the eight-oared races at Henley, following the example of Cornell, which declined to participate in the four-oared and single scull events.

Yale's stroke this year will be about a fourth faster than usual, and in this the success or failure of the trip seems to lie. The new stroke is an experiment, and it cannot successfully be tried till the time of the actual race. This will prevent the coachers from properly testing it till the Henley is won or lost, and this is the only feature of the regatta that Yale does not regard with complacency—rowing the races under strange conditions as regards stroke. The long, swinging Cook stroke that has brought victory to Yale year after year has been tested, and never found lacking in a four-mile race. Whether it will be found practicable in a match of a mile and a quarter, the Henley distance, is another matter. To meet the new requirements it has been changed slightly, but not radically. The recovery is quicker, and the slide is rushed to place, but the fundamental principles of the stroke—the position, the arm work, the rigid back—are unchanged. It is still essentially a Cook stroke.

The statistics of the crew are as follows:

	Age.	Height.	Wt.
Stroke, C. Langford, '97 S.	19	6.01½	174
7. R. B. Treadway, '96	22	5.11	175
6. J. M. Longacre, '96	22	6.00	182
5. P. Bailey, '97	22	6.00	175
4. J. O. Rodgers, '98	21	6.00	185
3. W. M. Beard, '96	20	5.08½	185
2. A. Brown, '96	22	6.01	170
Bow. J. Simpson, '97	21	5.10½	161
Averages	21	5.11	175⅞
Coxswain, T. Clark, '97	21	5.03	115

First substitutes:

G. Marsh, '98	20	6.00	173
Payne Whitney, '98	19	5.10½	173
P. Mills, '97	19	5.10½	175

Besides these twelve of the crew, only three other Yale people will go over, and they are Robert Cook, the coach;

Langford (stroke).

Manager De Sibour and Assistant Manager Joe Wheelwright.

Fears have been expressed in some quarters that the change of stroke necessary for the short distance of a mile and a half at Henley will make Yale an easy victim, but the Yale stroke as it has been rowed all these years is as good for one mile as for four. It does not have to be cut off and bob-tailed, or make jerky and short. More strokes will be rowed per minute over the shorter course, but this is done by pulling the oar harder through the water. Strong, heavy men simply have to put more power on their oar handles to raise the stroke. The blades rip through faster, and the time is gained for adding the extra strokes in a minute, without losing a bit of the power in the long, rythmical swing, and the full slide distance. The Yale crews at New London raise their stroke to any desired pitch by throwing extra power in the pull through the water, quickening the shoot away of the hands and moving faster in the parts of the stroke which call for lightning speed. This is why Cook has selected as heavy and muscular a set of men for Henley as for the four-mile races with Harvard. Light and wiry men would not have the weight and power to raise the stroke in this fashion. They would have to put it off or shorten the swing, and hurry their slides in a manner contrary to the principles of the Yale system. More reputation depends upon Yale's performances at Henley than on any previous appearance of American athletes, as Yale has and has had for years the champion boat crew of America. By defeating them England will be entitled to claim superiority in the field of college rowing. The Americans will not be the only foreigners at Henley. Crews from Holland, France and Germany will enter, and it is expected some of them will do surprising work.

Bob Cook has this to say of his crew: "If we send a crew to Henley we'll win. We'll win not necessarily because we know how to row any better than the Englishmen, who are really smart oarsmen, but because we know how to train for a race better than they do. We are away ahead of John Bull on the training question, as the English athletes who visited this country last fall learned to their sorrow. Barring any sickness among the boys as a result of a change of climate, we'll win on condition."

The boys will sail on the American liner Berlin. The Berlin is one of the old steamers, and by no means a fast one, her record time being over seven days. The managers of the navy were governed in the selection of the steamer by a combination of circumstances. The coaches were of the opinion that a good long sea voyage would not do the oarsmen any harm. The financial union, which is to furnish the funds for the trip, insisted on all possible economy. The slow trip will be made pleasant, however, by the presence of a large number of loyal graduate oarsmen who will accompany the crew to Henley. Among the best known oarsman who will go to England to see the race are Louis K. Hull, '83, who rowed on the victorious crews of '80 and '81, and was captain of the unfortunate eights of '82 and '83; F. W. Rogers, '83; J. A. Hartwell, '93 S, who was captain of the '92 crew; R. D. Paine, '94, who rowed in the '91 and '92 crews; F. A. Johnson, '94 S, captain of the '94 crew; Richard Armstrong, '95 S, captain of the '95 crew, and S. B. Ives, '94, captain of the '93 crew. This list will be undoubtedly increased by dozens of other old athletes, and by a crowd of undergraduates, over thirty of whom have already engaged passage to England.

Yale will take two paper boats to England exactly similar to those used by her for the last six or eight years. They have been built by Waters, of Troy. The management of the Yale navy have counted on $10,000 being the cost of training the crew and paying all the expenses of the European tour. This is very little more than what it has been costing Yale every year to meet Harvard.

ON THE MESABA RANGE.

Another Record Broken at the Biwabik Mine.

Last Thursday Engineer Nichols and crew of the Drake & Stratton steam shovel made another loading record at the Biwabik mine that greatly distanced all previous attempts, says the Mesaba Range. A total of 1200 yards were loaded, being 480 cars. This is considered excellent work. The shovel was attended by three "dinkey" engines and the haul is about half a mile. There was about an hour's delay during the ten hours. The shovel is a Barnhart, style A.

It is reported that at the Franklin group of mines one-half the force has been laid off while the Fayal has also reduced its force considerably.

At the Cincinnati sinking as well as mining is in progress at No. 1 shaft. It is the intention to sink a considerable distance, but just how far has not been determined. Shaft No. 2 is idle at present, but will be in operation probably before the end of the week. The company is also doing some testpitting on the south forties.

The explorations on the old Shaw lease, owned by the Security Exploration company, are being continued and ore has been shown to a depth of 185 feet, covered by a surface of less than thirty feet. The lower deposits are of ore of high grade and very low in phosphorus. Several possible options have been talked of for the property, and the Minnesota Iron company is mentioned in this connection. It could work the property advantageously in connection with its adjoining Virginia mine.

A. O. Ostby is doing some testpitting for the Standard Ore company on the Hale property.

Capt. Cohoe, explorer for the Consolidated, has started a drill on section 12-59-21.

The Canton diamond drill is now at work about 200 feet southwest from the northeast corner of the Chicago property. Some ore was encountered at a depth of about 120 feet.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has always been kept up to the standard. It is the same it was forty years ago, the best sold.

TRAITS

Some of the Conspicuous Characteristics of the Late Judge Stearns.

His Great Honesty, Bluntness and Love of Common Sense.

Several Incidents of His Career Which Illustrate These Qualities.

In the week just passed Duluth has lost one whose residence within its borders lent honor to its name. Although of late years a wanderer in search of health, Duluth yet claimed him as a citizen, as his heart still turned to it as his home during so many years. Of commanding intellect and indomitable will, the personality of Judge Stearns towered conspicuous among his fellows. His character partook somewhat of the nature of the granite hills on which he made his home, but, even as their feet are planted deep on a sure foundation, so it was bottomed firmly on the virtues that are the true base of perfect manhood, garlanded, as are those hills with greenery and flowers, with gentler attributes that softened its rugged outlines. An upright judge and model citizen, his name will long be remembered with respect and affection by the people among whom he so well discharged the functions of the one and the duties of the other.

Of a character, the salient points of which stood out like the peaks of a rocky headland, he was one of those about whose every act there hung the interest that attaches to originality and power, to which the many anecdotes that are told of him bear witness. Devoid of surface play, dissimulation and simulation, what he said and did had the genuine ring and was significant of his true self. His tastes were characterized by a democratic simplicity, and he sturdily followed their suggestions unwarped by the prejudices or predilections of those about him.

His court, although it was truly a court of justice, was "Stearns' court." On entering, it spoke to you of the rugged nature of the presiding genius. There were no soft piled carpets on the floor, not even unassuming matting. Just sawdust; pain, everday sawdust. And seats that would have been in keeping with ye old time meeting house, and which would nowadays hardly be deemed luxurious enough for a penitentiary. The only concession those seats made to comfort was a sloping of the back, but, even with this, to be comfortable in one required an anatomy made to order on special specifications. The judge held that a court room was a place to do business and not a place to lounge in, and if anybody wanted a comfortable place to loaf he could go out and sit on the fence. For himself a table of plain, nay, even mean proportions, was enough, and he would have none other. He wanted to be free, as he once expressed it, to stretch his legs, and the new fangled desks with a curtain in front, interfered with this exercise. A chair, closely related to the ordinary "kitchen" family, completed the furniture he thought necessary for his own use.

The judge, to those who did not know him, seemed brusque and, perhaps hard; but that was only the outer shell. Secretly, he connived at surreptitious visits to poor families made by Mrs Stearns with a basket laden with good things. But when delay limped by with halting step or fraud crept before him wrapped in its cloak, he applied the gad, or tore off the disguise with a heavy and unsparing hand. His impetuous nature would brook no delay nor equivocation. As a judge, he sat to get at the truth and deal out justice, and he chafed if hampered in the search for the one and would not be turned from his purpose to truly mete out the other.

On one occasion, a recalcitrant debtor had been haled before him on an inquiry as to property. The debtor had disposed of some land, and the object was to ascertain what he had done with the proceeds. After shifting and evasion, being backed into a corner, the debtor refused to answer. The attorney cajoled, and finally threatened to call down the vengeance of the court. The judge maintained silence for a while, his brow getting blacker every moment. With a half defiant air, the obstinate witness turned to the judge and asked what would happen to him if he did not answer. The reply burst on him like a tempest:

"You'll lie in jail until you rot—that's what will happen to you," thundered the judge. The witness answered.

The handwriting of the judge was not constructed on specimen principles. I would have driven a writing teacher mad. When asked once if he always wrote such a poor hand, he said he always had, except on one occasion, when he tried to do better, and was put to much annoyance thereby. The judge then went on to say that one day during the war he had a horse shot under him. The necessity that he be supplied with another steed was urgent. He wrote a requisition on the quartermaster, taking great care with his chirography, in order that the official might read it. When his orderly handed it to the quartermaster, the later looked it over suspiciously.

"Did you say that Col. Stearns wrote that," he inquired.

"I did," replied the orderly.

"Well, now, see here, you can't play that on me, young fellow," retorted the quartermaster. "The colonel never wrote that, and I know it. He couldn't write out a requisition like that if he took a week."

And it was only after some delay and a visit from the colonel in person that the quartermaster's suspicions were allayed and another horse forthcoming.

The judge's manner on the bench was abrupt, and his remarks, especially in his way of putting things to the jury, were often quaint. On one occasion an attorney, who was defending a prisoner, took the position that because his client was so intoxicated that he did not know what he was doing at the time he made the assault, he was not to be held responsible for his acts. The counsel had raked up an old decison supporting that view, and had started to read it to the court in a dignified way with impressive utterance. The judge cut him off without much ceremony:

"Pshaw," said the court. "That isn't law, and you know it. What do you want to stand up there and read that decision for. You know it has been overruled." That ended the argument on that point.

The judge was one time trying a case at Red Lake Falls. There were but two witnesses, the plaintiff and defendant. One was very prominent in church circles, but the other seemed to have reason and equity with him. Their stories were diametrically opposed to each other. Both could not be true. Somebody had lied. In charging the jury, the judge confined himself almost wholly to these words:

"Gentlemen, this is a very simple case. One of these parties is a liar. Now, you go out and bring in a verdict against the man you think is lying." The community agreed that substantial justice had been done by the verdict.

His demeanor toward young attorneys has been criticised. And those nearest him admit that he seemed at times unnecessarily severe and impatient with the shortcomings of inexperience. He acquired a reputation in this respect, and was dreaded by the young members of the bar. Yet the success of beginners in his profession always pleased him, and he often inquired as to how this one and that was getting on.

His unconquerable will power was evidenced on the day in the summer of 1891 when he suffered a stroke of paralysis, while on the bench. It was special term day, and there was a long calendar to be disposed of. The judge entered the court room late. It was a warm day. He had evidently hurried, and appeared much heated. He had scarcely taken his seat when those present noticed a peculiar expression come over his face. Soon afterward it was noticed that his mouth twitched and that he spoke with difficulty. It was apparent that he was ill, and he was urged to adjourn court. But the warhorse, who had faced the enemy on many a field, was not to be easily conquered. He refused to acknowledge that he had met a foe before whom he would have to bow his crest. By sheer will power he carried through the business of the day, his mind seeming as clear as ever, although at the last his frame refused to obey the mandates of the imperious brain, and his arm had to be supported as he signed orders.

Said an old attorney, who had long practiced before him: "Judge Stearns was a wonderful man. He was the best judge Minnesota ever produced."

Said another: "His vigorous mind refused to be bound by antiquated fictions and mummified traditions of the law. His tendency was constantly to break away from them. Had he sat upon the supreme bench, for which he was most eminently fitted, he would early have given a decided drift in that direction to the course of the decisions of that tribunal. He was one of those whose virile intellectuality vitalized the law. Strong and original, he applied its rules to the needs of the times."

In these remarks is voiced the general verdict of the profession.

HIS GOLDEN JUBILEE.

Archbishop Elder, of Cincinnati, to Be Honored.

Cincinnati, June 6.—The "golden jubilee" of the priesthood of Archbishop William H. Elder will be celebrated next Tuesday in this city. The invitations to the celebration are probably the most elaborate ever issued in this city. On the inside of the front cover is printed "Golden Jubilee of the Sacred Priesthood, 1846-1896, Most Rev. Henry William Henry Elder, D.D." On the inside of the other cover is a request to be present at the golden jubilee exercises. These have been sent to the various priests throughout the country, and, owing to the popularity of the bishop, it is expected that it will be the largest gathering of Catholic priests that this city has ever harbored.

The exercises will take place in this order: A solemn pontifical mass will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning, with Cardinal Gibbons as preacher. A banquet will then be held in the afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Mary's seminary, participated in by all the bishops and clergy of the diocese. In the evening an entertainment will be given at Music hall, in charge of the laity. Previous to the banquet a "bag of gold" will be presented to the venerable archbishop by the clergy.

MISUNDERSTOOD.

Texas Siftings: Gabbleton—I believe a child's ambition should be encouraged. Now, I'm sure my boy wears just as good clothes as I do.

Wiggins—H'm! Cut down to fit him, I suppose you mean?

MEANS OF IDENTIFICATION.

Judge: "Are these your clothes or mine?" asked the athletic man of his wife.

"Look in the hip-pocket," was the reply. "If it's smelling-salts, they're mine; if it's brandy, they're yours."

OLD PEOPLE.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whisky nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative. It acts mildly on the stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price 50 cents per bottle at Duluth Drug company's drug store.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

The Present Financial Situation in This Country.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is from a deep convicting sense that the brief present (now only some two weeks) before the meeting of the coming Republican nominating convention at St. Louis is time most precious for vigilant, unceasing action by those believing bimetallism to be the one great loyal test of true Republicanism and loyal nationality (now that black human slavery is dead and buried), and to lose no time or delay a moment any and every effort to cause all classes of this nation to secure the prosperity which a hearty, sweeping return to the bimetallism of our nation, founders and fathers would surely bring.

It is from such deep conviction that I ask space for another letter from Mr. Frewen, this one being to the editor of the London Financial News and published in that paper of May 21. We have every encouragement to so unceasingly work, for every day evidences that what has been quoted to us of the West, as the solid goldbug East, is rapidly crumbling and dissolving its allegiance to and following of that "Bael" of national unrighteousness, the single gold standard. Those of us who wish to stay in the Republican party should make their fight now, before the convention puts into its platform that paralyzing "gold" plank or straddle that will surely disrupt and scatter it worse than any "live wire" in any bimetallism would be an irresistible, advancing and beneficial unit. Very respectfully, Thomas Dowse.

Duluth, June 5.

Sir: So much rubbish is being shot upon the London daily press, and especially upon the Times, by New York correspondents that a word as to Maj. McKinley's currency position may be useful. No one, except Mr. Smalley and a handful of bankers on Manhattan island, supposes that the Republican party is going to allow its platform at St. Louis to be framed by those bankers and by the New York correspondent of the London Times. Your own correspondent cables you the prophecy of Wall street, that with a gold standard must come a boom and a bull market. It requires some courage, truly, for Wall street again to clothe itself in the prophet's robe. There was not a shouter in Wall street in 1893 but foretold this same boom if only the Sherman act was repealed. Two days after its repeal there was a panic, which, starting in Wall street, has since steadily engulfed the industries of the United States—farms, factories and railways. It is always the same howl from Wall street: "Cup the patient! If he does not grow stronger after you have taken four ounces of blood, then take ten ounces more; thus shall he recover, and we shall have a boom!"

No one will read your editorial today without much surprise and disappointment. For years past you have pointed to the seat of disease—to the steady and continuous rise in the gold premium at Bombay, at Singapore, at Shanghai, at Yokohama, at Rio and at Buenos Ayres. You have educated us to recognize that, because of the stimulus afforded by the depreciating currencies to exports from those countries, America's exports have been cut into, so that the balance of trade has turned hopelessly against her. With the Asiatic exchanges at their present point, the United States, through no fault of her own, and because of no legislation of her own, finds herself insolvent; that is all. Is such a disease as this to be remedied by any gold standard in the United States—a remedy which will still further depress European exchanges with both silver and paper countries, and thus still further reduce her exports? And it is reasonable to ask whether the anti-silver crusade during the whole of President Cleveland's term has been such a success that the Republican party and McKinley ought to follow this lead; and is the official platform preparing for the St. Louis national convention three weeks hence likely to go further in the direction of gold monometallism than the official platform prepared for that party at Minneapolis in 1892, and upon which platform Mr. Harrison stood? Here is the currency plank in that platform as agreed at Minneapolis:

"The American people, from tradition and interest, favor bimetallism, and the Republican party demands the use of both gold and silver as standard money." After which declaration of principle there follows the "straddle," customary in the planks of both parties, as to the propriety of maintaining the convertibility of gold, silver and paper.

Maj. McKinley knows, what Mr. Smalley, of the Times, ought to know, that if he stands upon a gold-standard platform the senate, where the Republican party is already in a minority, will be irretrievably lost to that party during the whole of his presidential term. A more mortifying, impotent and humiliating position than that of president of the United States with a senate hostile let anyone suggest. The president, under such circumstances, cannot so much as appoint an ambassador "to lie abroad."

Sir, history is today repeating itself, and I recommend to the United States electors to study the memorial of the Birmingham chamber of commerce to Sir Robert Peel, dated Dec. 9, 1842. It was a protest against a scandalous contractionist measure then pending, and against all that spoliatory legislation of Sir Robert Peel which had found no more vehement denouncer than in Sir Robert Peel's own father. The Birmingham chamber had this to say—and if for 1819 you read 1893 it is verba ipsissima applicable to the present crisis in the United States:

"It may be well to notice an error into which many persons ignorant of the currency question have fallen. They accuse the committee of desiring to rob the present public creditors in order to make up for the injury done to the public debtors of 1819. To such parties the committee recommend an inquiry as to how far the present relations and obligations of society are in accordance with the present gold coinage; and they will find that what the committee desire is to prevent further appreciation, or further robbery of the debtors, and not to rob the public creditor. The average of prices and wages is still about 25 per cent above the present gold standard. It is the attempt at a further reduction which causes the present universal embarrassment. * * * Will or can the agricultural and commercial classes submit to this reduction? And if so, would it be possible to collect the amount of revenue required by the government?"

There, exactly and in the smallest compass, is the present situation in the United States; no further word of explanation is necessary.

MUSICAL

The North American Saengerbund to Meet at Pittsburg Tomorrow.

A Splendid Hall Has Been Erected Specially For the Occasion.

President Cleveland Will Open the Saengerfest By Touching a Button.

Pittsburg, June 6.—German singers throughout the country are looking forward to the twenty-eighth national sangerfest of the North American Sangerbund, which will be held in this city during the week beginning tomorrow. At this fest Chicago will be represented by one of the largest delegations of singers from points outside of Pittsburg. Singularly enough, it looks as if Milwaukee, with its great German population, would not be represented at all, except by individuals. It is believed the visiting singers will number, all told, 3000. The local singers will be probably 500 in number. Besides this, it is planned to have a chorus of school children 2000 strong.

This sangerfest will be notable principally for the effort that will be made and which now seems probable of accomplishment to effect a permanent organization of the North American Sangerbund. The correspondence indicates the societies generally are in favor of the plan. It is felt that the success of future fests will be made certain by the national treasury, for the expenses of the fest are enormous and bear heavily upon the entertaining city. The fest this year will cost Pittsburg $70,000, according to the estimates made. The guarantee fund amounts to $40,000. Seven thousand dollars has been contributed by the central board to the Exposition society for use in preparing a hall in which to hold the sangerfest. This hall is to be permanent. It has seating capacity for nearly 4000 auditors, and the stage will afford accommodations for 3000 singers.

The soloists have been selected in the persons of Kathrina Lohse-Klafsky, soprano; Helena Hastreiter, contralto; A. L. Guille, tenor; Conrad Behrens, basso; William Mertens, baritone, and Emil Sauret, violinist.

Among the men prominent in the management of the fest are Heinrich Zoellner, of New York, chief director, who is a world-renowned composer and musician. John S. Vogel and Carl Ahl, local conductors of fame, have been made second and third directors respectively. John Dimling is president of the fest and bundes.

There will be five concerts in all, beginning Monday evening and ending Wednesday evening. On Tuesday and Wednesday there will be matinees, and one of these will be made especially interesting by the rendition of "The Watch on the Rhine" and "Our Fair Land Forever" by a chorus of pupils of the public schools of Pittsburg and Allegheny, numbering 2000 voices.

The Monday evening concert will be the reception concert, and all the numbers will be by the Pittsburg societies. A mixed chorus of 600 will sing "The Deluge," by Saint Saens, assisted by Agnes Vogel-Roberts, soprano; Grace Damian, contralto; H. B. Brockett, basso, and A. J. Baernstein, basso, local soloists of merit. Local pride will further be aroused by the singing of "Old Folks at Home" by Shephin V. Foster, who was born in Pittsburg.

President Cleveland will be with the singers in spirit, and will open the Sangerfest by the touch of an electric button at the White House. A flag made of red, as the president completes the circuit, white and blue lights will be illuminated and the great festival will be declared open.

SPIRIT LAKE AND VICINITY.

Mrs. Joseph Brink and Mrs. M. S. Brink, of Smithville, attended the Memorial services at Duluth Saturday.

The law firm of Cash, Williams & Chester were callers at Spirit Lake Saturday.

Axel Peterson, of Short Line Park, was calling on friends at Smithville Sunday.

T. W. Folkerts and Wallrichs, of Duluth, improved there property at Spirit Lake this week, and it is now ready for gardening.

H. Armstrong drove out from the city Sunday, spending the day at Smithville, the guest of V. A. Dash.

Mrs. R. A. Folkerts was shopping in Duluth on Tuesday.

Mrs. Warren, of Duluth, is visiting Mrs. A. A. Douglass this week.

Business called A. G. Rengstrum to the city on Monday.

The W. C. T. U. will meet with Mrs. E. Payne next Thursday afternoon, and a general invitation is extended to all to be present as there is important business on hand.

Mrs. Burns and Mrs. Siang drove out from Duluth Thursday afternoon, the guests of Mrs. E. Swenson.

Mrs. A. A. Douglass visited friends in Duluth Tuesday.

W. C. Edwards was looking over the city Tuesday.

The steamer Mary Mann was delayed several hours at the Spirit Lake docks Sunday last, some of the machinery getting out of order, so a great many were not able to get over to the new park.

Mrs. Albert Swenson and Mrs. Andrew Nelson, of Spirit Lake, spent Thursday visiting Mrs. Johnson, of Duluth.

Mr. and Mrs. Davy enjoyed a day's outing at Ironton Thursday, the guests of Mrs. E. Payne.

Rev. Mr. Grieves held services at the school house at Smithville Wednesday evening. A large number were in attendance and all report an excellent service.

M. Amundson and family, while out riding Sunday, met with an accident. The horse becoming frightened, ran away, but fortunately Mr. Amundson and family were not injured.

W. H. Smith was doing business in the city on Monday.

Mrs. Sweet, of Mahtowa, was the guest of Mrs. A. Overton Wednesday.

Miss D. Stowe is visiting relatives at the lake this week.

Mrs. E. G. Nelson returned Tuesday after a short visit in Duluth, her grandchildren returning with her to remain for some time.

Medals will be awarded to the best marksman at the Gun club's park Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Merk and family, of West Duluth, were callers Sunday. They were the guests of Mrs. E. G. Nelson.

The Misses Carlsons, of New Duluth, were visiting friends at Smithville Tuesday.

E. W. French visited the city Thursday.

The improvements made on the road, under the supervision of A. Overton, for the city, are now completed.

W. H. Smith and family spent Wednesday visiting friends at Fond du Lac.

The people of this vicinity are greatly annoyed by tramps. Of late there has been quite a number of houses broken into, and many other similar deeds done. The old sash and door factory at Ironton and the water tank at Smithville afford them a nice rendezvous.

John Seymour and family, of West Duluth, spent Sunday with A. Overton.

There will be no services at the school house next Wednesday evening as Rev. Mr. Housten will be unable to officiate.

LOST HER "GOOD TIME."

Mrs. Howe Must Serve Her Full Sentence.

A good many people will remember Mrs. Howe, who gave a "Kirmess" here a number of years ago, in which a great many young people took part. She was variously known in various places as Mrs. Robins-Howe, Mrs. Katherine Robbins, and Mrs. E. Wallace Howe. A good many of those who remember her have doubtless surmised that she is and was a swindler of the first water. It is true, from what has transpired lately from the Hartford, Conn., county jail, where she has been engaged since August, 1894, in serving a two-year term for obtaining money under false pretenses from alumni of Harvard.

Under this sentence, with allowances for "good time," Mrs. Howe would have been released July 12. She will not, however, and the New York Herald of recent date tells how she came to lose her "good time." It seems that she has been swindling for thirty years in a variety of ways. A favorite way, apart from her fake entertainments, was to work the classmate's sister or widow game upon college alumni. Harvard preferred, some such game as that for which she was sentenced. While in jail she managed to get two letters out to her husband, who is a Harvard graduate of good parentage. In one of them she implores him to go around and work upon people's sympathies in her behalf, and in another she plans a big series of new swindles which he is to work upon Yale and Harvard graduates, a large list of whom she sent him for the purpose.

Unfortunately the letters were secured by the authorities, and not only did her plans miscarry, but her "good time" has been cut off and she will stay out her full sentence. She is wanted in other places for similar offenses, of which she is said to have perpetrated thousands.

SUNDAY TRAINS TO SPIRIT LAKE AND FOND DU LAC.

St Paul & Duluth railroad, leaving Union depot 9:30 a. m., 2:45 p. m.; returning, leave Fond du Lac 10:40 a. m., 5:40 p. m., 9:30 p. m. Excursion tickets, Union depot and City ticket office.

THREE FOR A DOLLAR.

Three what? Three charmingly executed posters in colors, drawn by W. W. Denslow. Ethel Reed and Ray Brown, will be sent free of postage to any address on receipt of one dollar. All who are afflicted with the "poster craze" will immediately embrace this rare opportunity, as but a limited number of the posters will be issued. The scarcity of a good thing enhances its value. Address George H. Heafford, general passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, Old Colony building, Chicago, Ill.

GOSSIP OF ★ ★ THE STAGE.

The Evening Sun says that, since it left New York, that famous tiara which was presented to Mme. Nordica by her operatic admirers has experienced some hard knocks. And they were not administered by the bagageman, either. Indeed, the baggage smashers have all treated the tiara with distinguished consideration. Lately Mme. Nordica has been singing in concerts at Boston, Manchester and other small New England towns. A flippant weekly journal went out of its way the other day to say that in order to give the tiara a permanent location, Mme. Nordica had had her head trepanned and the ornament riveted to her back hair. This statement was a base injustice to the New England singer, for everyone knows that Mme. Nordica makes it the rule of her life never to don the tiara before 10 o'clock in the morning. Notwithstanding this reservation, however, the other singers in the company have grown a trifle weary of looking at the aggregation of gems. At Manchester a ball was given in honor of the singers at the musical festival. Mme. Nordica, in full diamond regalia, sat in her dressing room closely guarded by two maids and a combination lock. One of the other singers happened to look in for a moment, and Mme. Nordica, as she passed her hand lovingly over the seventeen diamonds in the front row, exclaimed: "I hope this concert will finish early. You know they are giving us a ball tonight."

"Indeed," remarked the other songstress. "Why, I understood that this ball was given for all the artists, and not merely you and the tiara." This was cruel enough, goodness knows, but later on at the ball one of the contraltos got in some even finer work. "My dear Lillian," she exclaimed in a motherly tone, "don't you think it's bad policy to advertise the tiara so much and Nordica so little? If you are not careful you will attract more burglars than audiences."

Oscar Hammerstein has secured Camille D'Arville as prima donna for the Olympia Comic Opera company, which he is organizing, and wants to get Seabrooke for his principal comedian.

Voluminous and humorous Marie Dressler and tidy Virginia Earle, being both in the cast of "The Lady Slavey" at the Casino in New York, quarreled fiercely weeks ago, and the patient chroniclers of the stage told the public all about it. They were persistently frigid toward each other until the very end of the season last week. Then, just before the curtain descended for the last time they embraced and forgave. Little Miss Earle stood on her toes and presented her lips for Miss Dressler to kiss. There was a resounding smack and a hearty hug, and the audience, which understood the whole case, cheered with delight.

Up to a late hour last night the latest leading woman engaged by Nat Goodwin for his Australian tour was Blanche Walsh.

Augustin Daly has secured the American rights for "The Geisha"—pronounced gaysha—the Japanese musical comedy which is the most recent genuine London hit.

The following important information on what actors eat o' nights after the performance is furnished by the press agent of the "all-star" cast for "The Rivals." At least the New York Evening Sun says so: Joseph Jefferson is not satisfied to retire to rest at night without his favorite dish of grilled bones served piping hot, dusted with a little red pepper and washed down with a pint of his favorite brand of claret. Nat C. Goodwin finds much solace in a Welsh rabbit and a bottle of champagne so cold that it will hardly fizz. It is over this that he is at his best. William H. Crane must be refreshed after his day's labors with a tender, juicy steak, done to a turn, and rare enough for the blood to follow the knife. This is eaten with a little choice old whisky. Mrs. Drew's always English appetite is such that nothing short of a cold cut or rare roast beef and a bottle of Bass will satisfy it. The Marlowe-Tabers demand hot birds and cold bottles. The Holland brothers are partial to lamb chops and beer, not having quite reached the bottle and bird stage, while Francis Wilson's low comedy palate demands that he should become wildly hilarious every night over a huge bowl of milk and crackers. Fannie Rice likes anything to eat that is hot and anything to drink that is cold.

Tim Murphy is doing a music hall "turn," such as he did before he entered the Hoyt farces. He gives imitations of well-known actors.

George Thatcher is just 50 years old.

Frederick Robinson, best remembered for his acting of the title role of "Jim the Penman," has joined Henry Irving's company.

Percy Gaunt, who composed nearly all of the music for the Hoyt pieces, is in ill health and his friends are arranging a benefit performance to defray his expenses at a health resort.

John C. Rice denies that he is to play the book agent in "A Parlor Match" with "Old Hoss" Hoey next season. For the New York engagement, at least, Charles E. Evans will play his old part himself.

There is a bare possibility that one result of the Abbey & Grau failure will be the commencement of a receding movement in the matter of high salaries. The emoluments of the great operatic stars have attained figures that are absolutely ridiculous. It is only in the last decade that the earnings of these artists in America have been out of all proportion to those enjoyed by them in Europe. Salaries paid in Russia to prima donne used to be considered as extraordinary, but they fade into insignificance when compared to what soprani and tenori of fame now pocket in this country. Not only have salaries been forced up from hundreds to thousands of dollars per performance, but percentages—guaranteed at that—have been added. The fact that the operatic speculation of Messrs. Abbey & Grau, by itself, has been profitable is something to marvel at. It is difficult to understand how that can be when the payroll of the Metropolitan Opera house is considered.

With all due respect to the great artists, the De Reszkes, the Melbas and the Calves, their pay is beyond all rhyme and reason. If they do not come to that conclusion themselves soon they will have nothing left to fall back upon but the relatively small prices the operatic managers of London, Paris, Madrid, Naples and St. Petersburg are willing and able to pay.

The marriage of Nordica to Zoltan Dohm, the Hungarian singer, was a surprise. It was generally thought that the engagement had been broken off and the superior artist and charming woman was fancy free. Nordica's life is one of romance. Her career in opera has been upward and onward. Its glory is enhanced by the fact that her greatest triumphs have been in fields which a few years ago were believed to be barred to all but singers to the manner born. As factors in her success—in addition to artistic merits—were qualities which were essentially American. In her domestic experiences Nordica has known both sorrows and joys. The artist has won the public's applause, the woman has now the public's best wishes.

HEAVY BLOW TO ART.

The All-Star Cast in "The Rivals."

When Americans want anything they are quite prepared to pay for it. And, characteristic of the country, they want big things. There is nothing small about this glorious republic, which probably accounts for the lavish and extensive way in which its people go in for their amusements, says Edward Fales Coward in the New York World.

If it is a horse race, it must be a contest between crackajacks; if it is a prize fight, it must be a scrap between champions; if it is an opera, the cast must be made up of the highest-priced and best known singers that the musical world affords; while if it is a circus, it must be the greatest show on earth if the public taste is to be entirely satisfied.

This demand for big things undoubtedly accounts for the tremendous success of the all-star cast in "The Rivals," the tour of which company was brought to a close last night at the Fifth Avenue theater. The net profits from the thirty performances which this combination of talent gave are estimated at not less than $45,000, and that, too, in spite of the fact that the weekly salary list, exclusive of two of the principals, who were partners in the scheme, is said to have amounted to about $6000. The average receipts per performance were in the neighborhood of $5000, all of which goes to show that a dramatic circus is quite as potent in drawing money from the public as is the finest collection of trained animals, star equestrians and sensational acrobats.

Probably the majority of those who paid $5 a seat to see one of these performances of "The Rivals" were abundantly satisfied with what they got in return. Their curiosity, at least, was satisfied, and a good many undoubtedly labored under the impression that they had witnessed one of the greatest renderings of Sheridan's comedy the stage had ever known. Few complaints, at least, have been put on record, and yet if there is any value in dramatic criticism something should be said, even at this late day, against any repetition of this theatrical hippodrome.

Performances of this character have been given here before, but they have always been in the cause of deserving charity. Under such circumstances criticism would have been superfluous, if not gratuitous.

But the tour just ended was formed entirely for commercial purposes. It was a deliberate trade in theatrical names. The backers and players concerned were, in the language of the day, out for what there was in it. They demanded a premium for seats and should, therefore, have rendered in return a performance of superior excellence. The talent in the cast represented the best on the American stage.

It may be unhesitatingly set down that if there were those who believed that in paying these advanced prices they were furthering the cause of dramatic art they were bunco'ed. A harsh term, but a most fitting one. Any one who reflects upon what was paid out and what was received can come to no other conclusion.

It is impossible for anyone to contend that the performance of "The Rivals," as given by this aggregation of all stars, was either satisfying or artistic. A name, however celebrated in one field of the drama, by no means indicates an adaptability to old comedy, nor is it possible to believe that the natural and even pardonable egotism of the average star is in the brief limit of a three weeks' tour to be entirely subordinated at the shrine of true and pure art.

Team work among actors is quite as necessary for a smooth all-round performance as is unity of purpose and action among successful ball players. Tilly-ego has got to be abolished.

On the face of things it was evident that the new exponents of Sheridan's immortal creation could not hope to equal in polish or effect the impressions created by Mrs. John Drew as Mrs. Malaprop or Mr. Joseph Jefferson as Bob Acres. For years these expert players had been acting these two parts.

The value of every word, the effect of every bit of business, the inflection of each sentence had been tried and tested until each part had been so perfectly composed that every spark of legitimate humor in them had been absolutely realized. Was it natural, then, to expect that a number of players, stars though they were in their respective lines, could with a few scratch rehearsals jump into the breach and hope to truly hold their own with these old comedy giants? But even stars cannot make more out of a part than there is really in it. Its proportion to the picture is fixed by the canons of art and must never be forced. Once this fault is committed balance is lost and theatrical chaos follows. It is not to be intimated that this performance was an absolutely bad one, but "The Rivals" has certainly been infinitely better played in its entirety by actors who have not yet acquired the right to monopolize the center of the stage or the full effulgence of the calcium's dazzling rays.

But in this case it was the players, not the play, that was the thing, or those who knew that Sheridan would have risen in their jealous wrath and hurled anathemas if nothing more substantial at the perverted version presented. It is not that Sheridan is exempt from modern theatrical editing, but his story deserves to be told in a lucid fashion, and naught thereto should be added to a text which is still regarded as one of the wittiest in the library of the English stage. William Warren once said after a performance of "The Rivals," "It was very interesting, but Sheridan twenty miles away." In this case the distance was immeasurably greater.

It is unnecessary at this late day to criticise the individual work done at any considerable length. The merit of Jefferson's fighting Bob has long since been accepted, although there may be some to urge that some of the methods verge perilously close to those employed in burlesque. Mrs. Drew's Mrs. Malaprop is beyond criticism. It is all that an old comedy impersonation should be in its dignified graces, in distinction of manner and its incisive elocution. Lydia Languish, at the best, is little more than a walking lady, shallow and colorless, a role which in no sense brings out the charm, grace or depth of Julia Marlowe Taber's experienced training. Fannie Rice's Lucy is breezy and jolly, but entirely American. Robert Taber plays Capt. Absolute with manly ease and distinction, but the dash of old comedy is wanting at times, and the young actor does not always succeed in evading a certain monotony and stolidity. Francis Wilson is a born comedian and always funny, but his David is weird to the extent of grotesqueness. Nothing quite like his dialect has been heard here in a long time. E. M. Holland's Fag is entirely satisfying, and his tall brother makes some impression as Falkland, a part which is hardly recognizable in its present relation to Sheridan's plot. The modernity of W. H. Crane's Sir Anthony is certainly original. It can hardly be said that it adds very much to a play dealing with a period of over 120 years ago. The Harlem flavor of "His Wife's Father" and the Western heartiness of Senator Hannibal Rivers are not likely to efface memories of John Gilbert, William Blake or William Warren in the same part. Nat C. Goodwin, an admirable artist in his particular field of modern comedy is similarly ineffective as Sir Lucius O'Trigger. Elegance of bearing, the rollicking but gentlemanly swagger of the old-time dueling expert are singularly lacking in a personation which pales to insignificance when compared with what the late W. J. Florence accomplished in the same role.

But in the interest of the rank and file of the dramatic profession an emphatic protest must be made against further combinations of a similar kind. To make up this cast the heads of seven different companies were drawn upon. In order to make the tour possible the seasons of at least six of them were curtailed by not less than two weeks. It is a modest guess to estimate that by this over 175 persons were deprived of earning a sum total of about $20,000.

Nor was this all the damage sustained by members of the profession. The cities visited by the combination were duly billed weeks before the performances in them were given. It was, of course, known that an increased schedule of prices would prevail, and those with a limited amount of money to spend for amusements found it necessary to abstain from general theatergoing that the necessary ticket money might be saved. What the deserving stars and combinations preceding the immediate tour of this all-star aggregation lost on account of this it would be impossible to estimate. But the sum was a very considerable one. In spite, too, of the lateness of the season, the companies following Mr. Jefferson and his co-stars suffered because there was no money left for expenditure in theatergoing.

Nor does the evil end entirely there. Persons once accustomed to such combinations of remarkable names will not be satisfied when a star, supported by a competent, well-trained company, appears before them and asks for their substantial support.

Let hereafter performances of this pretentious kind be limited to the cause of charity. The net results of the present tour are those of a benefit that true lovers of the stage can reflect upon with any particular degree of comfort. Two rich actors are richer than they were, several have been paid extravagant salaries for an entirely disproportionate amount of work; the rank and file of the profession have suffered severely, and dramatic art has benefited absolutely nothing.

RINGLING DAY MONDAY.

Visit of the World's Greatest Shows Rapidly Approaching.

Ringling day is almost here. Nothing is talked of but the Ringling Bros.' World's Greatest Shows, and next Monday will be a gala day in Duluth. Those who have watched the rise and growth of this great amusement enterprise will not be surprised to learn that it is bigger, better and more colossal in all its departments than ever before, and that no other exhibition can now compare with it either in size, costliness, or in the wide diversity of its many mighty features. This great show has always been remarkable for the number of its new and unique features, as well as its vast exhibitional resources, and these characteristics are this season evidenced in many striking particulars.

The Nelson family of acrobats, the most remarkable troupe of performers the world has ever seen; the Da Comas, the greatest of all great aerial artists; the Landauer troupe of nine flexible models; the French family of expert bicyclists and grotesque roller skaters from Paris; Joseph Le Fluer, a wonderful aerial somersaultist who dives from an elevated platform, forty feet in the air, striking upon his hands; Mlle Irwin, the "human top;" Mike Rooney, William De Mott, Elena Ryland, Lizzie Rooney and a dozen other superb exponents of equestrianism, and a complete European circus of imported celebrities. A special feature of the show this season is the large number of trained animals, including three herds of performing elephants and Natalie's laughable pig circus.

A profound sensation has also been created by the beautiful introductory spectacle of the Festival of Olympus and the realistic revival of the ancient Roman sports, chariot races and gladiatorial contests. The menagerie is now the largest and most complete in the United States, and the 400 horses owned and used by the show are the finest ever seen with any exhibition. The procession which inaugurates circus day is said to be the finest ever seen in the streets of any city, and as a special concession to the public of this community and vicinity, many of the magnificently carved and gold-illuminated dens of wild beasts will be exhibited openly upon the city's thoroughfares.

The big circus will come to town tomorrow, and during the day the mammoth tents will be erected on the old show grounds, and preparations completed for Monday's gala event.

OPERA OPENS TOMORROW.

The Gonzalez Company at the Pavilion.

The Gonzalez Comic Opera company will open a summer season of comic opera at the Pavilion tomorrow afternoon in the ever popular opera "La Mascotte." The company arrived in the city over the Eastern Minnesota Thursday morning, having made the unusual journey for a theatrical company from Wheeling, W. Va., over 1000 miles to this city to give the theater-going people of Duluth a pleasant pastime for the summer evenings. This company has made an unusually strong name for itself throughout the East, having been highly endorsed by the press of Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Buffalo, Rochester, Wheeling, etc.

Lizzie Gonzalez, the prima donna, is an attractive little artist, having a beautiful voice of wide range and of excellent quality, and is, in addition, an accomplished and artistic actress. Miss Gonzalez has been prima donna for the Aborn, Spencer and Robinson Opera companies previous to the past season.

The tenor of the company is handsome little Teddy Webb, the idol of the matinee girl, and well known to Duluth theatergoers, having played in this city two seasons ago with the Frank Deshon Opera company. Miss Fannie Gonzalez is the soubrette of the company and she is said to be one of the brightest and most painstaking little soubrette on the stage today. The comedians are Ed Chapman and James Donnelly. Mr. Chapman has for the past two seasons been with Rice's "Little Christopher" at the Garden theater, New York city, and Mr. Donnelly will be remembered as one of the comedians with the Wilbur Opera company when they played at the Temple two years ago. The baritone is Adolph Mayer, whose beautiful voice was heard here two years ago with the Deshon Opera company.

Under the careful direction of Mr. Smith, the stage at the Pavilion has assumed quite an imposing appearance, and every convenience and accommodation will be provided for the patrons of this most delightful resort. There will be a large orchestra of fifteen pieces in addition to the opera company and many delightful musical entertainments are anticipated during the hot summer months.

The repertoire of the Gonzalez Opera company is an extensive one and embraces all of the popular comic operas as well as some new ones which have never been heard in Duluth. It is the intention to give two operas weekly, changing the bill Sunday and Thursday afternoons.

For the convenience of those who desire to secure their seats in advance, arrangements have been made whereby seats may be secured at Boyce's drug store up to 1 p. m. for Sunday matinees, and 6 p. m. for evening performances.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Review, Preparatory to Examinations, This Week.

The high school has been very quiet during the past week. Reviews in most of the studies have been given in preparation for the examinations which are looming up in the distance.

The seniors left Friday morning for their annual trip to the range, and the lower classes went around with sad and woeful faces, greatly missing those bright and shining examples.

Wednesday the sophomore class gave a picnic at Lester Park. Refreshments were served after which dancing was indulged in. Everyone had a most delightful time and some practical jokes were played on a few unfortunates.

Thursday, the girls' club swinging class met as usual.

Wednesday afternoon a short business meeting of the Adelphic society was held at which the following officers were elected: President, Elsy Gridley; vice president, Juanita Williams; secretary, Nellie Maginnis; corresponding secretary, Amy Bale; treasurer, Charles Applehagen; chairman of membership committee, Fred M. Gill; chairman of music committee, Amy Bale; sergeant-at-arms, Edward Herman, Arthur Talbys.

The Zenith of '96 will be out on Monday next, and will be on sale at several stores down town and at the High School. It is a very attractive book and reflects great credit upon the senior class. The price will be only a quarter and it is hoped that a large number of the books will be sold.

ABOUT PHENOL DRESSINGS.

The medical expert of the New York Herald's European edition reports several mishaps from the imprudent use of phenol dressing which were recently brought to the attention of the Paris Academie de Medecine. In one of the cases quoted in Paris a cook, after wounding her thumb in cleaning a pane of glass and after keeping it dressed two days with a 2 per cent solution of phenol, found that the second joint had become quite black; but in spite of the acute pain she continued to apply the solution. The caustic action was so rapid that four days from the beginning the second joint was black and shrunken, and subsequently dropped off. The Herald's foreign medical correspondent, commenting upon this result says:

"The only means of protecting ourselves against accidents of this nature is to be well aware that strong carbolic solutions are not only the ones to be suspected; a phenol dressing one in forty, fifty or even a hundred, kept around a finger or toe for one, two or three days may cause more or less complete mortification of the whole or part of it, at any age and without any pathological predisposition, because the fact of being shut in by an impermeable wrapping gives to the dressing a degree of caustic power which the concentration of the solution would in no way lead us to expect."

A SINGING DOG.

Wonderful Gift of a Rusty Tramp Canine.

Just a plain, plaintive, rusty-coated tramp dog, but he sings—sings songs, with andantes, and quavers, and slurs, and crescendos, and con expressiones, just like an opera tenor, says the New York Journal.

The name of this remarkable dog is Roger. He is the property of John Porter, whose home is in Rochester, N. Y. Mr. Porter is an engineer on the New York Central railroad, and one night when he was going home from the roundhouse, where he had left his engine, the dog followed him, walked into the house and curled himself up under the piano, just as if he belonged there all his life.

The family fed him, and after meals he went back under the piano again. A night or two later somebody sat down to play, and then Roger rose up to sing. The family were dumbfounded, and thought he was only howling because he didn't fancy having his slumbers disturbed. They kept the music going just to worry him, and see how long he would keep it up.

Then they discovered that he was keeping time to the accompaniment. When it ran soft and low, his voice sank almost to a growl; when the notes rose in passionate strains, Roger pointed his nose to the ceiling and sang a wild, long wail of pathos in such treble as was never heard. When it was all over, and the last note of the music had sounded he wagged his tail and walked around to each one of the company for congratulations. Then he went back to "do" his encore.

It was several months ago that the Porters first learned that they had sheltered this musical prodigy, and they and their neighbors have been having indefinite amusement with him ever since. By dint of all the practice they have given him, Roger has improved vastly. He has learned songs, and can distinguish from the first few notes of the accompaniment what selection is expected of him. And he sings them with all the feeling that a dog could have, and vastly more than some people seem capable of.

There are some songs that he refuses to sound a note of, but he never complains of a cold, or tells an expectant company that he really can't sing without his notes.

There is only one thing that will stop him in the middle of a song, and that is being laughed at. The family have learned that, and every guest who comes to hear the singing dog is forewarned not to snicker during the performance. If he is laughed at he stops short, goes back under the piano and stares contemptuously at the ill-mannered people until they go away and leave him.

HOW TO START THE THING.

Chicago Post: "You say you are thinking of running for office and want my advice?" said the old campaigner, inquiringly.

"That's it," replied the young man. "I seem to have a good opportunity to get into politics now, if I work it right, and I don't want to make any mistake that will queer me later. What ought I to do first?"

"Well, times have changed somewhat since I went into politics," returned the old campaigner, "and now I should think the first thing for you to do would be to get a good photograph of yourself taken, so as to make a good impression upon the public through the newspapers. Many a man has neglected this and been killed by his cuts."

Caution Against Carelessness.

The warning notice printed in another place in regard to forest and prairie fires, also fires set by threshing or other portable engines, is published by order of the county commissioners in compliance with section 4 of the act of April 18, 1895, for preventing forest and prairie fires. On account of the rank growth of weeds last year, the danger from fires the coming season will be great in case of very dry weather. Most people are careful, and if they have brush to burn will do it early in the spring when the ground is damp, or, if they have straw or stubble to burn, will first plow a safe fire-break around it. It is here and there some thoughtless fellow, little knowing how soon a fire may get beyond control, who starts it in dry and windy weather, or some cruiser who fails to extinguish his camp fire, or some locomotive engineer who fails to keep his spark arrester in good order; it is such people as these who cause destructive fires. It is beyond human effort to stop an extensive forest or prairie fire in dry and dangerous weather, and therefore public sentiment should be everywhere exerted to prevent the starting of such fires.

PROPOSALS FOR THE PURCHASE OF BONDS.

Notice is hereby given that the common council of the city of Duluth, Minnesota, will meet at the council chamber in the city hall, in said city of Duluth, at 7:30 o'clock in the evening of Monday, the 29th day of June, A. D. 1896, to receive and examine sealed proposals for the purchase of gold bearing coupon bonds, to be known as "Water and Light Bonds," of the said city of Duluth, to the aggregate amount of one million one hundred sixty thousand (1,160,000) dollars in denominations of one thousand (1000) dollars each, with proper interest bearing coupons attached thereto. Principal payable thirty (30) years from July 1st, 1896, interest five (5) per cent per annum, payable semi-annually. Principal and interest payable in gold at the American Exchange National Bank in the city of New York.

Said bonds to be delivered in the following manner: $200,000.00 August 1st, 1896, $100,000.00 September 1st, 1896, $200,000.00 October 1st, 1896, $200,000.00 December 1st, 1896, $100,000.00 January 1st, 1897, $100,000.00 March 1st, 1897, $100,000.00 May 1st, 1897, $100,000.00 July 1st, 1897.

The sale of said bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder at a sum not less than the par value thereof and interest accrued to date of delivery. All bids must be accompanied by a certified check or certificate of deposit on a national bank, payable to the order of the city of Duluth without conditions for the sum of ten thousand (10,000) dollars, or by a good and sufficient bond in said sum, to be approved by the common council of said city and conditioned that the party making said bid will, if awarded the sale, take the said bonds and pay for them according to the terms of such bid and this notice, and that in case of failure so to do the city of Duluth shall have the right to sue upon said bonds and to recover the full face thereof, which shall be, and in said bonds shall be stated as being the sum agreed upon as liquidated damages in case of a breach thereof.

In case any bidder furnishing said certificate of deposit or check shall take the said bonds, said sum shall be credited to him on account of payment therefor upon the delivery of the last installment of said bonds, together with interest thereon at the rate of five (5) per cent per annum from July 1st, 1896.

The right to reject any and all bids is to be reserved to the said city of Duluth.

Dated June 4, 1896.

NOTICE TO Build Sidewalks.

In accordance with a resolution of the common council of the city of Duluth, passed May 25, 1896, notice is hereby given to all owners and occupants of any and all lots or parcels of land adjoining the westerly side of Sixty-fifth avenue west between Raleigh street and Main street to construct a sidewalk in said avenue adjoining their several lots at their own proper expense and charge before June 25, 1896. Said walk to be constructed in accordance with plans and specifications on file in the office of the board of public works, and to be built to the established line and grade, or to a temporary line and grade to be given by the city engineer.

If the said owners or occupants fail to construct said walk before June 25, 1896, or if any such work or part thereof is not done in the manner prescribed by said plans and specifications, or if said walk is not built to the line and grade prescribed, then the board of public works of the city of Duluth will cause the same to be done, and the full cost and expense thereof, together with ten (10) per cent additional for cost of surveys, plans and superintendence, will be assessed against said lots.

THE BICYCLE WORLD.

Medical men say that the growing practice of carrying infants on bicycles is a dangerous one. They say that the delicate nervous system of a child may be seriously injured by riding it on a wheel over a rough city street or country road. So perilous is the custom that a long continuance of it may make a child a cripple for life.

First of all, the doctors say, there is danger in the draught to which a child ridden is peculiarly susceptible. Many adults have felt the effects of this draught, and the number of babies and small children that have suffered from it is incalculable.

Dr. Robert Safford Newton, chief medical examiner of the department of justice, of New York city, and a specialist in nervous diseases, told a World reporter all about the dangers to which babies and young children who are taken out on wheels by their enthusiastic parents are exposed.

Dr. Newton has had in his private practice two cases of children who were thus seriously injured.

One was a child 18 months old, whose parents lived in Rutherford, N. J. The mother died and the father used to ride in to business every day on his wheel, bringing the child with him perched in a basket attached to the front of the bicycle. The child was taken ill and local physicians sent the infant to Dr. Newton for examination. He discovered that it was suffering from meningitis of the brain—that is, inflammation of the membrane immediately covering the brain.

The other child was about 1 year old at the time it was taken to Dr. Newton. The history of the case showed that the child, after having ridden in the basket attachment of the bicycle for a few days, had manifested great restlessness at night, those symptoms being accompanied by fever.

It was noted shortly afterwards that the infant tossed and turned its head in one direction, and that after two or three days it semed to lose interest in what was going on. To attract the child's attention it was necessary to tap it on the hand or arm. A thorough examination revealed the fact that the child had become deaf in one ear, from which affliction it has not yet recovered.

Dr. Newton does not attribute those afflictions so much to the motion of the wheel as to the lack of support for the back of the infant.

"A support for the back of the child," he said, "is found, of course, in all baby carriages, and no one would think of holding an infant in the arms or on the knee without keeping a hand or arm on its back for support. Even the Indians, in their most primitive state, understood how necessary was that support for the child. You remember that the Indians strapped their children to a board and they grew into fine erect fellows."

"Do you then," he was asked "consider it dangerous to take small children and infants out on bicycles?"

"Decidedly," answered Dr. Newton. "No child should be taken out that way until it is 5 years old at least. Then its physical formation will have progressed to such an extent that it would be tolerably safe to take it out. A child that lives to be 5 years of age is very apt to live to maturity. The weaker go to the wall before that time, as a rule. Most children pass through the diseases incident to childhood prior to that age.

"As I have seen them," the doctor continued, "the children are simply dropped into baskets or some similar contrivance which provides no support for the back. That is a very serious mistake and should be remedied at once. If people will persist in the foolish practice of taking their children out with them on their wheels."

"And the danger—does it lie altogether in the lack of support?" was asked.

"N—o," answered the doctor slowly. "The vibratory motion of the wheel produces an irritation in the spine, which leads to diseases in the circulation, so that at one time there is too much blood and at another time not enough in that region. As a consequence a chronic congestion of the spinal cord is soon produced. Associated with this is an implication of the brain, of the nature of meningitis.

"Children under 5 years of age are particularly and peculiarly susceptible to brain trouble of this character, and many a child with a faulty family record behind it might escape if no untoward accident or disturbances were encountered. But one exposed to shock or injury, brain trouble develops, generally of an incurable type.

"This irritation of the nervous system produced by the unnatural agitation of the child's body when in transit sets up disturbances of the digestive functions, being especially severe on the reducing action of the stomach. In consequence of that there is in a short time an excessive amount of acid in the stomach. Lactic acid in particular is found floating free in the blood.

"The presence of this acid is destructive to the development and growth of the skeleton and body of the child. This condition, with which all physicians are familiar, technically is known as rickets, or the 'English disease.' A large percentage of cases of idiocy results from it, and many a fair and beautifully formed baby is in a few months converted into a stubby, ill-formed, misshapen semi-imbecile.

"There is an added danger," continued the doctor, "to the sight of the child. The accuracy and strength of a child's eyes depend on the regularity with which its vision is directed to set objects. When a child under a year old is set twisting and turning its head, by multiple and varied sights and colors, one set of optic muscles are overstrained and the child becomes what is commonly know as cross-eyed.

"There are many other dangers," said Dr. Newton, in conclusion, "to which the child is subjected when taken out on a wheel. The practice is one attended with frightful results and should be stopped at once."

This should be enough to warn every parent and the fond and doting uncles and big brothers against a repetition of what has become with them a common practice.

There are many practical bicycle experts who believe in the ultimate perfection of a unicycle, which will make the "safety" of 1896 as much out of date as the high wheel of 1876 appears to be today. One of these inventive enthusiasts is Andrew Munro, of this city, a mechanic, who has designed many accepted improvements in the bicycles of today, says the New York Journal.

His unicycle consists of a single wheel, with pneumatic tire, surmounted by a saddle which is adjusted to an upright forked rod from the axde; a peripheral frame extending from near the ground at a short distance in front of the saddle, to which are attached two small flanged friction wheels, having slotted bearings, adjustable by thumb screws, and which exert unequal pressures on the tire surface. The rear flanged wheel is adjustably adherent to the tire, first, to furnish a sustaining point of contact with the main wheel; second, to prevent the backward rotation of the peripheral frame when loaded, and, third, to insure the vertical position of the saddle support.

The front flanged wheel is free. First, acting as a brake in connection with the lever; second, acting as a flanged guide wheel, and, third, acting as an adjunct to the steering gear.

The adjustment of the saddle is arranged to permit the placing of the loadweight at a sufficient angle to the upright rod to counteract the forward gravitating movement acquired by the motion of the wheel as well as that due to frictional contact of the rear flanged wheel on the tire, and any tendency to rotate the frame forward is immediately checked by the impact of the rear wheel on the tire, as well as the depression of the forward wheel.

The peripheral rod is jointed to a small rod conecting the forward flanged wheel. The object of this is to use the small wheel both as brake and steering gear. The handle bar is firmly attached to a curved rod, which passes through a groove in the peipheral rod in front of the saddle to the upright forked rod, where it is secured by a bolt, and it extends some distance beyond, making a connection with a lateral rod which slides in a groove on an upright, and serves to depress the forward lateral friction rod, causing the flanged wheel to press upon the tire surface as a brake.

The unicycle is operated both by pedals attached to an axle and by sprocket wheel and chain, a projection of the lateral rods serving as an attachment for the sprocket bearings. Its weight, eighteen pounds, is due to an increase of twelve inches in the diameter of the wheel, and to the additional sprocket wheel and chain.

With the increased diameter and the sprocket attachment, it is predicted that a revolution will be inaugurated in present racing records, and extraordinary feats in fancy riding will be accomplished.

Midsummer heat in May makes the wheelwomen go back to the old yet ever new subject of clothes. Experienced riders say that heat affects the two extremities more than any other part of the body, says the New York Sun.

"There's just this much about it," exclaimed a little woman, rushing into an academy on one of the hot days, "if I don't get something cool to wear on my head, I'll quit riding."

"Same here," spoke up several women, mopping their brows as they came in off the road.

"It's terrible," went on No. 1. "I tried a woolen Tam O'Shanter and it was hotter than hot. Tams don't shade the eyes much, any way. Then I tried a derby. It didn't shade the face at all and felt heavy and binding somehow. Then I thought I'll hit on the right thing. It was a soft, light wool alpine hat. I enjoyed it for two or three days until a real scorcher came, and, if you'll believe me, it felt like a whole sheep on my head instead of a bit of wool. Now I've got on this sailor, and while it is light and does shade my face, there's absolutely no comfort in riding in a stiff sailor. The wind gets right under it, and you might thrust farty hatpins through it, but they won't keep it down. What to wear that is light and cool, and shades the face and won't blow off, is a mystery to me. The person who solves it will make a fortune."

"I have it," said the little girl who is always buying every new thing that can be attached to her wheeling self or her wheel. She loomed up suddenly from nobody knew where, and on her head was certainly something new in the way of a hat. It was a broad brimmed affair made of crash, about the color of grass linen. The brim was stitched and the crown was high; it could be worn straight or creased in the center like an alpine.

"Feel it," she said, passing the hat from one to another. "Light as a feather, shades the face completely, is of a color that doesn't soil easily, and if it does can be washed and is cheap; oh, my dears, so cheap that it will make you who give from $3 to $7 for a bicycle hat ashamed of yourselves. It cost $1.25, and I've been wearing it three weeks. It's never blown off once, and indeed I never remember that I have on a hat. And don't you think it's rather becoming?" she added, giving it a smash in the middle and setting it up on her head.

"Too lovely for anything," exclaimed everybody. "Where can we get them?"

"Oh, at any of the big dry goods stores from 75 cents up to $3. They come in all sizes, shapes and colors and their name is solid comfort. My motto is to keep the head and heels cool when wheeling and you'll never suffer."

"We were just talking about that when you came in," spoke up a woman, you are all quarreling and stewing over hot hats and hot leggings, I'm sitting here as cool as a cucumber, and I've made forty miles today, too."

She hopped on her wheel and pedaled around three or four times, calling out: "Did any of you ever see a woman wearing stiff leather or bulky woolen leggings or clumsy bike boots show such a neat ankle action as this?" and they all decided that they never had and never would, and wished that they, too, had the courage to pedal forth leggingless.

Horror of horrors—here comes the bicycle foot! Think of it, madam, if you persist in bicycling it will eventually affect your foot! It will swell the muscles, thicken the bones, spread the joints, enlarge the cartilaginous tissues, destroy the contour of your ankle, broaden your heel and—this is strict confidence, madam—it will make you wear a bigger shoe.

The important question before wheel women today is: Shall bicycling be abandoned and the diminutiveness of the foot preserved, or shall the health of the body be improved, even at the expense of the poor foot? This, of course, is a matter that each lady must solve for herself. It lies entirely between her conscience and her foot.

Here is how the feet are marred. The hinge joint between the tibia and fibula and astragalus is capable of very little motion, consequently the effect of continuous motion is felt mostly in the articulations of the small tarsal bones and the bones of the metatarsus. Gradually the ligaments and muscles fitting these bones become elongated and enlarged, the bones spread slightly, and the result is an abnormally developed instep and ankle. Then again, constant pressure upon the sole of the foot hardens the flexor longeus ligitorum, or long flexor of the toes, and thus destroys that pretty curve that is supposed to be the index to aristocracy.

Even the calcis, or heel bone, feels the effect of this violent exercise. The tendon of Achilles is brought permanently into action, and is greatly strengthened and enlarged, thereby rounding out a normally slim heel, much to the owners displeasure.

Each of the small bones of the tarsus and metatarsus has two or more ligamentous attachments, and there are from seventeen to twenty muscles uniting the seven bones of the tarsus with the four metatarsal bones and the fourteen phalanges; consequently, when each of these muscles is developed ever so little beyond the ordinary size it cannot help but make their owner's feet considerably out of proportion to the rest of the body.

The growing popularity of tandems, coupled machines, duplexes, "sociables" and other cycling combinations for the especial use of two has been seized upon by the cartoonist as a good subject for his pencil. Cycling shows a bicycle arranged for four on the plan of the sociable. It doesn't do to laugh too heartily at the efforts of the cartoonist, for there is often the grain of a great truth in the suggestion of a useful innovation hidden away in their grotesque lines. Many of the distorted dreams of the drawer of comic bicycle pictures have come to pass. Ten years ago a "quad" was hailed as an uproariously funny conceit. The artist dill not dare to soar to the suggestion of the "quint" or the "sextet," now in actual use.

WHERE THE JOKE CAME IN.

Pearson's Weekly: Wiggins was harassed by the possession of expensive tastes and the non-possession of means to gratify them, a combination of circumstances which, being known, made it extremely difficult for him to negotiate even a loan of 10 shillings from his associates. Parkin in particular used to congratulate himself on the fact that Wiggins had never been in his books for ever so small an amount and steadfastly purposed that he never should.

Unfortunately for Parkin, however, he was fond of a practical joke, and it was this fact that interfered with the success of his prudent determination. A number of them were sitting in the club reading room one day, when Wiggins whispered to Parkin:

"Let me have a fiver for a few minutes, till I put up a joke on one of the fellows."

Parkin, ready for fun and suspecting nothing, handed him a £5 note, and was surprised a few minutes afterward to see Wiggins using it to pay sundry little losses at cards, including a sovereign to Diggins, evidently borrowed.

"I say, Wiggins," he cried in amazement, "I thought you were going to raise a laugh on one of the fellows with that £5 note!"

"So I am," explained Wiggins. "You are the fellow!"

WHERE THE BEAVER LIVES.

Forest and Stream prints from a photograph a wood scene that should bring a far-away look into the beaver trapper's eyes the moment he sees it. There are fallen logs in a tangle of brush trees, denuded of leaves mostly, and down a slight incline, surrounded by the brush is a pool. Ripples of water are waggling the shadows of the trees, which were caused by a beaver that had just dived, alarmed by the approach of E. Hofer, who took the photograph.

No picture is so suggestive to a sportsman as one which shows where game has been. Sportsmen's papers print photographs of the tracks of deer, bears and other game, and these are more suggestive than a view of the game itself. A fox's track, leading away across the snow-covered fields, or the ripple where a fish has slapped the water's surface are full of life to a sportsman. There is a chance with such evidence before him of exercising his craft and skill.

It is related of an amateur photographer of field scenes that one day he tried to catch a running gray squirrel with his little camera. When the negative was developed he found that he had a picture of the animal's tail alone, but because of the very incompleteness of the scene he values that picture above any six in his collection.

BELVIDERE, ILLS.

AMONG THE SPORTS.

In all probability there will be a field day at Woodland Friday, in which the Minneapolis Central high school track and field team and the Duluth High School Athletic association will try conclusions. The Twin City papers speak of it as settled, but it will not be definitely determined upon until Monday, when the High School Athletic association will hold a meeting. The Minneapolis Times says:

"Manager Augst, of the Central high school, has arranged another field day to take the place of the St. Paul meet. It is with Duluth high school in Duluth, and takes place June 12. The events are: 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, 440-yard dash, one-half mile run, one-mile run, 120 and 220-yard hurdles, pole vault, running high and broad jump, hitch kick, putting shot, throwing hammer, one-fourth mile, one mile and two-mile bicycle races.

"Manager Augst will take the following men to the meet: A. E. Eddy, 100 and 440-yard dash, pole vault; H. Towler, 120 and 220-yard hurdles, running high and broad jump; A. Edwards, 120 and 220-yard hurdles; E. Connor, one-half mile and one-mile run; R. Reibel, one-fourth mile and one-half mile run; Fred Glover, putting shot and throwing hammer; Roy Stowell, one-mile run; E. Smith, pole vault, putting shot and throwing hammer; H. Plummer, 100 and 220-yard dash; Charles Stevenson, 220-yard dash; Phil Hayes, high jump; Hal Downey and R. Taylor, one-fourth mile, one-mile and two-mile bicycle race, Professor A. J. Jones captain and coach.

"The Duluth people have offered a handsome trophy cup to be contested for and gold and silver medals as prizes in each event."

With the exeception of the statement that the matter is all arranged for this is correct. The Minneapolis boys want their expenses guaranteed, including a sleeper one way, and they insist upon cutting out the walks from the list of events. In all probability their terms and their challenge will be accepted.

Among those who will enter from the Duluth high school are the following: Will Morrison, Courtland Holliday, C. Applehagen, Frank Maginnis, Ebe Geidley, Dick Close, Paul Clarkson, Walter Lafans, Chester Tibbetts, Joe Lloyd, Joseph Shannon, Reuben Smith, Harry Hudson, James Merritt and Arthur Richardson.

With the single exception of the Decoration day road race there has not been a sporting event in weeks, and before the high school field day there had been none for months. Of course there has been a sort of baseball going on, but whatever the Duluth club can do it has not been tested yet, and the games so far this season have been extremely dilapidated and devoid of interest. The Duluth boat club crews are working, but that does not make sporting events for some time yet. This is what the situation has been.

But there is a light breaking upon the horizon. In the near future there will be a sporting event that will cast everything else into the shade in point of interest. The event in question is a race between James Boyle, of Boyle Bros., better known as "Jim," and a horse owned by Stephen H. Jones. In the race Mr. Boyle is not going to walk. He would stand a poor show of winning against Stephen Jones' horse, for the nag would run right away from him. Oh, no, he is going to ride a bicycle against Mr. Jones' horse, and the race is bound to be a hot one, whoever wins.

The course is a mile straightaway on London road, from the old school house to C. M. Hill's club house. Mr. Boyle is out every day scorching over the track, and his friends say that every time he goes over it he cuts a few seconds off his time, and before the race takes place which will be in about two weeks, there is very strong grounds for hopes that he will be well within the three-minute class.

Stephen Jones' horse, which will be driven by Mr. Jones himself, is also training, and it also gets over the track without stopping long enough to let any hay grow. The race will undoubtedly be as lively as one could wish, and bets are even as to whether James Boyle or Stephen Jones' horse will be the winner.

Mr. Jones won his horse in a raffle. Ordinarily this fact, attended with such a cloud of doubt as usually hovers over horses won in raffles, would leave a doubtful tinge in the situation. But the horse formerly belonged to Abraham Bailey, and is said to have made 2:11 in Minneapolis. It has been in the barn all winter, but the training it is now undergoing, it is hoped will bring it down so that Mr. Boyle's bicycle will have no advantage over it.

The members of the boat club crews are working hard these days, and these wonderful mornings are doubling their skill and powers for not one of them passes, but the boys are out upon the bay. About ten of the members of the crews are sleeping and training at the club house.

Jimmy Murphy will give his second athletic exhibition at his gymnasium in the Howard block on Michigan street, June 14, and he expects that this one will go off without the aid of his cousin R. A. Benson, and that it will be in advance of his first show. A feature will be an eight-round glove contest between Murphy and Billy Hawkins, an old fighter, who is said to possess a good deal of merit.

Last Sunday the Spiders, of Duluth, played ball with the West Duluth club and the latter club won by a score of 20 to 14.

The sporting editor has received the following communication:

"There is believed to be a sort of an aggregation formed of grocery men in Duluth who think they can play baseball. They have been making several statements to this effect, and specially directing their slurs and innuendos toward that highly skilled and proficient body know as the Traveling Men's Baseball club. In our opinion these grocerymen are beneath the notice of experts in the national game (like the traveling men), but in order to take these upstarts down a peg and to make them know and occupy their true position in sporting circles, we hereby condescend through the columns of your valuable paper to issue a challenge to these people to play them a game of baseball, and in order that they may not be taken unawares we fix the date at Thursday, July 2. At this time we will show them that they do not know the difference between a base ball and a case of eggs. Notification of the acceptance of this challenge may be sent to H. Guger, captain of the Traveling Men's Baseball nine. Respectfully yours, "Traveling Men's B. B. C."

At the National Trotting association's session the last of the infamous Nelson-Alcryon case was recorded by the permanent reinstating of George L. Robens, who drove Alcryon. The old question of waiving distance came up again in an appeal from being ruled out for not driving all the way in a distance waived race. The decision of the judges was sustained. It would be well to understand what this means, and the wide field opened up by this decision. The mare Ada P. was ruled out because her driver after a break made no effort to win or do the best he could with his horse. That is the principle underlying the decision, and it is equally applicable in every race, so that if at any time a driver does not drive his horse out but seeks only to drop inside the distance and the judges rule the horse out the board of appeals must indorse the decision.

The decision of case 2670, having its origin at Monroe, Mich., declares it wrong to give a third horse time in a heat wherein first and second horses are set back. The judges have given Abbie Wilkes a record of 2:34½ under such circumstances, and it was ordered stricken from the record. This ruling was made even stronger by the striking out of a record given at York, Pa., to a mare named Lela. Lotta and Stanwood, who finished first and second, were set back and the original time altered from 2:34½ to 2:39½. The latter may have been a guess on the actual time made by Lela, but the official decision of the board of appeals is that "under rule 40 there should have been no time announced."

At a meeting of the stewards of the National Steeplechase association, held at Morris park on Saturday, May 30, it was unanimously decided that a two-day meeting shall be given at Morris park in the autumn. The program will include three steeplechases or hurdle races each day, the final closing for fixed events to be Sept. 15, and the entrances to all over-night races shall be free. It is also proposed to amend the rules so that 3-year-olds can run in hurdle races in August.

George Dixon, the featherweight champion, has parted from Tom O'Rourke, who managed him through all of his successes. Having also lost the other black champion, Walcott, O'Rourke is now temporarily out of a job. In Dixon and Walcott O'Rourke had a great pair of fighters. It is likely he will look around for some new pug to defeat his former proteges. Dixon is matched to fight Martin Flaherty soon. This ought to be rather easy game for the champion.

Of the Everhardt-Griffo contest Referee says: "Griffo showed he is still one of the most scientific boxers in America, if not in the world, and that he has not only science, but also a couple of good hard strong punches. Everhardt was the most surprised man in New York when the six rounds had finished. He certainly would have had the decision against him were it not for the fact that there was an agreement that in case both men were on their feet at the end of the sixth round a draw would be declared. That saved Everhardt. Griffo is all right, and if he took proper care of himself would give any of the men in his class a great battle."

While it is not generally known, yet it is a fact, that Slavin is the tallest of all the modern heavyweights. The "Sydney Cornstalk" stand six feet one and a half inches, beating Corbett, Jackson and "Jim" Hall by a full inch, and standing well over Maher and Fitzsimmons, who measure five feet eleven and three-quarter inches. Slavin is so round bodied and stout that his advantage in height is not easily apparent. Maher lacks the body that Slavin possesses, but the Irishman is gifted with wonderful strength and wiry muscularity.

A STRANGE SPECTACLE.

One of the greatest wonders of the world can be seen about a mile south of Wapakoneta, on the Lenox farm—fire and water at the same time, and all the time out of a seven-inch pipe, says the Cincinnati Tribune. Seven weeks ago the Horse Shoe Oil company, composed of citizens of this vicinity, began drilling for oil. They struck Trenton rock and went thirty feet in the sand and found a strong flow of gas.

They were 1400 feet down, and a few days afterwards the well was shot with 400 quartz of nitro glycerine, and for this gave a steady stream of clear water, rising to the height of fifteen feet through a seven-inch pipe. The well was abandoned, and the gas has been left burning. Neither it nor the water has made any sign of diminishing. The spectacle can be seen for miles and is witnessed every evening by thousands of persons. Every three-quarters of an hour the well shows the greatest life. There seems to be a collection of gas and water at the lowest extremity, and this combined comes through the seven-inch pipe. The flame shoots twenty to thirty feet into the air, and the gas spreads to the water, which also shoots the same height.

Do not be hoodwinked. Use no "just as good." Salvation Oil is what you want when in need of a good liniment.

A FLORIDA CITY.

One is Built in the Venetian Order.

Frank Hamilton Cushing, an expert attached to the bureau of ethnology, has arrived in Washington from the wilds of Florida, says the New York Journal. He brings news of an extraordinary discovery—nothing less, in fact, than the finding of a prehistoric Venice on the flowery peninsula. In the course of archaeological researches he has come upon the remains of an aboriginal city, built upon stilts, which flourished before Columbus landed. Of a certainty the town and the people who inhabited it had passed away before the first coming of the whites.

This strange city was situated not far to the south of Tampa, on the west coast. Its streets, like those of Venice, in Europe, were canals. The houses were situated upon ground that was made to a great extent of the earth dug out in the construction of the canals. They were made secure by supports of wooden piles. On the piles were built platforms, which supported huts that were probably of much the same pattern as the primitive log houses of the West.

This city of prehistoric Florida was uplifted out of a swamp. In its days, as at present, the greater part of the flowery peninsula was more or less underwater. The people, who seem to have possessed a comparatively high civilization, sought this locality as a place of residence because of the abundance of food in the neighborhood. They planted logs perpendicularly to sustain their houses, throwing up the earth around them. In no other fashion could they have set the piles securely without the aid of a pile-driver.

It will be seen that the digging of the canals served a double purpose. It created waterways for streets, and at the same time made dry land to live on. The level of the latter was raised further by accumulation of the shells of oysters and other mollusks, on which the residents fed. The beds of shells left behind are from twenty to thirty feet thick. Embedded in them are found great numbers of objects, such as pottery, implements of wood, etc.

EFFECTIVE TORPEDO.

One That Will Destroy Almost Anything.

The most murderous weapon ever devised by man is the Whitehead torpedo. Its pet name in the navy is the "steel baby." Its patent and necessary ally is the torpedo boat, says the New York Journal.

Lieut. Armstrong, of the British royal navy, in his recently published book, tells all about the fearful engines of war that would be brought into use in case of genuine war by sea and land, and the Whitehead torpedo easily ranks first among them in point of destructiveness.

The latest invention mentioned in the book, and which is still under trial, is a submarine vessel that can take a week's supply of compressed air with her down into the depths of the ocean. The ship Vulcan is described as being unique, as she is a cruiser, fighting ship, steel, iron and chemical factory, repairing shop, torpedo depot, torpedo boat carrier and floating dockyard all in one. In this work, however, the French torpedo catcher Forban is accredited with being the fastest ship in the world. She can steam thirty-six miles an hour.

In a rough sea life on a torpedo craft is trying. Dining at table is out of the question, and cooking worse than useless, and the crew has to subsist on tinned solids.

Lieut. Armstrong is of the opinion that "the next great naval war will bestow upon the torpedo and its users a halo of romance that will eclipse entirely that surrounding the gun and the ram." Some people will be inclined to exactly the contrary view, however, for the romance of the torpedo destroyer is far less picturesque than that of the old ships of war, on which the sailors fought each other from their lofty decks face to face. The new warfare would seem too scientific for romance. There would appear to be little of it in the ordinary sense of the word in the submarine vessel which sneaks up like a burglar from the sea depths to fix an infernal machine in the bottom of the unsuspecting enemy. It must be admitted, however, that the officers and seamen who handle these new weapons must be possessed of a strength and steadiness of nerve, an alertness, intelligence, skill and daring which the heroes of old could never have surpassed, and which has to be exercised under conditions of which the "water soldiers" of a generation ago could not have formed the slightest conception.

FISH IN A TREE.

T. R. Ferris, of Lagro, Wabash county, tells a strange story of the discovery of twenty-seven fine fish in a hollow tree on his farm, says the Indianapolis News. Mr. Ferris' place is on the Wabash river, and at the time of the recent freshet the river overflowed its banks and covered part of the farm. A large oak drifted out of the channel and lodged on the farm, and when the water receded Mr. Ferris went out to chop it into wood. While thus engaged, he found a lot of black bass in a hole in the tree. He took out twenty-seven bass, varying in weight from one and a half to two pounds.

Notwithstanding the existence of the new woman, weddings are as fashionable as of old. There are to be June brides in plenty this year, and trousseaux are now being planned which though they bring joy to the modistes, will later make sad the hearts of indulgent papas. To complete the modern fashionable trousseau, twice as many gowns are required as fifty years ago, says the New York Journal.

There are two distinctly different designs for wedding gowns for June brides this year. For the young woman who becomes a bride almost as soon as she is a debutante, there is the severely simple gown, while for the bride of 25 or older, and her name is legion, there is the costume much and elaborately trimmed.

The trimmed wedding gown is an English idea. This season it has been more universally adopted by the American girls than ever before. Rich, heavy white satin still remains the best material for the wedding robe.

WEDDING FANCIES.

A few young women wishing to be more novel than their sisters, have looked with favor this year on wedding gowns made of white brocaded satin. Some of the designs have been in large white feathers. Others, much more appropriate, have been brocaded in orange blossoms. But none of these brocaded satins are fashionably correct for wedding dresses.

As for the trimming of the gown, more latitude of fancy is allowed. White silk gauze, embroidered in tiny pearls, makes an exquisite trimming. Cascades of lace are much used, and deep flounces of lace, caught up here and there with sprays of orange blossoms. Many of the seams of the more elaborate bridal gowns are outlined with pearls. A beautiful and novel idea in the way of trimming is to applique real lace around the bottom of the skirt and the train, in the form of true lovers' knots. Another fancy is to hand embroider the bottom of the skirt in pearls. Artificial orange blossoms are also used to encircle the skirt. The blossoms are exceptionally beautiful this year. They are creations of white silk and chiffon, and are most delicately fashioned.

The proper train should measure from three to three and one-half yards from the waist line. Only when the veil is an heirloom should it be of lace. The average young bride should content herself with a tulle veil, and if she is wise she will fasten it to her hair in the most simple manner she can devise. This is one of the cases where simplicity enhances the good effect.

A HANDSOME GOWN.

Here is one of the most beautiful and fashionable wedding gowns of the season, which has just been finished for a June bride. The material is heavy white satin and the lace an exquisite pattern of point. The entire right side of the gown is trimmed with a graceful cascade of this lace. It not only falls over the skirt, but partially covers the right side of the bodice. Here and there it is caught with a spray of orange blossoms. A vine of these wedding flowers outlines the edge of the skirt, including the train and a cluster is used to fasten the veil to the hair.

The left side of the skirt is perfectly plain, showing to advantage the exquisite quality of the satin. The bodice is made with a soft, shirred vest of white chiffon, with a point lace rever at the left side. Having the sides of the bodice different is one of this season's new effects.

The collar is, of course, a high standing affair, but, being made of shirred chiffon, it is soft and graceful. It is finished with a tiny frill of point lace.

The sleeves are of satin, the puff ends at the elbow; but below this the satin is a glistening, wrinkled mass until it reaches the wrist. Here it is finished with a fall of lace, caught back with a spray of orange blossoms.

With this bridal gown white gloves and white satin slippers are to be worn. Over the toes of the slippers a portion of the point lace is appliqued, making them unlike other bridal slippers. The veil is of tulle, four and a half yards long.

ATTENDANTS' DRESSES.

The bride will be attended by four bridesmaids and a maid of honor. The gowns for the attending maids have all been designed alike. They are made of white mousseline de soie, each one over a different colored silk.

The skirts are very full, and are laid in groups of fine tucks, which reach seven inches below the waist line. Beyond the tucks the skirts are trimmed with bands of Valenciennes lace insertion. The bands are so crossed that they have much the effect of a lattice work.

The bodices are made of the mousseline, arranged in groups of tucks, alternating with bands of the lace insertion. Over the corsage is a deep frill of the mousseline, edged with lace. Both the corselet and stock collar are of taffeta, matching in color the slip over which the gown is made.

The sleeves reach just below the elbow, where they are joined by long, white gloves. They are made of the mousseline and trimmed with bands of the lace insertion. Just above the elbow the mousseline is tucked and then finishes with a frill. The bertha which falls over the corsage also extends over the sleeve.

The hats are large affairs, worn well over the face and made of white Neapolitan straw. They are trimmed with cloud-like loops of the mousseline, soft coils of tulle and two airy white paradise plumes. At the back, where the hat turns up, it is banked with flowers like those which form the bouquet carried by that particular maid.

A TRAVELING DRESS.

The going-away dress of this bride is exceptionally novel and beautiful. It is made of light tan-color canvas over a chameleon Gro de Londa silk, which shows varying shades of violet, green, pink and mauve.

The Paquin skirt is made with the selvage in evidence up the left side. It is entirely separate from the lining, except at the waist line, and is perfectly plain.

The round bodice has a deep corselet of black satin, which appears to be wound about the figure. There is also a yoke made of the chameleon-tinted silk, finely tucked and cut in tabs which fall over the corsage. Just below the tabs a glimpse is caught of a frill of embroidered batiste.

The sleeves are conspicuously smaller than the present style. They are of silk and are tucked from the wrist to the elbow, where they form a small puff which reaches to the shoulder.

The most remarkable part of this costume is the sleeveless jacket worn with it. This jacket is made of the canvas, reaches just below the waist line, and is lined with the changeable silk. It does not come together in front, but opens to show the beauty of the bodice. Over the bust a narrow canvas strap connects the two sides of the jacket. Tab revers also add to its novelty, and two accordion-plaited silk capes which stand out well over the shoulders.

FOR THE SEASHORE.

BOSTON FANCIES.

Vanity Fair Discourses About Dress Matters.

Although this is a little too early to predict much with regard to hats and bonnets for the summer, there is, however, an alpine hat worn this spring which is new and much more universally becoming than the ones we have become used to in past seasons. The fault with the alpine hat usually is that it is too narrow for most faces, and looks almost ridiculous perched on the top of some heads. The new one, however, is much more becoming, having, instead of a wing at one side, a wing and rosette at each side, filling out the space and making the width of the hat to correspond to the width of the face, says "Vanity Fair" in the Boston Beacon.

The fashions this spring admit of making over gowns better than for some seasons. And in making over, please remember that old goods should be thoroughly renovated and pressed before being made up again. To do this properly, rip up your goods, using a penknife or small pointed scissors, pick out the threads and shake each piece. Brush woolen goods with a whisk, but silk is dusted by rubbing it with a silk handkerchief or piece of soft flannel. It will answer to simply shake cotton goods. But the pressing must be done with great care; and if you patronize the dyer, be sure the goods are thoroughly pressed. Half the dyeing establishments send goods home with dreadful wrinkles. If your goods are black, remove the grease spots with naphtha, if you can't get anything better. Remember that this fluid is very explosive when exposed to either light or fire.

Make a lather of warm soapsuds, using a good soap and a teaspoonful of borax to every two qparts of water. Dip the goods up and down, and wash between the hands; then wring gently and pat partly dry; hang in the shade, and when nearly dry iron on the wrong side with a moderately warm iron. Always iron until the material is thoroughly dry. Never rub a fabric that is to be made over on the washboard, nor wring it tightly. Wash alpaca in the same manner, adding a little gum arabic to the rinsing water. If the black goods are of a rusty color, restore them by sponging with ammonia and alcohol. Always use a piece of the same material or one near to it to sponge with. But, in any case, be sure you do it thoroughly and nicely; otherwise better not do it at all.

You can put a rosette as big as your head at the back of your neck if you want to. I saw one at the theater the other evening. And how do you suppose she got her cape on over it, and what happens if anyone should hug her?

Linen color and grass linen effects are as much the vogue this year as ever.

SHIRT WAIST LAUNDRY.

Make up your mind first, whether you are going to put on a shirt waist and a stiff collar before you say how soon you will be ready.

In a late divorce case, the husband was the plaintiff and urged collar buttons.

It was hard enough on the average girl, when shirt waists were made with stiff collars all safely sewed on. But these detachable and adjustable affairs are driving most of us mad. I know one girl who makes a point of a clean collar for business in the morning, who says she puts hers on at night and "sits up."

The most comfortable compromise on the stiff adjustable collar is the fitted pique band, with a wash tie attached to it. The effect is almost as formal as that of a stiff collar, and oh, but it is a jolly sight more comfortable. And it goes on so much more easily, and no tie to "slip under," and no front studs to get the best of, and no starch to saw off your chin.

SWEET PARASOLS.

Aren't parasols just too sweet this season? And won't you be in a mess, when it comes to getting away this summer, and not one of your trunks will take even the smallest of your collection of the sweet things?

Parasols with the ribs tipped with silver are very pretty when the silver is nice and fresh, but not so pretty when it turns black, which it does almost at once.

Side-combs are not out of style. They are simply not so conspicuously worn as they used to be.

You can spend a lot of money if you like on a fan, but, after all, a little make-believe one that is planned to harmonize artistically with your gown is just as pretty, and will wear better.

The pompadour has been much worn, but it has not dislodged the fancy we have all acquired for the central "part." Do you remember how long it took us to realize that the style was becoming to almost everyone?

There is such a burst of Carmens lately that I should not wonder a bit if the tumble-down-comb-in-anywhere style of hair dressing would begin to appear.

YOUR FOOTWEAR.

No one wears high heels any more. But the general finish of shoes is more graceful and becoming to the shape of the foot than it used to be. Also the average woman is more careful than she used to be about shoes. It is a fact that these pairs of shoes worn in change with each other will outlast by more than three times, three pairs worn in succession.

They do say that we will fasten our slippers this season by cross pieces of ribbon over the instep. After all, what's the good of a pretty foot if you don't make trouble with it?

Stocking do come that are woven eight or ten layers thick at the instep. What for now, I wonder?

Fancy sweaters in variegated weaves and colors are hideously unbecoming and vulgar. The perfectly simple heavy plain ones suit immensely well certain styles of women.

Jewelry seems to be coming into favor again, and all sorts of trinkets are in the shops; the old-time "set of jewelry" is all out, however.

YACHTS AND TENNIS.

Season is Now Fully Open With Pretty Effects.

Yachting clothes are just now occupying the attention of some of our smartest dressmakers. June 1 sees the yachting season in full blast, and, if one is to judge from the vast number of fine costumes being made for this use alone, all the world and its sister will take to the water this summer, says Nina Fitch in her fashion letter.

The shops, too, are showing some stunning sea toilets, which seem extremely seam-strapping, and however simple or whatever its texture, a white vest will add a look of elegance while keeping within the bounds of yacht requirements.

TIDY TRIMMINGS.

Then of course there are many varieties of blue serge and twilled flannel, that with white or red braids and a big sailor collar in either color can be made at home into effective water rigs at small cost.

A clever trick of yachtswomen who are under the average height and know a thing or two, is to buy ready-made sailor suits in these materials from the furnishers of children's wear. So purchased, a yachting suit of extreme good looks can be had for $20, and without the nuisance of the numerous tryings-on. For slight undersized figures, a misses' dress for 17 years will be found to give entire satisfaction.

Some of the imported yachting toilets shown by the dressmakers are very beautiful. Several have been brought over for special buyers, and so one learned incidentally that Mrs. George Gould is much given to close-fitting pique vests, and has a preference for blue duck. A delightful model in sapphire-blue mohair was called the "Consuello," and of course had been suggested by a yachting costume lately made for the pretty duchess of Marlborough. The design of this was a narrowish skirt with strapped seams, and a blazer coat to be worn over the white pongee shirt waist. This hung in soft creamy folds that suggested very pleasant possibilities in the way of comfort, and which even the sight of a stiff linen collar and cuffs like boards could not dispel.

Since she has become an English subject the young duchess, it seems, has taken to the English style of dress like a duck to water.

She affects high, hard collars, little sailor hats and mannish bow ties.

SEA SYMPHONIES.

Among the costumes for the nobodies there were some delightful sea symphonies in sail cloth, duck and bunting shown by a well-known Fifth avenue house.

Sail cloth is a coarse duck with something of the uneven knotted weave of the canvas used for boat sails. It is no heavier in weight than ordinary duck, but it is not sufficiently light to admit of anything but the simplest models.

A white sail cloth gown was one of the yachting designs shown by the Fifth avenue house, and is an excellent one to follow. A trim decoration of white crochet buttons and cord loops ornaments the skirt and jacket. With the latter a very open cut of the neck and low set of the collar is a graceful feature for slight shoulders, and if preferred, instead of the more trying shirt waist, a fluffy mull vest might be worn underneath.

A costume in robin's egg blue sail cloth was lined throughout with white taffeta silk and trimmed with point honiton braid.

Five rows of this marked the top of the hem on the short flared skirt and there was a blouse with a deep girdle effect arranged in the same way.

Loose sleeves with flaring matelot cuffs were made only three-quarters length, and there was the sweetest arrangement of the braid over the breast of the blouse. This fastened at the left side of the shoulder and under the left arm, a big ship in full sail being designed in the braid over the chest.

That this rig cost a pretty penny goes without saying. But it was lovely enough to be forgiven for the expense; and one could well picture how charming some dainty sailor girl would look in it.

For figures that need to be slightened in effect dark blue bunting with stitching in white or colored silk makes a smart yachting get up.

Black bunting could also be used, and if the wearer is in half mourning an English waistcoat in black and white pique would be a trim detail.

DESIGNS AND PATTERNS.

As to the general shaping of yachting gowns there is a tendency with all of the blouses to run in the usual low necks and broad sailor collars.

Others, however, will be provided with a high braid-trimmed guimpe, while a shirt waist or sweater will be worn under the box coats.

Among the new adjuncts there are some plain parasols in cool green taffeta silk that may be advised for sensitive eyes, and since green goes with everything nowadays, the question of matching a color need not be thought of.

Tiny handkerchiefs of linen in plain colors, red, dark blue and orange, will be considered cocky details with the new yachting gowns.

In planning her tennis suit the summer girls also need to be sparing in furbelows.

With all out-door sports the rage there has been a tremendous revival of interest in tennis, and the new costumes for this sport show admirable reforms.

Skirts are made no longer than ankle length, and the despised bloomers, in white, black or ecru pongee—or perhaps wash-silk or summer flannel—have entirely taken the place of petticoats.

The bodice portion of the suit is either in the shape of loose coat held into the waist at the back with a narrow leather belt, or else an easy blouse that admits of even more freedom. Then if the tennis girl wants to be fixy at all, she can can take it out in a simply-trimmed sailor hat, instead of a plain sort exacted for yachting.

FIGURED GOODS.

As to tennis materials the bourette-striped and figured flannels are perhaps the most suitable and effective. A white flannel patterned all over with red and blue tennis symbols may also be had by the yard, and with this a big collar and bands in a plain color are a pleasing relief.

Some of the tennis skirts are provided with a sort of overskirt drapery which loops up into a long pocket for holding the balls. Others have the ball pockets at the ensd of a long broad sash which may be made of a bright soft silk, and finished with a fluffy bunch at the gathered ends.

Tennis gloves are of wash leather as are also those most in favor for yachting.

The rubber soled canvas shoes, however, are no longer seen only in white. There are some smart red and blue ones that are very dashing, and certain shades of ecru and brown, with yellow leather bands will be found most useful.

Colored stockings will be in high favor, but those for a figured dress should be only in a solid tint.

But if an inexpensive receipt for a tennis get-up is wanted, here is the best one in the world:

To a short skirt of dark blue serge add a dainty shirt waist in pale pink or apple-green cotton, with stiff collar and cuffs of the same. Mix with this a Panama sailor hat with a band of white satin ribbon and a bunch of green and white clover blooms at the left. Finally season with white wash leather gloves, dark blue canvas shoes and blue stockings, and count up the result. Fifteen dollars would cover the whole thing.

And a tennis girl so arrayed would have the added joy of knowing that she was ready at any moment for her beloved wheel.

REDFERN'S LATEST.

The Great Ladies' Tailor Talks About Gowns.

If my readers are not tired of a subject I have already said much about in my last letter, there still remains a couple of really elegant costumes which my limited space did not allow of mentioning, says a fashion gossiper in the Boston Beacon. Some of these gowns are really so beautiful that the most elaborate description or even sketches can hardly do justice to them. The mention of a yachting dress generally conveys to our minds a tailor-made garment, and be they in linen or serge, it is always a matter of the utmost importance that they fit to perfection, and yet fit is not everything (this sounds rather contradictory, but it is not). The skirt must of the exact width and form requisite for ease of movement. It must be well shaped on the hips, the fulness no longer at the sides, but well to the back.

And the coat (supposing it be a coat and skirt costume)! How difficult it is to obtain a really elegant jacket. I can honestly say I know of no house like

A JAUNTY SAILOR HAT.

Redfern's for turning out a tailor suit with that particular jacket. Their coats are perfection in every sense of the word. The most awkward figure looks well in them, and a fine figured woman may be excused if she takes a still further pleasure in her appearance when she dons a Redfern suit, knowing she is gowned to advantage.

TWO NEW FANCIES.

A charming novelty in the shape of a coat suitable to be worn with almost any skirt, but looking particularly well with white, is composed of scarlet military cloth, handsomely braided in gold tinsel. The sleeves are a great feature. They are moderately full and are slashed to represent the old-timed under sleeves of the court ladies of the fifteenth century. This coat was designed for yachting specially, and has proved one of the greatest attractions of the season so far. The design, I may add, belongs exclusively to Redfern.

Another costume shows a delightful little sleeveless coat, appropriate to wear over a smart little dress. The former garment in this case is composed of dark green silk with white satin collar, richly embroidered in gold thick cord round the scolloped edges, while the dress in this instance is made of the new shot flowered silk, which is so delightfully handsome in itself that it would seem a farce to attempt to add to its beauty by trimming of any sort. A detail in dressing that does not always get half the attention it should, is the neck band. When we take our walks abroad we persist in ruffling our necks in chiffon, with tulle and with net. These are, perhaps, not very becoming, but fashion has ordained their wear. Our necks, indeed, rival in circumference our waists, we compress one and extend the other in a totally illogical manner. To be really becoming the neck should be neat, and certainly should be decorated, if it has to be at all, to look at least a little smaller than the waist; if one would have any pretensions to beauty at all. This is why a linen collar is becoming to almost everyone.

SOME SUMMER GOWNS.

Great Variety Offered to the Women of Taste.

Summer fashions blossom out in a bewildering variety of pretty light colors and unique combinations with the first warm days of May, and this season is exceptional in the charming diversity of detail which it offers. The only noticeable change in the outlines of fashion is seen in the sleeves; so it is effect, peculiar contrasts of color and the various designs in decoration which furnishes the new and attractive points in dress, says the New York Sun.

Continuous change seems to be the charm of all things fashionable just at present, and with so much from which to choose and some measure of discriminating perception a woman cannot fail to be up to date, even though her dress allowance is limited. It does not matter so much what she wears as how she wears it and the taste she displays. Simple gowns, well fitted, are decidedly in the lead among the most distinguished people, and just the right touch of color in the vest and belt will make a plain gown very striking. It is the soft, delicate colorings which are the most attractive in summer gowns, and white alpaca made up with waists of cream batiste, embroidered in sprays of pale pink, blue and gold, over white silk, is one of the new combinations. One white alpaca dress which is considered very stylish is quite plain, with only a soft white chiffon vest, and a wide belt of gold-colored satin for trimming. This season's materials, with so many subdued tints blending in together in gauze and grenadine backgrounds, make ideal summer gowns, with a lining of changeable silk to add another but harmonious color to the effect.

ABOUT SILK CANVAS.

Silk canvas, which is very much like grenadine, is one of the favorite dress materials, and then there are all sorts of Persian patterned crinkled gauzes and thin silks for odd bodices, which are worn with both silk and wool skirts. Plain silks in all-over designs of many colors are also much used for this purpose, and one pretty model, worn with an ecru canvas skirt, is in shades of green, pink and ecru, made quite plain with two plaits, which commence at the shoulder and meet at the waist line on either side of the back, and a full front. A wide wrinkled belt of black satin ribbon, fastened with a bow at one side of the front, finishes the bottom, and a vest front of a wide lace insertion over white silk, and a ruffle of white chiffon on either edge, with a pale blue taffeta ribbon collar and bow is the pretty addition which can be worn or not, as you will. It makes the bodice do double service, for without this it is simple enough for a traveling gown. The chiffon ruffles are made from the selvage edge, with a little double heading for a finish.

Many colors in one costume, if they are subdued, are the rule this season, but vivid colors of any sort are not the correct thing if you would be fashionably dressed. Bright silks which were worn last season are made over with a covering of black or dark colored net, grenadine, canvas or gauze to soften the effect. The novelties in net and embroidery for entire waists for such gowns and others of silk and wool are something exquisite. There is no end of patterns in white and cream lace applique, in white and black net, with jet and silver sequins, steel beads and colored silks worked in, and ecru, cream and white batiste embroideries, which vary in price between $2 and $20 a yard. Wide collars, revers, vests, berthas and epaulets are also made of these fancy fabrics. Sheer ecru linen batiste, showing an embroidery of colored silks and gold thread or an applique of cream lace, is a very popular material for blouse vests to be worn with open coats, and for collars and waists as well.

SOME NATTY NECKWEAR.

All sorts of exquisite little turn-over collars and cuffs of white batiste and lace, which give such a dainty touch to the gown, are worn, and the latest of these is a narrow band, not more than an inch wide, made of linen batiste with a tiny lace edge turned over a plain stock collar. It is really two bands with the corners meeting in front and back. Wide white organdie collars trimmed with Valenciennes lace are a finish for gingham dresses, and Valenciennes lace and insertion figure largely in the decoration of all thin gowns this season. Insertion is used to outline the seams in the skirt which the muslin cut out underneath, set in around the bottom in straight lines or points to head the ruffles, and in the full waist and sleeves to form a plaid.

THE YACHTING GIRL OF '96.

The special feature of the latest skirts is the trimming, and many of them are trimmed with flat bands of velvet or silk, or with lace insertion and applique lace set on the seams to frame the front beneath, and around the bottom above the hems. A large double bow knot of lace insertion arranged on one side of the skirt of a pale blue China crape, which is cut out underneath, is a novel trimming. A black canvas gown has three bands of velvet, headed by a narrow ruche of black lace all around the bottom. Ruches of all sorts are used for dress trimmings, and they are made of lace, net, chiffon or silk in various widths to suit their purpose. Tiny ruches of silk or lace outline the skirt seams, and wider ruches trim the bottom, finish the sleeve epaulets and adorn many a little cape. Another skirt trimming, which is an old-time fashion revived, is a heavy cord set in rows and rows of tucks around the skirt. If it is true that tendency rules in fashion, then we may surely expect the trimmed skirt in all its ruffled and decorated perfection. One of the new fancies for skirt trimming is battlement-shaped pieces cut out around the bottom and trimmed with narrow braid.

A FAWN-COLORED GOWN.

A pretty example of this is a fawn-colored canvas gown, with an underskirt of green glace silk trimmed with a ruffle of ecru lace, which fills in between the open spaces of the upper skirt trimming. The bodice of this gown is of the silk, fitted closely, and horizontal rows of braid are sewn on from the waist line to the shoulders, which are covered by a cape-like collar of canvas cut out in the same squares on the edge and trimmed around with braid to match the skirt. The sleeves of the silk are close fitting, with short puffs of canvas at the top. Another novel skirt trimming is the introduction of gussets around the bottom to widen the skirt, and trimmed around with tiny ruches of silk or lace. Stole ends of lace down either side of the skirt are a popular decoration for dressy gowns.

The variety in bodice trimming is beyond any complete description, for new ideas and combinations are constantly appearing. A rose pink glace silk flecked with white is tucked across back and front to form a yoke, and a frill of cream lace falls from the lower one to meet a corselet belt of black satin. A tabbed basque extends across the back, and the tops of the sleeves are tucked to match the yoke. This is a very youthful bodice, and so simple that any one can make it. Inch-wide tucks make the prettiest effect. Transparent yokes of yellow lace insertion alternated with puffs and ruffles of white chiffon, trimmed round with chiffon and lace frills, and finished with a chiffon collar, are used in pale blue or pink and white striped silk waists, and pretty evening bodices are made of colored tulle. A very pretty one is of pink tulle over white silk, almost covered by a coat-like arrangement of blond net and lace, which forms a deep sailor collar and the frilled basque. The sleeves are of white chine silk flowered with pink. A blouse waist of embroidered grass lawn made over pale green silk is trimmed with open-work insertion and shows the new close sleeves beneath a short full frill of embroidery. Another model is carried out in white chiffon over yellow silk, with bretelles of guipure which has medallions of palmed lawn in a floral design. Frills of plaited chiffon edged with Mechlin lace trim the front and sleeves, which are of chiffon decked with lawn applique.

FOULARD SILK.

Foulard silk will be worn very generally this summer, and it quite fills the place of China silk, since it is thin, cool, and serviceable. The gloss, too, makes it specially desirable from a fashionable point of view. It comes in large showy patterns of white on a dark blue ground and in all sorts of Dresden effects on a light ground, which make the daintiest kind of summer dresses. One of these is in pale pink, spotted and striped, with tiny rosebuds. The skirt is gathered into a band of fine muslin guipure, which trims either side of the skirt. The bodice has a folded corselet made with the stripes running around. Fichu revers complete this, and the chemisette vest is of spotted net over pink silk. Guipure epaulets fall over the ruffled sleeves, and these, like the bands in the skirt, are edged with narrow butter-colored lace. A pretty garden party gown is of pale blue figured organdie over blue silk and trimmed with ecru lace and blue satin ribbons. Another dress for the same use is of ballstrape chine silk, with very full skirt gathered at the waist. The bodice has deep revers of cream satin, spangled, and edged with a chiffon ruche, a chiffon vest, and full sleeves with chiffon ruffles. A little cape of the same silk, lined with white, is worn with this, tied in front with white ribbon. The flowered silk waist, with a flounce yoke and vest made of alternate rows of lace insertion and white batiste, has cravat ends of silk, edged with lace and insertion, up the inside of the sleeves. A white alpaca gown shows the novel idea of a waist, cuffs, and epaulets of grass lawn, embroidered in Oriental colors and a wide-fitted belt of white satin fastened with paste buckles. The neck and wrists are finished with bows of black and white striped ribbon. Still another garden party dress is of broche canvas in heliotrope and green, with coat and sleeves of fine green cloth edged with gold braid. The double puff in the sleeves is of canvas, and the full front is of India muslin and lace.

SOME FASHION NOTES.

The special feature of the new summer fabrics is the transparent effect, and grenadine, gauze, crepe de chine, etamine, and canvas are all the vogue. Etamine was in fashion ten years ago, and quite as popular then as crepon last year.

Wool canvas varies in texture, as it is woven sometimes evenly of fine, soft threads, and again it is coarse and stiff. Black canvas gowns are made over white and bright shades of red and green silks, while all the shade of tan are made up over the same bright colors. The coarse and open varieties resemble the canvas on which patterns in wool were wrought some time ago, and this quality is now used for wide belts, embroidered in dull-colored silk and imitation jewel beads.

Leather belts are embroidered with gold and silver beads, and white kid belts, set with blue enamel traced with gold, are the latest fancy. Ordinary webbing is used for a foundation for elaborate embroidery and jeweled decoration.

Embroideries of most any description are a feature of dress trimmings this season, and iridescent beads, which look so much like opals, play a conspicuous part in the mixtures. Tiny shells in light pink and blue are introduced into the embroideries, and pallettes and jewels of some sort appear on most everything—hats, bonnets, gowns and capes alike.

Among the new passementeries is one made of alternate squares of chine silk, and canvas edged with Honiton braid and studded with pailletties. Another is made of macrame thread and jetted borders, and satin or silk forms flowers and leaves worked around with jet in a net foundation.

Beautiful designs in Louis XVI trimmings are broad bands of black lisse, with irregular or straight edges covered with natural tinted flowers and renaissance lace scrolls in white.

Gorgeous buttons and fancy braids carry out the scheme of decoration still further. One of the novelties in the latter variety is a black and gold princess braid mixed with platinum and gold tinsel, and still more novel is a net galon with leaves of stamped leather bordered with colored beads.

The return of the balayeuse and the rumor that the skirts of street dresses are to be shortened are slight, but sure indications that the fullness is to diminish. Ruches of silk appear inside many of the handsome street dresses, and evening gowns have ruffles of lace and chiffon to keep the skirt out at the bottom.

Old-fashioned silk brocade is used for waistcoats, revers and cuffs, and white moire silk appears in this guise on white alpaca gowns.

Tulle and chiffon, with a satin edge, are sold by the hundred yards for neck ruches and frillings on capes, parasols and gowns.

Pearl, yellow and pink tan shades are the correct colors in gloves.

White gowns are to be worn more than ever this season for informal as well as dressy occasions, and these are accompanied by white hats, shoes and parasols.

Vandyke collars of ecru and white batiste, trimmed with lace and insertion, are made to wear over thin summer gowns.

WITCHES IN EGG SHELLS.

Cleveland World: When Napoleon III was approaching sovereignty he asked a judicious friend to observe him carefully for a week, and to point out to him anything that he did which was not according to the severest code of the manners of a well-bred man.

At the end of the week there was only one practice which his friend had noticed. The emperor after eating a boiled egg invariably thrust his spoon through it.

Whence this practice has arisen, at one time not uncommon, it is difficult to say. Some date it from a very early period, and assume that it was done originally in order to prevent witches sailing in the egg shells.

A SUITABLE COSTUME.

Washington Star: "It was your sign that reassured me," he said to the clerk in the store where they sell men's clothing of all kinds. "I have passed a dozen 'gents' furnishing stores' to get to you."

"I am glad that we are so favorably considered."

"It was your announcement that won me, you call yourself 'an adviser in gentlemen's apparel,' and what I want now more than anything else is advice."

"We can show you what is absolutely correct in every department of your attire."

"That isn't what I want. It is a matter of moral courage. Do you think that in this climate, where the weather changes so often and so much, a man would be justified in disregarding the comment of the untutored mob, and dressing himself in such a way as to insure seasonableness?"

"Certainly," was the answer. "Seasonableness is the first requisite of correct attire."

"All right. That relieves my mind and I'll get right down to business as a purchaser. Gimme a straw hat and a fur-lined overcoat."

JOYS OF MATERNITY.

VIGOROUS MOTHERS AND STURDY CHILDREN ADMIRED.

Why so Many Women Are Childless—A Problem That Has Puzzled Physicians for Centuries.

Reproduction is a law of nature, and no picture of joy and happiness can equal that of the vigorous mother and her sturdy child.

Nature makes but few mistakes, and every thoughtful person must admit that a cause exists, why so many women are childless.

The subject baffles the theories of physicians. Such cases are curable nine times out of ten, as evidenced by thousands of letters on file at Mrs. Pinkham's office. Many a darling baby owes its existence to Mrs. Pinkham's advice and the Vegetable Compound. This is not to be wondered at when such testimony as the following explains itself:

"I have taken three bottles of your Vegetable Compound, one package of Sanative Wash, one box of Liver Pills; and now I have a dear little babe four weeks old, and I am well. I have to thank you for this.

"I have spent $200.00 for doctor's bills without obtaining any relief. For my cure I only spent $5.00.

"I had been a victim of female troubles in their worst form; suffered untold agonies every month; had to stay in bed, and have poultices applied, and then could not stand the pain.

"My physician told me if I became pregnant I would die. I had bladder trouble, itching, backache, catarrh of the stomach, hysteria and heart trouble, fainting spells and leucorrhœa. Can you wonder that I sing the praises of a medicine that has cured me of all these ills?"—Mrs. Geo. C. Kirchner, 972 Belmont Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

WEDDING RINGS.

Must the Symbol Soon Be Left Out?

For 2000 years, ever since the Romans plighted their troth with a tiny iron band, the magic circlet has kept its hold upon the world, but will that hold be as firm in the future? It must be remembered that, after all, the ring is nothing more than a symbol, that the putting on of a ring is not necessary to complete the legal contract of marriage, says Pearson's Weekly.

Nor are signs wanting that its star is already on the wane. The engagement ring may be regarded as doomed, since Princess May substituted an engagement bracelet for the conventional ring of betrothal. She has not, indeed, declined the "mystic symbol of the union of hearts" presented by the Welch people to the duke of York, but the refusal of the engagement ring might quite fairly be regarded as the first step in the path toward the abolition of its more important successor.

There is yet another argument against the wedding ring. The ring was adopted as the outward and visible sign of power and authority. In the olden days, when messages were sent by word of mouth, it was the custom, in order to prove the authenticity of the bearer, to intrust him with the signet ring of the sender.

Thus, when a man took unto himself a wife, whom he placed at the head of his household, that delegated authority was made visible to the world by conferring upon her the all-potent ring—the only distinction being that the woman wore her ring on the left hand, as being the inferior hand of the two, while the man, as lord and master, carried his upon the right or superior hand.

In a day, therefore, when the woman claims the authority in her own right and scornfully repudiates the idea of being "delegated," it would be only consistent for her to refuse the symbol. If, indeed, there should be a conferring of rings at all, it would be more in keeping with the man to receive it, since the spirit of the age is all in favor of his being the delegated authority.

It is not generally known that in all there are about twenty-four different makes of rings and three qualities of gold. The cheap quality is in favor with the Scotch and Irish, while in the north of England heavy rings are in demand. Of the two styles of ring—the round and the broad sort—the popular taste most approves the latter as being the most showy. The wants of the United Kingdom in this respect are supplied, for the most part, by Birmingham, where the trade is so brisk that it is no uncommon thing for one establishment to turn out batches of from sixty to seventy dozen a week, and, so far as we can see at present there seems no prospect of any decay in their thriving trade.

FOOLED BY A CONJUROR.

A well-known American prestidigitator was a passenger recently on one of the big Atlantic liners, homeward bound from England, says the New York Sun. He is a good-natured conjuror, and many times in the smoking room he exhibited his skill in performing tricks for the amusement of the other passengers. One of the frequenters of the smoking room was an Englishman, who seemed to be unable to get enough of the conjuror's tricks. Almost every time the American entered the room the Englishman demanded something more, and usually the American complied. The conjuror took part in the ship's concert and did a lot of surprising things with cards. The Englishman was in a front seat and followed the performance with absorbed interest. But the next morning when the American walked into the smoking room after breakfast the Englishman repeated his old demands. The conjuror picked up from one of the little tables a pack of cards, which had been used in the whist game of the evening before. He handed it to the Englishman and said:

"Pick out a card."

The Englishman ran over the pack and made mental notes of his selection.

"Shuffle them up," commanded the prestidigitator.

The Englishman shuffled the cards severely, cut, and shuffled again. Then the conjurer shuffled them. After that he laid them out, one by one, in several little piles. The Englishman watched him with rapt attention. The conjurer gathered up the little piles and gave the pack to the Englishman again.

"Shuffle them again," he said.

The Englishman did it, and then the conjurer picked up the pack and said:

"Now, do you remember what card it was you selected?"

"Oh, yes," answered the Englishman, "I remember it."

"Sure you haven't forgotten?"

"Of course not."

"You can name the card?"

"Certainly."

"Well, then, there's no use of my telling you what it is."

And the conjurer threw down the cards and went out, followed by roars of laughter from those who had seen the trick.

TWO LIVES SAVED.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had consumption and there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says it saved her life. Mr. Thomas Eggers, 120 Florida street, San Francisco, suffered from a terrible cold, approaching consumption, tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful. It is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in coughs and colds. Free trial bottles at Duluth Drug company's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00.

TO THE ST. LOUIS CONVENTION WITH THE CELEBRATED REPUBLICAN FLAMBEAU CLUB.

A special vestibuled train of sleeping cars, dining and baggage cars, will be run from Minneapolis and St. Paul to St. Louis, June 14, via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway (the popular "Hedrick route"), to accommodate the Republican Flambeau club and their friends throughout the Northwest.

Leave the Twin Cities afternoon of June 14 and arrive at St. Louis next day.

This train will be side-tracked at a point within two blocks of Auditorium convention hall and six minutes walk to the principal hotels. Passengers desiring to do so can occupy the sleepers during the convention at low rates.

The service, in every particular, will be absolutely first-class and all may depend upon thoroughly comfortable and pleasant accommodations, both going and returning, and while occupying the cars in St. Louis.

The Republican Flambeau club is composed of leading business and professional men in Minnesota, and their trips to former national conventions and inaugurations have always done great credit to the Northwest.

The railroad rate is one fare for the round trip. For exact information as to sleeping car rates and accommodations, meals, etc., address Frank P. Nantz, secretary Republican Flambeau club, 604 Oneida block, Minneapolis, or J. T. Conley, assistant general passenger agent, C. M. & St. P. Ry., St. Paul.

One swallow doesn't make spring, but one swallow of One Minute Cough Cure brings relief. S. F. Boyce.

The Gossiper.

Some of the gowns worn by the wives of the swellest coach owners at a recent country club drive were almost startling. For instance, a white silk brocaded with red roses and trimmed with black velvet worn with a flower hat; a pigeon's breast silk with sash and stock of pale green velvet, and a picture hat of yellow straw trimmed with pink roses; pale blue and white figured foulard, with small bonnet of black straw; a gown of forest green moire with hat of the same shade trimmed with green and brown tulle.

The gowns worn by the unmarried fair ones varied as widely as they usually do at a dinner or ball; one of the prettiest was a violet silk with large violet trimmed hat; others were: White etamine with white hat; ecru cloth with black hat, trimmed with plumes; pearl colored and pink changeable silk with big hat to correspond; blue and white foulard with black picture hat; mauve silk with pale green hat and nodding roses.

Of all the deceitful wretches that ever existed the summer widower is the worst. His acting is perfect, and though his wife and friends know quite well that he is not telling the truth, his glib sentences please him so much that he begins long before the annual separation to tell of how lonesome he will be, what a barren desert the home becomes without the presence of his loved ones, how he loathes the cooking at the club, how he never goes anywhere while wife is away, and, finally, that were it not for the health of herself and the children he would implore her to remain with him.

Now, there may be some men who mean this, but as a rule the warm weather season of divorce from his family converts the most staid of husbands and fathers into a coltish individual, anxious to do the town with an avidity wonderfully reminiscent of his salad days. Everywhere you go you meet this kind; he is on the river steamer, he is at the theater, you run across him at dinner up the Hudson, he spins by you in the park on his wheel or behind a pair of high-stepping trotters. Ah, they are a gay lot, these summer widowers, but they do not fool anyone, unless it is their wives, and if they believe in them, what matters it if the whole rest of the world can read them like an open book?

In these days to the giver the wedding present question is apt to be a sad, serious and perplexing one. Once upon a time the selection of a wedding gift was quite a simple matter. There were but few things regarded suitable for this purpose. Since then times have changed. The wedding present may now vary from a Rookwood vase or a cut glass claret jug to a magnificent chest of silver. In fact, anything, if selected with good taste and a sense of its appropriateness, is considered a suitable wedding gift. Of course, the check is the wedding present par excellence, but next in popularity is no doubt the chest of silver. These chests are shown in a variety of styles this spring. One of the most expensive costs $2000 and contains 700 pieces. It comes in both oak and mahogany, with brass mountings, and has five drawers. It contains enough silver to carry one through a lifetime.

An experiment has been made in England of making stockings and gloves of paper. It has proved the greatest success. The texture is given solidity and durability by being placed in a bath consisting of a mixture of tallow and potao starch, and when finished its appearance is said to closely resemble the articles made from wool and cotton. Blotting paper is the latest material used in making bicycle handles.

That there can be a fashion in superstitions as in gowns, or hats or gloves is news indeed. I have always had an idea that they could be traced back to prehistoric times and were as unchangeable as the hills. But the jewelers declare that it is no longer "fashionable" to regard opals as unlucky, but as quite the reverse; and instead of shunning these beautiful stones round which so many "creepy" stories have been woven, people are now eagerly purchasing them, and many a fiancee of the present season is wearing a bethrothal ring of the once supposed luckless stone. Whether or not any "luck," good or bad, does attach to the possession of opals I am not prepared to say, but it is amusing to find that fashion dictates what folks are to believe in such a case.

"I find most women's drawing rooms immensely characteristic," said a cynical old bachelor, "but they impress me in a way just opposite to that intended. For instance, the other afternoon I stopped to make a dinner call at Mrs. C.'s, and as she kept me waiting a few moments I began, as usual, to make a mental criticism of my surroundings. 'What a poseuse that a woman is,' I thought to myself, as I noticed a much-talked-of and somewhat erudite book half opened on a chair, as if it had just been used; a writing table in effective disarray, although my experienced eye could detect the studied method in the madness, and a calculation in the premeditated disorder of the pile of invitations and their half-completed answers. A piece of work lay on a sofa, as if it had been left there at some sudden summons, and I smiled grimly as I remembered picking up that same piece of work several months ago and telling Mrs. C. how sweetly feminine it seemed to find evidences of home occupations about the room. 'What a little humbug she is!' I said half aloud, as she tripped in and gave me a cordial welcome, which, I confess was very pleasant, and her drawing room was home like and pretty, although a little artificial."

Among Consuelo of Marlborough's other items of housekeeping at Blenheim she will have rent to pay, and among her creditors will be Queen Victoria herself. Although the Blenheim palace is practically the property of the duke of Marlborough, it is held from the crown on a peculiar tenure, namely, the annual presentation of a French flag to the reigning monarch. NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage made, executed and delivered by Theodore Grote and Agusia Grote, his wife, mortgagors, to Mary J. Crosby, mortgagee, bearing date the 8th day of March, 1895, and recorded in the register of deeds' office in and for St. Louis County, state of Minnesota, on the 16th day of March, 1895, at 3:50 o'clock p. m. in Book 93 of mortgages on page 283.

And whereas said default consists in the non-payment of the annual installment of interest, amounting to the sum of twelve and 00-100 dollars which became due and payable by the terms of said note and mortgage on the 8th day of March, 1896, by reason of which default said mortgagee has elected to exercise the option to her given by the terms of said note and mortgage, by declaring and she does hereby declare, the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage with accrued interest thereon to be due and payable.

And whereas there is therefore claimed to be due and there is actually due upon said mortgage debt at the date of this notice the sum of one hundred sixty-four and 25-100 dollars principal and interest.

And whereas said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the default above mentioned, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein to-wit: The east one-half of the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section thirty, township fifty north, of range fifteen west, St. Louis County, Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances.

Which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 30th day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt of one hundred sixty-four and 25-100 dollars and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

Dated May 16th, 1896.

IN THE LABOR FIELD

The record of the past week in local labor circles is characterized by a lack of incidents of especial interest of importance. Those who are promoting the insurance scheme report that success is apparently assured, a large number of applications having already been received.

The Union club, it is hoped, may some day in the future occupy its own quarters. That idea is as yet, however, but a dream.

Since the stirring incidents of the last meeting of the assembly, when Delegate Cobb made a charge against President Morrison, of the Ore Trimmers' union, which the latter succeeded but indifferently well in fencing, the ore trimmers have been quiescent, and it looks as if the chief cause of inflammation had been removed by the poultice Mr. Cobb applied.

Members of the organization feel flattered that the National Waiters' union has looked to Duluth for its state organizer, Secretary J. M. Murray of the assembly having been appointed to that position by National President W. C. Pomeroy.

There is talk of organizing the dock hands next week, among whom the union spirit is very strong.

The Butchers' union will send a delegate in the person of John Cahill to the convention of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor, at Minneapolis, June 14, and the Sawmill Workers' union will send three delegates whose names are not at hand.

Typographical union No. 136, will hold an election of officers tomorrow.

UNITY OF BUILDING TRADES.

At its last meeting the Bricklayers' and Stonemasons' union, of Chicago, by a unanimous vote, decided to send delegates to and become a part of the powerful Building Trades' council. This action of the union brings all the building trades of prominence into the council and marks the beginning of a new era for the Building Trades council as well. That the affiliation of the union with the council is regarded with much satisfaction by all concerned is evidenced by the comments of the Eight-Hour Herald, whose editor, M. J. Carroll, says:

"As is well known, the Bricklayers' and Stonemasons' union, one of the largest and most influential local labor organizations in the country, has for years declined to affiliate with the Building Trades' council, a marked difference in the policy of each organization, in dealings with contractors, standing as an unsurmountable obstacle in the way of a union of the two organizations. For seven or eight years past the bricklayers have stood opposed to strikes and as champions of arbitration. During the time mentioned they have had no strikes, a committee from the union and one from the contractors meeting annually and agreeing to a scale of prices and working rules for the following building season. While the bricklayers were following this course many of the unions in the Building Trades' council went through serious and often costly strikes. But of late so many of the building trades have adopted the methods of the bricklayers that it is believed that with the accession of that organization to the council an impetus will be given arbitration that strikes will be permanently eliminated from the building trades business in Chicago.

"We fervently trust that these expectations will be fully realized and in the meantime we take occasion to congratulate the bricklayers and the other building trades upon the union, which now starts out so auspiciously."

SEAMEN OPPOSED TO HANNA.

It is contended by the Seamen's union that Mark Hanna, McKinley's manager, is behind the strenuous fight being made at Washington to kill the Manning bill, drawn up for the benefit of lake mariners, and they ask organized labor to help defeat him. Hanna is a prominent member of the Vessel Owners' association and his recent activity at the capital in behalf of that body and antagonistic to sailors has revived memories of his attitude in 1888, when he nearly annihilated the Seamen's union. The following statements relative to Hanna's conduct were made in the New York Morning Journal over the signature of Alfred Henry Lewis:

In 1881 the Seamen's union was a strong organization on the great lakes. Wages for men forward of the mast were $2 and $2.50 per day during the summer months; while in November and December, months of storms and sleet and ice, when vessels in those narrow seas were crashing to the bottom like ships of glass, and lives were lost to such limit that the two ocean coasts could not and cannot furnish a parallel list of loss and death, the lake sailor men had $4.50 per day.

This seemed enormous to Hanna, who, not being enriched half fast enough, or rather feeling himself possessed of the cruel power to cut them down, ordered a reduction.

Then was the war between Hanna and the Seamen's union on at once; and with the seamen fighting for bread and life, and Hanna, as indomitable and no more to be baffled or put at bay than Hannibal, it was a war to the death.

Hanna, with Selah Chamberlain, the Minches and the Alvah Bradley estate, made up the four great vessel owners of the lakes. Hanna organized these enormous interests into a line of battle against the tarry sailor folk.

Hanna demanded that they take $1 per day in summer and $2.25 during the stormy months, when it was almost an even chance that he sailed to his death who sailed at all. Against the Seamen's union he organized a Non-Seamen's union. He gave orders to ship no sailors on his craft or the vessels of the big marine four who belonged to the Seamen's union. And beyond that he arranged for bitter battle.

What he did in his home city of Cleveland, he did in Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo—in fact, in every port from Duluth to the Thousand Islands.

The struggle ended in favor of Hanna and his clique; this money war on perishing flesh and blood. The Seamen's union was at last beaten and broken down, and four years ago died outright. Its members, poor always to the point of bitter want, couldn't cope with the millions of Hanna. At last the sailor's union, with Peter Lynch at the head of the Cleveland branch, gave up the struggle, and Hanna won his cruel fight.

Hanna has often boasted that since this crusade against the poor sailors' rights he and his allies have cleared up over $10,000,000, the aggregate reduction in the wages of seamen which they brought about.

EFFECT OF TOBACCO BAN.

President Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor, is a cigarmaker and no one is better conversant with the tobacco industry throughout the country than he. He is consequently much interested in the order of Gen. Weyler prohibiting the exportation of tobacco of any kind from Cuba, but he is one of the few who do not regard the order as one productive of very dire consequences.

"It would be very injurious to this country," said Mr. Gompers, in a recent interview in the Indianapolis Sentinel, "if it were possible for the general to carry out his order. Gen. Weyler may be a good disciplinarian and he may be an adept in military tactics, but he loses sight of the business side of a campaign, which is always one of the most important features. It is nonsensical to suppose that such an order could be carried into effect for any length of time, for the simple reason that Spain is dependent on Cuba and Cuban tobacco for her revenues and it would be like cutting off her nose to spite her face. Such an order puts me in mind of the Irishman who put a dynamite bomb under the house of his next door neighbor in order to get even with him, the result being that both were annihilated."

"What would be its effect if it could be carried into execution?"

"It would be a blow to our tobacco industries and many factories would doubtless have to shut down. The use of the Havana filler would have to be abandoned and the factories would be forced to commence using the tobacco of our states."

REMEDY FOR LABOR'S ILLS.

The following extract from an address by Grand Master Arthur, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers contains the gist of the labor problem and comes from a man who for more than a third of a century has been in the van of the labor movement and who has built up and is at the head of one of the largest organizations in the world:

"Through the difficulties that environ the question it is plain that some adjustment must be reached by which the war now raging between employer and employe can be ended. They must become and continue partners, instead of enemies, in the enterprises they operate. During the process of creation of wealth there must be such a division between the employer and employed that the latter shall at least secure the three essentials of existence, food, clothing and shelter, and, in addition, means to subdue sickness and by frugality and thrift something over for the feebleness that grows as the years come on. He is entitled to this and should have it. It is a modest and who will say that it is not a reasonable demand? Nature has made provision for all her sons. This is unanswerable reason why all who are worthy should have enough. The industrial system which does not permit the worthy to get enough is at fault. One of the greatest statesmen and orators of our times has said: 'Wages are unjustly reduced when an industrious man is not able by his earnings to live in comfort and lay by a sufficient amount for the necessities of age.'"

BENEFITS IN ORGANIZATION.

It must be a source of annoyance to those who forever decry the endeavors of labor organizations as useless in effecting any degree of betterment in the conditions of the workers to be confronted with the statistical reports of the different labor commissions, says the Toledo Union. Each report presented proves in the most emphatic terms that labor organization has accomplished wonders for the working classes, and that it promises to keep up the work of gradual improvement so well begun. The great trouble with those who are willing to take the word of the pessimist is, that they are too impatient to await results in their natural order, but expect an immediate return for every effort put forth, and where the work of today does not bear the anticipated fruit on the morrow they become discouraged and take up the wail, "labor organization is useless and does not benefit the people who place their confidence in its efficacy as a means of protection of their interests."

Writers who are very much inclined to favor the employer's side of the labor question are very pronounced in their statements that, where labor organization has become firmly established fair conditions prevail, and where there is no organization there is little reference made to the conditions of employment. Labor commissions have asserted that where labor organization was maintained the condition of the workers was far better than where there was not organization, and they produce statistics to substantiate their statements.

CONGRESS OF TOBACCO WORKERS.

The International Tobacco Workers' union will hold its world's congress in London, July 19. Henry Jugters, the general secretary, is a resident of Holland, and in sending the announcements to America he did his own translating. Following is a copy of the circular:

Upon the 3rd International Congress, held on the 5th August 1894 in Basel (Switzerland) was concluded to held a 4th Int. Congress in London on the 19th of July 1896, eight days before the International Congress of the Social Labour Party) in the Royal Oak 229, Whitechapel Road, E. London. We hope, dear Comrades, that you will consider the great importance of that congress, and we invite you kindly to assist on the same in large number. Our last strike and L. P. Cuts which have been a failure will prove you the necessity of the same. Our organisation ought to be improved. If you wish to propose points for discussion on the general order have the kindness to give notice before the 1st of June 1896. It might be that we want 8 days for finishing the congress, if necessity oblige us we shall make use of the 4 official languages. To make our task easier we think it to be useful to invite you to send word for the 1st of June 1896. Our English friends have already promised their cooperation on this very important Int. Congress. We hope dear comrades, that this invitation shall have a favorable receptior, and we beg to remain,

Fraternally Yours,
FOR THE INTERNATIONAL COMMITTEE,
The General Secretar

N. B.—Every announcement for participation or questions for information which we shall give with the most satisfaction, ought to be done on the following adress: H. JUGTERS, 146 Diepestreet, Antwerp, Belgium.

CONTROL OF THE TELEGRAPH.

The International Typographical union has inaugurated an active campaign on behalf of the nationalization of the telegraph business. A. L. Randall was the chairman of the union's committee on government ownership of telegraph, and he urges its immense advantages.

"Great Britain," says Mr. Randall, "had 155,000 miles of wire in 1889, and one company in the United States had 647,697 miles, yet the former sent more messages than the latter. In countries where the government operates the telegraph it has been proved that the rates are scarcely one-half what they are in this country. The United States is the only country where the telegraph is not a part of the postal system, and if the government controlled here the rates could be reduced more than one-half and the system be self-sustaining.

"The International Typographical union is vitally interested in the outcome of the agitation for government ownership, and the work of pushing it along has been intrusted to Washington printers, who have quietly worked for two years, with gratifying success.

"We have sent letters recently to all local typographical unions and other organizations, with a request to act on them at once, asking them to commence a vigorous campaign in their respective localities. The suggestion is to induce business men, commercial, labor and other organizations to pass strong resolutions in behalf of the reform and to send them to the senators and representatives of the various districts, with a demand that they vote and work for the project. We expect to accomplish much this summer along this line."

GENERAL LABOR NOTES.

Atlanta has twenty unions.

Chicago claims 300 labor organizations.

Boston is credited with 85,000 trades unionists.

Steamfitters in Washington have won the eight-hour day.

The labor unions of St. Paul have a reserve of $18,000 in bank.

A movement is on foot to establish a new labor paper in Indianapolis.

Union woodworkers at Marshfield, Wis., put up a ticket and elected six aldermen.

After a year's fighting three Indianapolis theaters have been unionized by stage hands and musicians.

The New York city scale of builders and contractors' laborers is 30 cents an hour, 45 cents for overtime.

Washington, D. C., trades unions have petitioned the commissioners to give union men a place on municipal works.

John Bohl, secretary of the Cigarmakers' International union, thinks the next convention of that union will indorse the project of establishing co-operative factories.

The 100 furnace men of the plate glass factory at Kokomo, Ind., have returned to work, the company agreeing to put in new machinery that would lighten their work.

The Washington, D. C., Federation of Labor expelled from membership the galvanized iron and cornice workers for having taken a contract for work which, under trade rules, belonged to the tinners.

A new step to help working people is under the consideration of the Erie, Pa., Central Labor union. It is the intention of that body to employ an attorney by the year, to whom all persons engaged in useful labor can apply for help if they do not get their pay from employers.

Four carloads of Chinese laborers passed through Ogden, Utah, last week on their way to Havana. They are "in bond" and are traveling under the auspices of the Chinese Six companies, which has contracted to send them to Havana to work. They were shipped direct from Hong Kong.

An interesting case involving the length of time an employe should be expected to work without eating, has recently been decided at Penge, Cornwall. Miss Mary Christian, a dressmaker, had compelled girls working for her to serve more than eight hours without meals. She was fined.

The mail and express report of the International Typographical union for April shows the dispatch of 11,321 packages, of which 1722 were letters, 600 postals and 8336 miscellaneous mail, composed largely of dodgers intended to advance the label agitation and the movement for nationalization of telegraphs.

A change of scale has affected the length of the work day for printers at Anaconda, Mont. Book and job men now work only nine hours per day, with eight on Saturday. The day machine men had been reduced from nine to eight hours, with increased pay of from $4 to $4.50 per day of eight hours, with extra for overtime.

The young men's meeting at the Young Men's Christian Association hall tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock will be in charge of Rev. G. E. Kelthley, pastor of Westminster church.

MAKING A TIME CARD.

"The making of a new train schedule is a much bigger job than most people think," explained Assistant General Passenger Agent W. A. Kelsoe, as he closed a conversation with a man who had called to inquire about the new schedule over the Louisville division of the Illinois Central, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat. "Now, take for example, this case. In order to make a time card from New Orleans to Louisville or Cincinnati, you must know the exact time certain trains are out of New York. You must study the time card of nearly every large road in the country, for its trains or their connections at some crossing will be of material use to you and the travel over the line. All the junction points must be looked after, and you must decide what trains you can hit and what ones can be missed without serious results to your traffic. In other words your new schedule is moulded and finally shaped by a hundred foreign conditions which the man out of the business never thinks of. It is one of those things which looks simple on its face but proves to be a very intricate problem when you get on to the inside."

From the Chronicle, Chicago, Ill.

Notwithstanding the poor are always with us, Thanksgiving is none the less a day of rejoicing. Many charities have been dispensed and through numerous instrumentalities the necessities and sufferings of many a worthy person have been relieved. Absent members of households reunite at the old homestead and gathered around the festal board recount the incidents that have taken place and the various blessings that have been vouchsafed them, since they assembled at the last annual meeting by the same fireside. It is a time for memory and for joy. Among the countless families of Chicago there is perhaps, not one to-day that feels a deeper sense of gratitude to the Giver of all good and perfect gifts than Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Collier, of 4904 Armour Avenue.

Mr. Collier, who is the electrician at the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad shops in this city came here from Hamilton, Canada, a little more than nine years ago accompanied by his wife and little daughter, their only child Etta, then aged four. Little Etta was a bright and beautiful girl, but not a very robust one.

For the last few years she had been somewhat ailing, but her condition was not such as to create any uneasiness in the minds of her parents, who almost idolized her. In the school she was regarded as one of the brightest scholars of her class and was the envy of her class-mates. Although but a little over twelve years of age, her intellect was phenomenal. She was possessed, however, of a very nervous temperament which is frequently the case with children of her advanced intelligence. Early in the month of June last, owing to a sudden fright, she was thrown into violent spasms, to recover only to be afflicted with St. Vitus' dance in the worst form. The consternation of her parents may well be imagined.

Of course the best physicians were summoned at once but their efforts to restore her to her normal condition were devoid of results. She continued to grow worse, her appetite wholly failed and commencing with her right arm her whole right side and lower limb became limp, numb, and useless and what little nourishment she was able to take had to be administered by others. To add to the seriousness of the case she was unable to obtain any sleep whatever.

It was while in this deplorable condition hovering between life and death with all the prospects of a premature grave before her, that one day on returning home from his duties Mr. Collier found awaiting him a newspaper, which an old acquaintance in Hamilton, his former place of residence, had sent to him by mail.

In the local columns he read of the case of a certain person he had known years before having been permanently cured of the complaint of which his own daughter was now suffering, by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. He had often heard and read before marvellous accounts of the efficacy of this remedy but as no names with which he was personally familiar appeared, he but only doubted but positively disbelieved the statements. But here before his eyes was apparent evidence from one he knew. He therefore lost no time in making assurance doubly sure and as soon as he learned that the story was absolutely true, he lost no time in procuring the Pink Pills for his suffering daughter. This was on the 15th of September. Prior to this date and after consulting doctors of different schools of medicine, he had taken her to the Homeopathic Dispensary where her case was discussed by all the members of the faculty who unanimously declared in the presence of the class that there was no longer any hope to be held out as it was a malady which in this instance at least was incurable. It was therefore with a feeling of utter despair that Mrs. Collier first began to administer the Pink Pills.

She says a perceptible change came over the little one before even the second box had been emptied and how after having used six boxes her health is entirely restored. In the early part of her illness her intellect was very much clouded. She had become extremely dull of comprehension hardly realizing the meaning of words when addressed. Seen to-day in the cheerful home of the Collier's on Armour Avenue, she is the personification of health. Her nervousness has entirely disappeared, her intellect is bright, keen and active, her strength has returned and the roses in her cheeks attest to the complete recovery of her bodily health.

She is now ready to resume her music lessons and as soon as the schools open after the holidays she will again take up the studies which she so suddenly left off on that eventful June day. The sister-in-law of Mrs. Collier, Mrs. Lewis, who was present at the interview emphatically confirmed all that Mrs Collier has said regarding the past and present condition of little Etta, adding that a famous physician in Hamilton invariably recommends Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in such cases as this and many others.

Mrs. Collier herself has for a number of years been a constant sufferer from a female complaint which so far has baffled the skill of the doctors, and during a period of less than six months her husband has expended over two hundred dollars in fees for medicines. She has now begun the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and while it is as yet too early to announce a cure in her case she feels so much improved as to express the belief that her physical troubles will shortly be of the past. These are some of the reasons why the Collier family return thanks on this our national day of praise and festivity.

The above is a correct statement of facts concerning my little daughter and myself.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have an enormous sale. An analysis of their properties shows that they contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. There are no ill effects following the use of this wonderful medicine, and it can be given to children with perfect safety.

These pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firm's trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and are never sold in bulk. They may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company. The price at which these pills are sold makes a course of treatment inexpensive as compared with other remedies.

SICK ROOM SUGGESTIONS.

Don't be hurried and bustling and fussy about the patient, says Meyer Brothers' Druggist.

Don't appear anxious, however great may be your anxiety.

Don't let stale flowers remain in the sick room.

Don't allow an accumulation of medicine bottles in the sight of the patient.

Don't jar the bed by lifting or sitting upon it. This is always unpleasant to one ill and nervous.

Don't be unmindful of yourself if you are in the responsible position of nurse. To do faithful work you must have proper food and stated hours of rest.

Don't forget that kindness and tenderness are needful to successful nursing. Human nature longs to be soothed and comforted on all occasions when it it out of tune.

Don't throw coal upon the fire. Place it in brown paper bags and lay them upon the fire, thus avoiding the noise, which is shocking to the sick and sensitive.

Don't neglect during the day to attend to necessaries for the night in the way of nourishment and drink, that the rest of the patient and the family may not be disturbed.

Don't light a sick room at night by means of a gas jet or lamp burning low; nothing impoverishes the air sooner. Use sperm candles, or tapers which burn in sperm oil.

BUCKLEN'S ARNICA SALVE.

The best Salve in the world for cuts bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Duluth Drug company.

STOLEN COMFORT.

Indianapolis Journal: "Say," said the man with the correct clothes and the bowed back and horny hands of a farmer, to the restaurant waiter, "have you got pig jowl and greens here? An' buttermilk? An' corn bread? An' kin I shovel the truck in with a knife and take my coat off?"

The waiter told him he could be accommodated in all particulars.

The ex-farmer removed his coat and sat down opposite a man who looked as if he might be willing to listen, and explained:

"It's been two year now," said he, "sence we struck gas on the farm, and I ain't had a square meal sence. Been fillin' up on Charley horse rusles, scollay de allakazam, an' all them French dishes ever sence. That's what comes of marryin' a woman who believes in keepin' up with the procession when you got the price, as she puts it."

"I should think you would have rebelled long ago," said the listener.

"Would, but, you see, about three year ago I was so deep in debt that I had to put the farm in her name. I snaked away today an' left her at one of them fine hotels. I'm goin' to have an orgie of old-fashioned vittels, sasprilly pop, an' mebbe a beer or two, an' go back and tell her what I've did, an' if she wants to git a divorce she can git it. Old Ell will hev hed his day of freedom for a few glorious hours, any way!"

CHARACTER IN HAIR.

Dark brown locks are always loyal, says the Prudential.

Women with rich, dark red hair are amiable and sweet.

Black hair denotes a high strung, tempestuous nature, full of sentiment.

Women with pale blonde hair of the golden, ashy kind are impulsive and loving.

Women with fine brown hair, with a tinge of gold in it, usually have fits of despondency, but cheerfulness predominates in such a temperament.

We must take exception to the characteristic of dark brown locks; they are not always loyal. Many "domes of thought," once crowned with a glory of dark brown locks, we have seen become as a "cue ball" for barrenness, through the depilatory effect of lack of loyalty on the part of aforesaid dark brown locks. But that may have been only the exception, which proves the rule.

ANNUAL MEETINGS.

Officers Elected By Minnesota Iron Company Corporations.

The annual meeting of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad and the Minnesota Iron company took place at the general offices of the Iron Range road this morning. There was only a small attendance and nothing but routine work was transacted. Of the road the following officers were elected: President, J. L. Greatsinger; vice presidents C. W. Hillard and Joseph Sellwood; secretary and treasurer, C. W. Hillard; assistant secretary and treasurer, A. J. Paterson; executive committee, H. H. Porter, Marshall Field, J. L. Greatsinger, C. W. Hillard and D. H. Bacon.

The following directors were elected for three years: D. O. Mills, H. M. Flagler, C. W. Hillard and Joseph Sellwood. D. H. Bacon was elected for two years to fill a vacancy.

The following officers of the Minnesota Iron company were elected. President, D. H. Bacon; vice president, Henry Seibert; secretary and assistant treasurer, C. P. Coffin; treasurer and assistant secretary, A. J. Patterson.

The party left this afternoon at 4 o'clock for their homes.

WANAMAKER WAS DOWNED.

Huntingdon, Pa., June 8.—In the fight for senatorial delegates in this county State Senator Boies Penrose has won over ex-Postmaster General Wanamaker, his majority in the popular vote reaching about 450 and his majority of the delegates about 200.

AN OVER SUBSCRIPTION.

New York, June 8.—J. P. Morgan & Co. report that the $5,100,000 of consul 5 per cent gold bonds of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company have been oversubscribed. The announcement of the price, etc., will be made tomorrow. Most of the bonds were taken in London.

LOVE PROVOKES MURDER.

Vincennes, Ind., June 8.—Dr. J. H. Dailey, of Bird Station, Ill., was murdered today by Sam. T. Mickey. The affair was the result of a quarrel over a girl. Dr. Dailey was one of the most prominent physicians in Southern Illinois. Mickey is a prominent educator.

THE AGE OF FISH.

"The age of fish is almost unlimited," observed an official of the fish commission, in reply to a question. "Professor Baird devoted a great deal of time to the question as to the length of life of fish and he found that the ordinary carp, if not interfered with, would live 500 years. In his writings on the subject he stated that there are now living in the royal aquarium in Russia several carp that are known to be over 300 years old; that he had ascertained in a number of cases that whales live to be over 200 years old. A gentleman in Baltimore has had an ordinary goldfish for sixty-three years, and his father informed him that he had purchased it over forty years before it came into his possession."

ECKELS' OUTING.

Washington, June 8.—Mr. Eckels, the comptroller of the currency, has gone to Chicago to remain a week.

MOULDERS' RIOT.

But They Stopped Work in Two Factories.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 8.—A force of union moulders marched on the foundry of Dorner & Dutton, in Hamilton street, today, where castings were being made for the Brown Hoisting and Conveying company, in which concern there is a lockout. The union men had determined that there should be no work in Dorner & Dutton's foundry or the Brown Hoisting and Conveying, and put their threat into execution by action today.

Two hundred union moulders marched in a body, first attacking the shops of the Dodson & Crawford Co., and then rushing upon Dorner & Dutton's shop. The police were finally summoned and quelled the riot.

DULUTH & WINNIPEG.

Sale Now Possible Under the Foreclosure.

St. Paul, June 8.—The United States court of appeals today announced a decision in the somewhat famous Duluth & Winnipeg foreclosure suit, sustaining the trustee in every particular in the various suits which have been started and have been pending for eighteen months, and the circuit court of appeals now exonerates President Van Horne from charges of fraudulently acting in collusion with the trustee for the purpose of foreclosing the mortgage. The result is a victory for the trustee and bond holders, and the sale under foreclosure now becomes possible.

HE KNEW THE OTHERS.

The Argonaut: The story is told of an English militia regiment whose reputation was none of the best that on one occasion a detective from Scotland Yard asked to be allowed to inspect the regiment to discover, if possible, if a certain malefactor were in the ranks. Permission being given, the detective, accompanied by the adjutant of the regiment, made the tour of the various companies, front rank and rear rank. When the official had got to the last man of the rear rank of the rear company, he stopped suddenly and gazed earnestly at the rather embarrassed warrior. "Why, you surely have made a mistake," exclaimed the adjutant, indignantly; "why you have pitched on the best man in the battalion. He has been with us for more than twenty years, and he is our pattern soldier. His arms are a mass of good conduct badges, and he is the example of all that is best in the life of a soldier. You surely do not know him?" "No," replied the detective, "I do not—but I know all the others."

PASSED

Senate Passes the Remodeled House Deficiency Bill This Afternoon.

And the House Cheered When it Heard the News--A Busy Day.

Populist Kem Again Makes an Attempt to Thwart National Legislation.

Washington, June 8.—The deficiency bill, framed to meet the objections of the president's recent veto, was taken up as soon as the senate met today. Before proceeding with it further conferences were ordered on the Indian and District of Columbia appropriation bills. The activity and confusion on the floor of the senate, while minor measures were hurried through their final stages, indicated the near approach of an adjournment. The large attendance of senators overcame fears that had been entertained that the senate would be left without a quorum.

Mr. Wolcott asked immediate consideration for a resolution directing the committee on library to investigate the circumstances of the award of the contract for the statue of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman, (Mr. Rohl-Smith's design having been selected) and requesting the secretary of war to suspend the execution of the contract of the statue until a report had been made at the next session. Mr. Wolcott suggested there might not be a session tomorrow, if congress adjourned.

Mr. Allison shrugged his shoulders and remarked that while nothing was certain, yet he thought there would be a session tomorrow.

Mr. Hawley wanted the resolution to go over, suggesting there were two sides of this statue question. The resolution finally went over.

When the deficiency bill had been read, Mr. Harris offered an amendment covering the claims under the Bowman act, which had been omitted in the house bill, although there was no specific objection to them in the veto message. Mr. Harris said that in the former bill the Bowman claims were coupled with the French spoliation claims, and felt no interest in them, but the Bowman act claims amounting to about $500,000 had been subjected, he said, to judicial scrutiny, and should be paid as much as any obligations incurred by the government. After further debate the vice president submitted to the senate a point of order against the amendment, and it was voted to be out of order. The deficiency bill was then passed as it came from the house.

A letter from the president was read consenting to the withdrawal by the Chickasaw Indians of $150,000 of their trust funds now in the treasury, and a resolution was passed assenting to the withdrawal.

The senate bill was passed appropriating $350,000 for a public building at Oakland, Cal.

Also the following bills were passed: To amend the law for the punishment for transportation or selling liquors or wines under any other than their proper name and demand; extending relief to Indian citizens in regard to taxes on their lands held in severalty.

The immigration bill was taken up by Mr. Morgan who spoke in support of his amendment that the restrictions of the act should not apply to persons coming to the country from Cuba. He said no country had contributed a better class of people to our population than Cuba. Its citizens, he said, come to escape the persecutions of Spain and to live under free institutions.

IN THE HOUSE.

Absent Members to Be Called Back at Once.

Washington, June 8.—When the house reconvened at 10 o'clock this morning, in continuation of the legislative day of Saturday, there were only about seventy members on the floor, and the leaders determined to take the necessary steps to secure and keep a quorum in attendance during the remaining hours of the session. Mr. Sherman, chairman of the committee on Indian affairs, presented a ruling calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to what steps had been taken to procure a settlement of the principal and interest of certain bonds of the state of Virginia, the ownership of which was assumed by the United States. A part of the Indian funds, $540,000, was invested in these bonds, and a question has arisen as to whether the liability for them belonged to Virginia or West Virginia. This resolution gave the vigilant Mr. Kem his opportunity to raise the point of no quorum, whereupon a call of the house was decided upon.

The call developed the presence of 168 members, eleven less than a quorum. Thereupon the doors were closed and Mr. Dingley, the floor leader of the majority, offered a resolution which was adopted, revoking all leaves of absence, except on account of sickness, and directing the sergeant-at-arms to telegraph absentees to return forthwith. Mr. Dingley stated that the difficulty in maintaining a quorum during the last few days and the fact that members were hourly leaving compelled this action.

At 10:50 a quorum appeared. The Sherman resolution relative to the Virginia bonds was adopted.

A special deficiency bill providing for the pay of the salaries of members unseated by the house, and for several other minor matters, was passed under suspension of the rules; also a bill to establish a site for the erection of a penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

The senate joint resolution authorizing a scientific investigation of the fur seal fisheries was adopted. The senate bill amending the act for the protection of the salmon fisheries of Alaska was passed. The senate bill appropriating $15,000 for the payment of the awards of the commission appointed to report on the drainage resulting from and the injuries inflicted by the explosion of a caisson belonging to the Second United States artillery during the Chicago riots occasioned some debate. The bill was defeated 86 to 106.

By a vote of 63 to 64, the house refused to consider the contested election case of Aldrich vs. Underwood, from the Ninth Alabama district.

The senate amendments to the bill to expedite the delivery of imported parcels of less than $500 value were agreed to.

Mr. Payne moved the passage, under suspension of the rules, of a bill to amend the laws relating to American seamen. He explained that the bill had been framed by the committee on merchant marine and fisheries, after a thorough investigation of the subject. Both the shipping interests and the Sailors association had been consulted. Every vestige of imprisonment for violation of the contract between the master and seaman was stricken out of the existing law by the bill; it provided a new scale of rations, and made many other changes in the law looking to the amelioration of the condition of American sailors.

The bill was passed without division, and then Mr. Loud presented the final conference report on the postoffice appropriation bill. It contained the compromise relating to the consolidation of postoffices. The report was agreed to.

Mr. Hartman moved for the passage of the bill to facilitate the reorganization of the Pacific railway.

The Northern Pacific reorganization bill was passed by the house this afternoon by a vote of 150 to 55.

INDIAN BILL IN DIFFICULTY.

Washington, June 8.—The conferees on the Indian appropriation have met again and failed to agree on the church school question, the house conferees declining, on account of the house action Saturday, to accept the compromise extending the appropriation one year. The report goes back to the two houses for instruction to the conferees.

NOT QUITE UNANIMOUS.

Washington, June 8.—The senate committee on appropriations today decided to report the new general deficiency bill as it came from the house. The action of the committee was not, however, unanimous, and it was made apparent that there would be objection to the passage of the bill through the senate in this shape. Senator Harris, of Tennessee, has announced a purpose to fight for the inclusion of the Bowman act claims in the bill.

CHEERED IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, June 8.—When the announcement of the passage of the general deficiency bill by the senate was made to the house at 1:40 p. m. the members cheered. The house leaders believe this removes the last difficulty in the way of early adjournment.

SEAMEN'S BILL PASSED.

Washington, June 8.—The Payne bill to amend the laws relating to American seamen was passed by the house.

ROANOKE COLLEGE.

Commencement Exercises Are Now Being Held.

Salem, Va., June 8.—The commencement exercises for the forty-third year of the Roanoke college began yesterday with a baccalaureate sermon by Rev. Professor S. A. Repass, D.D., of Allentown, Pa. In the evening Rev. Professor Carl E. Grammer, of the theological seminary, Alexandria, Va., delivered the annual address before the Y. M. C. A. of the college.

An attractive program for commencement has been arranged and has attracted many visitors to Salem. On Tuesday morning addresses will be made before the general reunion of the association, and in the evening Hon. A. D. White, LL.D., will deliver the annual oration before the literary societies. On Wednesday, commencement day, Secretary J. Sterling Morton will deliver an address and five of the graduating class, including J. A. Dukes, a Chickasaw Indian, will speak.

WALLING'S TRIAL.

Considerable Testimony For Prosecution Stricken Out.

Newport, Ky., June 8.—The prospect of hearing Walling's testimony this morning brought a much fuller attendance of listeners, but they were disappointed. The court was engaged in hearing motions until 10:40, and after that in hearing arguments on the motions to strike out the evidence given by Col. Deitsch and Ed Anthony. The judge finally ruled that all the testimony of these witnesses concerning what Walling said to them, should be stricken out. Walling's testimony may be heard this afternoon.

WANT BIG DAMAGES.

American Tug Crew Ask England For $20,000.

Ottawa, Ont., June 8.—Last fall, the Canadian government cruiser Petrel captured a Detroit tug and garbage scow in the Canadian waters of the Detroit river. Now Capt. Delpier, of the captured scow, and his crew, have sent in claims to the British government for illegal seizure and imprisonment, asking $20,000 damages. The British authorities have referred the claim back to the Canadian government.

IRISH LAND BILL.

London, June 8.—The chief secretary for Ireland, Gerald Balfour, in the house of commons today moved the second reading of the Irish land bill. During the debate which followed Timothy Healy, member for North Louth, threatened John Morely, member from Montroseburg, who was chief secretary to Ireland in the late government, and sharply arraigned the government.

MR. TOWNE SUMMONED.

Washington, June 8.—(Special to The Herald).—The sergeant-at-arms of the house today, on account of the passage of the Dingley resoltion, telegraphed Representative Towne to return to Washington immediately in order to help make a quorum in the house.

BROKER HATCH DEAD.

New York, June 8.—Walter T. Hatch, senior member of the firm of W. T. Hatch & Son, bankers and brokers of this city, died today at his home in Brooklyn.

THE TREASURY RESERVE.

Washington, June 8.—Today's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance of $266,418,813; gold reserve, $106,435,645.

Pittsburg is Full of Enthusiasm Over the Big Saengerfest.

Many German Societies Already There and More Are Coming.

Elaborate System of Entertainment Mapped Out for Visitors.

Pittsburg, June 8.—The first day of the twenty-eighth national saengerfest opened with cool breezes and bright sunshine, and with indications of pleasant weather for several days. The city is looking its best in its gala attire, and already the streets are thronged with strangers. During the morning, thirty-six societies, coming from all points in the compass, arrived and were escorted to their headquarters.

Among the late arrivals were the following: Evansville, Ind., philharmonia; North St. Louis bundeschor, from St. Louis; Rock Spring saengerbund, from St. Louis; Frei maennerchor, St. Louis; Harmonie, St. Louis; South St. Louis bundeschor; A. P. A. maennerchor and Schweitzer maennerchor, Cincinnati; Liederkranz, Bavaria maennerchor, Baden saengercher, Odd Fellows saengerchor, Goodfellows saengerchor, Rheinheinpfaelzer saengerchor; Garfield Lieberkranz, all of Cincinnati; East Liverpool, Ohio, Lieberkranz; Deutscher eiche, Tarentum, Pa.; Singers arion, Wheeling; Memphis maennerchor; Germania, Newcastle, Pa.; Youngstown maennerchor; Cleveland gesangverein; Erie maennerchor; Germania quartet; Marin's Ferry, Ohio, maennerchor.

With the West Virginia delegation was Governor McCorkle and staff. The saengerfest will open with the grand reception concert this evening at the exposition music hall and at its conclusion a "Students' Kommers" in honor of the visiting representatives of the press will be held at the old city hall. A series of entertainments and receptions are in course of preparation for the visiting societies. Tuesday evening, after the concert, the Frohsinn and the Frei saengerbund, of Chicago, and the Schwaebischer saengerbund, of Cleveland, will be rendered a reception at the South Side Turner hall. Wednesday evening the Cleveland gesangverein, the Arion, of Wheeling, the members of the central board of control and Professors Henry Hollner, John S. Vogel and Carl Abl will be the guests of the Verein Frohsinnig club. Tonight the visitors from St. Louis and several societies from Cincinnati will be tendered a reception by the Cecilia maennerchor in the hall in Allegheny.

IN SLEEPING CARS.

How St. Louis Will House Some of the People.

St. Louis, Mo., June 8.—Many of the delegates to the Republican national convention will be quartered in the sleeping cars in the St. Louis terminal yards. The association has space for 200 sleeping cars, and they will be so placed as to afford their occupants no trouble in reaching them. Already space has been reserved for 119 cars. Among the organizations that have secured such accommodations are the following: The Cook County Republican club, of Chicago, will occupy ten cars; the Marquette club, of Chicago, will have a special train of ten cars; the Young Men's Blaine club, of Cincinnati, and the Cincinnati Lincoln club will occupy twenty-three cars; the Republican club, of Minneapolis, will occupy ten cars in the same locality, and the Tippecanoe club, of Cleveland, will have ten sleepers and two special cars. The Burlington will have six special trains with the sleeping cars, which will be stored in their own yards here. They will be occupied by the Golden Gate club, of California; Kansas City McKinley club, and a special party from Minneapolis.

BILL GAY HANGED.

Montana Murderer Settles His Crime Today.

St. Paul, June 8.—A Helena, Mont., special to the Dispatch says: With an oath upon his lips and forgiveness for all, Bill Gay died today on the scaffold for the murder of Bill Macke in 1893. He denied to the last that he killed Macke. He was so weak from loss of food and sleep that it was necessary to administer hypodermics to enable him to walk to the gallows.

A scheme was on foot to rescue him, but so closely was he guarded that nothdemonstrative was attempted. It was 11 o'clock to a second when he was hanged, and seven minutes and a half afterwards he was pronounced dead. He never moved a muscle.

STRIKE ON AT MILWAUKEE.

Milwaukee, June 8.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of street railway strikers was held today at which it was agreed to continue the strike. There have been no further acts of violence.

FRENCH SOCIALISTS DEFEATED.

Paris, June 8.—A Socialist attack upon the government was defeated in the chamber of deputies today, the order of the day being adopted by 318 to 238 votes.

FRANK MAYO DEAD.

Omaha, Neb., June 8.—Frank Mayo, the veteran actor, died at Grand Island, today.

HENRIETTA CROSSMAN DIVORCED.

Youngstown, O., June 8.—Henrietta Crossman, the well-known actress, who has been a member of the Frohman company, was this afternoon granted a divorce from William H. Brown, of New York, and given the custody of their child.

HEAVY STORM.

Springfield, Illinois, Beaten By Bad Weather.

St. Louis, Mo., June 8.—A special to the Post Dispatch from Springfield, Ill., says: For three hours last night this city was swept by one of the most violent electrical and thunder storms that ever occurred in this section of Illinois. Many thousands of dollars damage resulted. In many cases the first floors of residences were flooded with several feet of water. The municipal telegraph, fire and police electrical systems were knocked out for eight hours and the city left in darkness most of the night. Several alarms of fire added to the terror of the situation.

The state house electrical system was demolished, telegraph and telephone switch boards were scorched and other damage done. Thousands of sparrows cover the ground, having been drowned by the deluge. The Sangamon river has risen five feet and is still advancing. There has been great damage in the low lands.

METHODIST MINISTERS.

Chicago Preachers Are After Rev. Dr. Lambert.

Chicago, June 8.—At the Chicago Methodist ministers meeting today, Rev. John Lee, chairman of the committee on religious liberty for Protestants in South America, presented a report. Mr. Lee said in part: The editor of the New York Freeman's Journal, the Rev. L. A. Lambert, LL.D., who some years ago deservedly secured world-wide fame for his noble contribution to Christian literature, "Notes On Ingersoll," has an editorial in this paper entitled, "Sing Low, Gentlemen," in which he expresses surprise that Methodist ministers should be so imprudent in pushing themselves forward as champions of toleration.

He regards it as a strange procedure that they are now appealing to the pope in behalf of religious toleration in South America, and asked: "Would it not have been more prudent and more modest in them to have left the appeal to the pope in the hands of the Quakers or some other sect, whose founder was not so conspicuous a persecutor of Roman Catholics," and then asserts "the inflammatory addresses or John Wesley were the prime causes of the great London Catholic riots in 1780 which resulted in the death of nearly 500 people."

In the name not only of Chicago Methodism, but of world wide Methodism, the committee very respectfully asks the Rev. Dr. Lambert, either to acknowledge to the American people that he has blundered, or to give a direct answer to the question, what reputable historian makes the assertion "the inflammatory addresses of John Wesley were the prime cause of the great London anti-Catholic riots in 1870 which resulted in the death of nearly 500 people."

MISSOURI TORNADO.

Much Destruction Was Caused By Storm.

Mexico, Mo., June 8.—A tornado struck here late last evening, causing more or less destruction to barns, trees and crops. None was injured in Mexico. The country suffered more severely. Rain fell in torrents, fully six inches covering the ground. The damage by water is considerable. Many residences were undermined, and their occupants compelled to leave them.

One old woman went to bed early in the evening, and when she was awakened the water was up to the bed. She yelled for help and was rescued barely in time. The creeks are higher by several inches than they were during last fall's flood, and for that reason communication with other parts of the country is cut off.

A special to the Star from Webb City, Mo., says: "What appeared to be a cloud burst struck this section early this morning, flooding mines, basements, etc., and doing a great amount of damage."

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Quiet and Easy Opening Was Noted.

New York, June 8.—The stock market opened quiet and easier, with Sugar the most prominent in the trading. The stock yielded ⅞ per cent under renewed realizing sales. Sugar was well supported at the low level by inside connections, and soon recovered to Saturday's closing. The general market at 11 o'clock was devoid of feature, but an easier tendency was generally apparent, and in some shares light concessions were noted.

Sugar was again under pressure during the second hour and under moderate offerings yielded 1 per cent to 123½. The general list continued to sag, but the recessions were unimportant, aside from Tennessee Coal, which fell ¼ per cent on liquidation. Pacific Mail reacted to 25. Silver certificates are quiet and a shade lower at 68⅞, on sales of $60,000. The sales at noon were 46,200 shares.

ST. LOUIS GAVEL.

Which Will Rap the Republicans to Order.

St. Louis, June 8.—The gavel which will be used by the permanent chairman of the Republican national convention was received at the headquarters of the local committee today. It was presented by Senator Berry, one of the Illinois delegates. The gavel is an excellent piece of wood carving done by A. H. Bartells, of Cathage, Ill., who is reputed one of the most artistic carvers in the country.

Mr. Bartells selected the wood from a hickory log taken from the log cabin occupied by President Lincoln at New Salem in 1832. There are panels on either side which are filled in with suitably inscribed plates of gold and silver.

JULES SIMON DEAD.

Eminent French Statesman Succumbs to Illness.

Paris, June 8.—Jules Simon, the distinguished French statesman, formerly premier, who has been dangerously ill for some time past, died at 11:40 this morning, aged 83 years.

COLLIDED

The Steamer Andaste Injured in a Collision Near the Sault.

Schooner John Magee Went Ashore in a Fog at Mackinaw.

Little Prospect of a Further Advance in Ore Freight Rates.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer Andaste, bound up, collided with the lighter Monitor, causing the stern of the Andaste to swing against the pier, breaking two buckets off her wheel. She will make repairs here.

THE ORE RATES.

Cleveland, June 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—No straight charters have been made at $1 on ore from the head of the lakes. Two vessels were placed this morning at 95 cents. Escanaba is strong at 80 cents with Marquette at 85 cents. There is little probability of a further advance in these rates.

COAL CHARTERS.

Buffalo, June 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charters: Holland, Mich., Warmington, Ashland, 25 cents. Lake Superior coal is firm.

SCHOONER ASHORE.

Mackinaw City, Mich., June 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The schooner John Magee went ashore two miles east of this place in a dense fog last night. She has rock plaster for Chicago.

WHALEBACKS IN DISTRESS.

Minneapolis, June 8.—A special to the Journal from Ashland, Wis., states that the whaleback steamer Colgate Hoyt dropped her two whaleback consorts outside the bay there, unable to take them to shelter because of the terrific gale. Both barges are pounding on the beach in the waves. A lumber steamer and consort both loaded, are also in distress outside the Chequamegon point. A score of vessels are anchored safely among the Apostle islands unable to proceed to or from Duluth.

VESSEL MOVEMENTS.

THE NEW WOLVIN BOAT.

In the big freight steamer that is to be built at South Chicago for A. B. Wolvin and others, of Duluth, and which is not to go into commission until 1897, an attempt is to be made to solve, in part, the question that has been raised regarding the advisability of continuing the practice of locating engines far back in the stern of 400-foot ships, says the Marine Review. This problem is certainly attracting a great deal of attention, and it is, of course, well known that there would be no hesitancy in placing engines nearer amidships but for the disadvantage that would be encountered in handling cargo, on account of all dock equipment being fixed for ships with machinery in the stern. Mr. Wolvin's plans contemplate a marked change in the distribution of weights for

DAWLEY

Case of the Imprisoned American Artist in Cuba Examined Into.

Consul General Lee is Admired For His Firm Demeanor.

Havana Newspaper Already Has Nominated Him For Vice President.

New York, June 8.—A special to the World from Havana says: A local newspaper prints an interview with Consul General Lee on the subject of his mission, in which Gen. Lee is quoted as saying that he came to inform himself on the problem presented in Cuba, and would report to Washington with strict impartiality and justice. The reasons why he was selected were, first, his great friendship for Cleveland, with whom he is identified in ideas and sentiments; and second, having commanded Gen. R. E. Lee's cavalry, and having been accustomed to reconnoiter he, better than anybody else, is able to understand the kind of war the insurgents are waging.

Consul General Lee has visited the several Americans imprisoned in Cuba for treason. He found the Competitor men very wretched and in filthy quarters. He will apply for their relief at once. It is reported that no formal charge has yet been made in the case of T. E. Dawley, the correspondent of Harper's. Gen. Lee has received this letter from Dawley, written in prison:

"Sir: I have the honor to call your attention to the fact that I am an American citizen, born in New York, and I am now imprisoned in a military prison without having any hearing whatever. I took my residence in Artemisa about May 1 last. The celador of the place threatened me with arrest at the time because I was an American. I obtained permission from the officer in command there to remain. About a week ago this officer came to Havana, and Gen. Melquiso went to Artemisa. The celador tried again and succeeded in having me arrested. I am confined among sixty-eight prisoners who are awaiting court martial. Trusting that you will give your immediate attention to this case, I am your obedient servant, Thomas E. Dawley."

Gen. Melquiso, who had Dawley arrested, is the same general who is charged with the responsibility for many murders of pacifics. Gen. Arolas, whom he succeeded, has recently gone back to Artemisa to resume command of the trocha.

Americans in Havana breathe more freely now that Gen. Lee has come. He has pleased everybody. His promptness in the Dawley case gives promise of a vigorous administration of the consulate in the interest of Americans. It may be interesting to know that a Havana newspaper has already nominated him for vice president on a ticket with Cleveland.

Dawley has been in Cuba for some time as correspondent of Harper's Weekly, and all the recent work in that journal on the Cuban war has been from him. Notwithstanding the reluctance of the American government to recognize that a state of war exists here, Gen. Weyler and the Madrid government seem to recognize it, for in denying Gen. Bradley the permission to visit Dawley in Castle Morro, the captain general used these significant words: "Under Spanish laws, no foreigner can enter a Spanish fortress in time of war." The words are much commented on in Havana. They are commended to the consideration of Mr. Olney.

Another fact of much interest here is the act of the Madrid government in sending a note to the powers complaining of the alleged use of explosives bullets by the rebels. Why, since no war exists, and the rebel government is not recognized as a belligerent power, should Spain do this? It is customary for a government not only to avoid bringing its domestic concerns to the attention of foreign powers, but even to resent any notice taken by other governments of its domestic troubles.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup has always been kept up to the standard. It is the same it was forty years ago, the best sold.

KILLED AN EDITOR.

And Then Fair Nina Shot Herself Dead.

San Francisco, June 8.—John W. Hay, assistant editor of the Journal of Commerce, was shot and killed late last night by Mrs. Nina McDougal, who is said to be the wife of a drummer for a Chicago barbed wire company. The woman then shot herself through the heart. He announced he was going to leave her, when she shot him and killed herself.

CORBETT AND SHARKEY.

Will Probably Fight Sometime During This Month.

San Francisco, June 8.—The arrangements for the four-round bout between James J. Corbett, champion heavyweight of the world, and Tom Sharkey, of local fame, will be concluded at noon today. A few changes will be made in the original scheme suggested by the National Athletic club, under whose auspices the mill will be held. The first idea was that Corbett was to get 50 per cent of the gross receipts, provided he put Sharkey out in four rounds. As it now stands Jim will get the 50 per cent no matter what the outcome of the contest may be.

So far as Sharkey is concerned the club will look out for his financial interests. If he should put up a better fight taking the four rounds from Corbett, he will be entitled to the decision. In other words the decision will be on the merits of the contest. Sharkey will not be entitled to a draw, if Corbett fails to knock him out. The decision will be left then entirely to the decision of the referee. Of course, if Corbett is knocked out Sharkey will be entitled to the decision. The only way he can obtain a draw is to make equally as good a fight as his opponent. The date of the fight will in all probability be June 24.

Although Corbett does not claim he will put the marine out in the specified time, he admits he will administer a terrific beating to him. He says the real reason for his accepting the proposition is his desire to prove to his friends that the stories of his degeneration are out of joint. His decision to meet Sharkey will postpone his trip to Europe three weeks. He was to start East on Tuesday. Today he will cable W. A. Brady, his manager ,the reason for his remaining over. He will begin active training at once at the Olympic. Sharkey will train at Oakland.

Sharkey is very confident and he says he will put up all he has on his ability to stay out the four rounds. "I do not think there is a man living who can put me out in that space of time," he said. "There is a great deal of difference in a man fighting a man who wants to fight back, and going after a man who knows that all he has to do is to keep away for a short period of time. Of course I do not for a moment place myself on a par with Corbett, so far as science is concerned, but I am positive that he will never punch me out in four rounds."

TROUBLE EXPECTED.

Scheme to Prevent Execution of a Criminal.

Helena, Mont., June 8.—It became known to Sheriff Jurgens last night that some kind of a scheme is on foot to prevent the hanging of Bill Gay today. It is believed some demonstration is contemplated and in the confusion a revolver would be smuggled to the condemned man and an opportunity given to shoot himself. His death watch has been increased and armed men are in the jail to prevent any disturbance.

AWARDS

Bering Sea Agreement Will Be Officially Proclaimed Very Soon.

A Commissioner From Each Government Will Determine the Amounts.

America and Great Britain Will Soon Settle the Sealing Difficulty.

New York, June 8.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: "President Cleveland and the queen of Great Britain will officially proclaim within a few days the Bering sea agreement which their respective governments have entered into. The senate has made public the text of the treaty. It provides for the appointment of a joint commission to ascertain the amount of damages sustained by the owners of British sealing vessels seized in Bering sea by the United States revenue cutters before they had authority to do so under the terms of the modus vivendi, or the approved decision of the Paris arbitration tribunal.

No definite selection has yet been made so far as can be learned of the United States representative on the commission. It is thought Professor D. H. Dahl, an expert in seal life, who is connected with the national museum here, has about the best chance of securing the place. It is not believed Great Britain will be far behind the president in making the selection, as it is the desire of both governments to have the matter settled as soon as possible. The long preamble of the convention recites the facts of the treaty of 1892 and the failure of the tribunal of arbitration, provided for it, to satisfactorily settle all matters in dispute, and specifies additional British sealing vessels which have claims against the United States.

The convention proper provides that all claims arising under the treaty of 1892, and the award and findings of the tribunal of arbitration shall be referred to the two commissioners, one appointed by Great Britain and the other by the United States. These commissioners are to meet in Victoria, B. C. If either so requests they shall also sit in San Francisco, Cal.

The decision reached by the commissioners in each claim will be accepted by the two governments as final. They are given full authority to examine, under authority, into the question of fact not found by the tribunal of arbitration, and shall have such powers to procure or enforce testimony as may hereafter be provided by legislation. If in any case the commissioners fail to agree, the differences shall be referred for final adjustment to an umpire, to be appointed by the two governments jointly, or in case of a disagreement, to be nominated by the president of the Swiss confederation. The amount awarded to Great Britain under convention is to be paid by the United States within six months after the award is made.

A MYSTERY HERE.

Mayme Worrell Did Not Have Heart Disease.

San Francisco, June 8.—The remains of Miss Mayme Worrell, the young English woman who died suddenly at the Palace hotel on Saturday, are still at the undertaking parlors awaiting some word or order from her family or relatives in England concerning their disposition. At present nothing is known of the young woman aside from her name and address.

The mystery surrounding the young woman and the object which prompted her to make a trip around the world, unattended by any friend or chaperon, has not been explained by any information her acquaintances among the steamer passengers are able to furnish, and the autopsy has added more mystery to the case.

The post mortem examination upsets the theory that she died from heart disease. Dr. Whitney was called in attendance upon the young woman a few minutes before she died, and found her in a spasm. The symptoms indicated heart trouble, and after her death Dr. Whitney expressed the view that her heart trouble was the cause of her demise.

Dr. Nathan found in performing the autopsy, that the heart and all other organs were in healthy condition, and the result shows conclusively that death was not caused by any organic disease. The stomach was removed, and will be submitted to a chemical examination, with a view to determining whether death resulted from poisoning.

MUZAFFAR ED-DIN.

New Shah of Persia Was Enthroned Today.

THE DAKOTAS.

NORTH DAKOTA.

During the traveling men's convention at Grand Forks Jerry Sullivan and Ed Martin assaulted John Helland on the Red river bridge, severely pounding him with a beer bottle. The case was settled Saturday outside of court by the payment of $250 to the injured man and something like $200 in lawyer's fees.

Fire at 4 p. m. Saturday at Mayville partly destroyed the cupola of the Great Western elevator. Thirty thousand bushels of wheat were damaged by smoke and water to the extent of fully $900. Unfailing efforts of the fire department averted a total loss; fully insured.

C. W. Blunt, convicted of raping little Vanilla O'Hara last January, was sentenced at 10 o'clock Saturday morning by Judge D. E. Morgan at Devil's Lake to imprisonment at Bismarck at hard labor for a term of eleven years.

Moses F. Olson, of the Great Northern, is at Grand Forks with a number of land seekers, who are planning to settle colonies in this section of North Dakota. They are looking over the county today.

The state military board, consisting of Col. H. M. Creed, of this city, president, and Lieut. Col. W. C. Truesman, of Grafton, and Maj. W. H. McKee, of Portal, is in session at Grand Forks. They will inspect the encampment grounds on Rock Island, south of this city, and transact other important business.

Attorneys Hildreth, Barnett and Amiden were in consultation with Myron R. Kent Saturday afternoon at Fargo. It is understood that Kent wanted to talk over the chances of having his sentence commuted but was told that an application to the governor would be practically useless. State's Attorney Voss, of Morton county, telegraphed he would be at Fargo today and not to put the death watch on Kent until his arrival.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Heavy rainfalls occurred Saturday all over the state doing much good.

Old soldiers in the vicinity of Yankton, have been endeavoring for the past six months to have Dr. John McGregor, one of the pension examining surgeons at Yankton, removed on the ground that he is working in every way possible to prevent them from securing pensions. Petitions urging his removal are filed in the pension office at Washington, among them being one from Phil Kearney post G. A. R., of Yankton. Commissioner Murphy at Washington said that he had taken up the papers in the case and among them found Dr. McGregor's resignation. He said that this had been accepted and he is now looking for another doctor to fill the vacancy, and that Dr. James Roan would probably be appointed.

Dr. McLouth, late president of the agricultural college at Brookings, has renounced Republicanism and has taken the stump for the Populist party, delivering an address at the camp meeting held by that party near this city today. It has been known for some time that he leaned that way, and the report is that he has been assured of the nomination for governor of the Populists at their convention at Huron.

R. S. Welch, receiver of the United States land office at Mitchell, died Saturday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock. Last Monday a surgical operation was performed on him for the removal of a tumor, but he did not recover from the shock. The deceased was appointed receiver two years ago by President Cleveland, and the two years previous he was mayor of Mitchell.

The Coddington county poor house near Watertown burned to the ground Saturday night. The inmates just escaped in their night clothes. One of the inmates, a man, was found in the house, shot through the head, and the supposition is that he set fire to the house and then shot himself.

A committee meeting was held at Pierre to make arrangements to entertain the delegation of Twin City business men who will go from here to the hills some time this month, to look over the route of the proposed railway between Winnipeg and the hills.

On the second day of the state shooting tournament at Madison, H. C. Taylor, of Mecklling, was the winner of the state championship medals in both the target and five bird contests. Mr. Taylor has won the Lefevre medal for target shooting at three successive annual tournaments now, and it becomes his individual property.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

During Corpus Christi processions in Spain yesterday several bombs were thrown at different places. At Barcelona six people were killed and fifty injured, and at Oriendan some property was damaged but no one was killed.

There was a riot at St. Petersburg on the evening of the coronation. A drunken crowd, it is alleged, filled Newski Prospekt and Imanangsalle, whereupon Cossacks galloped into the crowd, which responded by throwing stones. The Cossacks, it is further said, thereupon used their sabres right and left and finally fired into the crowd, of which 250 persons were killed and wounded and 500 were arrested.

In the grand steeplechase races at Paris yesterday Valois was the winner, Centauress was second and Times was third. Thirteen horses ran.

A Constantinople report received at Athens says that a band of Kurds has attacked the employes of the railway running from Smyrihia to Karaba, killing many, including the British, French and German engineers.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Notice is hereby given that default has been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by May Stevenson and David H. Stevenson, her husband, and Ezra A. Tyler and Ellen H. Tyler his wife mortgagors, and Sarah E. E. Chamberlin, mortgagee, bearing date the 1st day of October, 1894, with power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, on the 9th day of October, 1894, at 8:40 o'clock a. m., in Book 128 of mortgages on page 68, which default has continued to the date of this notice, by the failure and neglect of said mortgagors to make payment of the interest by said mortgage secured, which by its terms became due and payable on the 1st day of October, 1895, and which default has continued for more than thirty days.

And whereas the said mortgagee and holder of said mortgage has elected and hereby does elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of one thousand ($1000) dollars with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent per annum from the 1st day of October, 1895, and whereas the power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage to-wit: Lots one (1), two (2) and three (3), block seventeen (17), Kenwood Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof on file or of record in the office of the register of deeds, said lots being situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 24th day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of one thousand dollars and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated May 11th, A. D. 1896.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of twenty-three hundred fifteen and 25-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Simon Clark and Maggie Clark, his wife, mortgagors, to Josephine M. Rawson, mortgagee, bearing date the ninth day of August, 1892, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of Saint Louis and state of Minnesota, on the twelfth day of August, 1892, at 8:45 o'clock a. m. in Book 104 of mortgages, on page 29, said mortgage being now the owner and owner of record thereof, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: Lot two (2), in block nine (9), Hunter's Park, First Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for Saint Louis County, Minnesota; said premises being situated in Saint Louis County and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Saint Louis County, at the front door of the county court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 27th day of June, 1896, at ten o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of twenty-three hundred fifteen and 25-100 dollars and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorneys' fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Default has been made in the payment of five hundred seventy-eight and 50-100 dollars (the amount claimed to be due and is due, owing and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly made and delivered by Mary Sargent, (a widow), mortgagor, to Agnes Callender, mortgagee, dated June first (1st), 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on June twentieth (20th), 1893, at 4:30 o'clock p. m., in Book one hundred two (102) of mortgages, on pages three hundred twenty-eight (328), three hundred twenty-nine (329) and three hundred thirty (330); such default consisting in the non-payment of the semi-annual installment of interest upon the debt secured by said mortgage, which became due on January first (1st), 1896, amounting to the sum of four hundred seventy-two and 50-100 dollars, no part of which has ever been paid; and also in the non-payment of the sum of forty-five and 18-100 dollars, heretofore paid by said mortgagee for insurance premiums upon the premises covered by said mortgage, in accordance with the provisions thereof; by reason of which defaults said mortgagee has, after said defaults had continued for more than ten days, elected to exercise the option to her given by the terms of said mortgage and of the note secured thereby, by declaring, and she does hereby declare, the whole principal sum secured by said note and mortgage, with all accrued interest thereon, and exchange, and said insurance premiums paid, to be now due and payable.

And whereas there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of fourteen thousand four hundred twenty-six ($14,426) dollars, principal, interest, exchange and insurance premiums paid.

And whereas said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the default above mentioned, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, and pursuant to the statute in such case made, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: All of lots numbered one (1), two (2), three (3) and four (4), in block "B," of London Addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof in the office of the register of deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota; which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the eighth (8th) day of July, A. D. 1896, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, interest, and insurance premiums, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and two hundred dollars attorney's fee, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of fourteen hundred seventy-eight and 65-100 ($1478.65) dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by John G. Carlson and Mary Carlson, mortgagors, to Nathaniel J. Upham, mortgagee, bearing date the ninth day of May, 1893, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 11th day of May, 1893, at eight o'clock a. m., in Book 62 of mortgages, on page 265.

Which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Nathaniel J. Upham, mortgagee, to Henrietta D. Hill, by written assignment dated the 25th day of May, 1891, and recorded in the office of said register of deeds on the 26th day of May, 1891, at eight o'clock a. m., in Book 74 of mortgages on page 397, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, which are situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lot numbered twenty-five (25), East Sixth street, Duluth Proper, First Division, according to the recorded plat thereof in the office of the register of deeds for said county; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state on the seventh day of July, 1896, at ten o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of fourteen hundred seventy-eight and 65-100 dollars, and interest, and seventy-five dollars attorneys' fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Grand Avenue Property Owners Want the Bridge Strengthened.

They Believe Street Railway Company May Extend to Ironton.

Aldermen Would Do It If the Company Would Agree to Build.

A number of the property owners on Grand avenue are urging the council to repair and strengthen the bridges on that thoroughfare with the view of persuading the street car company to extend their system to Ironton. The necessary repairs are estimated at $7000. There are a good many people living in that portion of the city who would be greatly benefited by an extension of the street car line, and the members of the council from this district are said to be favorable to the proposition provided the company will agree to build the extension.

"The Flower Queen."

The beautiful cantata, "The Flower Queen or the Coronation of the Rose," by George F. Root, will be given by a chorus of fifty voices at Turner hall, Friday evening, June 12, for the benefit of Miss Mary L. Barnes.

Argument:—The flowers meet in a secluded dell in the forest to choose their queen. A person discontented with the world seeks, in the same place, retirement from its cares and disappointments. The flowers tell of love and duty, and the recluse—learning that to fill well the station alloted by Providence is to be happy—resolved to return again to usefulness and contentment among his fellow creatures.

When any part of the body isn't doing the work that nature intended it to do, it puts the whole system out of tune—out of harmony. Sickness in one part of the body is likely to run into all parts of the body. When children stand a row of bricks on end, they knock the whole row down by upsetting one brick. That is exactly what happens to the health when the bowels fail to perform their proper function. Constipation makes trouble all along the line—puts the liver out of order, is bad for the kidneys—bad for the stomach. It holds in the body poisonous matter, and because it cannot go any place else, it gets into the blood. The blood carries it all over the system. That makes sluggishness, lassitude, bad breath and foul taste in the mouth, fills the stomach with gas and causes windy belching, stops digestion in the stomach, causes sour stomach, heartburn and headache. You can avoid all such trouble, for Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets CURE constipation and its attendant evils.

THE PRODUCE MARKET.

Oceans of supplies, but very little change in price, was the state of affairs on Michigan street today. Eggs firmed up to 9 cents and lettuce dropped 10 cents a basket. Meats and poultry were unchanged.

Invitation tickets for the Lachmund concert tomorrow night can be exchanged today or tomorrow at the box office of the Lyceum for reserved seat.

Thomas McLaughlin and John Smith, charged with having attempted to hold up and rob Z. d'Aoust on Friday night, appeared this morning before Judge Boyle, by whom the preliminary examination was set for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The accused were confined to jail in default of $500 bail each.

The final excursion on the Christopher Columbus before her departure for Chicago will be given on Wednesday evening. There will be dancing and a good time for everybody.

The following births have been reported to the health department: A son to Frank and Margaret F. Conlon, of Duluth Heights; a daughter to C. B. and Ella J. Clement, of 1021 East Second street; a daughter to Charles F. and Mary E. Hopkins, of Anoka street, Woodland Park.

The intake well at Lakewood will be completed by the middle of the week.

A meeting of the Men's association of the First Baptist church will be held on Tuesday evening, June 16. The subject of the "Relation of the Church to Labor" will be discussed.

In the municipal court today, A. McCabe was fined $10 and costs for drunkenness which he paid. Neil Campbell, who pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness went up the hill for ten days. Charles Musolf paid $1 and costs for the privilege of calling names.

The rehearsal for the Lachmund musicale on Saturday evening at the Lyceum was attended by a large number and all were delighted. Mr. Lachmund's compositions were especially pleasing, and were highly complimented. The seats are going well, and there will doubtless be a large audience tomorrow evening.

The new management of the Minnesota Point Street Railway company are giving good service. Cars running on schedule time.

WAS WILD

Wheat Fluctuated Greatly and Closed One Cent Lower For July.

Thoman's Report Shows a Decline in Condition of Wheat.

Large Shipments From the Black Sea Had a Bullish Effect.

The wheat market was very wild today. It opened steady and higher than Saturday's closing and advanced, the principal cause of the strength being Thoman's crop report, which showed a material falling off in the condition of wheat. Cables, however, did not show the advance expected, and the Black sea shipments were reported very large under which the price dropped. Then there was heavy covering by big shorts at Chicago and a general scramble in sending up the price, but it rapidly weakened again on prospects of a small decrease in the world's visible helped by a disposition to take profits. The market jumped up and down with great frequency. The trading on the Duluth board was heavy, and it was large at Chicago, John Cudahy alone being credited with taking 1,000,000 bus.

July opened 1c higher at 62¾c, declined to 61¾c, reacted to 62c, and within ten minutes jumped 1c upward to 63c, falling back during the next fifty minutes to 62½. Then it went down to 60¾c but at 1 o'clock was 61c and later sold up to 61¾c and sold off 1c before the close, finally closing at 61c asked. The mills bought 40,000 bus at 1c over July and shippers took 35,000 bus at the July price. The close was 3c lower than Saturday for cash and futures, except July which closed 1c lower. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 64¾c; July, 62¾c. No. 1 northern, cash, 60¾c; June 61c; July, 61c asked; September, 61c asked. No. 2 northern, cash, 57¾@58¾c. No. 2, 57¼@57¾c. Rejected, 52½@57¼c. On arrive—No. 1 hard, 62c; No. 1 northern, 61c asked. Rye, 32½c. No. 2 oats, 18½@19c; No. 3 oats, 18@18½c. Flax, 80c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 214; oats, 25; rye, 7; barley, 18; flax, 6. Receipts—Wheat, 176,532 bus; oats, 42,015 bus; rye, 20,757 bus; barley, 38,881 bus; flax, 6639 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 165,600 bus.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 307 Board of Trade, Chicago, June 8.—After a very active and excited market wheat closed a cent lower. The range of prices was about 3c and it looked very strong at the top and very weak at the bottom. The feature of the day has been the large realizing sales by several of the parties who have been conspicuous on the buying side of late and it is only natural that they should take quick profits on a market where there is so little outside trade. Foreigners followed our advance in a measure. Paris flour quotations being notably higher but they sent selling orders to New York and here. The Thoman report was considered bullish, but the very light decrease in the visible took the edge off the market. There is a large element who still think we shall have a 500,000,000 bus wheat crop in spite of the damage and this with present business conditions makes a nervous and two-sided market. Probably if it gets under 60c again it ought to be bought.

Corn and oats less active but followed wheat after a fashion.

Provisions dull with packers trying to sell on each advance.

Puts, July wheat, 59¾@½c.

Calls, July wheat, 62½c.

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS.

Stock of millinery must be sold by July 1. Trimmed and untrimmed hats, ribbons, flowers, velvets, ornaments and ostrich feathers, all go regardless of cost. Come early and get your choice. Also store fixtures for sale. Mdlle. May Gagnier, 22 Third avenue west, opposite French & Bassett's.

DO NOTHING BUT SCRAP.

In the Meantime Buildings Fall, Endangering Life.

The fall of the Parsons' block wall has again brought up the question as to whether the board of public works or the building inspector is expected to look after walls and buildings the condition of which endanger life and property. The members of the board take the position that, from the time a building permit is taken out until a certificate of completion is issued, it is incumbent on the building inspector to see to it that the work is carried on in a proper and safe manner, and that the matter is entirely within his jurisdiction.

The building inspector, on the other hand, points to that provision of the charter conferring on the board of public works power to "summarily remove" any building wall that threatens health or life.

The contractors having in charge the construction of the block had weakened the walls by removing the joists and floors and during the delay in the arrival of material had allowed them to stand without sufficient support.

FIREMEN ARRIVING.

A Few of Them Came in This Afternoon.

The arrival of West Wind is scheduled for tomorrow. He will be a welcome guest, bringing, of course, clear skies in his train, and with his assistance the state firemen's convention will be an unqualified success.

Arrangements are complete in the last detail for giving the visitors a welcome that will be warm enough to make them think they are in the banana belt anyhow.

The first installment of guests began to arrive this afternoon and Chief Black and the members of the reception committee were kept busy extending the genial palm. The morning trains will bring visitors galore. The following is the program for tomorrow:

10 a. m.—Regular order of business of convention.

1:30 p. m.—Excursion on whaleback steamer Christopher Columbus, from dock at foot of Fifth avenue west.

8 p. m.—Parade of fire department from Sixth avenue west to Third avenue east on Superior street and return.

Has Heard Nothing.

The announcement is made today, as will be seen by reference to the telegraphic dispatches that all the congressmen who have gone home are to be recalled to Washington. Mr. Towne has not as yet received any notice from the sergeant-at-arms and does not know whether he will have to go back or not.

REDUCED RATES TO WASHINGTON

The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor will hold their annual meeting in Washington, D. C., July 7 to 13.

For this occasion the B. & O. R. R. Co. will sell tickets, from all points on its lines, west of the Ohio river to Washington, at one single fare for the round trip, July 4 to 7, inclusive; valid for return passage until July 15, inclusive, with the privilege of an additional extension until July 31 by depositing tickets with joint agents at Washington.

Tickets will also be on sale at stations of all connecting lines.

Delegates should not lose sight of the fact that all B. & O. trains run via Washington.

POSTPONED.

The reception and promenade which was to have been given on the North West this evening for the benefit of the Duluth Home society has been postponed until next Friday evening, and will be given then in exactly the same manner as had been aranged for this evening.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

For the occasion the "Omaha" will sell round trip tickets to St. Paul, on June 10 and 11, for $4:30.

Take the line that gives the "up-to-date" service. Try the new Wagner sleepers. Tickets and sleepers at 405 West Superior street.

THE WEATHER.

United States Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Synopsis of weather conditions for the forty-eight hours ending at 7 a. m., (Central time), June 8.—A storm area has moved eastward across the Missouri valley, and the barometer is now lowest in the Upper Mississippi valley and the southern part of the lake region, with centers of disturbance near St. Paul and Detroit, respectively.

Rain has fallen in all reporting districts except the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains, and severe gales have been reported in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Missouri. The rainfall has been especially heavy in North Dakota, Illinois and Eastern Iowa. The forty-eight hour rainfall has been 3.64 inches at Williston, N. D., 1.42 at Bismarck, 1.12 at Davenport, 1.58 at St. Paul and .72 inch at Chicago.

Duluth temperature at a. m. today, 40; maximum yesterday, 44; minimum yesterday, 42; rainfall during the forty-eight hours ending at 7 a. m. today, .46 inch.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity: Continued cloudy weather this afternoon and tonight, with northeast gales, diminishing tonight; Tuesday generally fair and probably fresh northwest winds; slightly warmer by Tuesday morning; warmer Tuesday. Storm northeast signals are displayed at Duluth and Two Harbors.

JAMES KENDALL,
Local Forecast Official.

Chicago, June 8.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow: Wisconsin: Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; cooler in central and south portions tonight; warmer in west portion Tuesday; fresh westerly winds. Minnesota: Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday, with showers in north portion tonight; warmer Tuesday; fresh westerly winds.

The water over the miter sill in St. Mary's ship canal at 7 a. m. was 14 feet 2 inches and the forecast is that it will rise during the next twenty-four hours.

MR. TOWNE'S POSITION.

Mr. Towne has declined to take sides in the gubernatorial contest in this county between Mr. Lee and Mr. Clough. His reason is that he has warm friends among the supporters of both candidates and he does not wish to pose as a political dictator. It is unfortunate that Mr. Towne should take such a position in the great struggle between the people and the Merriam machine. No one has asked him to become a dictator or to pose as a dictator. No one desires that he should seek to act as a political boss. This is a fight against the bosses, and it was naturally expected that Mr. Towne, whose friends made a successful fight against the political bosses in this county two years ago and thus secured, his nomination and election to congress, would be found with the people this year in the fight against the bosses who control the Republican party in this state.

It is a fight similar in some respects to that which Mr. Towne made two years ago, except that it extends outside the limits of this county, outside the boundaries of the Sixth district, and embraces the whole state. The Merriam machine for several years has had the Republican party in Minnesota by the throat. For a long time it stifled the voice of almost every person who dared to oppose its ends, and by the exercise of the basest and most degrading political methods it has been able to dictate the party platforms and the nomination of candidates for office. The introduction of the political system known as Merriamism has been a blight upon honest Republicanism. It is the enemy of true citizenship, the unrelenting foe of true Americanism, the destroyer of patriotism and the incarnation of corrupt ring rule. Mr. Lee has incurred the bitter opposition of this corrupt machine, because his nomination would mean its overthrow and destruction. For the same reason Mr. Clapp is being strongly fought by the machine. Thus the issue is plain.

Clough is the candidate of the Merriam-Bixby machine. As such, if for no other reason, he is opposed by all decent, self-respecting Republicans. They had a right to expect that Mr. Towne, who has been a target for the bitterest invective of this machine, and who in the past has denounced its methods and purposes, would lend his valuable aid to prevent its continuance in power, and would support for the governorship the candidate of the Sixth district, William E. Lee. The Herald has no doubt that Mr. Towne wishes success to Mr. Lee in his candidacy, but it does not agree with those who have persuaded him that it is not his duty to take a more active part in the contest. If Mr. Towne would exhibit in this fight between the people and the Merriam machine the same courage which he displays in expressing and maintaining his views upon the money question in the face of hostile criticism and threats of political extinction, he would raise himself still higher in the esteem of those who regard him as the special champion of the people's cause.

THE BICYCLE'S PRIVILEGES.

There was a disposition for a time on the part of some wheelmen to treat with contempt the ordinance forbidding them to ride on the sidewalks and requiring them to carry bells and lanterns, but it is gratifying to notice that this feeling has almost entirely vanished and that there is a quite general desire to comply with the provisions of the ordinance.

For the benefit of the small minority that is still kicking at the law, it may be well to state that similar ordinances are being enforced in all the large cities. The New York ordinance forbids a speed of more than eight miles an hour. Other ordinances provide against serpentine riding—passing from one side of the street to the other—require that both hands shall be kept upon the handle bars, and in some instances forbid the position assumed by scorchers as well as scorching itself. In all the large cities lanterns and bells are required, and in none of them are the privileges of pedestrians abridged in order to favor wheelmen. The city of Cleveland has laid a tax upon wheels, and the New York council is considering a measure providing for a license of $1 a year. It is proposed in New York to set aside the tax for improving the streets with special reference to requirements of the wheel, and there is much which can be said in favor of this plan.

The wheelmen demand and have been granted certain privileges, but they must not expect that the rights of pedestrians are to be abridged in any respect for their benefit. The wheel is a vehicle, and not only must it respect the rights of other vehicles, but it must, in common with every other class of vehicle, respect the long established rights of pedestrians to the exclusive use of the sidewalks and to the right-of-way on the crossings.

A SINGLE STANDARD.

A Chicago dispatch claims that the financial plank upon which the advocates ofr gold and silver will join issue in the committee on resolutions of the Republican national convention has been already drafted and "received the approval of many men eminent in finance," which means of course that it meets with favor in Wall street. Its author is R. W. Patterson, publisher of the Chicago Tribune and son-in-law of Joseph Medill, who has been practically selected as the representative of the Illinois delegation on the committee on resolutions. It is asserted that unless material changes are made within the next week, the resolution in its wording will not differ materially from the following:

"We recognize in the movement for the free coinage of silver an attempt to degrade the long-established standard of our monetary system, and hence a blow to public and private credit at once costly to the national government and harmful to our domestic and foreign commerce. Until, therefore, the prospect presents itself of an international agreement relating to silver coinage, and so long as gold remains the standard of the United States; and of the civilized world, the Republican party, through its representatives in the national convention assembled, declares itself in favor of the firm and honorable maintenance of that standard."

If such a resolution should be adopted by the St. Louis convention, no Republican who honestly believes in bimetallism can consistently abide by it, nor can they support any candidate who stands upon such a platform. There is no doubt that a majority of the delegates elected to the St. Louis convention favor the single gold standard, and it is altogether likely that, unless the great popular movement for silver manifested at the Democratic caucuses and the result of the Oregon election may make them more cautious and timid, they will adopt the financial plank prepared by Mr. Patterson.

BEYOND COMPREHENSION.

The News Tribune ridicules the platform of the Kentucky Democrats which declares in favor of "an honest dollar, a dollar worth neither more nor less than 100 cents," and demands the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. Yet it is upon a similar platform that Mr. Towne now stands, and where all the others stand whom Governor Clough has insultingly referred to as "cheap demagogues."

Mr. Towne has given notice that he does not propose to recant the views that he has expressed upon this question. He will stand by his guns and bravely fight it out on that line. But how, under the circumstances, he can consistently lend aid, by remaining inactive, to Mr. Clough and the organs of the machine, who thus ridicule his views, is beyond the comprehension of earnest bimetallists.

The St. Cloud Journal-Press on Saturday published the speech delivered in congress by Mr. McCleary on the financial question and described it as "a complete answer to Congressman Towne's great speech." It is probably as able a defense of the single gold standard system as can be made, but it is absurd to call it "a complete answer" to Mr. Towne.

It is stated that the speech at Long Prairie, in which Governor Clough denounced bimetallists as "cheap demagogues," was read from manuscript. Who wrote it is unknown, and it would be charitable to conclude that Mr. Clough did not know what it contained.

Mr. Towne was warmly and enthusiastically welcomed home. It was a fitting demonstration in honor of a congressman who performed his duties with marked ability.

It is altogether likely that when Governor Clough referred to the silver men as "cheap demagogues" he was judging them by his friend and present supporter, Bob Dunn.

The News Tribune need not imagine that The Herald will ever try to get on "the Clough band wagon." It has too much self-respect to be found in such company.

The Hennepin county delegation will not be in favor of Clough. Then why should St. Louis county give its vote to a man who is repudiated by his own county?

A victory for Clough in this county would mean the restoration of the old "range gang" to control of the Republican conventions here.

What office is Tom Clark seeking now? He was in St. Paul on Saturday swearing at The Herald because it opposes Clough.

All the oldest and strongest Republican papers in the state are opposed to Clough's nomination.

Tams Bixby must have put the wrong speech in Governor Clough's grip.

THE ROUNDER.

It might be said in passing—and by the way many of the whaleback excursionists yesterday were "passing" their dinners to Neptune with unrestrained lavishness—that legitimate business rivalry is a good thing and on the big whaleback steamship Christopher Columbus it was exemplified to a great extent. The weather was rough—"deucedly rough, bah jove, don't cher know"—and mal de mer was the leading occupation for about 400 persons who wanted to die. It was rumored that whisky was an antidote for seasickness and the wine room was crowded with hundreds of sick passengers, the greater number of them ladies, and the saloon was doing a land office business in "ladies' size" drinks of rye.

The room was crowded and the fair but weary ones were, like men in a barber shop, waiting their "next" turn to get a preventive. That was well enough for the barber and wine room department, but if was anything but pleasant for the soda water department in the ladies' cabin which was almost deserted. But the dispenser of gas and fizz had his wits about him and he hunted up an old bromo seltzer sign which originally read "Bromo Seltzer, a sure cure for Headache." He worked at it for a few moments and when he had finished it was hung up in front of the big fountain and read:

BROMO SELTZER
A Sure Cure for SEASICKNESS.

In about a moment it was seen and then the soda water man got in his work. The ladies and their escorts trooped up in twos, dozens, squads and hundreds until the soda water department looked like a bargain counter in one of the big Duluth department stores and bromo seltzer had a wonderful sale at 10 cents per glass. The saloon man down stairs came up to see what his friendly rival had done and when he saw the crowd he remarked: "Well, I'll be blowed," and he disappeared below to think up some circumventing scheme.

COLUMBUS.

Behind him lay the gray Azores,
Behind the Gates of Hercules;
Before him not the ghost of shores,
Before him only shoreless seas.
The good mate said: "Now must we pray,
For lo! the very stars are gone.
Brave adm'r'l, speak; what shall I say?"
"Why, say: 'Sail on! sail on! and on!'"

"My men grow mutinous day by day;
My men grow ghastly wan and weak."
The stout mate thought of home; a spray
Of salt wave washed his swarthy cheek.
"What shall I say, brave Adm'r'l, say,
If we sight naught but seas at dawn?"
"Why, you shall say at break of day:
'Sail on! sail on! sail on! and on!'"

They sailed, and sailed, as winds might blow,
Until at last the blanched mate said:
"Why, now not even God would know
Should I and all my men fall dead.
These cruel seas shall find us soon
For God from these dread seas is gone.
Now speak, brave adm'r'l, speak and say—"
He said: "Sail on! sail on! and on!"

They sailed! They sailed! Then spake the mate:
"This mad sea shows its teeth tonight;
He curls his lip, he lies in wait
With lifted teeth as if to bite!
Brave adm'r'l, say but one good word—
What shall we when the night comes?"
The words leaped as a leaping sword:
"Sail on! Sail on! Sail on! and on!"

Then, pale and worn, he kept his deck,
And peered through darkness. Ah, that night
Of all dark nights! And then a speck—
A light! A light! A light! A light!
It grew, a starlit flag unfurled!
It grew to be Time's burst of dawn.
He gained a world; he gave that world
Its grandest lesson: "On! sail on!"
—Joaquin Miller.

ABSURD.

Detroit Tribune: "It's absurd," exclaimed the contortionist, hotly.

"What's the matter, old man?" asked the fire eater, who was acting as floor manager.

"Matter? Matter enough. The ossified man claims that the limbless nightingale is his for all the polkas."

A CANDIDATE'S EXPERIENCE.

Jim Jones he was a candidate for office—
so he was;
He'd been workin' 'long from daylight in the Democratic cause;
He'd heard about the salary an office
holder draws,
So he went out for an office in the mornin'!

He brushed up his old black beaver and polished up his boots;
He got him twenty packages of Georgia
made cheroots;
An' they missed him from the village and political disputest,
For he went in for an office in the mornin'!

But the office was a-comin', an' they told him for to wait;
The road was kinder crooked when he thought it kinder straight;
But Jones—he kept a-swingin' on the Democratic gate,
"For," said he, "I'll catch the office in the mornin'!"

Soon the candidates had smoked up all of
An' the mud had worn the polish from his brogans and his boots;
And he lost his reputation in political disputes,
An' he never got the office in the mornin'!
—Frank L. Stanton in the Atlanta Constitution.

THE GOVERNORSHIP.

MOSE CLAPP'S STRENGTH.

Crookston Tribune: The Pioneer Press—which is largely owned by ex-Governor Merriam—is becoming alarmed at Mose Clapp's strength in St. Paul, and practically admits that he will carry Ramsey county. The P. P. says this should not be, because St. Paul wants the senator two years hence. Just so, they want Merriam, and in their fight they admit that the whole fight for Clough is made in the interest of Merriam. For the first time the P. P. comes out squarely for Dave Clough, because "he has always been a staunch friend of St. Paul." This will help Dave in Minneapolis—in a horn.

THE MACHINE ALARMED.

St. Cloud Times: If anything is to be gathered from the Pioneer Press opposition to Gen. Clapp, and its declaration that Ramsey county should support Clough for governor, it is that the general is in a fair way to capture the Ramsey delegation. The P. P., which speaks for the Merriam machine, is very much disturbed at this; hence its appeal to St. Paulites to thrust aside the gubernatorial crown.

HENNEPIN AGAINST CLOUGH.

Minneapolis Journal: The Clough people in the Hennepin county committee had their way and the county convention has been put off to the latest possible date. The reason for this is apparent enough, as has already been pointed out. They do not dare to submit the issue to the people of this county in time for it to have any effect upon the situation throughout the state. It is true that the people of the state want to know what Hennepin county is going to do, but Mr. Clough's friends do not intend to let them know if they can help it until the last minute. If Mr. Clough had any idea that he could carry Hennepin county he would demand an early convention.

OPPOSITION EVERY WHERE.

Crookston Tribune: The supporters of each of the candidates opposed to Clough will make strenuous efforts for their favorite candidate. Failing in his nomination, they will then go to the strongest man in the field against Clough. If there was an exchange of sentiment between the different portions of the state, the people would see the true situation, and see that there is opposition to Clough in every county in the state.

CLOUGH NOT WANTED.

Osakis (Douglas County) Review: Many friends of Senator Nelson are pained to know that he is making a fight in this county against the popular will, for there is no denying the fact that the only Clough supporters in the county live at Alexandria, most of them to be found within the confines of the court house, who are induced to shout for Clough because of personal friendship for Senator Nelson. Add to this court house ring a few who are drawing pay as a part and parcel of the state machinery and you have the entire Clough strength in Douglas county. Outside of these few there are no good words for Clough here. The common people who have heretofore stood by Senator Nelson look upon the action of his strikers at Alexandria in the dictatorial role that they are playing in the governorship fight, with great disfavor. They do not consider the plans Mr. Nelson's fight in any particular and condemn machine politics and Clough's methods on every hand. These same revolting elements stood loyally by Mr. Nelson for governor two years ago, but they look upon the election of Mr. Nelson and the election of Mr. Clough to the exalted position of governor of the state as two altogether different propositions.

MERRIAM AND CLAPP.

Minneapolis Journal: When Mr. Clapp's candidacy was first announced, Governor Merriam, and all the supporters of Clough, undertook to make it appear that his candidacy was a "cheap" one, and they succeeded in fooling a great many people, even some of Gen. Clapp's personal friends. Their talk was then: "Vote for Clough, for we cannot do that, vote for Clapp;" and Governor Merriam even went so far as to personally represent to those whom he wished to influence that Clapp's candidacy was in the interest of Clough. Now that that scheme has been exposed, and Gen. Clapp is likely to carry Ramsey county, Mr. Merriam and the Pioneer Press and all the machine outfit are fiercely fighting Clapp with all their might. We don't hear anything more about Clapp's candidacy being in the interest of Clough.

SHOULD BE SUFFICIENT.

Minneapolis Times: E. O. Zimmerman quite gave the snap away when he said in the Pioneer Press: "Clough is a friend of Knute Nelson and William R. Merriam, that ought to be enough to show their friends in St. Paul what to do." It should also be sufficient to show friends of good government and decency and enemies of boodle politics in this county what to do.

A GOOD MAN GONE.

Brainerd Dispatch: A busy and eventful life is thus closed and Minnesota loses a citizen whose circle of friends was as wide as the lot of any man possessed. Judge Stearns was personally known to many of our citizens as a man of integrity, honesty and ability.

Carlton County Vidette: Judge Stearns was born in New York, and was 68 years of age. He served his country with distinction during the war, and he served it faithfully and honorably since in his chosen walk in life. The Duluth press eulogizes the memory of the departed jurist very highly, but he was deserving of it. Every old resident of this county will remember the judge and remember him kindly and regretfully.

Wadena County Pioneer: Judge Stearns was one of the most popular and ablest judges in Minnesota. For years he was a judge of the old Eleventh judicial district, of which Wadena county was a part, and he was well known in Wadena therefore, by reason of his frequent visits here. All of his old friends will learn with regret of his death.

DESERVES A RE-ELECTION.

Melrose County Beacon: Hon. C. A. Towne will be nominated by acclamation. And it is right that he should be. He has done more for his constituents during his first term, than any other man elected to congress from this state. As an orator, scholar and statesman, he is the peer of any man in our national congress. The Sixth district would make an irreparable mistake if it failed to nominate him.

Two Harbors Iron News: Mr. Towne returns to his constituents entitled to their respect and gratitude, having won the laurel by application and fidelity. No member who has preceded him as the representative of this district has approached him in effective work. He has won a position and influence in one term few members achieve in several. Lake county's influence and strength is Mr. Towne's in his contest for re-election, no matter how we may differ with him on a few questions of party policy. He averages all right.

Ely Miner: Hon. Charles A. Towne, our congressman, will be the nominee of the convention to succeed himself. Mr. Towne has, during the past term, made a most able representative and his eloquence and worth have brought him before the eyes of the people more than any other member of the present house.

MCKINLEY'S HARD ROAD.

Minneapolis Times: There is nothing in McKinley's record which shows him to be in favor of the gold standard; while there is much to show him to be for free silver. But there is no doubt whatever that he is through and through for protection from ground to skyline. On the assumption of his nomination, which is now probable, the ordinary effect upon him of the desire and necessity to get votes is easily foreseen. If nominated he will try to steer a middle course during the canvass on the currency question, at a time when a middle course on that question is particularly perilous and offensive. He will probably try to run as a resounding protectionist when the voices of the thoughtful and stable are against extreme protection, although the clamor of the multitudinous ignorant is against it. In this way the election of McKinley may be much harder than his nomination is likely to be. As matters now look, the real problem is not his nomination, but his election.

WILL VOTE FOR EVANS.

Brainerd Dispatch: A statement has been made that the Sixth district delegates to the St. Louis convention are pledged and will vote for Tams Bixby for national committeeman, but the author of the same knew not what he said, evidently. Messrs. Davidson and Nichols will vote for R. G. Evans, and thereby carry out the wishes of the people who elected them.

"CHEAP DEMAGOGUES."

Clough's Bitter Denunciation of the Silver Men.

Minneapolis Journal: Chairman Bixby, of the Republican state central committee, who is conducting Mr. Clough's campaign, is usually very careful about his arrangements for Mr. Clough's public appearances, but he seems to have made a miscalculation yesterday, and in packing Governor Clough's grip for his trip to Long Prairie he put in a speech which the governor will be called to afterward by the dairy farmers of the southern part of the state. Of course, the governor does not venture to change a word or a sentence in the speeches which Mr. Bixby prepares for him, and so he went into a strong silver section of the Sixth district and began to denounce the adherents of silver views as "cheap demagogues," and told them that the dairy interests of Minnesota were worth more than the silver interests of the whole country, and jumped on the silver fellows generally.

Of course, he didn't intend to do this, and wouldn't have done it if Bixby hadn't made a mistake in packing his grip. This will cause the farmers of Clough's next week explaining to the Sixth district why it was that Governor Clough came up among them and used such unpretty and unnecessary language with regard to them. It was all Bixby's fault.

THE FIGHT IN RAMSEY.

It is Merriam's Money Versus Clapp's Popularity.

Minneapolis Times: The contest for governor in Ramsey county is increasing in interest as well as intensity. In this fight the personality of Dave Clough, of Minneapolis, is entirely lost sight of, while the vigorous and aggressive individuality of William R. Merriam grows more apparent. Indeed, the fight today is between William R. Merriam and his money, and Moses E. Clapp and his popularity.

Ex-Governor Merriam has allied with his interest a very large proportion of the commercial, financial and corporate interests. The Great Northern railroad and the officials of that corporation are actively engaged in the interest of Governor Merriam, David Clough and the machine.

On the other hand, Gen. Clapp has wonderful personal popularity, a wide acquaintance, undisputed ability and is not entirely destitute of friends who possess the sinews of war. Donald Grant, of Faribault, is the enthusiastic friend and backer of Gen. Clapp—and people who have the misfortune to run athwart the purposes and wishes of the Faribault potentate, will know what that means.

Ex-Governor Merriam realizes that the most important step affecting all his future ambitions for political preferment is about to be taken. His agents, friends, strikers and political employes are omnipresent, and each individual is making the fight of his life for Dave Clough, of Minneapolis.

And still the result is at this time very largely in doubt. Sentiment is very frequently a power more potent in a political contest than money, and there is no shadow of doubt that Gen. Moses E. Clapp has a firm hold on the confidence, respect and esteem of the voters of Ramsey county.

A PERPLEXED SUPERIORITE.

Superior Leader: It has become obvious that the Democrats will come out flat for free silver at Chicago, while the Republicans, with more or less positiveness, will endorse the gold standard at St. Louis. Hundreds of men in this region, who are Republicans and are yet dissatisfied with the present currency system, would like to hear Mr. Towne's advice in such a dilemma. Must a Republican who wants something done for silver abandon McKinley and the St. Louis platform and go with the Democrats? Is there not plenty of room for a rational bimetallist within the bounds of Republicanism?

NO SUPPORT AT HOME.

Virginia Enterprise: A Duluth exchange conveys the startling information that B. N. Wheeler is a candidate for county superintendent of schools. Unless the people of Virginia conclude that this is the only method of getting rid of the gentleman we see no reason why he should receive the support of the delegates from here.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by George Rupley and Emma C. Rupley, his wife, mortgagors, to William E. Lucas, mortgagee, dated June first (1st), 1895, and recorded in the register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on June twenty-third (23rd), 1895, at 2:30 o'clock p. m. in Book one hundred two (102) of mortgages, on pages 264, 265 and 266 thereof; such default consisting in the non-payment of all of the five several semi-annual installments of interest upon the debt secured by said mortgage, which have become due since the date of said mortgage, each amounting to the sum of one hundred five dollars, no part of any of which has ever been paid; and also consisting in the non-payment of taxes and assessments which have been duly levied and assessed upon the premises covered by said mortgage, which had become delinquent, and which have been heretofore paid by said mortgagee in accordance with the provisions of said mortgage, amounting to the further sum of $229.55; by reason of which defaults said mortgagee has elected to exercise the option to him given by the terms of said note and mortgage, by declaring, and he does hereby declare, the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage, with all accrued interest thereon, and said sum heretofore paid by him for taxes and assessments upon said mortgaged premises, to be now due and payable;

And whereas there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice the sum of three thousand eight hundred sixty-seven and 05-100ths ($3867.05) dollars, principal, interest, exchange, and taxes and assessments paid;

And whereas said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, and described as follows, to-wit: All of lot numbered eight (8), in block numbered twenty-one (21), Banning & Ray's Sub-Division in Duluth; and also all of frontal block numbered eighty-one (81), in Endion Division of Duluth, according to the respective recorded plats thereof in said register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota; which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the twenty-fourth (24th) day of June, A. D. 1896, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, interest, and said taxes and assessments paid by said mortgagee upon said mortgaged premises, and seventy-five dollars attorney's fee, stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated April 20th, 1896.

MORTGAGE SALE.—Default having been made in a mortgage with power of sale, made, executed and delivered by Joseph A. Manheim and Elizabeth Manheim, his wife, and Matthias Haug and Anna Haug, his wife, mortgagors, of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, to Fred Erickson, mortgagee, of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, dated November eleventh (11th), 1889, and recorded November sixteenth (16th), 1889, in the register of deeds' office in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, in Book forty-four (44) of mortgages, page three hundred and forty-four (344), upon which there is claimed to be due and there is due the sum of two thousand one hundred seven and 64-100 dollars ($2107.64), principal and interest, together with twenty-five dollars ($25) attorneys' fees.

Now therefore said mortgage will be foreclosed by public sale of the mortgaged premises situated in the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, and described as follows to-wit: The northeast quarter of the southwest quarter (ne¼ of sw¼) and southeast quarter of northwest quarter (se¼ of nw¼) of section thirteen in township fifty (50), north of range fifteen (15), west of fourth (4) principal meridian, according to the government survey thereof; which sale will be made to the highest bidder for cash at the front door of the district court house, in the city of Duluth, St. Louis County, state of Minnesota, on Saturday, July 11th, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m.

ORDER FOR HEARING ON CLAIMS.—State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis—ss.

In Probate Court, Special Term, May 25th, 1896.

In the matter of the estate of Catherine W. Beckwith, deceased:

Letters of administration C. T. A. on the estate of said deceased being this day granted unto Arthur Howell, of said county.

It is ordered that all claims and demands of all persons against said estate be presented to this court, for examination and allowance, at the probate office, in Duluth, in said county, on Monday, the 14th day of December, A. D. 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. for calculation yesterday, and in packing Governor Clough's grip for his trip to Long Prairie he put in a speech which the governor will be called to afterward by the dairy farmers of the southern part of the state. Of course, the governor does not venture to change a word or a sentence in the speeches which Mr. Bixby prepares for him, and so he went into a strong silver section of the Sixth district and began to denounce the adherents of silver views as "cheap demagogues," and told them that the dairy interests of Minnesota were worth more than the silver interests of the whole country, and jumped on the silver fellows generally.

Of course, he didn't intend to do this, and wouldn't have done it if Bixby hadn't made a mistake in packing his grip. This will cause the farmers of Clough's next week explaining to the Sixth district why it was that Governor Clough came up among them and used such unpretty and unnecessary language with regard to them. It was all Bixby's fault.

THE FIGHT IN RAMSEY.

It is Merriam's Money Versus Clapp's Popularity.

Minneapolis Times: The contest for governor in Ramsey county is increasing in interest as well as intensity. In this fight the personality of Dave Clough, of Minneapolis, is entirely lost sight of, while the vigorous and aggressive individuality of William R. Merriam grows more apparent. Indeed, the fight today is between William R. Merriam and his money, and Moses E. Clapp and his popularity.

Ex-Governor Merriam has allied with his interest a very large proportion of the commercial, financial and corporate interests. The Great Northern railroad and the officials of that corporation are actively engaged in the interest of Governor Merriam, David Clough and the machine.

On the other hand, Gen. Clapp has wonderful personal popularity, a wide acquaintance, undisputed ability and is not entirely destitute of friends who possess the sinews of war. Donald Grant, of Faribault, is the enthusiastic friend and backer of Gen. Clapp—and people who have the misfortune to run athwart the purposes and wishes of the Faribault potentate will know what that means.

Ex-Governor Merriam realizes that the most important step affecting all his future ambitions for political preferment is about to be taken. His agents, friends, strikers and political employes are omnipresent, and each individual is making the fight of his life for Dave Clough, of Minneapolis.

And still the result is at this time very largely in doubt. Sentiment is very frequently a power more potent in a political contest than money, and there is no shadow of doubt that Gen. Moses E. Clapp has a firm hold on the confidence, respect and esteem of the voters of Ramsey county.

A PERPLEXED SUPERIORITE.

Superior Leader: It has become obvious that the Democrats will come out flat for free silver at Chicago, while the Republicans, with more or less positiveness, will endorse the gold standard at St. Louis. Hundreds of men in this region, who are Republicans and are yet dissatisfied with the present currency system, would like to hear Mr. Towne's advice in such a dilemma. Must a Republican who wants something done for silver abandon McKinley and the St. Louis platform and go with the Democrats? Is there not plenty of room for a rational bimetallist within the bounds of Republicanism?

NO SUPPORT AT HOME.

Virginia Enterprise: A Duluth exchange conveys the startling information that B. N. Wheeler is a candidate for county superintendent of schools. Unless the people of Virginia conclude that this is the only method of getting rid of the gentleman we see no reason why he should receive the support of the delegates from here.

SCOTCH-IRISH CLANS.

Are ye gangin' to the meetin', to the meetin' o' the clans,
With your tartans and your pibrochs and your bonnets and brogans?

There are Neeleys from New Hampshire and Mulligans from Maine,
McCarthys from Missouri and a Tennessee McShane.

Kelleys, Caseys, Dunns and Daceys, by the dozens and the score,
And O'Ferral, of Virginia, whom the Tribbyites adore.

There are Cochranes (born Corcoran) as polished as you please,
And Kenyons who were Keenans, and Murfrees once Murphys.

And we'll sit upon the pint-stoup and we'll talk of auld lang syne
As we quaff the flowing haggis to our lasses' bonnie eyne.

And we'll join in jubilation for the thing that we are not:
For we say we aren't Irish, and God knows we aren't Scotch!

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—Notice is hereby given that default has been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Charles W. Hoyt and Jennie M. Hoyt, his wife, mortgagors, to J. D. Taylor, mortgagee, bearing date the 21st day of November, 1893, with power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, on the 25th day of November, 1893, at 9:30 o'clock a. m., in Book 128 of mortgages on page 16, which default has continued to the date of this notice, by the failure and neglect of said mortgagor to make payment of the interest by said mortgage secured, which by its terms became due and payable on the 1st day of October, 1896, and which default has continued for more than thirty days.

And whereas the said mortgagee and holder of said mortgage has elected and hereby does elect to declare the whole principal sum of said mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said mortgage, and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable at the date of this notice the sum of fifteen hundred ($1500) dollars with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent per annum, from the 1st day of October, 1895; and whereas the power of sale has become operative and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, to-wit: Lots nine (9), ten (10) and eleven (11), in block one hundred ninety-one (191), West Duluth, Seventh Division, according to the recorded plat thereof on file or of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for said St. Louis County, said lots being situated in St. Louis County and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state on the 24th day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of fifteen hundred dollars, and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and fifty dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to red

Congressman Towne Given a Great Reception Saturday Evening.

Speeches By Mayor Truelsen, Judge Morris and Several Others.

Will Not Recant Silver Views Even to Obtain a Re-Election.

The reception to Congressman Towne on Saturday evening was a spontaneous tribute to a man who has been a faithful servant of the people. No partisanship entered into it; it was a testimonial from the people of Duluth. Owing to the bad weather the exercises were held in the Spalding rotunda, and the large crowd filled it completely. The politicians were all there, of course, and they bobbed around through the crowd during the whole evening. The Duluth City band played, and with two-steps and lively selections kept the crowd in an enthusiastic spirit.

R. S. Munger was chairman and introduced Mayor Truelsen as the first speaker. He made a fine speech of welcome and congratulation, and concluded by telling the people frankly that he was going to vote for Mr. Towne this fall. At this there was a great burst of applause.

J. H. Norton was next called on. He congratulated Mr. Towne upon his success and assured him of the pride Duluth people feel in it. This demonstration on the part of the people, he said, was not fulsome flattery, but the honest recognition of work well done.

J. L. Washburn congratulated Mr. Towne from the non-partisan business standpoint. He had never in all his memory heard of a man who in one term accomplished so much for himself and his district. He said, further, that Duluth was doubly represented, for Mrs. Towne was almost as good a congressman as her husband.

Judge Morris also spoke as a non-partisan, but admitted that he had not belonged to that class very long. He took a great delight in being able to honor the man whose spotless integrity and brilliant talents have accomplished so much. "In honoring him we honor ourselves." He ventured to say that no congressman going home from his labors would receive such a reception as this, and no man more highly deserves it.

J. B. Cotton made an eloquent speech introducing Mr. Towne. He spoke of the importance of the district which has been so ably represented by him, and declared that no wreath of honor could be too good for him.

MR TOWNE'S SPEECH.

When Mr. Towne come forward he was given an ovation which continued for some time. When it finally subsided he delivered a manly and outspoken address. He said:

"Mr. Chairman and Fellow Citizens: If I could have chosen any form of expression of gratitude or reward for services which have been honestly and unstintingly bestowed I could have wished for nothing more pleasant and satisfactory than the kind of appreciation you have given me tonight. There is no reward so rich as the love of friends. I honestly thank you for your appreciation of my humble efforts.

"The district which I represent is the greatest in the country. A great man, a member of the United States senate, once asked me why I thought that Proctor Knott never made but one real speech. I told him it was because he never had but one great subject. The explanation is simple and conclusive.

"My success, if I have obtained any, has not been due to my personal ability, but to the cause I represented. When I secured the placing of the Duluth-Superior harbor under the continuous contract system with an appropriation of $2,100,000, of which $750,000 is to be spent each year, beginning July 1, 1897, I got it because it was deserved. When I went before the rivers and harbors committee and asked for it I was received with astonishment, which gave way to surprise when I told them that during the past year more than 11,000 vessels had cleared from the Duluth-Superior harbor, carrying freigh; valued at more than $100,000,000. Then I told them of the tremendous traffic of the Sault canal, greater by far than that of the Suez canal, about which all the world stands ready to fight, and that 61 per cent of that traffic comes to the Duluth-Superior harbor. The argument was insuperable and the appropriation was a foregone conclusion. The recognition may be understood when it is known that although there are 417 items in the bill the head of the lakes gets 1-22 of the whole.

NOT ALONE DULUTH.

"It was not my belief when I was elected that I was to represent only the city of Duluth. My commission was from the people of the whole district, and I have so endeavored to discharge my duty. I do not feel well in the capacity of a self-eulogist. If I have accomplished much, I now feel all the reward man could ask. If I had had my way there are many other things which congress would have done. If I had had my way, in the midst of the distress now prevailing something would have been done to alleviate the condition of the people. (Applause.) I do not believe in the policy of a do-nothing American congress. I have no sympathy with such a policy. (Applause.) It was possible to have made an issue to go before the people on. If I had had my way, congress would have passed a comprehensive bankruptcy bill. The right hand of fellowship would have been extended to the Cubans if I had had my way. (Great applause.) The campaign of Maceo and Gomez will rank in the classics of war alongside that of Washington through New Jersey. I believe there should have been an authoritative declaration, not merely a concurrent resolution.

"As I have said, this district is a great one. There is no member of congress who has a matter of importance in his district that I cannot duplicate. When a Western member refers to the Indians in his district, I point to seven reservations in mine. Some member will talk to me of fog signals, lights, etc., and then I point to the harbor. Another will speak of lumber, and I point to the great forests here; another of iron ore, and I tell him of our great mineral wealth."

Mr. Towne also spoke of the large number of veterans in this district, and said it had been a work of love and respect for him to aid them in securing assistance for their declining days. He referred to the veto of the rivers and harbors bill and defended the measure warmly, not, he said, because Duluth and Minnesota fared well, but because it was founded on proper principles, the best bill ever framed in congress. He ventured to say that no other rivers and harbors bill would be vetoed.

"I feel that I cannot pass over Mr. Washburn's compliment. A man's wife on general principles is an important addition to himself. And when a man who is striving hard to get a personal 'pull' has a lady who has the genial and cheering manner that makes friends is a tremendous advantage to a struggling statesman.

"But I am grateful for the welcome you have given me, not only personally, but as your representative. This recognition emphasizes the fact that a representative is merely the deputy for the whole body politic. In no partisan spirit and simply as a fellow-citizen, I acknowledge the compliment you pay me in almost too great measure. Let me say, too, that I do not believe for one moment that your presence here binds you to support me in obtaining a re-election."

HIS SILVER VIEWS.

Mr. Towne then mentioned his silver speech, and instantly there was great attention.

"A certain speech of mine in congress has been mentioned. I went to congress entertaining decided opinions on certain great questions interesting to all the people. I have no apology to make now for those views. (Applause.) I believe there is no harm in honest agitation. Something has been said about re-election this fall. I admit the question is one in which I am interested. Anyone is free to oppose me if he wishes. But if any man thinks I will seek to gain this or any other office by a recantation of my opinions, let him disabuse his mind of that idea at once. (Great applause.) Henry Clay said he would rather be right than be president. I have never had a chance to be president, but I do say this: I would rather be right than be member of congress from this district."

At the conclusion of the speech there was a rush forward to shake hands with Mr. Towne, and the reception continued for nearly an hour.

MARQUETTE DOWNED.

Duluth Defeated the Michigan Men at Baseball.

The games at the ball park Saturday and Sunday between Duluth and Marquette were a good deal more like baseball that the Hibbing and Stillwater games which preceded them, and if the management continues to furnish such games to its patrons it will have no occasion for criticism. The games were worth going to see, and it was unfortunate that the weather should have been so disagreeable as to keep the crowds away. Still the attendance at both games was much larger than might have been expected.

Duluth won both games, and the club showed that it can play ball a good deal better with a baseball nine than it can with a nine of cigarstands. The score Saturday was 10 to 8, and Sunday it was 10 to 7. Duluth getting the larger score each time. It was playing ball under difficulties in both games, and not only was it so cold that it was hard to get around both days, but Sunday the high wind toyed with the ball so fiercely that it was hard to keep track of it.

Nevertheless, there were two rattling games, games of which the players could be proud. The Duluth boys made several errors Saturday which came near losing the game, but the rooters were satisfied on the whole. Saturday Hines and Connors held the points for Duluth and Martin and Smith pitched for Marquette. R. Conrad and Connors were Duluth's battery yesterday and Martin and Smith acted for Marquette.

For three days beginning tomorrow Duluth will play the Mankato nine, which is said to be one of the best amateur nines in the state.

UNJUST TO THEM.

Messrs. Wangenstein and Rustgard Issued No Circular.

J. J. Wangenstein and John Rustgard seem to have been done an injustice by the publication of the statement that they had signed a political circular in the Norwegian language calling upon Norwegians to find out how the respective candidates stand as to Norwegians. A circular is out, but it is not signed by either of these gentlemen, or by anyone, and it is said to contain a simple exhortation for Norwegians to leave the Populists and join the Republican forces.

In publishing this statement The Herald had no intention of doing these gentlemen an injustice. The statement as to the contents of the circular came from a source of whose reliability The Herald had no doubt, or it would not have received consideration, and it is a relief to learn that the circular's contents are as innocent as they are claimed to be.

Officers Chosen.

Typographical union, No. 136, held its annual election of officers yesterday, the result being as follows: President, R. P. Coburn; vice president, J. S. Martin; secretary and treasurer, Fred Lounsberry; recording secretary, William Ferguson; sergeant-at-arms, William Moran; auditing committee, E. L. Olberg, J. Blackwood and W. W. Huntley. Thomas Lyons, James McDowell and George C. Finley were elected delegates for one year to the Federated Trades assembly. James McDowell was selected as delegate to the convention of the State Federation, at Minneapolis, and Fred Lounsberry was appointed as delegate to the district convention, which is held today at Fargo.

SIMPLICITY ITSELF.

A SIMPLE HARMLESS REMEDY

Yet It Cures the Worst Cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

Dr. Jennison, who has made a life study of stomach troubles, says: All forms of indigestion really amount to the same thing, that is, failure to completely digest the food eaten; no matter whether the trouble is acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, belching of wind, nervous dyspepsia or loss of flesh and appetite; a person will not have any of them if the stomach can be induced by any natural, harmless way, to thoroughly digest what is eaten, and this can be done by a simple remedy which I have tested in hundreds of aggravated cases with complete success. The remedy is a combination of fruit and vegetable essences, pure aseptic pepsin and golden seal put up in the form of pleasant tasting tablets and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these tablets should be taken after meals and allowed to dissolve in the mouth and mingling with the food in the stomach, digests it completely before it has time to ferment, decay and sour.

On actual experiment one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3000 grains of meat, eggs and similar wholesome foods.

It is safe to say, if this wholesome remedy was better known, by people generally, it would be a national blessing, as we are a nation of dyspeptics, and nine-tenths of all diseases owe their origin to imperfect digestion and nutrition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret patent medicine, but a 50-cent package will do more real good for a weak stomach than $50 worth of patent medicines and a person has the satisfaction of knowing just what he is putting into his stomach, which he does not know, when widely advertised patent medicines are used.

HINES' AND HILL'S ROADS.

Agreement With the Missabe Road is Reported.

According to the Grand Rapids Magnet, it is reported that President Hines, of the Duluth & North Dakota road, has tired of waiting for the end of the litigation in connection with the Duluth & Winnipeg road, and has entered into an agreement with the Duluth, Missabe & Northern people, whereby the Hines road will connect at Hibbing with the Missabe road. The talk now is that the proposed route from Black Duck lake down to Pigeon river will be abandoned and that the new route will run almost due east from Black Duck through 149-30 and 31, near Dunbar and Round lakes, through the Bow String country and on east to Hibbing. The route is a very feasible one and would open up some of the finest country in Itasca county. This would leave Grand Rapids out in the cold, the road passing several miles north. It is said that Duluth parties are now in the vicinity of Round lake on the west side of the Winnibigoshish reservation, looking up the country and laying their plans for locating a townsite.

The Crookston Times reports that surveyors have begun work on the route of the Great Northern extension from Fosston to Duluth. It says: "The line will run north to Leach lake, and will probably cross the Mississippi at Bemidji, the town which is owned by Samuel Hill, Harris Richardson and Tams Bixby. The peculiar feature in this connection is that the line runs to a connection with the Duluth & Winnipeg. This phase of the case is not just now explainable. The destinies of the Duluth & Winnipeg are by no means settled and it is extremely doubtful when they will be. The confident assertion that the road will run to that point would indicate that the Great Northern hopes to effect some arrangement which is not apparent, and which has always been argued against by the reasonable probabilities."

Do not be hoodwinked. Use no "just as good." Salvation Oil is what you want when in need of a good liniment.

Will Meet Tomorrow.

The St. Louis County Agricultural association will meet at the office of J. E. Cooley, 104 Palladio, at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. An unusual amount of interest is being excited in the annual county fair, which will probably be held on the grounds of the new racing association. In that case horse racing will be a feature of the fair.

THE MESABA MINES.

Force at the Franklin and Commodore Reduced.

The force at the Franklin group and the Commodore has been reduced, the night shift being laid off and throwing some 300 men out of employment. The Virginia Enterprise says the cause of the reduction is unknown to the local managers of the properties, nor do they know of how long duration the present depression may be.

The Drake & Stratton company keep gradually adding to their force, now employing 250 men, working two shovels on the Oliver and Jack stripping and one in loading ore at the Ohio.

The Oliver is loading with two shovels, putting out from 6000 to 8000 tons daily, employing about 100 men. The ore on the Lone Jack property improves perceptibly as depth is obtained.

The Minnesota Iron company, holding an option on the west half of the southwest quarter of 3-58-16, cornering on the Canton, struck ore of good quality in their explorations.

Stevens & Crockett have secured a big contract at the Aetna, formerly known as the Lowmore, at Mountain Iron. The contract is for stripping and mining the ore on this enormous property, and they are already making preparations to begin operations.

And still another big iron mine is added to the extensive group which surrounds Hibbing, says the Hibbing News. A. M. Chisholm and others some time since secured an option for a lease on land in the c½ of the sw¼ of section 6-57-20, just east of the new Pillsbury addition to Hibbing, and together with W. R. Prentice and Mr. Longyear, have been putting down a drill hole. At last accounts the drill was in ore at a depth of 235 feet, making the total depth of ore thus far disclosed 108 feet.

Good progress is now being made at the Penobscot property. The working shaft is down several feet, and a little stockpile has been formed which increases in size as the days go by.

The two shafts at the Hull mine west of Hibbing are now completed to the first levels, and drifting has been commenced in both. Ore is being hoisted from both shafts, a few cars shipped each day.

About seventy-five men are employed under ground at the Sellers and between 550 and 600 tons of ore is being raised daily and loaded into cars direct. A steam shovel was put to work at the east end of the large stockpile last Monday and will soon be in good working condition.

The large boilers recently received at the new hoisting plant at the Rust mine are being set and two others have been ordered. The hoisting plant temporarily used at the Burt mine will be set up at this mine as soon as possible, and the work of completing the shaft will be pushed vigorously.

CAPTURED THE TWO.

Men Who Assaulted Z. d'Aoust Are in Custody.

Thomas McLaughlin and John Smith are under arrest charged with being the men who held up and attempted to rob Z. d'Aoust early Saturday morning. The latter has positively identified them as his assailants.

McLaughlin is 19 years of age and is the son of ex-Police Capt. McLaughlin. He is out on parole from the state reformatory, whither he was sent for passing forged checks. Smith is 22 years old and is of Polish extraction. But little is known of his history. The police had been after the two all day, having been satisfied from the first as to their connection with the attempted robbery. McLaughlin was captured about 5 o'clock in the afternoon on Superior street near Seventh avenue west, and Smith was found about 8:30 in the evening standing in front of the Ideal restaurant, over which he has been rooming. The latter says his parents live at Moose Lake and that he has a married sister living at 813 West Fourth street.

The accused tell conflicting stories as to their whereabouts on Saturday night, and all the circumstances point to them as the would-be highwaymen.

The Wall Fell.

A section of the east wall of the ruins of the Parson's block fell about 1 o'clock Sunday morning, a portion of the debris crushing through the roof of the building adjoining, which, fortunately was unoccupied. The cost of replacing the fallen portion of the wall will amount to about $200.

Christopher's Excursions.

The whaleback steamer Christopher Columbus was unfortunate in the days it selected for its two excursions. There were good crowds both days, however. Saturday the big whaleback went as far as Two Harbors. Yesterday the trip was to have been to the Apostle Islands, but because of the weather the boat did not start until afternoon and the trip was greatly curtailed. The sea was very rough, and about a third of the excursionists were seasick.

HAS RESIGNED.

Miss Braithwaite Retires From the Schools.

Miss Mary Braithwaite, principal of the Bryant school, who was recently tried for an alleged brutal whipping administered to a scholar, has resigned, her resignation being read before the board of education and accepted by that body on Saturday night. In her letter to the board, Miss Braithwaite expresses her thanks for the support she received during the recent unpleasantness in which she was concerned. It is understood that Miss Braithwaite has for some time intended to resign, and it is intimated that the "other arrangements" to which she referred in her communication are connected with a contemplated entry into the matrimonial state.

The matter of corporal punishment came up during the meeting, and Director Cobb introduced a resolution abolishing that mode of correction which voiced the views of many of the members. The resolution was as follows:

"Resolved by the board of education of the city of Duluth that hereafter no principal or teacher in our employ shall administer corporal punishment on any pupil without first discussing the offense of the pupil with the parents and obtaining the consent of said parents to the same. Should the parents object to such punishment and the pupil be refractory and incorrigible he may be suspended by his teacher and expelled by the superintendent of schools after investigation by him. The use of rubber tube or hose in administering punishment is hereby prohibited."

After some discussion the resolution was referred to the executive committee. Although the board as a whole favors some other mode of dealing with recalcitrant pupils than the application of the rod, the terms in which Mr. Cobb's resolution was couched did not seem to suit some of the members.

Superintendent Denfeld told the directors that corporal punishment is the exception rather than the rule.

Mr. Cobb said he would be satisfied with any resolution that would prevent the occurrence of an incident similar to the recent one.

A bill for $50 put in by Miss Braithwaite's attorneys for services on her trial for assault, led to considerable debate. Director Pearson moved that the claim be referred to the executive committee, with power to act. Director Cobb moved an amendment referring it to Miss Braithwaite.

Director Hugo was opposed to giving the executive committee power to act in the matter, on the ground that it tended to establish an undesirable precedent.

The matter was finally referred to the committee with instructions to investigate and report.

The principal of the Lincoln school made a set effort to discredit an item recently published in The Herald to the effect that pupils in that school had been overcome by heat and foul air while taking part in singing exercises recently. The story told by the principal's report, however, fully bore out The Herald's statement.

The committee on schools and teachers reported that the following named teachers had been engaged for the high school staff for the coming year: Charles W. Savage, physics, chemistry and higher mathematics, salary $1000; Miss Clara F. Sarant, $800; Miss C. A. Livingstone, botany and physiology, $850; Miss E. N. Carvath, French and literature, $900.

The committee also reported that the salaries of Misses Winfred and Killoran had been advanced from $45 to $50 and that Miss L. Mackintosh had been reemployed at a salary of $50.

Mr. Simiding, of Superior, lost his contract for concrete sidewalks about the High School building, together with $6.77 of his guarantee money, owing to the fact that his bond was not secured by a resident of Minnesota.

The resignations of Miss Louise King and Miss Cole as teachers were accepted.

HER LIFE TRULY SAVED.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Does It.

Mrs. Chas. La Point, a well-known resident of Denver, praises this wonderful remedy. Her testimony should convince all as to the virtues of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Restorative Nervine. Her letter dated Sept. 11th, 1894, reads as follows:

MRS. LA POINT, 2137 Humboldt St.

"Typhoid fever left me with heart trouble of the most serious nature. Nothing the doctors gave had any effect. I had severe pains in the heart, and was unable to lie on my left side for more than three minutes at a time. My heart seemed to miss beats, and I had smothering spells, in which it seemed every breath would be my last. We accidently saw an advertisement of and Restorative Nervine, and purchased a bottle of each. After taking the remedies a week, I could be lifted in a chair and sit up an hour, and in a short time I was able to do light housework. I shall be ever grateful to you for your wonderful medicines. Truly they saved my life.

PIERCE PIKE'S PEAK.

A Railroad Tunnel Forty-Eight Miles Long.

"Colorado is going to have the longest tunnel in the world," said Richard Jones, in conversation with a St. Louis Globe Democrat reporter a few days ago. "Within a few years the Mont Cenis, St. Gothard and Simplon tunnels under the Alps will not compare with the one to be constructed.

"A company has undertaken to do forty-eight miles of tunneling under Pike's Peak and the territory near by. It will begin at Sunderland creek, near Colorado City, and run in a southwesterly direction to a creek some distance beyond Independence and Victor. It is to be built for a double track of railway and have the regulation dimensions of railway tunnels, 14 feet wide, 18 feet high. A branch line will leave the main tunnel at a point under Independence and run to Cripple Creek, placing that mining center within sixteen miles of Colorado City. The distance between the two is by rail at present fifty-four miles.

"The two mouths of the main tunnel are to have the same altitude, 6800 feet, and the grade of the tunnel will be one foot to the 100, enough to drain it well. This will give the divide an altitude of about 7400 feet. The summit of Pike's Peak is 14,000 feet above the sea and Cripple Creek nearly 10,000. The plan includes also laterals, or cross tunnels, at several different points. One is to be at or under Crystal Park and another under Cameron's Cove. The longest will cut the main line not far from Bald mountain, and run under that peak in one direction and under the summit of Pike's Peak in the other. This cross tunnel will be over fifteen miles long. Then another tunnel is to connect this cross arm with the main line, joining the latter near the south and the branch on the west side of Pike's Peak. It will run under the mining camp of Gillett and not far from Grassy.

"The amount needed for the tunnel work is $20,000,000. A contract now in escrow in Colorado City requires that the work shall be commenced within ninety days. The intention is to have forty-eight miles tunneled and the main line in operation before March 1, 1906."

SUCH AN ACCIDENT.

Cleveland Plain-Dealer: Dainty Delia—You know how thin Ethel Perkins is?

Sweetest Susie—Isn't she, though?

Dainty Delia—Well, somebody sent her one of these new ankle bangles and while she was talking to Chawlie Litewate she accidentally got her other foot through it and had one bangle hoop on both ankles. Of course, she forgot all about it—it wasn't the least bit tight, you know—and when she stood up and tried to walk she fell right over on to Chawlie and scared him most to death. He is engaged to Pet Plummer, you know. And everybody thought she had paralysis or something, and they sent for two doctors and a trained nurse, and then after they had put ice on her head and put her to bed they found the bangle.

A MONSTER KITCHEN.

Chicago Chronicle: The largest kitchen in the world is in that great Parisian store, the Bon Marche, which has 4000 employes. The smallest kettle contains 100 quarts and the largest 500. Each of fifty roasting pans is big enough for 300 cutlets. Every dish for baking potatoes holds 225 pounds. When omelets are on the bill of fare 7800 eggs are used at once. For cooking alone sixty cooks and 100 assistants are always at the ranges.

MORE CREAM!

This time from K. B. Olson & Co., Chicago.

Another Great Purchase At about 50 cents on the dollar

On the cost of production. By a streak of rare good luck, we struck another manufacturer—K. B. Olson & Co., Chicago makers of high grade Pants—with a stock that had to be sold. We took the cream of the entire lot and place it on sale today in connection with our late great purchase of Suits, Spring Overcoats and Pants from Kuh, Nathan & Fischer Co.

K. B. Olson & Co. Pants, 986 pair purely all wool, in dressy, nobby patterns, fine cassimeres, cheviots and worsteds, handsomely finished; every pair fits perfect; they were made to sell for $3 50, $4.00 and $5.00. This morning we place the entire lot on sale for.. You dressy young fellows want to get in on this deal very early.

Great Manufacturers' Unloading Sale.

Just to speak of the Kuh, Nathan & Fischer Co. as manufacturers is a sufficient guaranty of the goodness of the goods in this sale—when it comes to the quality of Men's Fine Clothing and Overcoats. That's a great position for a manufacturer to be in—When their name means the finest ready-to-wear clothing a man can put on. You can imagine from the prices we offer whether we got a bargain or not, and whether we give you a bargain or not. It does seem, in the light of these facts, that every economical and sensible person will be here this week.

Another Week of BARGAIN GIVING

That Stands at the Very Head of the Most Liberal and Fairest Merchandising Ever Inaugurated.

Choice Of 300 all-wool Business Suits Good Fitting and Well Made, ... $4.95

Choice of one thousand Sack and Frock Suits Light and dark colors, perfectly made; suits that positively cannot be duplicated in any other store in this city for less than $12.00..... $7.45

Choice of eighteen hundred Tailor Made Suits, Black Clay Worsteds, Cheviots, Cassimeres, made up elegantly in sack and frock styles; we consider them the slickest suits ever sold on earth for the money. We say candidly that there is not a store in Duluth today that will attempt to duplicate them for a cent less than $15.00..... $9.95

WAYBACK merchants of this town may imitate our style of doing business and may use odd figures when quoting prices, but our prices are at a lower mark than they can ever hope to reach, quality and makes considered. The Great Eastern is the brightest and busiest store in Duluth and our superiority is conceded. Here you can daily see the acme of live merchandising. Do you seek the secret of our marvelous growth? It's this: Always having and selling what we advertise; giving the best values for the least money; watching and discounting all prices obtainable from the old PIONEERS. No other community demands or expects so much from any store as Duluthians demand from The Great Eastern. The expectation is complimentary and the highest possible tribute to past achievements. We accept the demand and do our best to meet expectations. Our Prices Will Show You. We propose to make this week long to be remembered in the retail trade of Duluth.

TONIGHT

The Great Democracy Will Have Its Struggle Over the Money Question.

Both Free Silver and Gold Men Claim They Will Win.

Scheme of the Gold Men to Circumvent the Silver Sentiment.

The Democratic primaries will be held tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock, and tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock the Democratic county convention will be held at the city hall to name delegates to the state convention at St. Paul, which takes place Thursday. The merry little war which is now going on in the Democratic ranks is just as intense and just as lively as the most pugnacious could desire, and the Republicans are not to have all the strife to themselves by any means.

To begin with, the Democratic cohorts are puzzling their brains over the silver question, and on that point will the forces divide. In all probability, if the silver question were put to a vote among the Democrats, free silver would carry by a substantial majority. But there are not a few gold standard Democrats, and they are sufficiently enthusiastic over their side of the question to put up a hard fight to keep the free silver men from controlling the convention, and a hard fight, though a quiet one, they are putting up.

THEY HAVE A PLAN.

The gold men know that they are outnumbered, so they are working largely in secret so as to prevent the silver men from learning their tactics and taking means to offset them. The meetings they have held have all been conducted with the utmost secrecy, and the greatest care has been taken to see that no silver men penetrated the mystic circle. It must be said that the plans they have evolved, so far as they have been made public, are clever enough. For delegates to the county convention they have put up in each precinct men whom they expect to elect by their personal popularity, and these men will not be at all obtrusive with their gold standard principles until the convention.

So much of their plans have leaked out, and by these means they expect to get enough men into the convention to control it and elect delegates pledged to the gold standard to go to St. Paul. Forewarned is forearmed, however, and the free silver men will probably be strong enough to nip this clever little plan in the bud.

The free silver candidates for the delegateship to Chicago which Duluth expects to get are C. d'Autremont and E. C. Gridley. The gold men have put forward no candidate as yet, but C. P. Magginnis is the most likely man to represent their principles if they push forward a Duluth man.

THE SILVER DELEGATES.

The silver men have selected a list of candidates for delegates of the men known to be strongly in favor of free silver. They are as follows, as nearly as could be learned:

FIRST WARD.
Second precinct—Frank Crassweller.
Third precinct—Morris Thomas and R. S. Powell.
Fourth precinct—C. d'Autremont and Alfred Jacques.

SECOND WARD.
First precinct—H. S. Mills and Cyral H. Gephart.
Second precinct—E. C. Gridley.
Fourth precinct—W. H. Groff.

THIRD WARD.
First precinct—Daniel Horgan and W. A. Foote.
Second precinct—J. A. Smith.
Third precinct—T. T. Hudson and Andrew Marshall.
Fourth precinct—R. J. Ryan and Peter Nowack.

FOURTH WARD.
Second precinct—Hector McLean.
Third precinct—J. C. Marshall and Mike Lynch.
Fourth precinct—T. J. McKeon and J. C. Hessian.
Fifth precinct—P. McDonnell.

FIFTH WARD.
First precinct—C. O. Flynn and H. B. Fryberger.
Second precinct—J. G. Brown and James Sargent.
Third precinct—O. C. Sturm and Timothy Tinlin.
Fourth precinct—Morris Griffin and Dr. G. C. Gilbert.
Fifth precinct—Louis T. Rutter.

SIXTH WARD.

A NOVEL IDEA.

Tree Day Exercises at Maynard School.

The Maynard school will introduce a novel feature into its commencement exercises this year in its "Tree day." This, while serving as a senior class day, will also bring the whole school together in a "Modern Masque," illustrating the history of Duluth. Miss Blanche Marot, the teacher of vocal music at the school, is to sing a poem composed by one of the teachers, describing the growth of the city, while the school accompanies and illustrates the poem as she sings.

The first group of pupils, dressed in green and trimmed with leaves, represent the primeval forest which, but a short time ago, was Duluth.

The second group, in gay red dresses, bedecked with serpents, stars and feathers, strongly suggest the Indian inhabitants who were the first settlers in this district. They, with bows and arrows, are content and happy until the emigrant train appears on the horizon. The kindergarten boys lead this procession, in slouch felt hats and trousers tucked in their boots. The first draws behind the familiar white-topped emigrant wagon, and is followed by a valiant pioneer with the ax over his shoulder. Then comes the carpenter, with hammer and nails, and promptly the log cabin appears, which, in its turn, is followed by the shipping, milling, ore, and lumber industries, which since have so characterized this city. But the material interests were not the only thought of the city fathers, and accordingly the seniors, in Oxford cap and gown, file in to represent the educational opportunities which this city affords.

Following the masque, the class day exercises will take place, consisting of the following program:

Address of welcome.....Cora Lyon Hubbell
History of the class of '96 .....
.....Katherine Watrous Ensign
Class prophecy ....Nellie Stitsel Wolvin
Address to undergraduates .....
..... Leslie Mitchell
Address to the Spade .....
.....Bertha Hansard Wilson
Reception of the Spade by the class of '97 .....Bessie Shores
Class poem.....L. Louise Hubbell
Field marshals .....
Maud Muller Bartleson and Mayme Florence McDougall.

These exercises will take place tomorrow at 4 o'clock, or on Wednesday morning, in case of rain. The commencement exercises will be held on Wednesday evening, and Rev. John Paul Egbert, of St. Paul, will deliver the address. The graduates are: Cora Lyon Hubbell and L. Louise Hubbell, of South Manistique, Mich.; Maude Muller Bartleson, of Minneapolis; Leslie Mitchell, of St. Cloud; Mayme Florence McDougall, Katherine Watrous Ensign, Bertha Hansard Wilson and Nellie Stitsel Wolvin, of Duluth.

WILL NOT INTERFERE.

Congressman Towne Silent as to the Governorship.

Congressman Towne refuses to commit himself to any candidate for governor. On Saturday evening he said to a Herald reporter, when asked if he would declare himself:

"I am after a re-election to congress from this district. That is the only office I want and the only one I shall seek to get votes for. I am not a political boss, never was and never want to be. A large number of my friends are supporters of each of the leading candidates for governor. It is not my intention or my right to divorce them from either one or the other."

He said this was his final decison for the campaign.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.

C. O. Nelson's Experience With a Burglar Last Night.

Charles O. Nelson, one of the old engineers of the St. Paul & Duluth railroad, had a little adventure last evening which might have been serious, yet had an amusing side to it. Mr. Nelson came home about 1 o'clock last night at the close of his run and ate a little luncheon, and then after his usual habit, sat down to read. He read until about 2:30 when a very faint creaking noise called his attention to the door leading from the room in which he was sitting. The door was being slowly opened and Mr. Nelson with a bound jumped for the door and tried to force it open quickly, but the robber had his foot against it and Nelson could not budge it. Then Nelson left the door and started to release the big mastiff dog, but while he was engaged the robber slipped out of the house and got away. The intruder was evidently a skillful cracksman for he had picked the Yale lock without injury to the mechanism.

THE OPERA OPENING.

Gonzalez Company in "La Mascotte" Yesterday.

The Gonzalez Opera company opened its engagement at the Pavilion yesterday afternoon and evening, and considering the bad weather there were large audiences. The company gave a very pleasing performance and will doubtless be popular. A large number of specialties and plenty of side work was introduced and pleased the crowd immensely.

The ever-popular "La Mascotte" was presented. Miss Lizzie Gonalez who heads the company is a pleasing singer and a bright little lady, who does her work conscientiously and thoroughly. Miss Fannie Gonzalez, the soubrette, is also a taking young woman and is very clever.

James Donnelly, who was here two years ago with the Wilburs, is a comedian of excellent talents and has a naturally comical manner and a ready fund of wit. Ed Chapman is also a clever comedian and shared the honor with Mr. Donnelly yesterday. Teddy Webb, the tenor, is an excellent singer and has a pleasing stage presence. Adolph Mayer, the baritone, is well-known to Duluth people. He has a fine voice. The chorus work is good. "La Mascotte" will be repeated this evening.

THE GREAT CIRCUS.

Great Performance Given This Afternoon.

The great Ringling circus had rather a nasty day for its Duluth appearance, but nevertheless the show went off according to the program. A full parade had to be given up owing to the cold and rainy weather. Several of the wagons turned out, enough to let the people know that the big show is here. The Ringling brothers were even more disappointed than the people at not giving the parade for they take a great pride in their street display. The big show came off in the tent in its entirety.

The big show arrived from St. Cloud yesterday morning, and all day yesterday was occupied in setting up the tents and getting everything in readiness.

The great tents were opened to the public at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and as early as that hour the crowds began to arrive. The crowd was an agreeable surprise to those who had feared that the weather would keep many away. The tent sheltered the crowd from the winds and it was not at all disagreeable. The wind was high, but the tents are made to withstand wind, and it did not shake them.

The great tent was packed, every seat being taken. The Ringling Bros. were astonished and delighted with the attendance.

The show itself is great this year, greater than ever before, and it seems to be true that it is the greatest circus ever on the road. Among the more noticeable features were the nine Laudauers, or flexible models, who gave an original entertainment of classical posing which was artistic and unique.

Another feature was the famous Nelson family of acrobats. Then there were all kinds of marvelous specialists doing impossibilities with the greatest ease, clowns which were amusing to the young and old, bareback riders graceful and daring, almost anything in the circus line that one could imagine, and everything of the best and up-to-date, which is saying a good deal for athletic performances, for acrobats have been forcing the standard of perfection steadily upward until feats which are common today were unheard of twenty years ago.

The show opened with a glittering, dazzling munificent pageant of gorgeously attired men and women, superb horses and chariots, and all that can be provided to make up a magnificent procession. After that the show proceeded rapidly in all parts of the amphitheater, wonderful feats following each other in rapid succession, until the watcher could hardly tell which was best and most worthy of his attention.

The show will be repeated tonight, and from all appearances it will be as largely attended as if the weather was of the mildest and most agreeable.

THRASHED THE FOUR.

Isaac Polinskey Proves Himself to Be a Corker.

Isaac Polinskey ran amuck on Fourth avenue east this morning, and from the number of wounded who arrived at the city hall from the front during the forenoon, and the stories they told, it was evident that Isaac had been having a monopoly of the fun.

Mars Greenfield was the first victim to put in an appearance. He was breathless and wild-eyed.

"My viskers—my poor viskers," ejaculated Greenfield, as he bolted into the city attorney's office, "and look at 'em now. Dey used to hang way down to here," he continued, indicating a point about two inches above his ankles, to which the flowing ornament, he said, had once swept, "but that Polinsky, he pulled 'em out."

And Mr. Greenfield plucked at the stubble and looked cross-eyed in an endeavor to see what Mr. Polinsky had left him for seeding purposes. The portion of the crop that remained in the soil looked as if it had been grazed over by a flock of sheep. The general effect was that of a time-worn buffalo robe. Polinskey had also chewed Greenfield's finger and clawed his face.

But the latter was fit for presentation at court as compared with the wreck that staggered in next. The second arrival was Joseph Lundeen. Joe had a cut over his left eye, from which the blood flowed profusely. He was speechless with excitement and fright. His lips moved in a frantic endeavor to speak, but in his perturbation he forgot to turn on the air.

Jake Lundeen next piled in. Jake's throat was bloody and he showed the effects of rough usage, but the enemy's grip had not disabled his talking apparatus, which was working like a battery of rapid-firing Maxim guns.

Sam Goldstein was the last of the batch of wounded. His face resembled a cranberry pie with a laced upper crust.

"Where was the railroad accident?" inquired the mayor, who had been attracted by the disturbance.

"Dere vas no railroad accident—it was Polinskey," recited the dismal chorus.

With much gesturing the story was told. It seems that Mr. Goldstein had a little "picnic" at his residence at the corner of Fourth avenue east and Ninth street, to which Mr. Polinsky had not been invited. He went around to Goldstein's to see why he had been neglected. The explanation not being satisfactory, he slapped Mrs. Goldstein, whereupon Mr. Goldstein interfered. Polinskey clawed Goldstein up, called the family names, heaved a rock against the front door and retired victorious. Mr. Goldstein summoned help and an effort was made to break up Mr. Polinskey's triumphal march at Fourth avenue east and Seventh street. The latter, however, was undismayed by numbers, and fought like a batch of wild cats. He hung up a few decorations on the face of his foes, hauled Greenfield around by the whiskers and chewed his finger and left the enemy in disorder.

Warrants were sworn out and a detachment of police was sent out after Isaac.

ST. LOUIS

National Republican Convention Bustle is Noted In Every Corner.

Byrnes is Busy With His Work of Appointing His Assistants.

The Colored Delegate Question is Still a Perplexing Problem.

St. Louis, Mo., June 9.—Sergeant-at-Arms Byrnes and his first assistant, G. N. Wiswell, of Milwaukee, who arrived yesterday, visited the convention auditorium today and decided upon a number of details, such as the stationing of inside doorkeepers and assistant sergeants-at-arms, and distributing the force of ushers and pages. Four doorkeepers will be stationed at every door, two outside to inspect the tickets as the crowd passes through, and two inside to tear off the coupons. In this way the crowd can be handled promptly. Each division will have four ushers, and they are to seat all comers, or at least inspect their tickets. There are forty divisions in the dress circle and gallery, making a force there of 160 ushers. The space of the delegates, alternates, national committeemen, newspaper workers and prominent guests has eleven divisions, and each will be provided with four ushers. There will be a small army of pages and several hundred sergeants-at-arms.

Chief Harrigan has promised Col. Byrnes a couple of hundred policemen, who will be ready to lend assistance if called upon. They are to take no part in disputes, unless requested to by one or more of the colonel's assistants. A good many of the policemen will probably be attired as private citizens and known only to the convention officials and employes.

The work of the decorator of the auditorium is about finished. The portraits of Gen. Grant and Admiral Farragut were put up yesterday. The great naval commander will look down on the members of the convention from the railing at the east end of the hall. Directly opposite is a portrait of Gen. Phil Sheridan representing the army. The still greater leaders, Lincoln and Grant, are on the two sides, the first almost directly over the speaker's stand and Grant at the center of the south gallery opposite. Higher than all, just above Lincoln, was Washington. Each is surrounded by American flags. The absence of pictures and mottoes representing leaders of the Republican party of today will be noticed. The omission was intentional, the local committees having been placed under restrictions in this matter. The decorations will be all in place before Wednesday evening, the time for the dedication of the building.

A fire company is on duty in the auditorium and will be until after the convention. Their fire apparatus includes a chemical engine with a capacity of 160 gallons of water, twelve shoulder Babcocks, 700 feet of hose attached to a water plug at each of the four corners of the building, and a number of ladders, hooks, wire cutters, ropes and buckets. The building has also a fire alarm box connected with the central office of the fire alarm department. The American Telegraph and Telephone company will have two long-distance telephones in service at the convention.

Gen. Coleman, of the bureau of information, is preparing a complete list of all the houses and rooms that have been registered with him for the accommodation of strangers. This list he will submit to Chief of Police Harrigan, in order that the police may make a personal inspection of each place. Gen. Coleman has taken this action to assure himself that no one coming to St. Louis during the convention will be thrown into bad company. There are more than 200 houses registered at the bureau besides hotels and halls.

The Globe Democrat prints the following this morning: The suggestion has been made informally to members of the Republican national committee that Archbishop Kaine be invited to offer the prayer at the opening of the convention. It is customary to have a prayer at the opening of each day's proceedings. Representatives of different denominations are selected. The argument that is being used with national committeemen is that the archbishop is the head of the Roman Catholic church for a large section of the country; that this is his home, and that it would be a graceful thing for the representatives of the Republican party to do.

No solution is offered yet of the puzzling question as to what shall be done with the negro delegations at the national convention. The proprietors of the leading hotels deny that they have refused to entertain colored men, but say their rooms are all "engaged," and that they cannot accommodate the negroes, much as they might wish. A large number of national committeemen arrived this morning, but they were reticent about giving their views regarding the treatment of the negroes by the St. Louis hotel and boarding house keepers. M. H. De Young, of San Francisco, owner and editor of the Chronicle, of that city, and a member of the national committee, said it was not a part of the duties of the committee to secure hotel accommodations for any delegate, either white or black. He would oppose any effort to bring the matter before the committee.

Committeeman James L. Hill, of Mississippi, and a negro, thought he had secured rooms at Hurst's hotel, but when he returned there last evening from the headquarters of the Merchants' Republican League club he found the doors barred against him, as it were. He was informed that the clerk had made a mistake in assigning him a room, every room in his hotel having been previously engaged. Mr. Hill took in the situation at once. He quietly paid his bill and took a street car for the home of William P. Dye. He is still there, and will continue to make that place his headquarters until the close of the convention, in the event that the Business Men's league does not succeed in opening a hotel for him.

P. H. Lannen, editor of the Salt Lake Tribune, arrived today in company with National Committeeman Salisbury, of Utah. Both of them are for free silver; will advocate a plank of that character for the platform. "It would be folly for any one man to say what the convention will do on the money question," said Mr. Lannen, "but I am confident that it will not declare for a single gold standard. Neither do I think the platform will declare for free silver. I am not pretending to say what the convention will or will not do, but it is my honest opinion that the money plank will be of a character that the free silver men of the party can stand on it." Mr. De Young and Mr. Salisbury, who were both present while Mr. Lannen was talking, concurred in what he said. Powell Clayton, of Arkansas, is here and favors a single gold standard platform.

E. A. Webster, who is at the head of a contested delegation from South Carolina, arrived today. The opposing delegation will be led by E. M. Brayton, national committeeman from that state. The list of vice presidential candidates has been largely speculative. Governor Hobart, of New Jersey, has secured the active support of many of the Eastern delegates, as also has Senator Proctor, of Vermont. H. Clay Evans, of Tennessee, will be named by the Tennessee delegation, while Grant will have the support of some of the delegates from the far West.

Those men who are having trouble in getting rooms for colored delegates have only themselves to blame," said S. M. Kennard, president of the Business Men's league today. "When we got the convention, we pledged ourselves to take care of the colored men, and we are going to do it. But those who waited until the last minute will have to take what they can get, so long as it is clean and good. While men cannot get accommodations at the hotels now. They are all dilled up for convention week, but we will take care of the colored men, as we said we would."

"You may say positively," said Maj. Rainwater, "that we can get places for the lodging and feeding of all the colored delegates who apply. I know this and can show it. If Hill will come to me, which he has not done, I will refer him to places where he can put his colored delegates, and a good place, too. I do not care what difficulties may stand in the way, the pledges we made the national committee, when we asked for the convention, will be carried out to the letter.

"For weeks I have bombarded the national committeemen with letters and telegrams asking them to let me arrange for the accommodation of their delegates. Especially did I pay attention to the Southerners, because I foresaw the difficulty we might have in placing the negroes at the last minute. Many of them did not reply, and now they come to get the same quarters they might have secured had they let us arrange it weeks ago. But every one of them will have a good place to sleep, and plenty to eat. Dozens of restaurants will feed colored delegates during convention week."

Ex-Congressman Thompson, chairman of the McKinley club, has set at rest what will be the vital plank in the platform upon which Mr. McKinley expects to stand.

"What will be McKinley's platform on the financial question?" asked a reporter of Mr. Thompson.

"It will be for the single gold standard, pure and simple," he promptly replied, "and to be explicit," continued the Ohioan, "I will add that the financial platform of Mr. McKinley always has been the antithesis of what is known as 16 to 1 silverism, and so it will be through this campaign."

No chairman will be selected until after Mark Hanna arrives, which will be on Wednesday. The gossip as to the temporary presiding officer points to Senator John Thurston, of Nebraska. The South and West, it is argued, must be noticed in some way. Thurston is the choice of many of the Southern delegates, and as he is a Westerner, he will therefore serve as a crumb of comfort to both sections.

IN SLEEPING CARS.

Where the Colored Men May Rest Themselves.

New York, June 9.J. E. Milholland, of the New York McKinley league, has telegraphed J. J. Hill, delegate from Mississippi at St. Louis, deploring the treatment recorded to colored delegates by the hotels of St. Louis. Mr. Milholland added: "The New York McKinley league's special train of passenger, saloon and sleeping cars will arrive Sunday night, and will be placed at the dispose of yourself and other reputable colored delegates and friends who cannot be accommodated otherwise.

HANNA EN ROUTE.

McKinley's Campaign Manager Starts For St. Louis.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 9.—Hon. M. A. Hanna, left this afternoon on his private car for St. Louis. He was accompanied by Senator Redfield Proctor, Abner McKinley, Gen. Osborne, of Boston, a cousin of ex-Gov. McKinley, Col. Myron T. Herrick, and Sylvester T. Everett, delegates from the Twenty-first Ohio district. George E. Matthews of the Buffalo Express, and William M. Hahn will join the party at Crestline. There was no demonstration whatever, when the party left.

If nothing happens the party will reach St. Louis tomorrow at 7 o'clock. Hon. Joseph Manley passed through the city enroute for St. Louis at an early hour this morning.

MEMBERS AT ST. LOUIS.

Will Be Quite a Number of Congressmen There.

Washington, Jne 9.—It is expected that there will be a very large attendance of members from the house at the St. Louis convention. The politicians will be leaving for St. Louis all through this week. Gen. Grosvenor left last evening, notwithsanding Chairman Dingley's resolution to revoke all leaves of absence and not to grant leaves except for illness.

The majority of the silver men, including Representatives Hartman and Allan and several senators, will not leave here until Saturday. Senator Teller, however, will leave Wednesday.

The members of the national committee, who are members of congress, will go today. Gen. Grosvenor will stop a short time at his home in Ohio before going to St. Louis.

In answer to the question: "Do you apprehend much of a fight on finances?" he answered that he did not believe the committee on resolutions will have much trouble in reaching a decision.

CONGRESS

It May Not Adjourn Until After Tomorrow Say Members.

Several Bills Are as Yet In an Unsettled State.

House Has Unseated Underwood, a Democratic Member From Alabama.

Washington, June 9.—The condition of the unsettled appropriation bills does not indicate that congress can adjourn tonight. The conferees on the Indian bill met today and decided to report practically the same plan that was rejected by the house Saturday, which continues appropriations to church schools for one year. The naval conference agreement reached yesterday for three battleships and instructed the secretary of the navy to make no contracts for armor plate until further action by congress has not been laid before either house.

Differences have arisen over the electric lighting of the District of Columbia bill, which threatened to prolong agreement upon it. Western members of both houses are trying to enlist a majority to insist upon the public items of the sundry civil bill. Members hesitate to predict adjournment tomorrow.

DEMOCRATS DELAY.

Little Bit of Party House Diplomacy.

Washington, June 9.—When the house reconvened this morning at 10 o'clock, the legislative day of Saturday was still in exlstence. There was a fair attendance of Republicans, but the Democratic benches were a barren waste. Less than half a dozen of the minority were on the floor. This refusal on the part of the Democrats to attend the session grew out of the determination of the majority to consider the contested election case of Aldrich vs. Underwood.

Mr. McMillan, in explanation of the action of his side of the house, says that the Democrats did not consider it to be their duty to attend the closing hours of the session to help furnish a quorum for the purpose of unseating another Democrat.

The pending question today was the motion to lay on the table the motion to reconsider the vote by which the house decided to consider the election case. The vote resulted 98 to 31, sixteen being present and declining to vote. This made a total of 145 present, thirty-four less than a quorum. In order to break the deadlock, which confronted the majority a call of the house was ordered. The doors were closed and the sergeant-at-arms was directed to bring in absentees.

The Tucker rule adopted at the beginning of the session was invoked for the first time. It compelled members brought in by the sergeant-at-arms to vote on the pending question. The motion was carried, 130 to 45. The speaker counted four members as present, but not voting.

Mr. McMillin attempted to make the point of order that the report in the election case was not signed by a majority of the members of the committee and therefore did not constitute a question of privilege. The chair ruled that if the point of order had merit, it came too late, as the house had decided to consider the case.

Mr. Daniels addressed the house in favor of seating the contestant, Mr. Aldrich. He gave notice that he would demand the previous question at the expiration of fifty minutes. Underwood had 1156 majority on the face of the returns. Fraud and intimidation were charged and the majority found that Aldrich received, in fact, a majority of 220. The minority admitted that the returns were incorrect, but claimed that the corrected returns still gave Underwood 1028 majority.

On a rising vote the house voted 100 to 66 to unseat Underwood (Democrat) from the Ninth Alabama district.

THE SENATE.

Washington, June 9.—The senate has disagreed to the conference report on the district of Columbia appropriation bill and asked for another conference. The sectarians and electric light amendments caused the chief opposition.

INVESTIGATE BOND ISSUES.

Washington, June 9.—The sub-committee of finance of the senate designated to conduct an investigation of the recent bond issues, today decided to begin its work after the adjournment of congress and to admit the press to its session. Its first mind was to hold secret meetings, but that idea was definitely abandoned today. Secretary Carlisle has prepared a statement for the committee in compliance with its request, but it is probable that he will also appear in person to answer questions.

A ST. PAUL STRIKE.

St. Paul, Minn., June 9.—Although somewhat hampered by lack of their full forces the daily newspapers of these two cities appeared as usual this morning. The publishers have all declared their newspapers to be open offices and say they have already received by telegraph many applications for positions both from Mergenthaler operators and advertising compositors from all parts of the country.

OLD LUMBERMAN DEAD.

St. Paul, Minn., June 9.—A special to the Dispatch from Clinton, Iowa, says: W. J. Young, the millionaire lumberman, died at 4:40 yesterday afternoon, after a prolonged sickness. He was 69 years of age.

INCREASE OF PENSION.

Washington, June 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—An increase of pension was today granted to Henry C. Osterhout, of Duluth.

GROWING CROPS.

Illinois Fields Are a Trifle Too Moist.

Chicago, June 9.—The Illinois weekly crop bulletin, issued today, says: The past week has been very favorable for farm work and growth; crops have made rapid growth, corn especially, much of it is rather weedy from too wet fields. Oats are generally in excellent condition, although of rank growth, and are heading well. Rye is being cut in early fields and promises well, little damage by rust. Wheat cutting continues in southern counties and is thinning in central.

THE MISSOURI OUTLOOK.

Columbia, Mo., June 9.—The Missouri weather crop bulletin says: Some washing from the high winds is reported. The larger portion of the corn crop is still very weedy. Much corn on low lands looks very yellow, and considerable has been drowned out entirely. Much planting and replanting still remains to be done. Cotton is doing well. Wheat is ripening rapidly in the central and southern sections, and harvest is in progress where the weather will permit. Oats, flax and grass are doing well.

SMUGGLER SENTENCED.

One Year's Imprisonment and a Fine Also.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 9.—Herman Keck, a member of the Cooterman, Keck Diamond Cutting company, of Cincinnati, who was convicted in the United States district court of attempting to smuggle diamonds into this country, was today sentenced by Judge Butler to one year's imprisonment and a fine of $200.

Keck's prosecution was brought about by the Diamond Importers' union, of New York, and conviction was due mainly to the evidence of Capt. Lowswitz of the steamer Rhynland who testified to having received a package containing $7000 worth of diamonds from Keck in a restaurant in Antwerp, which was to be given to F. Von Reith, also of Cincinnati.

GREATER NEW YORK.

Gov. Morton Announces the Commissioners' Names.

Albany, N. Y., June 9.—Governor Morton has announced the names of the commissioners to prepare a charter for greater New York. The bill as it passed the legislature provided for a commission consisting of the president of the old commission, Andrew Green, the state engineer attorney general, mayor of New York, the mayor of Brooklyn and the mayor of Long Island City, and nine others to be appointed by the governor.

The latter are: Seth Low, president of Columbia college and ex-mayor of Brooklyn; Benjamin F. Tracy, formerly secretary of the navy; John F. Dillon, ex-judge of the United States district court; Ashbel P. Fitch, comptroller of the city of New York; Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, ex-Lieutenant Governor; Silas B. Dutcher, banker and ex-superintendent of public works; William C. DeWitt, formerly corporation counsel for Brooklyn; George M. Pinney, district attorney for Richmond county, and Garrett M. Garrettson, county judge for Queen's county.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Market Opened Quiet and Irregular Today.

New York, June 9.—Wall Street—The stock market opened quiet and irregular with unimportant changes. The railway list displayed an improving tendency and gains of slight fractions occurred in some instances. On the other hand the industrials developed a sagging tendency with the bulk of the trading on Sugar and Tennessee Coal.

Speculation up to 11 o'clock lacked feature, aside from evidence of liquidation in some of the low priced specialties. Rubber yielded 2 per cent to 19; Rubber preferred, 3 to 80, and Colorado Fuel, 1¾ per cent. The general market was easier in tone, but the recessions were confined to fractional limits. Reading was rather freely traded in during the second hour, and declined to 8¼. The bonds also displayed considerable heaviness, averaging a loss of about a point. The list generally continued heavy, but except in one or two instances, the losses were slight. The sales to noon were 48,300 shares.

NATIONAL SHARPSHOOTERS.

St. Louis, June 9.—Robert Bethman, president of the Central Sharpshooters' association, announced today that the national sharpshooters tournament, to be held here June 13 to 16 inclusive, has not been postponed, as has been reported, as a result of the tornado on May 27. At least 600 contestants from all parts of the country are expected here to compete for prizes aggregating more than $5000.

A DOUBLE WEDDING.

Lawrence, Kan., June 9.—Two daughters of Congressman Dudley C. Haskell were married at noon today. Edith Haskell was wedded to A. L. Burney, of Harrisonville, Mo., and May F. Haskell to Otis W. Holmes, of Cresco, Iowa. Both grooms are former Kansas university students. Burney is now a banker and Holmes a minister. The wedding was a double one and took place at noon at the suburban home of the Haskells.

SIGNS FOR ST. LOUIS.

Washington, June 9.—In response to a request received by wire from Mayor Walbridge of St. Louis Secretary Carlisle, has instructed the collector of customs at New York, to permit shipment, in bond, to St. Louis of 5100 street signs imported from England by Contractor Jeffords, now held in New York for appraisement. The signs are needed, the mayor says, before the Republican convention meets.

Fatally Injured.

There was a serious accident during the Ringling circus parade in West Superior this morning. A horse ridden by one of the circus people in the parade threw its rider and dashed into the crowd, fatally injuring Frank Lake, aged about 14, and slightly injuring a number of others.

CATRON

Delegate Reports His Bill For the Admission of New Mexico.

He Shows Why Statehood Should Be Granted to the Territory.

Minority Report Does Not Favor Proposed Act of Admission.

Washington, June 9.—Delegate Catron, of New Mexico, has reported to the house the territory's bill for the admission of that territory to the sisterhood of states. Accompanying the bill is a long report submitting reasons why New Mexico should be admitted into the Union. This report reviews the financial condition of the territory, speaks of its resources, based on the figures of the last census, assumes that the population at this time is not less than 200,000, and recalls that as far back as the forty-third congress a bill for admission passed both houses. The senate, however, made amendments to the bill at that time and it reached the house too late in the season to secure action on the amendments.

The report declares that the people desire statehood, and the territory has persistently demanded it; says the passage of the bill is urged by both political parties in the territory, and argues that no reason appears why congress should longer delay admission. Under the most adverse circumstances, subjected to the incursions of hostile Indians, until a comparatively recent date, and with foreign capital forbidden to invest in real property in the territory, the territory, continues the report, has shown to the world a capacity to progress, and she had advanced much faster than the average ratio of progress in the United States in every material particular since annexation. It is confidently submitted that New Mexico has resources sufficient to guarantee a stable and substantial state.

Five members of the committee have united in a minority report opposed to the passage of the bill. Apart from the general objection to the admission of the territory as a state is, the minority says, the specific objection to this pending bill that it provides for the election of a member of congress, state officers and legislature, which shall elect two United States senators before the adoption of a constitution, the organization of a state government, and the determination of the rights of citizenship and suffrage under their organic law. The growth of the population of New Mexico in numbers has not been, in the minority opinion, such as to give promise of any great increase in the future.

The report also asserts that if the power of the general government were moved, it is almost certain that the territory would invite the lawless and depraved, and it would be an impossibility to execute the laws. And when it is further considered that the people themselves are not homogenous, but are made up of Mexicans, Indians, half-breeds and the balance Americans, in about equal proportions, it would not be even certain that they would make or seek to make laws, and would or could enforce them if they were made.

The minority report also says that undoubtedly the events of the past few years have called the attention of the American people to the senate and to the representation in that body of states, irrespective of their populations. Any step which adds to the membership of that body, so influential in legislation, it declares, should be taken with the greatest care and deliberation.

CHEAP FARES IN MILWAUKEE.

Milwaukee, June 9.—At a meeting of the city council held last evening a 4-cent fare ordinance was passed, there being only four dissenting votes. Thirty days time is given in which to allow the company to print commutation tickets and make arrangements for carrying out the terms of the ordinance. The company will carry the matter to the courts.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

BAD CIGARETTES.

A Bostonian Throws Them Away After Ten Years of Slavery.

"Baco-Curo Will Destroy the Appetite For Tobacco in Every Case."

Telegraph Postal Department, Boston, Mass., Dec 9, 1895.—Gentlemen: I have been an inveterate cigarette consumer for the last ten years, smoking two packages daily, supplemented by cigars. Having used other, so-called, cures without avail I tried "Baco-Curo" and I am glad to say that three boxes have made tobacco, in any form, obnoxious to me. My experience assures me that Baco-Curo will destroy the appetite for tobacco in every case. Yours truly, H. B. Wiggin.

The case of Mr. Wiggin (one of the best known electricians in Boston) is that of thousands who testify that Baco-Curo is the only scientific, harmless and certain cure for the tobacco habit. Don't stop tobacco suddenly; Baco-Curo notifies you when to cease. It is a cure not a substitute, and is sold with iron-clad, written, guarantee to cure or money refunded.

Sold by all druggists at $1 per box; three boxes, (thirty days' treatment), $2.50, with written guarantee, or sent direct upon receipt of price. Write for booklet and proofs. Eureka Chemical and Manufacturing company, La Crosse, Wis., and Boston, Mass.

STATE SUPREME COURT.

Justice Mitchell Renders Nine Case Decisions.

St. Paul, June 9.—Justice Mitchell, of the supreme court, yesterday handed down nine decisions, four of which were reversals of the decisions made by the lower courts. Three of the reversals were railroad cases, and in two out of the three the railway companies get the worst of it in the reversals.

In the case of Blomquist vs. the Great Northern the court holds that a section hand carrying rails is engaged in an employment which has a hazard peculiar to the railroad business, and the law of 1894, prescribing the liability of the railway companies to their servants, applies.

In the case of Little vs. the Omaha road the court holds that an action will lie in this state for damages to lands in another state.

The case of Emma A. Kurtz et al. vs. the St. Paul & Duluth road is a case which has been in the court before and is a dispute over land involved in a guardian sale, and the railroad company comes out ahead.

In the case of James L. Byram, appellant, vs. James Aiken et al., respondent, the court holds that publications calculated to subject a person to contempt and ridicule, and thereby injure him in the good opinion of others, are libellous, although they involve no imputation of crime.

Other decisions: Charles A. Cornman, appellant, vs. Charles K. Sidle et al., respondent, affirmed.

Minneapolis Threshing Machine company, respondent, vs. Herman O. Hutchins, appellant, affirmed.

James K. Vandoren, appellant, vs. J. A. Wright et al., respondents, affirmed.

Mary D. Bean, respondent, vs. George S. Heron, appellant, affirmed.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

State Delegations Picking Out Chicago Quarters.

Chicago, June 9.—The various state delegations to the national Democratic convention are already selecting their quarters. The New York delegation will be lodged at the Palmer house. The headquarters will be in Parlor B. The national committee will also have rooms provided for them at the Palmer. Tammany will be located at the Auditorium. It will have as companions the delegations from Mississippi, Kentucky, Maryland and South Carolina. Over in the Annex, West Virginia, Washington, Missouri and Rhode Island representatives will hold forth.

A number of newspaper correspondents will also be located at the Auditorium Annex. The Great Northern will house representatives of several of the New York and Philadelphia papers. Members who shout for Kansas have engaged twenty-five rooms at the Leland. A stampede for rooms is expected within a few days, owing to the fact that so many of the state delegations delay the selection of their headquarters.

CAR ACCOUNTANTS.

Celebrated Its Majority at the Cleveland Meeting.

Cleveland, June 9.—Twenty-one years ago the International Association of Car Accountants held its first annual meeting in this city. Today the association celebrated its majority by holding its twenty-first convention in this city of its birth and will be in session three days.

The convention was called to order by James Osborne, of the Canadian Pacific road. An address of welcome was delivered by Mayor McKisson and responded to by President Osborne, after which routine business was taken up. The principal matter to be discussed will be a uniform and universal method of keeping track of cars.

THREE MEN HANGED.

And a Woman to Follow Suit Tomorrow.

London, June 9.—Three men, Milson, Fowler and Seaman, were hanged in Newgate prison here at 9 o'clock this morning on one scaffold. The execution was private and death was instantaneous. Milson and Fowler are known as the Muswell Hill murderers. They were convicted of burglary and entering Muswell Lodge Thetherdown, Muswell Hill, on Feb. 16 last, and murdering Henry Smith the occupant. Seaman, was a Whitechapel murderer.

Unless there is a change in the arrangements, Mrs. Dyer, the baby farmer, convicted of murdering a number of infants, will be hanged at the same place tomorrow.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for children teething, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, allays pain, cures wind collic, 25 cents a bottle.

CRETE

Belief That the Revolt Will Be Crushed By Next Week.

Battalions of Troops Will Surround the Cretans In the Mountains.

Crete's Source of Supply is Said to Be From Athens.

New York, June 9.—A dispatch to the Herald from Constantinople says: Thirty-eight battalions of troops drawn from Smyrna, Beyrout and Salonica will by next week have put down the expiring revolt in Crete by surrounding the refugees in the mountains. A corps of Greek volunteers is being organized in Athens by four Cretan leaders and MM. Sempieri and Nagri under official auspices. Abdul ah Pasha has arrested a Greek vessel carrying arms and money for the insurgents.

News emanating from British sources that Russia would protest in favor of the Cretans is false. Russia, France, Germany, Austria and Italy continue in a loyal attitude and are opposed to insurrections which are apt to compromise the peace of the world. The whole diplomatic corps, apart from Great Britain and Greece, regard the uprising as a result of British machination. M. Thornton, the French ambassador, was yesterday received in audience by the sultan. M. Cambon strongly urged a conciliatory policy as being the best means of pacifying Crete. The Turkish ministers assembled in special council and discussed Cambon's advice.

It is a subject of comment here that the agitation in Crete is fed by the Crete committee in Athens, and that numerous Cretans are allowed to leave Athens unhindered, in order to take part in the movement. It is thought that the tactics of the Cretan committee are to prolong their campaign in order to induce the powers to intervene. In fact it has been ascertained that the insurgents are withdrawing to the mountains in order to prolong the struggle.

Many Cretan sympathizers were arrested in Constantinople on Wednesday, when domiciliary visits were also paid to Armenian employes in the telegraph department residing in Peru.

OUR AFRICAN TRADE.

France is Rapidly Gobbling It Up.

Washington, June 9.—Taking as his starting point the official announcement of annexation by France of Timboo, the principal place in the Djallon country, which is larger than the state of Pennsylvania and quite as fertile, United States Consul Strickland, at Goree Dakar, has made a most interesting report to the state department upon the dangers threatening United States trade with Africa, owing to the rapid extension of the colonial possessions of the European nations. He shows how the French, by the imposition of a discrimination duty of 7 per cent against foreign goods, have monopolized the markets of the French colonies, and have thus crushed out the lucrative and growing trade which the United States already enjoyed in that part of the world.

Perhaps the process has now begun of identifying the whole of Africa against us by protective tariff; for if one nation can ever do it now with effect, the remainder will in time, to equalize things among themselves.

FISHERY TROUBLE.

Militia Held in Readiness in Oregon Today.

Portland, Ore., June 9.—The First regiment, Oregon National Guards, has been directed to hold itself in order to go down the Columbia river and dispel the fishery disturbances, and it is more than possible that the militia will be on the move inside of two or three days.

The canneries and other buildings of the North Shore Packing company, situated across from Astoria, on the Washington side of the river, were fired last night, and other violence is feared.

BOTH REPUBLICANS.

Oregon Did Not Elect a Populist Congressman.

Portland, Ore., June 9.—In the first congressional district Tongue, Republican, has a plurality of seventy-four. Complete returns have been received from all counties in the district, and from all but three official returns are in. In the second district, with official returns from five counties missing, Ellis, Republican, has 452 plurality.

SECRETARY DOWLING'S QUEST.

Chicago, June 9.—Secretary Dowling, of the national Republican league, leaves today for St. Louis to attend to the fitting up of the headquarters of the league during the convention. The headquarters, which will be at Fourth and Market streets, will be used as a general rendezvous for friends of the league, while the officers will be quartered at the Southern hotel.

GATE CITY LODGE, NO. 25, K. OF P. Will have work in the first and second ranks tomorrow night. All members are urged to be present. Visiting knights invited.

GRATEFUL CHINESE.

Testimonials Given to Uncle Sam's Ship Captains.

San Francisco, June 9.—The emperor of China has testified his appreciation of the gallantry shown by the blue jackets of the American warships in rescuing drowning persons in the recent terrible disaster resulting from a collision at Woo Sung between the steamers Onwo and New Chwang, by presenting to the captain of each of Uncle Sam's cruisers in Asiatic waters an elaborately engraved and highly complimentary testimonial.

The part taken by the American sailor lads in this disastrous affair, which sent over 300 human beings to death, is given in detail by Harry Walsh, one of the crew of the Boston, in a letter to his mother, who resides in this city. According to Walsh, the blue jackets of the cruiser Olympia did the most effective life-saving work as she was riding at anchor within 1000 yards of the scene of the collision.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $2583.90, which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by May Stevenson and David H. Stevenson, her husband, mortgagors, to Marion P. Bacon, mortgagee, bearing date the 14th day of May, A. D. 1895, and with the power of sale therein contained duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 25th day of May, A. D. 1895, at 11 o'clock and 30 minutes a. m., in Book 107 of mortgages on page 1, which said mortgage together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Marion P. Bacon, mortgagee, to the Board of Trustees of Oberlin College, of Lorain County, Ohio, by written assignment dated the 20th day of July, A. D. 1895, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds on the 26th day of July, A. D. 1895, at 3:40 o'clock p. m., in Book 107 of mortgages on page 295, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, and

Whereas said mortgage provided that if default should be made in any of the conditions or covenants therein to be kept and performed by the parties of the first part, that then the whole sum thereby secured should immediately become due and payable at the election of the party of the second part, the heirs, executors, administrators or assigns, and

Whereas default was made in the payment of the sum of $87.50 of interest of the debt secured by said mortgage which became due and payable on May 4th, 1896, and

Whereas the above named assignee of said mortgagee has elected to declare, and has declared and does hereby declare the whole sum secured by said mortgage due and payable.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: Lot numbered sixteen (16), in block numbered eight (8), New Endion Division of Duluth according to the recorded plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for said county, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 3rd day of July, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $2583.90 and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises and $75.00 attorneys' fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided by law.

Dated May 19th, 1896.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by Jennett Clow, (a widow), mortgagor, to Charles S. Green, mortgagee, bearing date December first (1st), 1891, and duly recorded in the register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on December twelfth (12th), 1892, at 10:40 o'clock a. m., in Book one hundred one (101) of mortgages, on pages eighty-five (85), eighty-six (86), eighty-seven (87) and eighty-eight (88) thereof; such default consisting in the non-payment of the principal sum of two thousand five hundred ($2500) dollars thereby secured, with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent per annum from January first (1st), 1896, no part of which has ever been paid except twenty-three ($23) dollars interest paid thereon, and also in the non-payment of insurance premiums upon the premises covered by said mortgage amounting to the sum of fifty-four dollars, before paid by said mortgagee, in accordance with the provisions of said mortgage.

And whereas there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of two thousand seven hundred five and 40-100 ($2705.40) dollars, principal, interest, exchange and said insurance premiums paid.

And whereas said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form which has become operative by reason of the default above mentioned, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, situate in St. Louis county, Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: All of the southerly forty feet (s 40 ft) of the westerly one-half (w ½) of lot numbered thirteen (13), on East First street (E 1st St.), South Proctor Division, according to the recorded plat thereof, in the office of the register of deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota; being a tract of land forty feet wide and lying twenty-five feet on First street, by forty feet deep; which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house of said county, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the eighteenth (18th) day of June, A. D. 1896, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, interest and insurance, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and seventy-five dollars attorney's fee stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated May 5th, 1896.

CHARLES S. GREEN,
Mortgagee.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of two hundred twenty-nine and 66-100 dollars which amount is claimed to be due and is due, owing and unpaid at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly made and delivered by J. C. Russell and Alice S. Russell, his wife, mortgagors, to Wm. E. Richardson and Frank A. Day, mortgagees, bearing date the 25th day of February, 1893, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 15th day of March, 1893, at 8 o'clock a. m., in Book 68 of mortgages on page 550, which mortgage and the debt thereby secured were duly assigned by said Wm. E. Richardson and Frank A. Day to the undersigned Elliot B. Norton, who is now the owner and holder thereof, by written instrument bearing date the 26th day of June, 1893, and duly recorded in the office of said register of deeds on the 3d day of July, 1893, at 4 o'clock p. m., in Book 83 of mortgages, on page 475.

And whereas said default is a default in one of the conditions of said mortgage, which contains a power of sale and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described and situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, to-wit: Lot number thirteen (13), in block number fourteen (14), in West End Addition to Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, Minnesota, at the front door of the court house of said county, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on Wednesday, the 15th day of July, 1896, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at public auction to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest together with twenty-five dollars attorneys' fee, stipulated in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from date of sale, as by law provided.

Dated June 1st, 1896.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF ST. LOUIS.—

District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

In the matter of the assignment of Alfred E. Nugent and George H. Brown, copartners as Nugent & Brown, insolvents:

It appearing to the satisfaction of the court that Angus Gibson has duly entered upon the discharge of his trust as assignee of said insolvents, and has filed with the clerk of said court his summary statement showing the amount of moneys received by him, and the amount of expenses of the trust now incurred and a general description of the assigned property now remaining in his hands, with the estimated value thereof, and that the time limited by order of this court for filing claims has expired, now, therefore, on motion of Chas. F. Hopkins, attorney for said assignee it is hereby ordered,

That all persons who have filed their claims duly proven against said insolvents, and who desire to participate in the proceeds of said estate as to the distribution thereof file their releases with said assignee on or before the 20th day of June, 1896.

It is further ordered that a copy of this order be published in The Duluth Evening Herald, a daily newspaper published in Duluth, in said county, for three successive weeks, and that a copy of the summary statement filed herewith be mailed to each creditor of said insolvents who has filed his proof of claim.

Dated May 23d, 1896.

By the Court,
S. H. MOER,
Judge.

ORDER TO EXAMINE ACCOUNTS, ETC.—

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis —ss.

In Probate Court, Special Term, June 2nd, 1896.

In the matter of the estate of Solomon Mattila, deceased:

On reading and filing the petition of John Mattila, executor of the estate of Solomon Mattila, deceased, representing among other things that he has fully administered said estate, and praying that a time and place be fixed for examining, settling and allowing the final account of his administration, and for the assignment of the residue of said estate to the parties entitled thereto by law.

It is ordered that said account be examined and petition heard by this court, on Thursday, the 25th day of June, A. D. 1896, at ten o'clock a. m., at the probate office in Duluth, in said county.

And it is further ordered that notice thereof be given to all persons interested by publishing a copy of this order once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in The Duluth Evening Herald, a daily newspaper printed and published at Duluth, in said county.

Dated at Duluth, the 2nd day of June, A. D. 1896.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE ON FILING PETITION TO SELL LAND.—

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis —ss.

In Probate Court, Special Term, May 19th, 1896.

In the matter of the estate of John Washington, deceased:

On reading and filing the petition of Annie Washington, executor of the will of said deceased setting forth a description of all real estate, excepting the homestead, of which said deceased died seized, and the condition and value of the respective portions or lots thereof; that it would be for the best interests of all persons interested in said estate that the same should be sold; the persons interested in said estate, with their residences; and praying that license be to her granted to sell all of said real estate. And it appearing by said petition that it will be for the best interests of all persons interested in said estate that said real estate should be sold.

It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate, appear before this court, on Saturday, the 13th day of June, 1896, at ten o'clock a. m. at the probate office in Duluth, in said county, then and there to show cause (if any there be) why license should not be granted to said Annie Washington to sell the real estate of said deceased.

And it is further ordered that this order shall be published once in each week for three successive weeks prior to said day of hearing in The Duluth Evening Herald, a daily newspaper printed and published at Duluth, in said county.

Dated at Duluth, the 19th day of May, A. D. 1896.

By the Court,
PHINEAS AYER,
Judge of Probate.

MORTGAGE SALE.—

Default has been made in the conditions of a mortgage made by John E. Fuller, mortgagor, to William C. Sherwood, mortgagee, bearing date December first, A. D. 1892, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, on the 7th day of December, A. D. 1892, in Book "92" of mortgages, on page 187, mortgaging and conveying the following described premises situate in the county of St. Louis, state of Minnesota, to-wit: An undivided one-half (½) interest in and to lot eight (8), of block sixty-two (62), in Endion Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof; which said mortgage was duly assigned by said William C. Sherwood to Lucy H. Purdy, the present holder and owner of said mortgage, by an instrument in writing dated December 6th, A. D. 1892, and duly recorded in the register of deeds office in and for said St. Louis County, on the 7th day of December, A. D. 1892, in Book 83 of mortgages on page 305; on which said mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice the sum of $1077.60, principal and interest, and the further sum of $38.03 for taxes paid by said assignee of said mortgage, making total amount due on said mortgage the sum of eleven hundred fifteen and 63-100 dollars ($1115.63), and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover said sum or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage contained, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of said mortgaged premises at public auction at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 1st day of July, A. D. 1896, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to pay said

Republican Club Meeting Tomorrow---Odd Fellows' Memorial Services.

The Sawmill Men's union is making preparations to build a labor hall in West Duluth. The building will be located on the corner of Raleigh street and Fifty-fifth avenue west, and will cost in the neighborhood of $1000. The building will contain a large hall to be used for public meetings and balls. Other labor organizations will be invited to use the hall for lodge purposes.

REPUBLICAN CLUB.

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the West Duluth Republican club will be held tomorrow evening at the fire hall. Speeches will be made by G. J. Mallory and County Attorney Arbury.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

The West Duluth lodge of Odd Fellows will hold memorial services at the regular meeting this evening. Short addresses will be made by Rev. Dr. Forbes and Rev. George E. Keithley. A musical and literary program has been arranged for the occasion. Light refreshments will be served.

SANG NOT ELECTED.

The unreliability of the morning paper was in evidence this morning when a list of the delegates to the Democratic county convention was given. David Sang was named as the elected delegate from the first precinct of the Eighth ward. Mr. Sang was not even running as a delegate to the convention. S. C. Murphy and Moses Fillatrault were the regularly elected delegates from this precinct.

THE RING'S ENTRENCHMENT.

The Party's Machinery Used For a Faction's Benefit.

Minneapolis Journal: A more shameless prostitution of the regular machinery of a great party to the service of a clique and faction was never seen than that which exists today in this state in the employment of the Republican party machinery in the interests of a single candidate. The chairman of the Republican state central committee is the skillful politician who is managing Mr. Clough's campaign and doing it in the interests of the Merriam faction, of which his accidency, Governor Clough, is the figurehead. He has at his disposal, and for the benefit of the ring and Mr. Clough, all the information, the experience, the polling lists and the established connections which belong to the committee, and is employing them in the interest of Mr. Clough and against every other candidate. It is with the facilities and with such information and resources as the committee possesses, that Senator Nelson is able to send his private letter, written in a foreign language, to the Norwegian voters throughout the state. The polling lists of the state central committee are available for such purposes.

Again there is the beautiful spectacle of the president of the Republican state league acting as one of the chief fugiemen for Mr. Clough, and presiding over headquarters opened in his interest in the German-American bank building in St. Paul. It was for this purpose—in order to enable him to get control of the state league in the interest of the Merriam machine and Clough's candidacy—that Republican clubs were organized in nearly every precinct in St. Paul so as to out-vote the state at large in the last state convention of the league and place Mr. Warner in the president's chair.

It remains to be seen whether the people of the state can be aroused to the danger of such entrenchment of the corrupt ring in the Republican politics of the state. Of this more will be known when the convention meets on the first of July. But the Journal believes that the intelligent voters of the state are not so blind that they cannot see how dangerous is this condition of things to the interests of the party and the state.

Billy Earle Hurt.

The following from the St. Paul Globe of yesterday will be interesting to Duluthians from the fact that Billy Earle was catcher of the Duluth professional ball team of several years ago:

"Billy Earle, captain and catcher of the Dallas Baseball club, while at the bat in the sixth inning of Wednesday's game, was hit in the small of the back by a swiftly pitched ball by Pitcher Isaacs. Earle fell, apparently dead. He revived in a few minutes, and refused to go out of the game, and played to the end. Last night in the rotunda of the Windsor hotel, Earle was overcome by a spasm-like attack and fell speechless to the floor. He was conveyed to his room, and doctors summoned. He has recovered consciousness, but suffers greatly. His doctors say he is suffering from concussion of the spine, which may result in paralysis, but if Earle remains quiet, such a result may be obviated.

SEEMS as if all the things we like disagree with us, and all the things we don't like, agree with us. Dyspepsia lurks in most of the good things we eat, and indigestion follows the gratification of appetite. Of course, it isn't Nature's fault. Nature does the best she can, and if a man will only help her a little bit at the right time, he may eat what he likes and as much as he likes. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are for people who are troubled with indigestion. Particularly for those in whom it manifests itself in the form of constipation. The "Pellets" are quick and easy in their action. They are in perfect harmony with Nature. They effect a permanent cure. You need take them regularly only a little while. After that, use them occasionally when you need them—when you have eaten something that disagrees with you. They may be taken just as freely as you would take water or any other necessity of life. Once used they are always in favor.

THE PRODUCE MARKET.

Market was plentifully supplied on Michigan street this morning in everything except mushrooms, which were snapped up by boat stewards for their passengers' palates. Prices suffered a good many changes. Berries were a trifle scarce, and only Wisconsin grown were in market.

It is learned that Russia has induced China to make all her railroads now building in the northern part of the Flowery kingdom four feet eleven inches wide, the width of the railroads in Russia, says the New York Mail and Express. Ominous Shadow of the Government Report Chilled the Market.

Strong Bull Traders Fled Before the Approach of the Shade.

Lower cables, very heavy Northwest receipts and fear of further liquidation, following yesterday's big break, created a weak opening in wheat this morning. The government's monthly crop report will not be issued until tomorrow afternoon, but this morning already its ominous shadow struck a chill through the speculative body and strong bull traders in wheat, relieved themselves of what grain they had and fled before its approach. Some one in New York tried to calm the fears of those who were casting away their deals by telling them that tomorrow's report would show a reduction in condition of from 82.7 as it was on May 1, to 76.5 on June 1. No one took any notice of it, and the market, which had opened weak and had been declining, only accelerated its speed toward some low lawn resting place.

Minneapolis and Duluth got 658 cars, compared with 666 a week ago, and 277 on the corresponding day of last year. The Michigan state report gave the June 1 condition on wheat as 77, compared with 92 May 12. The French crop report is now estimated by a connecent foreign authority as larger than that of the past year and no more than will be needed for French home requirements. Liverpool was quoted ¼d lower at the opening and a further ¼d decline at the close.

The closing figures for July show a loss of about 2½c at Chicago and 2¼c at Duluth from the final figures of yesterday. The decline, however, was not marked by the semi-panic which so characterized the larger part of yesterday's session, but on the contrary trading was extremely dull. Traders were appreciative of the decline and the indisposition to buy was heightened by the bearish news in circulation. The close was very weak.

July wheat opened here ¾c lower at 60¼c, advanced ¼c but soon reacted to 60c. It advanced again to 60¾c, but quickly dropped, selling down to 57¾c, where it ruled fairly steady to the close at 58¼c. Shippers bought 50,000 bus of cash stuff at the July price. The mills were not in the market. The close was 2¼c lower all round than yesterday. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard cash, 59¼c; July, 59¾c. No. 1 northern, cash, 58¼c; July, 58¼c; July, 58½c bid; September, 58½c bid. No. 2 northern, cash, 55¼@56½c. No. 3 53¾@54¾c. Rejected, 49¾@54¾c. To arrive —No. 1 hard, 59½c asked; No. 1 northern, 58¼c. Rye, 32½c. No. 2 oats, 18¼@18¾c; No. 3 oats, 17¾@18¼c.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 301 Board of Trade, Chicago, June 9.—The decline of 5c in wheat in two days has been fully as rapid and sensational as the advance which preceded it. The group of large local traders who have been so persistently quoted of late on the bull side were believed to have sold the greater part of their holdings on the advance of Saturday and yesterday, and when this fact dawned upon them the wheat crowd tumbled over each other to sell it out. The Bradstreet's report was disregarded, crop news forgotten and the market closed weak at the bottom at 2¼c decline for the day. Some export business was noted on the decline, and foreign markets yield but slowly. Beerbohm's estimate of the French crop, though reduced from last estimates, is regarded as bearish. After such a break wheat should be a purchase for a turn.

Corn and oats dull and easier. Receipts are not large but crop prospects encourage the belief that there will soon be a more free movement.

Provisions again sold by packers on all the strong spots.

Puts, July wheat, 56¾-57c.
Calls, July wheat, 59¼@59⅝c.

NOTES FROM DEERWOOD.

Fishing Continues to Furnish Sport For Visitors.

Deerwood, Minn., June 9.—(Special to The Herald).—Fishing at this point continues to improve, and many fine catches were taken in Serpent lake last week. Throughout the week the weather was fine, and among the notables who visited this place were: Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sagar, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Marshall and Gen. Young, of New York, who composed a jolly party that stayed three days and thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Nearly 100 pounds of fish accompanied them home, and the lakes will see them again during the season.

E. N. Bradley, Frank Wyman, Charles Thornson and Herbert Adams, were a Duluth crowd of young men who spent two days at this point and succeeded in securing a large assortment of sunburn and fish, all of which they carried into Duluth.

Herbert Connor liked the fishing and his surroundings so well that he concluded to stay a few days longer and, but for engagements elsewhere, would still be with us.

C. G. Child, of St. Paul, stopped over one day and will return later in the season, accompanied by his family.

C. E. Chipperfield, S. H. Parker, S. F. Alderman, of Brainerd, and B. M. Chippefield, of Canton, Ill., came in the middle of the week and renewed their acquaintance with Deerwood and its surroundings. Mr. Parker succeeded in inducing a 12-pound muscallonge to come in out of the wet, and the catch of the party filled a large-sized gunnysack.

E. D. Abbott spent one day upon Serpent, and carried to his Duluth friends sixty pounds of bass.

J. I. Thomas, F. W. Kuehnow, F. S. Pettibone, F. W. Boldrick and R. M. Bell spent Sunday here and had a thorough good time.

A Chicago party, composed of Joseph Downey, L. L. Leach and T. A. Leach, came in Sunday evening and will stay a week. These gentlemen are after muscallonge, and as nothing else will satisfy them, they are liable to get what they are after.

Rev. Dr. Salter visited the lakes all of last week and is an ardent fisherman. The doctor succeeded in taking many fish, among them being an 11-pound pike.

Was Robbed of $25.

Andrew Vorachek complained to the police today that he had been robbed of his money, amounting to about $25, which he was carrying tied up in a handkerchief, in Marshall's saloon, on First street west, last night. Several people in the saloon at the time said they saw a man take a handkerchief from Vorachek's pocket, but paid no attention to the matter, thinking it was intended as a joke, not imagining that the red bandana they saw the stranger lugging off was Vorachek's bank. Detective Troyer shortly after noon, arrested a man answering the description given by the witnesses. The prisoner, who gave his name as John Wise, had $4 in money and a book of photographs on his person when arrested. He will have a hearing tomorrow morning.

MINNESOTA BANKERS.

Annual Meeting Being Held in Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, June 9.—The Minnesota Bankers' association met in annual convention here this morning. Vice President J. R. Foss, of Minneapolis, called the convention to order, sixty-four bankers being present. Frank Searle, of the Macine National bank, of Duluth, responded for the visitors in a very pretty little speech. The secretary and treasurer read their reports, the latter showing a balance of $833.11.

Dr. Welcome, of Minneapolis, chairman of the association's legislative committee, reported on the work it had done. Mr. Davidson, of Little Falls, presented a petition which is to be submitted to the state board of equalization asking that body to see that bank property is no longer discriminated against in assessments.

This afternoon will be devoted to the election of officers and to listening to papers by C. R. Hannah, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and F. E. Kenaston, of Breckenridge. Tomorrow has been set aside for recreation and the day will be given to Minnetonka and in the evening the association will banquet at the West. Comptroller Eckels is expected to attend the banquet.

THE WEATHER.

United States Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Synopsis of weather conditions for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m., (Central time), June 9.—The depressions in the vicinity of St. Paul and Detroit yesterday have united in a storm of moderate intensity low central in the Upper Ohio valley.

Showers have occurred at all stations in the Mississippi valley and thence northeast throughout the lake region, the precipitation being heaviest in Upper Michigan, where is has exceeded one inch at Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie. At this morning's observation it was cloudy in Eastern Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan, and raining at Davenport and Detroit. Showers have been followed by clearing in the region north of Montana, and west of the Mississippi the weather is fair in all districts.

It is decidedly cooler than yesterday in Southern Wisconsin and Southern Michigan and thence southwest to Eastern Nebraska and Central Missouri; also in the Northern Rocky mountain region.

Duluth temperature at a. m. today, 48; maximum yesterday, 42; minimum yesterday, 38; rainfall, .66 inch.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity: Fair tonight; Wednesday fair and warmer; fresh north and northeast winds, becoming variable Wednesday.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Official.

Chicago, June 9.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; warmer in west portion Wednesday; northerly winds decreasing in force. Minnesota: Partly cloudy today and Wednesday; northerly winds becoming variable.

The depth of water over the miter sill in St. Mary's ship canal, at 7 a. m., was 14 feet 6 inches, and the forecast is that it will fall during the next twenty-four hours.

THE TROLLEY EDITOR'S AMBITION.

The rumor current for some time past that the trolley editor of the News Tribune is anxious to succeed Mr. Towne in congress receives strong confirmation from the course which that paper is now pursuing. Mr. Towne has given notice to all concerned that he will not accept the Republican nomination on a gold platform. The News Tribune, which apparently had no opinions on the money question, has recently been expounding the beauties of the single gold standard system. The hint has come from the gold men in other parts of the district that if Mr. Towne refuses to abide by the St. Louis platform they will nominate another Duluth man. Careful inquiry by The Herald failed to discover any prominent Duluth Republican on the gold side who would accept the nomination. It now appears that the trolley editor, who has cherished an ambition to make his voice heard in the halls of congress, is placing himself in such an attitude that he expects the lightning may strike him.

THE DULUTH & WINNIPEG.

The news contained in last evening's edition of The Herald that the United States circuit court of appeals has decided the Duluth & Winnipeg foreclosure suit in favor of the trustee and bondholders was received with great pleasure in Duluth, because it is confidently believed that the termination of this litigation and the sale of the road will result in its purchase by people closely connected with the Canadian Pacific, who will extend it westward to the Red river as fast as the work can be accomplished.

The suit now decided was begun by Foley Bros. & Guthrie a few days before the time fixed for the foreclosure sale. It was started for the purpose of setting aside the decree and enjoining all further proceedings in the foreclosure suit. At the same time the state of Minnesota also begun an action through the attorney general against the same parties to cancel the mortgage and bonds on the ground that they were illegal, and also to enjoin any further proceedings in the foreclosure suit. The lower court rendered a decision adverse to the state upon legal grounds presented by the trustee. The lower court also decided against Foley Bros. & Guthrie. The latter appealed to the circuit court of appeals, and that court has just rendered its decision as above stated.

It was alleged by Foley Bros. & Guthrie, as well as the state, that Sir William C. Van Horne, the president of the Canadian Pacific Railroad company, was acting fraudulently and collusively with the trustee for the purpose of foreclosing the mortgage. The circuit court of appeals completely exonerates Mr. Van Horne from these charges, stating in substance that the evidence wholly falls to sustain the charges. When this suit was instituted The Herald expressed the conviction that it was started solely for the purpose of delay and, if possible, to prevent the Canadian Pacific people getting possession of the Duluth & Winnipeg. It was pointed out that President Hill, of the Great Northern had an eye on the Duluth & Winnipeg and would like to get possession of it, and that it was believed he was really the instigator of these suits. This was probably the case. However, the legal obstacles have been removed. Mr. Van Horne has been completely exonerated, and the early extension of the road may be confidently anticipated.

FRENCH SPOLIATION CLAIMS.

The chief objection offered by President Cleveland to the general deficiency bill was that it included the so-called French spoliation claims. Principally for this reason, he vetoed the bill. His veto being sustained, a new deficiency bill has been introduced with the French spoliation feature omitted. While the president denounced the attempt to settle these claims as virtually a gigantic steal, there is another side to the question, a consideration of which shows very strong arguments in favor of the justice of the claims. They have been before almost every congress since the foundation of the American republic, and reports favoring their payment have been made. Henry Clay, Edward Everett, Edward Livingstone, Daniel Webster, Rufus Choate and Charles Sumner being among the eminent statesmen and jurists who have urged the government to pay these claims. By the decision of the court of claims in 1886 an aggregate of $5,000,000 or more of these claims was passed upon, and payment recommended. Under that decision $1,300,000 of this debt, practically as old as the government itself, was paid in 1891. As to the justice of the claims the language of the court of claims, in its report of 1886, seems decisive. "The result which we have reached," says the report, "is supported by resolutions passed in each of the thirteen original states, by twenty-four reports made to the senate by its committees, by over twenty similar reports made to the house, and by the fact that, while three adverse reports have been made—one to the senate and two to the house—no adverse report has been made in either body since the publication of the correspondence in 1826."

The Chicago Record recently gave a history of these claims. By the tenth article of the treaty of alliance between the United States and France, entered into in 1778, the United States guaranteed to the French king "forever against all other powers the present possessions of the crown of France in America, as well as those it may acquire by the future treaty of peace." On his part the King of France guaranteed to the United States "liberty, sovereignty and independence, absolute and unlimited," and also the possession of any additions or conquests obtained through the war with Great Britain. The treaty further provided that in case of a rupture between France and Great Britain the reciprocal guaranty as above stated should have full force and effect at the moment such war should begin. A treaty of commerce on similar binding and reciprocal terms was also duly entered into between the two countries at the same date. The moral effect of such a firm alliance and the enthusiasm with which it was greeted in both countries was a great factor in the speedy and successful issue of the war of independence. This country gained its liberty and France was revenged upon England for the humiliation of the peace of 1763.

Despite this treaty, President Washington in 1793 proclaimed strict neutrality as between France and the other countries of Europe. Then followed the Jay treaty, which virtually abrogated the treaty of 1778 and France made an urgent protest. Great Britain had already taken possession of nearly all the possessions of France in the West Indies guaranteed to France forever by the United States in the treaty of 1778. To revenge herself upon this country and to enforce observance of the treaty of alliance France thereupon began the system of preying upon our commerce, out of which originated the present claims against the United States government. American vessels were seized and cargoes confiscated, the spoliations amounting to over $20,000,000. Finally congress began to prepare for war, there were several naval encounters, and at last the "convention of 1801" was ratified.

By one clause of this convention the respective claims of the two governments against each other, those of France against the United States for failing to observe the stipulations of the treaty of 1778, and those of the United States against France for depredations upon American commerce, were balanced and settled, leaving the citizens of the United States whose property had been taken and appropriated by a country with which their own was not at war no recourse except against the government of the United States, which had obtained partial release from obligations of its own to France by these losses sustained by private citizens. It is upon this clause that the French spoliation claims rest. As the depredations were committed in a time of peace, and as the direct result of this country breaking treaty obligations, the claims appear to have a just foundation, in spite of what President Cleveland says in his veto.

The Washington Post, in a recent summary of the situation as respects the money plank of the St. Louis platform, says: "The silver outlook at Chicago is perplexing the Republicans. They are anxious and worried. Many of their prominent men here in Washington do not hesitate to say that a free coinage Democrat can come very near to defeating McKinley. One of McKinley's managers, who was here last week, acknowledged that the matter had been given serious consideration. He made a trip through McKinley's own state, talking with the men in the factories and shops, for no other reason than to learn what the workingmen were saying among themselves on the silver question. His observations convinced him that it might be dangerous to place McKinley on a platform declaring for gold alone, and yet the gold men may dominate the Republican convention, and may make a plank of their own liking."

Postmaster General Wilson has written an open letter to a West Virginia constituent in which he says in so many words that free silver is not really threatening the country, but the Democratic party. With a free-silver platform, he believes the Democrats would have no chance in Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio and Michigan. Mr. Wilson is liable to get a surprise, when the election returns are received in November. But it would b interesting to learn upon what other issue he thinks the Democrats could carry these states.

The Morris Sun says: "As the governor would, in the event of Davis being given a cabinet position, have the power to appoint some one to fill the unexpired term, it may explain why Merriam is the power behind Clough." Do the St. Louis county Republicans desire to see Bill Merriam reach the United States senate? Does Mr. Towne desire it? Yet, when they support Clough, they do all within their power at this time to aid Mr. Merriam's ambition in that direction.

In New York city an early-June romance leads those who listen to it up to the conclusion that Platt has a new plan to beat McKinley—he will, they say, spring Foraker's name. That Mr. Platt will do anything of the sort is not probable, nor is it probable that Foraker would be a party to such a scheme.

Clough is not governor by the desire of the people. He is unfit for the office, and has no claim upon it, and were it not for the power of the Merriam machine he would not have two votes in the state convention. But, despite the efforts of the machine, he cannot be nominated.

On June 4 The Herald published a complete report of Rev. C. H. Patton's address, delivered at New Haven, Conn. Today, five days later, the News Tribune repeats it. If you want the news when it is news, you must read The Herald.

All the candidates for governor opposed to Clough are determined that he shall not be nominated. Clough must win on the first ballot, or not at all. That he can get half enough votes to nominate on the first ballot is impossible.

The free silver Democrats swept everything before them in the primaries in this county last evening, and the result will be the selection of solid free silver delegations to the district and state conventions. And yet the goldbugs say "the silver craze" is dead.

William J. Lemp, a St. Louis brewer, is one of the men who practices what he preaches. Although he lost $100,000 by the tornado, as much or more than any single person, he does not favor asking outside aid, and in addition has subscribed $3500 to the relief fund.

The officeholders are for Clough, but the people are against him. It is hardly within the range of possibility that he will be nominated, and it is extremely doubtful whether, if nominated, he could be elected.

The Clough papers are silent regarding his accidency's recent speech in which he denounced the bimetallists and called them "cheap demagogues." They are amazed that Tams should put such a speech in the govenor's grip.

The Republican bosses in the East still shiver when the Oregon election is mentioned. They may now take a little silver with their gold at St. Louis.

Secretary Morton has imported a silver tree from Africa, and there is a rumor that Grover has ordered him to have it covered with gold leaf.

Already there are indications of a lively fight in the congressional convention on the money question.

THE GATES OF YESTERDAY.

My love and I strayed hand in hand
In the wake of the clover-seeking bee;
The sweet wild grape in that sunlit land
Had flung its festoons on bush and tree;
And red wood-lilies, a sentinel band,
Guarded the entrance to Arcady.

A white mist from the river curled,
Deep into the woodland wandered we;
The trilliums, flags of truce unfurled,
And swayed in a breeze from the distant sea;
We plucked wild strawberries dew-enpearled,
In the morning land of Arcady.
Only when June sends heralds gay
Into the world may we follow the bee;

Only when grasses bend and sway,
And the wild grape festoons bush and tree,
May we pass through the gates of Yesterday,
And linger again in Arcady.—

THE DAKOTAS.

NORTH DAKOTA.

The Walhalla, Bathgate & Eastern railroad surveyors have finished the survey from Walhalla to Bathgate, and will proceed east as soon as the land dries so they can work. They have laid out the depot and switch here, just west of town. The surveyors pronounce it a very easy grade and it will be graded as soon as the land dries so they can work it.

Judgment has been given at Grand Forks in the case of the farmers from the Turtle River township who were brought to this city on the complaint of Angus McDonald, whose lands were flooded, caused by dams which had been built by the farmers complained of. The suit was brought by County Attorney Hamilton in the name of the state and the case was tried before Justice McLaughlin, who decided that the embankment having been built on Archie Middleton's lands, one of the parties against whom complaint had been made, the state had no cause of action, and therefore dismissed the case.

There was a general shake-up in the office of the Red River National bank at Fargo yesterday: E. A. Perry resigned as vice president and was succeeded by Cashier R. S. Lewis, who had resigned on account of too much outside business. Cashier Hyde, of Hillsboro, succeeded Lewis.

The jury in the case of Rochus Sanders, charged with the murder of Carl Becker, returned a verdict of acquittal at Bismarck. Both were Emmons farmers and quarreled on the way home from town. They had been drinking and Becker assaulted Sanders with a knife, the latter defending himself.

Hotel Argyle, Hemenway & White, proprietors, at Oakes, was burned to the ground with most of its furniture. Loss, $9000; insurance, $3500. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Casselton gets the G. A. R. encampment next year. All pronounce the late one at Hillsboro the best ever held in the state.

The St. Paul and Minneapolis contingent of Shriners came up to Fargo on a Great Northern special in charge of General Passenger Agent Whitney. The parade, which occurred yesterday took place at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A large number were present. Five hundred nobles were in line from North and South Dakota and Minnesota. A large number of special louts were arranged and the camel drivers from different towns in the state wore appropriate costumes.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

At the time a building was discovered to be on fire at the Indian industrial school at Pierre all the pupils—about 150—were in the large dining room of the school. The fire was discovered by one of the white employes and instead of giving the alarm, he quietly walked to the table where the members of the boarding department were seated, and informed them what he wanted of them. This was made possible by the fact that the company is composed of the largest boys in the school. They understood what was best to do under the circumstances and quietly filed out, then made a rush for their hose cart, and in a very few minutes had under control what began to look like an ugly fire. They worked so quietly and so rapidly that the pupils in the dining room did not know until the fire was under control, what was the cause of the older boys leaving the room, and what might have been a serious panic was prevented by the coolness of an employe, and the readiness of the fire company of Indian boys.

Upwards of 100 Indians belonging to the Lower Brule agency are now receiving a great number of horses and cows, and enough agricultural implements to stock all the farmers in several townships at Chamberlain. Each head of a family receives a span of mares, one of them with a colt; one breed and one milch cow, one wagon, one plow and harrow, one set of harness, besides an ax, a hoe and a fork. The stock is the best in the market. A total of 300 breeding cows and 700 milch cows, each with a calf, have been issued. A little later each person, male and female, who has taken an allotment of land, will receive a cash payment of $50. As nearly every Indian, male and female, on the Lower Brule reservation, has taken allotment, the cash payment will aggregate over $80,000. As many members of one family are entitled to take allotments, many Indian families will receive cash payments as high as $300 or more.

During the storm at Brookings lightning struck the Norwegian church steeple, shattering it and setting fire to the roof. A deluge of water fell about 6 o'clock and the storm was driven by heavy wind. A farm barn, about seven miles south of Brookings, was picked up bodily and carried some distance, crashing through the side of a farm house. H. H. Avery, who was in the house was struck on his head by timber and seriously injured, and a little child received severe wounds from broken glass. A young man named Charles Gray, near White, was killed by a stroke of lightning during the same storm. A gale swept over the country and from the north and east it is reported that considerable damage was done to buildings and wind mills. Several narrow escapes are reported. At Elkton a large number of buildings were badly damaged by the wind.

It is just one month to the meeting of the Republicans of South Dakota in convention at Aberdeen, and many are the prognostications of the ticket to be presented to the voters of the state. Many also are the deals being arranged and slates fixed; but the people are awakened to the necessity of a fair deal and a clean ticket, and woe betide the delegate who tries to thwart these wishes. Still the manipulator and place hunter will try to get in his work.

CHESS-PLAYING TELEGRAPHERS.

One of the most interesting chess clubs is along the line of the Burlington road in Iowa, says the Chicago Chronicle. A station agent who is an enthusiastic chess player learned that another operator along the road was also a devotee of the game. These two began to play, and once in a while an operator would break in in such a way as to show that he also understood it. As a result, ten of the operators formed a club, and a match was instituted, taking a year to play the full series. They are just now being completed, and, strange to say, not one of those who started in the game has had his station changed. It would seem that the fascination of the game has overcome the roving disposition of the operators to such an extent that they have done their utmost to hold their positions, and have refused to go to new fields, largely in order to complete the championship series of chess.

WHAT HENDRYX SAYS.

St. Paul Dispatch: C. F. Hendryx, of Sauk Center, one of the delegates at large to the national Republican convention, was at the capitol this morning. He confirmed the report that Congressman Towne will stand for free silver, and demand that the party in his district allow him to make the platform; that he announces that he will not accept a reaffirmation of the St. Louis platform if it is for a gold standard, as it is expected it will be. Mr. Towne will only run on a platform declaring for protection and free silver. If the Republicans of the Sixth district will not adopt his platform, he will try the Populists, demanding the same platform of them, and the rejection of all their isms and other terms supposed to be dear to the Populist heart, if they will not take him up on that platform he will run independent. He is bound to run on his own platform, anyway.

Mr. Hendryx admits Mr. Towne is very strong. He has a large personal following, and then St. Louis, his home county, is disposed to stand by him, silver or no silver. In fact, the silver sentiment of the district is overwhelming. The interest right in that county. The rest of the district has as little of it as any other district in the state. Mr. Hendryx says that in view of these facts if Mr. Towne should get the Populist nomination and the Democrats as well as the Republicans should put a man in the field, Mr. Towne would have a good chance of winning. If the Democrats left their nomination open, he would still have a chance of winning, though not so good, as the silver Democrats, who form a larger part of the Democratic party of the district than they do of the Republican, would flock to his standard, while the gold Democrats would vote for the Republican nominee. All these things indicate, a hot fight over the financial plank in the Republican platform adopted at St. Cloud, July 16. Mr. Hendryx expressed the opinion of the Pillsbury, of Minneapolis, stood the best chance of becoming the chairman of the Minnesota delegation to St. Louis.

THE WAY OF THE WIND.

Who knoweth the way of the changeful wind;
Of the gentlest breeze that bloweth,
Or the angry tempest loud and wild;
The way of the wind, who knoweth?

It toyeth soft with the tassled maize—
It whispereth low, in the branches;
Or, madly rageth, in league with Death,
Till the cheek of the bravest blanches.

O the sweet west wind—O the zephyrs light—
Scarce rippling the placid river;
So gently stirring the leaves among,
They scarce to the soft touch quiver.

Yet the giant oak, like a fragile reed
The wind in its might upteareth,
And the proudest works of man, as naught
On its rushing wings, it beareth.

A mystic thing is the willful wind,
That knoweth where it listeth;
It whirleth about, forevermore—
It veereth its course, and twisteth.

Thou hearest the sound, but canst not tell
Whence cometh the wind that bloweth;
Nor seer nor prophet hath lore or ken
To tell him whither it goeth.

O the wonderful wind—the wild free wind!
I have read, in a legend olden,
How, at the blessed wake of dismay, came
The winds, by their king, were holden.

Till earth and ocean he bade them sweep,
Like a vengeful, roaring demon;
Then woe to the landsman in its track,
And woe to the wave-tossed seaman!

And I have read from a holier page,
How they blow when the Master willeth,
And how, when the tempest rages high,
The wind and the wave He stilleth.

So albeit, not to our finite minds,
The way of the wind He showeth,
Yet whence it cometh, and how, and why,
I am sure there is One who knoweth.

A FLIGHT OF PIGEONS.

Aided by a southerly wind and a perfectly clear sky, the first test of the pigeons which are to represent the first Chicago Homing club in the National Federation races this year was a most notable success. It took place Saturday morning, May 9, and the trial was remarkable in more than one feature. Two hundred and eighty-one birds, the largest number which the club has ever liberated from one racing station, made the trip, and of that number every bird was reposing peacefully in its loft by 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The time made by the first birds to arrive home was the fastest ever made over the course, and represents a speed of more than a mile a minute.

The birds were liberated at Monee, forty-two miles away from the nearest loft at 7:30 o'clock, and White Wings, owned by L. Verschueren, stepped back into his loft at 8:14:30. White Wings was closely followed by nearly half the flock, and fifty arrivals were reported between 8:15 and 8:17. Inasmuch as every bird spent at least five minutes in circling before starting on a line for home, the speed shown is materially more than a mile in sixty seconds. The members of the club were delighted over the performances of their pets, and they unite in saying that the club will be the richer by several of the federation racing diplomas before the season is over.

As an illustration of how little even the best fanciers are able to judge of the merits of their own pets, it is interesting to note that White Wings had been considered almost worthless. Only a month ago he was flown from Sixty-first street, a distance of eight miles, to his loft, and took sixteen days to make the journey. That was his first trial, and he was sent to Monee Saturday quite as much in the hope that he would be lost as for any other reason.

A GUARANTY OF SAFETY.

"They are a guaranty of safety, my dear sir," replied the steward. "They show the vessel is all right, for rats desert a sinking ship."

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—J. E. Ebert and Mrs. J. E. Ebert (his wife), on the 5th day of May, 1894, mortgaged to Bernard Heller and Louis S. Loeb, the following tract or parcel of land lying and being in the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: The east one-half (e½) of fractional lot number four (4), in block number forty (40), in Endion Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof heretofore of record in the office of the register of deeds of said St. Louis County; the said tract or parcel being a strip twenty-five (25) feet in width off from the east side of said lot and extending the whole length thereof, to secure the payment of three hundred and twenty-one dollars, with interest thereon, at seven per cent per annum, in one year from May 5th, 1894. This mortgage was filed for record in the office of the register of deeds of said St. Louis County, on October 9th, 1894, and was duly recorded in Book 95 of mortgages on page 81.

On January 8th, 1895, the said Louis S. Loeb assigned to the said Bernard Heller all the right, title and interest he had in and to said mortgage and the assignment was filed for record in the office of the register of deeds of said St. Louis County on the 25th day of May, 1896, and was duly recorded in Book 147 of mortgages on page 31.

There is now claimed to be due and is due on the debt secured by said mortgage, for principal and interest, the sum of three hundred and sixty-seven dollars and twenty-two cents.

No action has been brought for the recovery of any part of the sum due from the mortgagors, and default has been made in the payment of the same.

Therefore, in pursuance of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and of the statute in such case made and provided, the above described parcel of land will be sold by the sheriff of St. Louis County, Minnesota, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, at the front door of the county court house, in Duluth, Minnesota, on Thursday, the ninth day of July, 1896, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to satisfy the amount then due on said mortgage and the costs and disbursements of this foreclosure including an attorney fee of twenty-five dollars of the amount therein provided in case of foreclosure.

PAVILION OPERA.

Gonzalez Company Again Presents "La Mascotte."

The Gonzalez Opera company drew another good house last night, in spite of the cold, damp weather and the counter attraction of the circus. Outside it was cold, wet and disagreeable, but the interior of the Pavilion was warm, and the crowd seemed to enjoy itself pretty thoroughly. "La Mascotte" was the bill again, and it was presented as satisfactorily at least as on the previous day. The pretty story of the opera is always attractive, the music is catchy, and altogether there is ample excuse for the popularity of "La Mascotte."

The company seemed to take with the audience very well, and the antics of the comedians kept the house in a roar a greater portion of the time. Ed Chapman and James Donnelly are the comedians, and what with their ludicrous costumes and actions, and their witty sayings, they manage to keep the audience amused.

Lizzie Gonzalez as Bettina was certainly active enough. She did not suffer her part to lag in the least, and she was well received. Fannie Gonzalez and Teddy Webb were good, and Adolph Mayer, as Pippo, was very pleasing. His voice is pleasant and his manner taking. "La Mascotte" is the bill until Thursday afternoon, when "The Chimes of Normandy" will be put on.

Do not be hoodwinked. Use no "just as good." Salvation Oil is what you want when in need of a good liniment.

Elected Officers.

The Central Young Woman's Christian Temperance union held its annual meeting last evening and elected the following officers: President, Miss Virginia LaVaque; vice president at large, Miss Alice Jones; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Amy Houghan; recording secretary, Mrs. William Smith; treasurer, Miss Minnie Jeffrey; vice president for M. E. church, Miss Lottie Burgo; vice president Presbyterian church, George Garton; vice president Congregational church, Miss Louise K. Noyes; vice president Christian church, Leon V. Shaw; vice president Episcopal church, Mrs. N. F. Hugo. The Bethel was thanked for the use of the hall for Professor Orcutt's lecture. Delegates to the sixteenth district convention, to be held at New Duluth, June 25 and 26, were chosen.

WENT TO THE CIRCUS.

Aldermen Preferred Ringling Show to Their Own.

There was no meeting of the council last evening, the majority of the aldermen being in attendance at the circus. They visited the city hall yesterday and hearing on inspection of Clerk Richardson's bill of fare for the evening, that it contained but an array of routine hash, they resolved to take advantage of the opportunity. President Hale and Aldermen Krumsieg, Olafson, Sang and Coventry had been to the afternoon performance and were on hand at the council chamber in the evening. After a walk of about half an hour an adjournment to next Monday evening was taken.

WELCH WAS BEATEN.

The secretary of the interior has decided the case of William Welch vs. A. D. Pottle and R. P. Fitzgerald from the Duluth land district in favor of Pottle and Fitzgerald. The case has been pending for six or eight years in one form or another, and by turns decisions have been made in favor of each side. June 16, 1892, the commissioner of the general land office decided the same as the decision yesterday and this decision was reaffirmed upon review. Afterwards it was reversed by the secretary. Then there was a reversal in part and now the decision is again completely in favor of Pottle and Fitzgerald, who filed soldiers' additional scrip upon lands in St. Louis county.

The Swedish Baptists.

The thirty-eighth annual conference of Swedish Baptists of Minnesota will open in Stanchfield, in Isanti county, on Thursday, and will continue over Sunday. Rev. M. Larson, pastor of the Swedish Bethel Baptist church, of Duluth, is president of the conference. About twenty-five Duluth Swedish Baptists will attend. In the conference there are seventy-nine churches, having a membership of 6900.

The Swedish Baptist Young People's union will meet at the same time and place, and the attendance at the two will reach 600 or 700.

On June 24 an alliance mass meeting will be conducted at Cambridge, Minn., by the Swedish Baptists, and it is expected that from 3000 to 5000 people will be there.

SILVER

White Metal Men Carried the Democratic Primaries Last Night.

Complete and Overwhelming Defeat Administered to the Gold Men.

Convention Will Be Favorable to C. d'Autremont, Jr., For Delegate.

The Democratic primaries were carried overwhelmingly by the free silver men last night and they will control this afternoon's convention. The gold or administration men were claiming this morning that they still had a fighting chance, but they concluded early in the day that their fight would be a pretty weak one. Fifty-five delegates were to be elected in the entire city and the silver men captured at least forty-five of them and perhaps fifty.

The fight was an interesting one, but rather one-sided. In spite of the fact that it was circus night 1500 votes were cast. In a few of the precincts there were lively contests. The result shows pretty conclusively where the Democratic party in Duluth stands and the twenty-six delegates who will be chosen this afternoon to go to the state convention at St. Paul will be for free silver and they will be anti-Dorian men, too.

Another thing settled by last evening's primaries is that C. d'Autremont, Jr., will be the choice of St. Louis county Democrats for delegate to the Chicago convention. E. C. Gridley wanted to be the choice very much, but he came a long way from getting the delegates. He was beaten in his own precinct by another silver man, Frank Polski.

The delegates chosen as far as could be learned up to noon were:

FIRST WARD.
First precinct—T. F. McGillivray.
Second precinct—Frank Crasseweller.
Third precinct—Morris Thomas and R. S. Powell.
Fourth precinct—C. d'Autremont and Alfred Jaques.
Fifth precinct—D. E. Hollister.

SECOND WARD.
First precinct—A. Figer and W. D. Newcomb.
Second precinct—Frank Polski.
Third precinct—Alexander Wilson.
Fourth precinct—W. H. Groff.

THIRD WARD.
First precinct—Daniel Horgan and W. A. Poote.
Second precinct—J. A. Smith.
Third precinct—T. T. Hudson and Andrew Marshall.
Fourth precinct—R. J. Ryan and Peter Nowack.

FOURTH WARD.
Second precinct—Hector McLean.
Third precinct—John Holloran and Tom Hogan.
Fourth precinct—B. J. Whitcomb and J. C. Hessian.

FIFTH WARD.
First precinct—C. O. Flynn and H. B. Fryberger.
Second precinct—J. G. Brown and James Sargent.
Third precinct—O. C. Sturm and Timothy Pipin.
Fourth precinct—Morris Griffin and Dr. G. C. Gilbert.
Fifth precinct—Louis T. Rutter.

SIXTH WARD.
Fourth precinct—Alex. Sang.
Fifth precinct—Edward Vighlin.
Sixth precinct—Joseph Trudell.

SEVENTH WARD.
First precinct—William Walkowiah.
Second precinct—James Rooney.
Third precinct—James Hart, Jr.
Fourth precinct—Henry Breen.

EIGHTH WARD.
First precinct—S. C. Murphy and Moses Filhatrault.
Second precinct—James Connelly.
Third precinct—D. Doyle.
Sixth precinct—W. H. Smith.
Eighth precinct—Charles Gaspar.

Of these, the gold men can probably muster the following in their ranks: Messrs. Figer, Newcomb, Alexander Wilson, B. J. Whitcomb, Holloran and Hogan. They claim Hessian, but he has said he has declared that he would run only on a free silver platform.

An effort was made to clean out John G. Brown, but he came under the wire an easy winner by two to one, getting 68 votes to his opponent's 34. T. J. McKeon and J. C. Hessian, silver men, were running together in the Fourth precinct of the Fourth ward. McKeon was beaten by Whitcomb, but Hessian was elected.

On June 10 and 11 the Northern Pacific railroad will sell tickets to Portland, Ore., at the very low rate of one fare for the round trip, allowing stop-overs going and returning, with choice of routes returning. A small additional charge will be made for passengers wishing to return via San Francisco. For further information, call at city offices, Spalding Hotel block. R. A. Eva, General Agent.

HOMESEEKERS' EXCURSION.

On June 9 and 23, the Northern Pacific will sell tickets to all points in Minnesota and Dakota at the very low rate of one fare, less $2 for the return. Tickets on sale at city office, 428 West Superior street and Union depot.

FACE RAW AND BLEEDING

My little boy was afflicted with Eczema in acute form for a year, during which we tried without success every known remedy. The disorder appeared on the right cheek and was of a blistery and bloody form. His pillow, mornings, would bear the bloody imprint of the side of his face, while it was impossible to prevent him from scratching his face owing to the itching. Advised to try CUTICURA, I bought a box. The first application was made at night, and it is a fact, that the appearance of the affected parts showed a noticeable improvement the next morning, and, continuing the treatment, as a result, my child has as fair and smooth skin as can be found anywhere.

A BISHOP'S RUSE.

How He Satisfied Some Alaska Indians.

J. E. Solomon, who ran a trading sloop between Cook Inlet and Juneau twelve years ago, is an old traveler, and has roughed it in South America, Central America and Mexico. Speaking of his experiences in Alaska he tells of a remarkable escape from death he witnessed while at Nucheck several years ago, says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

"I spent some time at Nucheck once. Was there on a trading venture in the schooner. The crew with the boat were about the only white men there at that time besides the post trader and the Russian bishop. There were lots of natives there, and they were most all Catholics. I had a Russian Finn aboard, a quarrelsome fellow, who came pretty near getting us all cleaned out. He was fond of clams, and during his spare time, which was plenty, used to gather clams and put them in a bucket. He would leave the bucket at the water's edge so the rising tide would cover them and keep them fresh.

"One morning an Indian kicked the bucket over and scattered the clams. This made the Russian Finn mad, and he went at the native hammer and tongs, spreading him all over the place. The fellow fought back, and Finn drew a small revolver on him. A number of Indians had gathered about, attracted by the noise of the quarrel, and when the pistol dashed into view, cries of hatred and anger rose on all sides. The Finn had to run for his life. He got into the house of the post trader, and the Indians howled about on the outside like a lot of wolves who had a scent of meat. The bishop was on hand trying to pacify them. Finally he went into the house and demanded the revolver. The Finn was scared and gave it over without much of a struggle. The bishop went outside, and after holding it up to the view of the excited natives, threw it on the ground. It struck on the hammer and exploded. The bullet struck one of the natives in the front of the neck and came out at the back. The strange thing was that the Indian was unhurt, the bullet slipping about the neck without penetrating a vital point. Then there was a great powwow. The bishop was smart. He said a higher power had certainly guided the bullet and spared the man's life, to make peace between the whites and their brothers. The Indians took it all in, and the trouble was tided over. They never went much on the Russian Finn, however, and until we had gotten safely away he never went alone at night."

THE TRAMP'S WARNING.

New York Herald: Tall woman (indignantly)—What brings you here again? Didn't I refuse to give you food only a few moments ago?

Tramp—Yes, mum; but I comes back. I do, tur warn yew, mum, thet yew hev got ennermies, downright ennermies, mum. I stopped at de nex' house an' tol' 'em wot an excellent cook yew wuz, mum, an' de wummun, one not altogedder pleasin' tew me fastidimous eye, says oz how yew couldn't cook fit fur pigs, an' wid dat she brought me on a big feed, she did mum."

Tall woman—She said that, did she? The hussey! You wait a minute, and I'll show you whether I can cook as well as she can or not!

Ten minutes later the tramp hobbled away to join his pard, carrying the broadest smile and finest round of rations he had had for many days.

HER HAPPY DAY.

A CHARMING STORY OF MEDICINE AND MARRIAGE.

Two Open Letters From a Chicago Girl —How Happiness Came to Her.

Among the tens of thousands of women who apply to Mrs. Pinkham for advice and are cured, are many who wish the facts in their cases made public, but do not give permission to publish their names for reasons as obvious as in the following, and no name is ever published without the writer's authority; this is a bond of faith which Mrs. Pinkham has never broken.

Chicago, Jan. 8th, '95.
My dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
A friend of mine, Mrs. —, wants me to write you, because she says: "you did her so much good." I am desperate. Am nineteen years of age, tall, and weighed 138 pounds a year ago. I am now a mere skeleton. From your little book I think my trouble is profuse menstruation. My symptoms are * * * * etc.

Our doctor (my uncle) tells father that I am in consumption, and wants to take me to Florida. Please help me! Tell me what to do, and tell me quickly. I am engaged to be married in September. Shall I live to see the day? * * * *
LUCY E. W.

Chicago, June 16th, '95.
My dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
This is a happy day. I am well and gaining weight daily, but shall continue the treatment and Vegetable Compound during the summer, as you suggest. Uncle knows nothing about what you have done for me, because it would make things very unpleasant in the family. I would like to give you a testimonial to publish, but father would not allow it. * * * * I shall be married in September, and as we go to Boston, will call upon you. How can I prove my gratitude? * * * *
LUCY E. W.

Just such cases as the above leak out in women's circles, and that is why the confidence of the women of America is bestowed upon Mrs. Pinkham.

Why are not physicians more candid with women when suffering from such ailments?

Women want the truth, and if they cannot get it from their doctor, will seek it elsewhere.

MORNING IN GEORGIA.

Athens Banner: The lark was up to meet the sun, and carol for his lay; the farmer's son took down his gun and at him blazed away. The busy bee arose at 5 and buzzed the meadows o'er; the farmer's wife went for his hive, and robbed him of his store. The ant rose early, his labors to begin; the greedy swallows flew that way and took his lordship in. Oh, bee, bird and ants, be wise, in proverbs take no stock; like me refuse to rise until half past 8 o'clock.

A RESTAURANT SCHEME.

Cheap restaurants have some unprofitable customers. Occasionally they eat more than they pay for. An ingenious inventor, who presumably has had experience in keeping an eating house, has patented a mechanical device which is calculated to do away with this evil, says the New York Journal. Evidently it is best adapted to the plan of feeding by which a large part of the male section of any urban community customarily gets its mid-day meal, i. e., by sitting on tall stools and obtaining its food in a more or less hurried fashion from a counter. According to the idea of the inventor, the customers occupy seats which are not placed upon legs, but on an endless revolving belt. The belt revolves at a slow rate of speed, so as not to cause discomfort to anybody. As it revolves, of course it carries with it the seats on which the customers are perched. The newest customer invariably takes the seat at the hither end of the counter, and while he proceeds to feed himself he finds himself carried slowly along the counter. He is thus able to reach whatever viands he likes best.

It is not reasonable, however, that he should swallow a $1 meal for the low price of, say, 10 cents. Indeed, such an abuse of the hospitality of the establishment is rendered impracticable by the invention here described. At the end of five minutes, or ten minutes, or whatever the time determined on may be, the customer finds himself at the lower extremity of the counter, where the belt drops him off. If his appetite is not satisfied, it goes without saying that he may start at the beginning and repeat the lunch. This contrivance is surely destined to be a great boon to restaurant keepers, who have hitherto had no satisfactory defense against the unlimited appetite. The only disadvantage of the invention is that it gives the rapid eater an undue advantage over the person who eats slowly, and does not understand the art of substituting the knife for the fork in rapid gustatory exercise. But this machine puts an end to "the hungry man from Harlem," whose appetite and swallowing facilities are famous in the old-time song. When the landlord finds he has this gentleman on board of his merry-go-round, all he has to do is to press the button and start him off.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by James L. Dow and Mary B. Dow, his wife, mortgagors, to William E. Lucas, mortgagee, dated October first (1st), 1892, and duly recorded in the register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on October twenty-seventh (27th), 1892, at eleven o'clock and forty minutes (11:40) a. m., in Book one hundred two (102) of mortgages, on page one hundred seventy-eight (178), one hundred seventy-nine (179) and one hundred eighty (180) thereof; which mortgage, with the debt thereby secured was thereafter duly assigned by said William E. Lucas to Mason Gallagher, by an instrument of assignment dated November fourth (4th), 1892, and duly recorded in said register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on November fourth (4th), 1892, at 1:40 o'clock p. m., in Book eighty-three (83) of assignment of mortgages, on page two hundred seventy (270); such default consisting in the non-payment of the two semi-annual installments of interest upon the debt secured by said mortgage, which became due respectively on July first (1st), 1895, and January first (1st), 1896, each amounting to the sum of fifty-two and 50-100 dollars, no part of either of which has ever been paid, and also consisting in the non-payment of taxes duly levied and assessed upon said mortgaged premises, which had become delinquent, and so thereafter paid by said assignee of said mortgage, in accordance with the provisions thereof, amounting to the further sum of forty-four and 27-100 ($44.27) dollars; by reason of which default said assignee of said mortgage has, after said defaults, and each of them, had continuance for more than ten days, elected to exercise the option to him given by the terms of said mortgage, by declaring, and it does hereby declare, the whole principal sum secured by said note and mortgage with all accrued interest thereon, exchange, and said sum so paid for taxes, to be now due and payable.

And whereas there is therefore claimed to be due, and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt, at the date of this notice, the sum of one thousand six hundred ninety-two and 22-100 ($1692.22) dollars, principal, interest, exchange and taxes paid.

And whereas said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned, and no action or proceeding at law or otherwise has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, situate in St. Louis County, Minnesota, described as follows, to-wit: All of lot numbered eight (8), in block numbered seventy-two (72), Portland Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof, in the office of the register of deeds for St. Louis County, Minnesota; which premises will be sold by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the eighteenth (18th) day of June, A. D. 1896, at ten (10) o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt, interest and taxes paid by said assignee, and seventy-five dollars attorney's fee stipulated for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

GRAY CASE

Hearing Was Taken Up This Morning in Probate Court.

Mrs. Western-Gray Claims to Have Been Married Nov. 25, 1890.

A Will Found in Minneapolis But It Is of Little Effect.

The hearing on the application of the heirs of Rish A. Gray for the appointment of Fred O. Harris as administrator of the Gray estate was begun before Probate Judge Ayer shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, and from the showing made at the opening of the case it appeared that one of the greatest cases St. Louis county has ever witnessed had begun. Besides the petitioners and their attorney, W. W. Billson, there were present Messrs. Henry F. Greene, J. C. Hollembaek and George L. Kelly, representing the claim of Kathryn Western Gray, and Francis W. Sullivan, of Duluth, and Parker & Heffernan, of Chicago, representing Olive Bradley Gray and Charles A. Gray, claiming to be wife and son respectively of Rish A. Gray.

Mrs. Western Gray this morning, through her attorneys, filed her protest to the appointment of F. O. Harris as administrator. It was brief, and merely alleged the fact that she and the deceased were married Nov. 25, 1890, in Hudson, Wis., by Rev. Martin H. Smith, a Baptist minister at Hudson.

HE SUPPORTED HER.

Mrs. Olive Bradley Gray is a new claimant for the Gray estate, whose claim was just put in this morning through her attorney, who arrived last evening from Chicago. She claims that during 1878 and for some time prior thereto she was a resident of Duluth, where she met the deceased. After the death of Mr. Gray's first wife the claimant alleges that he married her sometime early in 1878. Late in that year a son was born, who is the Charles Gray who is now in this case as the son of the deceased. Mrs. Gray and her son lived in Duluth in the Bunnell block until 1885, when they moved to Chicago. She claims that although they were separated because of her husband's business affairs, he continued to support her until his death.

Her attorneys made no formal objection this morning, and stated that they would not object to the appointment of some good disinterested party for the present as administrator.

Before the proceedings opened the court adjourned to the county commissioners' room because of the number of attorneys and interested parties. The first witness was William E. Gray, of Vassalboro, Me., a brother of the deceased. He stated that he was a farmer by occupation, that after being notified of his brother's death at Boston, he took him to Vassalboro for burial. The other heirs are J. R. Gray, of Duluth, C. H. Gray and Emma F. Clark, of Vassalboro., and Mrs. W. B. Silvey and Mrs. Dwight Woodbridge, the daughters of Mrs. R. S. Munger, who was Gray's sister. These were the only heirs, according to the witness, as there was no will, nor did the deceased leave wife or children.

A WILL FOUND.

Cross-examined, Mr. Gray stated that he had not searched for the will himself, but he understood that Judge Ayer and others had done so. In answer to a question by Mr. Hollembaek, he said that he had heard of a will found by T. W. Hugo in Minneapolis. He understood that Mr. Hugo had brought it to Duluth, but he could not remember its contents.

R. S. Munger, the deceased's brother-in-law, testified that he had searched for a will without effect. He had heard that Mr. Hugo had found a will, but he had not seen it. Cross-examined, he said that the deceased came to Duluth in 1869. Mr. Harris had told him about the Minneapolis will soon after Mr. Gray's death, but he knew nothing of its contents except by hearsay.

Fred O. Harris, the special administrator of the estate, testified that Mr. Gray left real estate worth about $200,000 and personal property worth about $23,000. This was a conservative estimate. So far as he knew no will had been found except the will found by Mr. Hugo. This, he understood, was merely a formality made by Mr. Gray. He understood that in the twenty-third degree of the Scottish order it is obligatory that the member shall make a will, and this will was made to conform to that rule. It is a part of the records of the Minneapolis lodge, and when Mr. Hugo brought it up he concealed a part of it, which he said was secret. All pertaining to the will he showed.

It was very brief and bore no witnesses or date. The part in his handwriting directed that his property be distributed according to the law of the country.

Cross-examined, he said that Mr. Hugo had shown him the will Friday, May 29. He thought that it had been returned to the Minneapolis lodge. Here Mr. Billson stated that he had first heard of the will this morning, and that it would be produced.

MRS. WESTERN-GRAY'S STORY.

This concluded the testimony for the heirs, and Kathryn Western-Gray was called to the stand. She was dressed in widow's weeds, and her face was covered with a black veil. She testified that she was 42 years old, that she was born in New Haven, Conn., and that she came to St. Paul with her parents in 1857. She has lived in Duluth two years last October. She met Mr. Gray first at the home of Mrs. R. S. Munger, in St. Paul, in 1869, when she was about 15 years old. She met him frequently while Mrs. Munger lived in St. Paul. After Mrs. Munger moved to Duluth she visited here frequently, and she saw Mr. Gray frequently then. When he was in St. Paul on business he always called at their home. These visits covered the time up to late years. He was always attentive to her in a polite way, but she did not think there was anything else in his attentions until later. He took her walking and driving frequently.

After the death of his wife, whom he had married and divorced in the meantime, the visits continued, and about 1888 he first proposed marriage to her. He repeated the proposal twice in the following year and a half. In November, 1890, Mr. and Mrs. Bullitt, with whom she was living, were away, and her mother was visiting Mrs. Munger in Duluth. There were only herself, a girl who stayed there nights, and two servants in the house. On the evening of Nov. 24, Mr. Gray came down from Duluth and called at the house. He again asked her to marry him. He stayed there that night, and the next day they took a morning train to Hudson, Wis. She waited in the station while he went out in a carriage for about half an hour. Then they walked a few blocks to a small house, where Martin H. Smith, a Baptist minister, lived, and there they were married.

At this point court adjourned to 2:30 this afternoon.

IT MAY DO AS MUCH FOR YOU.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so-called kidney cures but without any good results. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure all kidney and liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50 cents. At Duluth Drug company's drug store.

GOSSIP FROM TOWER.

Rich Showing of Rainy Lake Gold Properties.

Tower, June 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—U. M. Thomas, until recently editor of the Fort Frances News, but who gave up journalism to engage in prospecting and gold mining, arrived from the Rainy Lake region last evening. Mr. Thomas is making a flying trip to St. Paul and carries with him some large specimens of very rich rock—much richer, in fact, than he ever expected to take from the property which he owns in partnership with B. H. Evans, the St. Paul dry goods man. Mr. Thomas believes they have a property which will equal anything in the whole Rainy Lake gold region. It is located on the Little Manitou.

Recent developments on the survey known as 141 D., one of the five properties purchased some time ago by Messrs. Mitchell, Broading and Haycock of the Gosse brothers for a sum exceeding $10,000, show wonderful results. These men put in a Tremain portable 2-stamp mill for the purpose of testing the milling value of their rock. In a run of thirty-six hours on ore taken from a 12-inch vein about $500 was taken, or $100 per ton. Mr. Haycock, a thoroughly practical and experienced mining man, has charge of the work of developing the properties, and says he will make enough this summer from the 2-stamp mill to pay for the 20-stamp mill the firm expects to erect next winter. Great difficulty is experienced by those who are developing properties in retaining good miners, as they soon get the gold fever and go prospecting.

The game of baseball played here on Sunday between the Eveleth and Tower teams resulted in a victory for the latter. The score was 19 to 23. It was a hard-played game, and some heavy batting was done on both sides. Next Sunday the Ely club comes to Tower again and the home team expects to worst their visitors this time.

Deputy Game Warden Philip arrested two Indians last Friday evening who were trying to dispose of moose meat. At a hearing before Judge Owens on Saturday, one of the Indians gave evidence which warranted the deputy in changing the complaint against the other to the charge of killing the moose. Ah-quay-way-bay-neo, the one who "peached," was given sixty days in jail.

WHEN THE SWALLOWS HOMEWARD FLY.

People begin to ask themselves, "Where shall I spend the summer?" An ocean voyage, an inland jaunt, or a coastwise trip, which shall it be? In either case, one of the most useful traveling companions, one that never fails in an emergency to which it is adapted, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which remedies sea sickness, nausea, headache, billousness and malarial complaints. Dyspepsia, rheumatism, nervousness and kidney trouble are also remedied by the great alterative and preventive. Tourists by sea and land, mariners, emigrants and Western pioneers all testify to its defensive and remedial efficacy. Bodily and mental fatigue are counteracted by it, and it prevents maladies which would otherwise be brought on by exposure. No one should start on a summer outing without it. It is the most genial and reliable of summer tonics, and suits the most fastidious palate.

FAREWELL EXCURSION

MUNYON TALKS ON DYSPEPSIA

HOW TO CURE YOURSELF

In all forms of stomach trouble Munyon's Dyspepsia Cure will promptly cure where there are such symptoms as pain or soreness in the stomach, indigestion or distress after eating, pressure and fullness in the stomach, shortness of breath, poor appetite, coated tongue, sour or bitter rising from the stomach, constipation, dizziness, faintness and lost energy.

When these symptoms are associated with biliousness, yellow-coated tongue, nausea, bitter taste in the mouth and sallow skin take Munyon's Liver Cure in alternation with the Dyspepsia Cure, an hour apart. Where there is obstinate constipation keep the bowels open once a day by using Munyon's Constipation Cure until they become regular under the effect of the Dyspepsia Cure. When there are troublesome heart symptoms alternate Munyon's Heart Cure with the Dyspepsia Cure. If the blood is poor in quality alternate Munyon's Blood Cure and Dyspepsia Cure. By this plan of treatment one can eradicate the worst forms of stomach troubles and their complications, and make the cure permanent.

A separate specific for each disease. Sold by all druggists, mostly for 25 cents a bottle.

Personal letters to Professor Munyon, 1505 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa., answered with free medical advice for any disease.

ONE CANAL

Major Sears Brings the Matter Before the Commercial Bodies.

Suggests It Might Be Well to Have One Central Canal.

Asks Them to Consider It and Make Known Their Views.

Maj. Sears, government engineer, has brought forward the central canal scheme again, that is the idea of having one canal through Minnesota Point at the middle to serve both Duluth and Superior. He has addressed the following letter to the different commercial bodies of Duluth and Superior:

"Gentlemen—As you are aware, the river and harbor bill has become a law. This bill provides, under the continuous contract system, for making contracts for the expenditure of $3,085,000 for the improvement of the harbor at Duluth, Minn., and Superior, Wis. This, for the first time, unifies the interior waters at the head of the lake, viz: Superior bay, St. Louis bay, Allouez bay and the St. Louis river up to the city limits, making it possible for us to deal with everything inside of Minnesota Point as one body of water.

The bill prescribes that the money shall be expended to carry out the project as laid down by the commission of engineers appointed under a joint resolution of congress approved June 29, 1894, but it also provides that the secretary of war shall have authority to so modify any of the specific projects provided for under the act as the interests of commerce and navigation may require, provided that the total cost of the work may not be increased thereby.

"If the extensive projects laid down by the commission of engineers be once entered upon, it will be too late to make any essential modifications. It is, therefore, in my opinion, important for the commercial interests of the two cities at the head of the lake, that the proposed project be well considered before contracts are entered into. In my opinion, it will be well for the official and commercial bodies of the two cities of Duluth and Superior to consider whether it will not be better to abandon the present entrances, viz: The Duluth canal and the natural entry at the Superior entrance, replacing them by one entrance near the central part of Minnesota Point, and nearly opposite what is known as "the gate," the abandoned entrances to be left wholly or partially open, or filled up entirely, as may hereafter be shown to be advisable. Whatever be done with them, there will be nothing to prevent their being bridged with low bridges. If filled up, the new entrance will divide Minnesota Point in two parts, each part accessible at one end for railroads and streets.

"It is presumed that the cost of the new entrance and new piers will not exceed, if it equals, the cost of replacing the present piers and widening the Duluth canal, which would become necessary in case the present entrances are maintained. Also, that the amount of dredging required under the new project would be no greater that that at present designed.

"I would therefore respectfully request your views upon this matter at your earliest convenience, after taking time to thoroughly consider the question."

CARELESSNESS

Often Causes No End of Suffering.

Probably half the people who see this article suffer from piles. It is one of the commonest diseases and one of the most obstinate. People have it for years and just because it is not immediately fatal they neglect it. Carelessness causes no end of suffering. Carelessness about so simple a thing as piles has often caused death. Hemorrhages occur from no apparent cause, and loss of blood causes death. Hemorrhages occur during surgical treatment, often causing death.

Piles are simple in the beginning and easily cured. They can be cured even in the worst stages, without pain or loss of blood, quickly, surely and completely. There is only one remedy that will do it —Pyramid Pile Cure.

It allays the inflammation immediately, heals the irritated surface, and with continued treatment, reduces the swelling and puts the membranes into good, sound, healthy condition. The cure is thorough and permanent. Druggists sell the Pyramid Pile Cure at 50 cents. Send for free book on cause and cure of piles.

Price Only $2800.

Local Colored Men Comment on St. Louis Courtesy.

Alexander Miles, who is president of the Federation of Colored Men, of St. Louis county, and who has been selected as one of the two representative colored men of the state to meet in national conference the representatives of all the states at St. Louis on next Monday, denounces the action of the hotel and restaurant keepers of St. Louis in very strong terms. He says that it places the colored people of this country in a very bad predicament to be told that the representatives of the people who are to give expression of their preference for the man to be the nation's chief executive cannot be housed and fed within a municipality existing under a Republican form of government. "I think it is time that the nation should awaken to the fact that the negro is a citizen and not a pest," said he. "I had intended going to St. Louis to counsel with the leading men of my race on the existing conditions of affairs, but since they have declared that a negro must not expect to be treated as a man and a citizen, I cannot consistently go, after enjoying all the rights and privileges of any other citizen of the state of Minnesota."

A. G. Plummer, one of the representative colored men of the state, now located in Duluth, denounces the action of St. Louis people, who he says, "so far forget not alone their patriotism, but have violated their word of honor that all should be treated alike when the great body of Republicans should be convened at that city." He says that it will be the means of keeping a large number of colored men away from the convention, who otherwise would surely have attended and if the national committee at their meeting Wednesday does not find some way out of the difficulty the Republican party will suffer in consequence. The time has passed when we will allow insult to go by unheeded. Just think those people never raise their voices or instill their minds against the blatherskites of Europe but let a respectable negro ask for food and they say starve. I would not under any circumstances attend the convention under its present conditions."

WANTED A JURY.

Isaac Polinskey, who ran amuck on Fourth avenue east yesterday, leaving his trail sprinkled with the whiskers and gore of those who crossed his path, was arraigned today before Judge Edson. He demanded a jury, and the trial was set for Tuesday next. There were four complaints lodged against him. He was released on $50 bail.

WHERE BILL WENT.

A Kansas farmer, having lost his wayward son Bill, to whom however, he was much attached, and wishing to know where he had gone in the after life consulted a medium, says the Insurance Economist. The man who kept spirits on tap (despite the fact that Kansas is prohibition) said he would put the old farmer in communication with his boy for $5. The money paid, Bill's shade was summoned up and the following conversation ensued: "How you doin', Bill?" "'Bout like in Kansas." "Any hoppergrasses out your way, Bill?" "'Bout like in Kansas." "Any cyclones, Bill?" "'Bout like in Kansas." "Any drought out your way, Bill?" asked the old man eagerly. "'Bout like in Kansas," came the reply, at which the old gentleman threw up his hands and in a sad voice said: "That settles it. It is as I feared. Bill's gone to h—l."

A CIRCUS ACCIDENT.

Crowded Balcony Gives Way and Hurts Many.

Ottawa, Kan., June 9.—While two dozen people crowded onto a portico of J. C. Shoman's drug store on Main street while witnessing a passing circus parade here today, the structure gave way, precipitating men, women and children fifteen feet to the walk below. Seventeen people were more or less seriously hurt.

The following is a list of injured: Mrs. George Steinbaugh, Ottawa, leg broken; Mrs. David Day, Rantoul, badly hurt, will probably die; Mrs. N. V. Allen, Ottawa, wrist broken; Mrs. Thomas Combill, Princeton, jaw broken; Mrs. Lizzie K. Wiler, Ottawa, back wrenched; William Young, Greenwood, arm broken; Johnny Young, Greenwood, head hurt; Miss Mollie Edmundson, Ottawa, back and shoulder hurt; baby of Mrs. Dennison, face badly cut; Frank Davison, Princeton, ankle sprained; Miss Ethel Crane, Ottawa, badly hurt; Miss Peterson, badly hurt.

MERCIFUL CARLISLE.

But Still He Imposes a Pretty Heavy Sentence.

Washington, June 9.—Secretary Carlisle has taken action in the findings of the board appointed in January last to investigate the charges of drunkenness and conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, preferred against Capt. Healy. The board found him guilty of nearly all the charges preferred against him and found that he should be dismissed from the service, but in view of Capt. Healy's efficient service recommended him to the favorable consideration of Secretary Carlisle.

The secretary adopted this recommendation of mercy and mitigated the sentence by ordering that Capt. Healy be placed at the foot of the list of captains and be suspended from rank for a term of four years, and be publicly reprimanded by the publication of the secretary's order on board all revenue cutters. He further admonished Capt. Healy that if he is again found guilty of excessive use of intoxicants he will be summarily dismissed.

AN INDIGNANT FISH.

While the burgall, known also as the cunner, is not altogether a bottom feeding fish, still it feeds mostly on the bottom, taking whatever it can find there, nipping off the head of a clam when it gets a chance, and not neglecting the worms which of many kinds find a home there, says the New York Sun.

There were two burgalls in a tank at the aquarium. One day a nereis showed its head above the sand and gravel on the bottom of the tank, alongside a little pebble. The nereis is a marine worm that lives at the bottom; this particular nereis might have been three inches in length and an eighth of an inch in diameter. One of the burgalls saw it as soon as it lifted its head above the bottom, and he began to make for it at once, but not precipitately; in fact, he did not seem to notice the nereis at all; he just loafed about in the water, and it just happened, apparently, that his general movement carried him in that direction.

The nereis was probably looking for food. Gradually it raised its head until it was half an inch above the sand; the burgall, which had started a foot or more away, was then within six inches of it. Then the other burgall made a rush for it. There was nothing for the first one to do now, but to make a rush for it, too. The two burgalls met head on with their noses right over the pebble alongside which the nereis had raised its head; but the nereis had disappeared.

The force of the collision threw the first burgall off his balance; for a moment he lay in the water at an angle of 45 degrees; but he righted himself quickly, and instantly started for burgall No. 2 and chased him round and round the tank and finally up into a corner where he held him for a minute, and then he swam solemnly away, indignant, no doubt, that the reckless interference of the other had cost him the prey he had so carefully planned to take.

CURED BY SMALLPOX.

Louisville Commercial: "See that fellow across the street with the crazy-quilt patches on his face?" asked my friend, the well-informed man. "Well, he made up his mind to commit suicide once. Oh, yes, it's true. He had consumption, and it was though: it was only a matter of a short time until he died. He was able to get about the street though, and he stood around on the corners on warm days waiting for the disease to get ready to take him off. It lingered, and finally, in the coming winter, the smallpox broke out in his neighborhood. He heard that everybody was being warned away, and that it was certain death to go near. In a fit of desperation the man walked into one of the houses, and sat down and talked for an hour to one of the patients. The result was the visitor took the disease, but he got well, and when he was able to leave his bed his face was badly scarred, but his lungs were cured and were as sound as they were the day he got them. Nobody knows exactly how it was done, but any doctor will tell you that smallpox sometimes cures the consumption."

A TOAD IN A BOTTLE.

Many years ago, one hot day in June, myself and chum were felling trees for a man on the highest hills in Fort Fairfield, says the Northwestern Leader. We chanced to have with us that morning a long-necked bottle. Excuse me when I tell you that the bottle contained whisky. After punishing about one-third of it, the bottle was carefully corked and placed in one of the newly made hollow stumps. A heavy thunder shower came up and we were driven from the woods. Unexpected circumstances caused the job to be finished by other hands, and the writer soon after went West.

Twelve years afterward he was crossing this very field, and seeing a man pulling stumps reminded him of the bottle he had placed in the stump. After digging out the rotten wood and moss that had accumulated in twelve years, the bottle was found with the cork cemented in with old age. But imagine his surprise and chagrin on holding the bottle to the light to see that every drop of whisky was gone, and that in its place was a huge toad that nearly filled the bottle.

On breaking the bottle the toad hopped away through the grass as lively as a cricket.

CURED BY A WOUND.

An English army officer in the army of Gen. Rolfe was apparently dying from an abscess on the lungs, and was in consequence absent on sick leave, when a battle was expected, says the Chicago Chronicle. He heard of it and at once rejoined his regiment, saying in reply to remonstrances that as he had been given over to die he preferred doing his duty, and if he was killed in the service of his country a few days would not matter. The battle came off and he was wounded in the breast. But the ball pierced the abscess and made an opening for the discharge of the contents, whereupon he recovered and lived to be over 80.

PEOPLE IN MARS.

Astronomers Imagine Much About Their Life.

Is there such a state of things on the planet Mars as justifies us in believing that organic life has developed there? Assuming that there are living beings on Mars, how should we expect them to differ from those who inhabit the earth? An attempt to answer these interesting questions is made by the well-known French astronomer, Camille Flammarion in the May number of the North American Review.

So far as meteorological and geographical conditions are concerned, there is no reason why organic life of the highest type should not have been evolved upon the planet Mars. The seas occupy only about one-half of the surface of the northern hemisphere is almost wholly dry land. Not only are the Martian seas less extensive; they are also very shallow. The mechanism by which water is distributed is different from that with which we are familiar. Here the solar heat continually raises from the surface of the seas a great quantity of water in the state of vapor to a certain height when it condenses into clouds which transported by winds over the continents, are resolved into rain or snow and thus give rise to streams and rivers. In the Martian atmosphere, on the other hand, clouds and rivers are rarely observed.

The quantity of solar heat received by Mars, it should be noted, is only about half as much as is received upon the earth. The seasons, however, are about twice as long, and direct observation proves that the snow sheet formed around the poles during the long winter melts almost entirely during the long summer. It is this fusion of the snows that regulates the water circulation. No clouds, no rain, no springs, no streams, no rivers carry back precipitated water to the sea; but the melting of the snows produces extensive inundations, and a system of so-called "canals," perhaps natural, perhaps artificial, distributes these snow waters over the whole surface of the continent. It is this network of canals which constitutes the principal, if not the only, mechanism by which water, and with it organic life,can be diffused over the planet's surface. From all the thoroughly verified data relating to temperature and the distribution of water, M. Flammarion draws the conclusion that the world of Mars teems with organic life.

On the other hand the French astronomer replies in the negative to the question whether in the present state of our knowledge we can scientifically form for ourselves any theory as to the nature of its inhabitants.

A STORY WITH A MORAL.

New York Sun: She was a woman whose age might safely be pronounced uncertain, and as she stood at the counter fingering a half dozen pieces of dress goods by turn it was evident that she was in the throes of uncertainty concerning some question of becomingness or what not.

"Is it for yourself or a young lady?" asked Roggs, the clerk, desiring to facilitate the sale.

The lady's hands dropped to her side, and as in a moment she walked away with a curt "Sorry to have troubled you." Roggs was left ruminate on the unstableness of the feminine mind as he waited for another customer.

Once more there was a woman of uncertain antiquity at a dress goods counter. It was a virtual repetition of the scene in the last chapter, except that this time the brisk and nattily dressed Toggs was the salesman.

"Is the dress for yourself or an old lady?" asked Mr. Toggs with innocent urbanity, and directly the young man might have been seen dexterously handling the yard measure.

Our two heroes are now middle aged. Toggs is a partner in the great firm in which he once held a humble clerkship. He dines on terrapin and quail on toast, while Roggs, in a shiny-backed coat, and shabby shoes, walks the streets, wondering why he never had any luck.

GHASTLY FAD.

Photographing Vital Organs By Rontgen Rays.

Taking advantage of the intense public interest which has been aroused in the Rontgen rays, a society has been formed in Paris to exploit commercially the mysterious "X" rays, says the New York Journal. Anyone paying the price can walk in and have his internal organs or any part he pleases photographed by means of the cathode rays. The process takes about an hour, and at the expiration of that time the client departs with a cabinet photograph of his inside. Such a photograph is a pretty good gauge of a man's physical condition, and anything abnormal is at once shown with startling distinctness. The idea seems to have caught on, and promises soon to become the rage. Most people go merely from curiosity, but the photographs have considerable value from a medical standpoint. The majority of customers are content with a photograph of an arm or hand, for which the charge is reasonable. To have a complete picture taken costs $40. Several well-known doctors have sent their patients to have a photograph taken of a broken arm or leg.

When a fracture occurs in a bone which is deeply imbedded in flesh, it is difficult to locate exactly the situation of the fracture. A Rontgen ray photograph or endograph, as it is now called, enables the medical man to go to work with absolute certainty instead of in doubt. Those doctors not possessing the expensive apparatus necessary to take the endographs are availing themsalves of the new venture.

Cancerous growths and incipient tumors are spotted at once in an endograph, and more than one client having a photograph taken from curiosity has learned some unwelcome truths about his internal organs. The process of having an endograph taken is considerably more tiring than an ordinary photograph. One does not have to look pleasant, and very few do after they have sat still for half an hour. Having a limb endographed is, however, not nearly as exhausting as having a picture taken. The patient is ushered into a partially darkened room surrounded by mysterious looking tubes, batteries and induction coils. After the limb to be photographed has been bared, the patient reclines in an easy chair and reads or smokes or does anything except move the limb, which is laid upon a sensitized plate. The plate is wrapped in two or three thicknesses of black paper, in order that the daylight may not spoil it. Above the limb is the Crookes tube, which is connected to an immensely powerful Ruhmkorff coil actuated by half a dozen batteries. When all is ready the operator turns a switch, and the yellow-green light begins sputtering away in the Crookes tube. The rays, of course, go right through the leg, black paper and all, and make a silhouette upon the plate.

A WISE OLD HEN.

Speaking about chickens, a farmer said the other day, according to the Greensboro (N. C.) Record.

"I don't want to boast, but I do think we have the knowingest hens in the world. I have a flock all black. It is a theory of mine that black hens lay better than those of any other color. One day I found a hen in my flock with a few white feathers in her tail. I called the hired man and told him to catch and kill her. 'You can't rely on the laying capabilities of a hen with white feathers,' I said.

"The hen gave me a sorrowful look, but did not say a word. Next morning the hired man told me that he could not find her. A month or two later I opened a pile of potatoes I had stored in the cellar, and found a big, hollow space in the center of them. There was a bunch of black feathers in the place with three white ones standing up in a defiant sort of way. Behind the feathers were sixty-six eggs. I recognized at once that it was the work of the missing hen. The sensitive creature had stowed herself away and worn herself out laying eggs to prove that the theory was a mistaken one."

The Stranded Whaleback Barges Are Not In a Serious Condition.

The Wotan and Tow Lying at Anchor Behind Madeline Island.

Corn Rates From Chicago to Buffalo Suffer a Small Decline.

Ashland, Wis., June 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer Oglebay, which arrived at 10 this morning, passed the whaleback barges ashore on Chequamegon point. Capt. Hutchinson reports that they did not seem to be in a serious condition. He also passed the Wotan and tow. They were all right and were lying at anchor behind Madeline island. He did not notice that any of the tow had lost their deck loads of lumber. He noticed no other boats on the way in. The storm had about ended and the Green and consorts, Bradley and consorts and other storm-bound vessels have gone. A tug left for the stranded whalebacks at 10:30 this morning.

THE KEARSARGE CLEARED.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Kearsarge cleared at 6 o'clock this morning.

GRAIN RATES OFF.

Chicago, June 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grain rates went off to ¼ cent on corn to Buffalo and held dull at that. Vessel men report considerable difficulty in getting placed on ore from Escanaba.

WAGES ADVANCED.

Firemen on the Northern line steamers Northern Queen and Northern Light struck at Buffalo for $37.50 per month and secured the advance. When these steamers were docked out in the spring, an agreement was made with the firemen whereby they would receive $5 a month extra if they remained all season. They were being paid at the rate of $32.50 per month, and when they laid the steamers up in the fall they would receive the extra $5. This agreement worked well for a couple of trips, but the firemen became dissatisfied and demanded the additional $5 per month as a running arrangement. There is no doubt that a similar advance will soon be demanded all along the line.

MARINE NOTES.

Private advices from Detroit represent that according to an estimate made by Surveyors Schowles, of the Hodge works, and Simonson, of the Frontier works, the cost of repairing the wrecked engine of the steamer Merida will be $14,500.

It transpires that Dr. George W. Roby is financially interested in the Choctaw as well as the L. C. Waldo, which recently collided near Sailors' Encampment in St. Mary's river.

The work on widening the old river bed at Cleveland is already tending to facilitate the handling of ships in going to and from the docks, and it is thought that the port will easily take care of all traffic that offers.

W. A. Livingstone, of Detroit, says: "Few vesselmen know that the rules governing navigation in the St. Clair Flats canal apply as well to the approaches on either end and on the Detroit side, that means a distance of some three miles. Vessels are limited in the approaches, as well as in the canal itself, to eight miles an hour, as a maximum speed, and are liable for disobedience."

Capt. Thomas Quayle, an old vesselman, of Detroit, is dead at Los Angeles, Cal. He commanded the schooner Evelyn and was well known around the lakes.

MAYHEM PUNISHMENT.

Brutal But Effective Correction in Persia.

That mayhem is effective as a peace-compelling agency there can be no doubt, says the Chicago Chronicle. One may travel on the post roads of Persia in comparative safety, but on the border between Persia and Turkey the traveler goes with his revolver in one hand and his life in the other. Turkish Kurdistan now a country given over to highway robbery and murder, was at one time as safe as the streets of Stamboul, which is, perhaps, not saying very much. This state of safety was brought about by the governor of Mosul, who kept the Kurds in order by cutting off their hands and ears and gouging out their eyes. Such a condition of law and order in the Turkish empire could not last, however, for the sheikhs complained to the sultan and the governor of Mosul was recalled. A good man is not allowed to hold office long in Turkey.

Once in a while in Persia a liar gets sudden and awful punishment. One of the late shah's bodyguard was Kareem, formerly a noted robber and outlaw. Kareem took from the rich and gave lavishly to the poor. He carried on his operations for a long time up and down the Perso-Turkish border. One day a merchant of Diliman sent a servant to Kohl with a sum of money. On the pass above the Salmas plain the servant met an armed robber.

"I am Kareem," said the robber. "Give me your money."

The servant begged and pleaded and wept, but the robber took the money and made off. Presently several horsemen came along the trail.

"Why weep you?" asked the leader of the horsemen. "It is not seemly that a strong man should shed tears like a child."

"Kareem, the robber, has just taken from me the money which my master gave me to carry to Kohl." The weeping servant then described the robber and pointed out the direction in which he had gone.

"Remain here," said the leader of the horsemen. "We will return."

In half an hour the horsemen returned. The leader bore on his saddlebow the head of a man.

"Is this the man who robbed you?" he asked.

"Truly, master, it is the man," said the servant.

"Here, then," said the leader, handing out a bag of silver, "is your master's money." Then he threw the head contemptuously to the ground.

"That man was a liar," he said. "I am Kareem."

CONCESSIONS.

Americans apparently are not the only ones who suffer from the lack of good servants. Housewives will probably appreciate the motives which led to the insertion of the following advertisement in the Southeastern Herald, of England: "General servant required; board school training; liberal wages; use of piano; time allowed for practicing violin and dancing; all evenings out; followers unlimited; dirty work done by mistress and daughters; early riser objected to; bicycle and modern costume provided; latchkey; highest references given; none required."

Yourself and friends are invited to hear the Chicago orchestra at Ideal Beer Hall tonight. Admission free.

ORIGIN OF "TEETOTALER."

Ladies' Home Journal: The late Rev. Joel Jewell, of Troy, Penn., is said to have originated the word "teetotaler." The story goes that at a public temperance meeting in Hector, N. Y., in 1828, he introduced into the pledge the letters "O. P." for "old pledge," which pledged against distilled liquors, and "T." for "total," including both distilled and fermented liquors. When names were being taken a young man in the gallery said: "Add my name and a 'T.,' for I am a T-totaler." Mr. Jewell adopted the word in speeches and writings. Some four years later an Englishman named Dick Turner employed the word, and its origin has also been claimed for him.

SCANDAL

British Viscount Made Defendant in a Big Damage Suit.

Trifling With a Girl's Love and Honor Was the Cause.

And the Victim Wants $75,000 to Repair the Damages.

London, June 9.—Viscount Sudley, heir to Earl Domvorran, is the defendant in an action for £15,000 damages instituted by Mary Stewart Smith, otherwise Mary Gore, the trial of which was begun today before Chief Justice Baron Russell, of Kilowen, and a special jury. The viscount, who is a lieutenant in the Royal Horse guards, it is alleged by counsel for the plaintiffs, met Miss Smith at the house of her sister, the wife of one of the minor nobility.

The plaintiff succumbed to the viscount's beguilements soon after making her acquaintance and went to Liverpool under his protection. Through family influences the intimacy was broken off and the plaintiff accepted £500 in lieu of all claims against Viscount Sudley. Later she lived under the protection of the Hon. Alfred Stourton, heir presumptive to the barony of Mowry, Segrave and Stourton. Subsequently at the urgent and persistent solicitation of Viscount Sudley, the plaintiff left Lieut. Stourton and entered into an agreement to go to the United States as a dancer. In New York, she appeared in the play "Little Christopher" at the Garden theater, under the name of Stewart.

While in the states Viscount Sudley wrote to her almost daily urging a resumption of their former relations, and promising ultimate marriage. Moved at last by his importunities, according to counsel for the plaintiff, Miss Smith did return to Sudley and lived with him until he again cast her off, as he is alleged to have explained, at the command of his father.

The viscount denies that he ever promised marriage, and asserts that he was introduced to the plaintiff by a brother officer, his relations with her beginning a few days after the first meeting.

ARTIFICIAL FOODS.

Substitutes Invented By the Craft of Man.

The craft of man has found food products which do not grow from the soil, and science, no less than experiment, has approved their utility. Long ago the golden scepter of butter was wrested away by the mightier product of a factory, with which neither farm nor creamery could compete. Retorts yielded a culinary aid that was better than lard. Scientific young men produced jellies fairer in appearance than that which came from natural fruit, says the Chicago Post.

In meat production the margin of profit narrowed with the narrowing "range." As free pastures disappeared with the territories to make room for the states, the price of beef soared. Instantly that food product became the target of inventive attempt. The inevitable law of commerce was obeyed. Big profits attracted big attempt. And imitation meat followed imitation butter into the field—no, into the mart.

For a long time potatoes held a place peculiarly their own; the main reason was that potatoes could still, three years in five, be cheaply produced. But the two uncertain years would come, and the rapid rise in price provoked attention. Experiment made short work of the potato. A thing of starch and water at the best, its combining was a simple matter, and farmers hung up their hoes and bought potatoes at the factory—ready for the kitchen, and at a rate which undercut their cheapest effort.

Corn was more complex, but it surrendered. After all, what is it but a combination of chemical properties which could be found elsewhere? It was far less trouble to combine them in a substitute for maize than to find the right but which that substitute for maize might, on winter evenings, be inspected.

Bread products were matter of habit and tradition. Give the race a food which answered all the requirements bread had supplied, and the race was too intellectual to decline it. Laboratories took the place of fallow land. Pestle and mortar were as reaper and mill. The hand skilled at combining and compounding wielded at once the executioner's ax by which the head of the baker was sundered.

A thing of steel, with handle bars and chain, elastic tread and lamp-by-night, had pedalled buzzing past the horse, and a creature which had served man well for ninety centuries limped useless away. And with him went the fields which had maintained him. No need for oats since this better than horse did not eat them; nor of hay, since the animal to which hay were one day a feast had grown too rare to eat it.

SURRENDERED BY TELEPHONE.

The telephone was put to a novel use recently during the Cuban war, says the Baltimore News. A Cuban general, Pablo Olivia, arriving at the outskirts of a town in which was a Spanish garrison, found a telephone, and ringing up the Spanish commander, called on him to surrender within the hour, under penalty of having the town burned. At the end of the hour, he called up the fort again, and found the garrison ready to surrender, upon which he entered the town without firing a shot.

THE IDEAL PANACEA.

James L. Francis, alderman, Chicago, says: "I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as an ideal panacea for coughs, colds and lung complaints, having used it in my family for the last five years, to the exclusion of physician's prescriptions or other preparations."

Rev. John Burgus, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: "I have been a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church for fifty years or more, and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave me such speedy relief as Dr. King's New Discovery." BANK BILLS.

Case Where One Proved a Good Detective.

In the discussion of the nuisance of dirty paper money the Bankers' Encyclopedia Monthly has referred to the exemption of the English people from dirty currency due to the fact that the Bank of England never reissues one of its bills. A London letter to one of our daily journals gives, under the date of April 13, an interesting illustration of the detective uses of the British way of passing a bank bill from hand to hand. This correspondent says:

Four or five weeks ago in a London suburb a murder of uncommon atrocity was committed, the victim being an elderly recluse, a gentleman of private fortune, who had no other servant than his gardener. The desperate murderer secured a large sum of money in gold and bank notes, and though there were evidences of a struggle between the old man and his assailant the only thing in the way of a clew left by the murderer was a lantern found in the grounds. The police, however, were unable to make a detective use of this article, and despite the most strenuous and diligent efforts to get trace of the miscreant the case bade fair to become one of the unsolved mysteries of criminal annals. But at this juncture a precaution long ago adopted by banking concerns to protect themselves against counterfeiters proved serviceable to the discovery of the perpetrator of a more heinous crime. A Bank of England note for £10 was the means of guiding the police to the identification of the probable murderer not yet under arrest.

It has been observed, of course, by all visitors to England that the bank notes—square pieces of especially made paper with a simply engraved face and a plain back—are scrupulously white and clean, because they are invariably new. These notes do not remain in circulation long, and are never reissued by the bank; and in passing from one person to another a record is made of them. For example, you have cashed a check at your bankers, receiving notes of various denominations, from £5 up. Now, when you come to present one of these notes in payment for goods purchased, or if you tender it at another bank or at a postoffice to be changed, you will be asked to write your name and address to be entered on a memorandum of the note's number. If, therefore, a note returned through ordinary channels to the Bank of England is found to be a forgery, the officer can follow it back over its course to the original holder, a process so prompt that it has discouraged counterfeiters from wasting their ingenuity and energies upon the very simple looking Bank of England notes. It happened providentially that the murdered man referred to was known to have had in his possession, on the very day of the murder, a particular £10 note, which was a part of the money stolen. This fact was communicated to the bank and all the receiving tellers were instructed to keep their eyes open for the return home of the note. A few days ago it came in, and in very short order it was traced back to the bar of a public house, and very reluctantly the publican gave information as to the man from whom he had taken it, a notorious character in the neighborhood.

A QUESTION OF DIET.

A simple vegetarian meal might consist of legumes, butter, bread or oat cake, celery, raisins or dates, nuts and ripe pears, apples, strawberries, etc. Such a diet would be neither tasteless, indigestible nor expensive, and would certainly be nutritious, says the Westminster Review.

It is a common notion that a vegetarian must eat enormously and have the digestion of an ostrich. But this is quite a mistake. Such a meal as we have mentioned may be easily digested, even by a person living under the artificial conditions imposed by modern life on dwellers in towns. The human intestine is longer and larger than that (for instance) of a lion, and does not require food of either too concentrated or too bulky a nature. It requires also a admixture of foods. Thus, pure albumen is not desirable. We may be made to starve on cheese. Experiments as to the relative solubility of animal and vegetable albumen, even if correctly conducted, may be in the highest degree deceptive. The amount of albumen which we daily require is relatively small, and needs a larger quantity of respiratory food to be taken with it. The latter is of various kinds, which differ very much in the rapidity of their action. For instance, starch is slow and alcohol is quick in producing its effect as a supporter of combustion. If more albumen be taken than is required, the excess is necessarily not digested. Nature takes what she requires and leaves the rest. Moreover, a too rapid digestion of food is not desirable.

STEAMBOAT MINING.

The Snake river mining boat Leota has commenced operations on the gold-lined bars of the Snake, says the Lewiston Tribune. The water is pumped from the river by two large pumps. One is a centrifugal that throws water through a 15-inch pipe for sluicing. A cylinder pump forces the water through an 8-inch pipe to the giant, which tears down the bank and forces by hydraulic pressure 100 yards of sand and gravel into the sluice boxes every twenty-four hours. The main sluice box is twenty-four inches wide, and its bottom is covered with steel plate and steel riffles. From the main sluice box are six undercurrents which lead off into six riffle tables; from these the sand passes into smaller boxes over brussels and blankets on to burlap tables, where the slime and black sand are separated from the sand. The tables and smaller sluice boxes are treated four times every twenty-four hours by the blankets, brussels and burlaps, being thoroughly washed, and the fine gold, slime and black sands going through a chemical process preparing it for amalgamation. It is then put through an amalgamator, and is made ready for the market.

Sixteen men are now employed, and operations are carried on day and night. The few days that they have been running have served to get the machinery working nicely, and from now on there will be no interruption in the work. A clean-up has not yet been made, but they are confident of getting satisfactory results. When this fact is established water will be brought from the Alpowa creek to work this bar, and the Leota will be moved to some other bar where a similar test will be made, and so on until the vast bars along the Snake and Clearwater that have heretofore paid but moderately will be made to yield their precious gold on the wholesale plan.

WOMAN HORSE THIEF.

Chicago Chronicle: A woman horse thief was arrested by the sheriff of Nez Perces county, Idaho, a few days ago. She was found to be one of a gang which had been operating in that region for about a year. Four male members of the gang were caught with the woman. She is reported to be good looking, 22 years old and of a fiery disposition. She was dressed in man's clothes and rode her horse astride with great skill.

FIREMEN

Annual Convention of the State Association Opened Here Today.

Several Hundred Delegates and Many Visitors Are in Attendance.

Addresses By Mayor Truelsen, Congressman Towne and Several Others.

The convention of the Minnesota State Fire association, the twenty-fourth since its organization, which opened in Duluth today, is attended by about 500 delegates, the non-official visitors who accompany them raising the total number of guests to the neighborhood of 1000. Among the first delegations to arrive were those from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Albert Lee, Tower and Sauk Center, these coming in last evening. The early morning trains brought the majority of the balance, and by noon the various hotels were alive with badges of various colors. The weather could not have been improved upon, and altogether the convention opened most auspiciously for a pleasant and profitable session. Organized nearly a quarter of a century ago, for the purpose of securing the passage of a law providing for the application of a portion of the state tax paid by foreign insurance companies as a fund for the widows and orphans of firemen, the association, having accomplished the first object of its existence, has enlarged its sphere until now it serves a most useful purpose in bringing together members of the fire departments throughout the state for discussion in the lines of their profession as firemen, the interchange of ideas having proven most conducive to efficiency.

Veteran Secretary R. O. Strong called to order the twenty-fourth annual convention of the State Firemen's association, as he has done for the past twenty-three years, at 9:30 o'clock this morning, and in the absence of President Smith, summoned First Vice-President C. N. La Fond, of Little Falls, to preside as chairman. The latter, on taking the chair, introduced Chief Black, who, after a few words of welcome to the delegates and guests in behalf of the Duluth fire department, introduced Mayor Truelsen, who was received with applause.

The mayor expressed the pleasure of the citizens at the coming among them of the delegates to the convention, and extended to the guests the freedom of the city.

The city feels that it is honored by the privilege of entertaining representatives of the army that fought an enemy as dangerous as any human foe ever met on the field of battle. The duty of the fireman is one of exceptional hardship, calling for the sterling quality of bravery in a high degree, and is worthy of an exalted place in public esteem. The people of Duluth will take it on themselves to see that their visitors are well entertained. Duluthians are proud of their city, its harbor, its elevators, its ore docks, the great mines of the ranges, and all look forward to the day when it will be one of the greatest cities of the country. The mayor hoped that when the visitors return home they will remember Duluth in years to come.

EX-MAYOR LEWIS SPEAKS.

Hon. Ray T. Lewis was then introduced. He said his worthy successor as mayor had taken his speech out of his mouth. He took some credit for having been mayor when the invitation to hold the present convention was tendered, but said that to Duluth's able chief was due the credit of making the convention a success. The speaker esteemed the firemen equally with the soldiers and the men of the navy, with whom they deserved equal place.

E. C. Gridley was introduced by Chief Black as one who could tell all about Duluth and St. Louis county.

Mr. Gridley had wondered why he had been selected for the honor of addressing the convention. He said his son had once said he was the son of "Ready" but the speaker himself was not ready—to make a speech. It has been realized that all efforts to build cities would be of little avail unless the work of the firemen was well done. It is their mission to preserve the works erected at the expense of toil and treasure. Ten years ago Duluth was a mere hamlet, and it has now attained a population of more than 60,000 people, and building its hope on the great resources at hand, looks forward at no distant day to fulfilling its destiny as one of the greatest cities on the continent. Its remarkable advance has been made during a period of the greatest depression known in recent years, which gives an earnest of its vitality. Adverse railroad conditions have been fought and Duluth has come to be recognized as a natural entrepot for the great Northwest. Duluth is in the home of "No. 1 hard," and has at its back door immense ore deposits, lying in the most favorable way for easy working, in some places having but two feet of gravel over the body, thus making it possible to work with steam shovels as in gravel pits. There is enough ore now in sight to supply the Americans for thirty years, and the supply is inexhaustible. It is not purely for pleasure the delegates have come, the speaker said. They are present to get the benefit of an interchange of ideas in the line of their profession, and also, to view the interests and advantages over which they stand guard.

CONGRESSMAN TOWNE SPEAKS.

Hon. C. A. Towne was then introduced and was received with a vociferous demonstration of pleasure. It gave him great pleasure, he said, to see before him such a fine body of men, as well as the gracious accompaniment of women. Duluth people had made up their minds to give them a warm reception—it must be very warm to make an impression, as undoubtedly the visitors are used to that kind of a reception. Great credit is due to the firemen, who stay the hand of fire and prevent its assuming the place of master, keeping it in bounds as a servant. It is a truth that the firemen are universally and genuinely admired as possessing a heroism and self-sacrificing spirit second to none of the heroes of the battlefield. The speaker recited an example of bravery even to facing death in the discharge of duty that had come to his knowledge in Washington. There was no more pathetic incident in all the history of war, said he, and such services are as worthy of recognition as those of the soldier. In the duties of a fireman is found a type of the duties of all, to uphold and advance the interests of country. Duty is the watchword of the fireman, as it should be of the citizen in every walk. As the fireman is ever ready to spring to the front at the cry of alarm, so should be the attitude of the American citizen, to preserve unimpaired our free institutions and transmit them to posterity. The speaker believed that Duluth had the best chief, the best board and the best service of any place in the country, except those represented by the delegates.

Fire Commissioner McGregor, chairman of the executive committee, said he was no speech maker, but would extend a hearty welcome to the delegates and friends.

Capt. Randall was called on by Chief Black, who introduced him as a soldier and fireman. The captain said he had been enticed to the hall and a march had been stolen upon him. He said that as a member of the board, his place was in the rear. He and his fellow members liked that position; he had, perhaps, had a weakness for the same job during the war. He saluted the comrades he saw before him wearing the Grand Army button, and invited the visitors to make themselves at home.

CHIEF STETSON RESPONDS.

Chief Stetson of Minneapolis was called to the rostrum by Vice President LaFond. He expressed his pleasure for the hearty welcome extended the visitors from Minneapolis. Firemen, he said, however they view the tariff, are all protectionists in one sense and are gathered together to take council as to how they might excel in that line.

A feature of this part of the program was the introduction of Master John T. Black, Jr., as the youngest member of the fire department. The young man, who was attired in complete uniform, drew up his three feet of height and gazed unabashed at the multitude, receiving the applause that greeted his appearance with the utmost self possession.

At this point a recess of an hour was taken, after which the committee on credentials, which had been named in advance, reported the list of accredited delegates as named in the report, which was accepted, being as follows:

The names of the chiefs, who act as delegates-at-large, are given at the head of each delegation.

On motion, the reading of the minutes of the preceding meeting was dispensed with, and, owing to the small number of delegates who had remained in the hall, an adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

The delegates and visitors were taken for an excursion on the Christopher Columbus this afternoon. This evening there will be a parade of the fire department from Sixth avenue west to Third avenue east and return. The following is the program for tomorrow:

9 to 12 a. m.—Business session.

10 a. m.—Ladies and visitors will be shown points of interest of the city by the reception committee, starting from the Spalding hotel.

2 to 6 p. m.—Business session.

2:30 p. m.—Ladies and visitors will start from Spalding hotel with reception committee for trip to Lester Park.

7:30 p. m.—"Chimes of Normandy," by Gonzalez Opera company at Pavilion, followed by a ball.

Secretary Strong desires that certificates of transportation be delivered to him as soon as possible, in order that they may be passed upon and returned in season for the return trip.

CONVENTION NOTES.

The machinery of the convention started without a hitch, moving off as promptly as one of Chief Black's own companies gets away to a fire. The chief was ubiquitous and, as usual, urbane. To answer a dozen questions and give another dozen orders and directions at one and the same time seem to come as natural to him as apple pie to a Yankee appetite.

The hall was tastefully decorated with the national colors, and a band stationed at the rear entertained the assemblage with a concourse of sweet sounds before the hour for opening the convention.

It was a goodly array of fire fighters that was gathered together. They were of all ages in point of service, from the "kids," who dated from the period of stand pipes, new fangled machines, trucks and the latest gimcracks, to the white headed old boys who ran with the machines and pumped her down at the brakes back in the 60's. Among the most prominent of the latter were W. M. Brackett, ex-chief of the Minneapolis fire department; Chief Stetson, of the same city, and Secretary Strong, ex-chief of the St. Paul department.

Ex-Chief Brackett, who is present as a life-member of the convention, joined the Minneapolis organization at its inception in 1868. He was the first president of the State association, and was its secretary for fifteen years.

Chief Stetson enlisted as a fire-fighter twenty-eight years ago, his first service being as a torch boy. He explained that the business of a torch boy in the good old times was to hold the lights so the laddies could find fires at night.

The other old-timers are J. C. Hemlund, chief of the Third district, in Minneapolis, who has seen 21 years of service; H. F. Smith, now chief of the Virginia department, who served for twenty years in Minneapolis; Statistician O. L. Cutler, who has seen a quarter of century of service, and has discharged the duties of statistician for twenty years; F. E. Joy, ex-chief of the Stillwater department; P. W. York, of Minneapolis, twenty-one years in the harness, and Capt. S. B. Wilson, of Engine Company, No. 3, Minneapolis.

PREACHERS' CHILDREN.

Some of Them Have Not Proven Degenerates.

Facts are better than theories, and facts show that the children of ministers do not show a larger percentage of black sheep than do the children of any other trade or profession. Possibly they show a better average. Some one took the biographies of a hundred English ministers, and showed that 110 of their sons became ministers. Some years ago a census was made of the New England states, and it showed 84 per cent of the children of the ministers and officers of the church were active in church and religious work.

I do not defend the character of all ministers' children, yet the training of the average minister's home is of the kind calculated to develop character and fit the inmates for responsible positions, says a writer in the Pittsburg News. The income of the parsonage is not usually very large. From their positions the very best society of the community is open to them, and that they may meet these obligations ecomomy is taught and practiced. Above anything else a minister wants his children to be educated, and it must largely be done by their own efforts, and so self-reliance is developed. A few names of ministers' children will suffice to show what some of them became: Edward Bellamy, author of "Looking Backward;" Frank R. Stockton, the genial story-teller, are the sons, the first of a Baptist, the second of a Methodist minister.

Alfred Tennyson's father and grandfather were both clergymen. Louis Agassiz's lineal ancestors for six generations were ministers. Joseph Addison, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, Oliver Wendell Holmes, all were born of ministerial fathers. No American home has ever sent forth four more promising sons than the four that came from a New England parsonage. David Dudley Field, eminent as a jurist; Stephen J. Field, of the supreme court of the United States; Cyrus W. Field, who made the ocean cable a fact, and Henry M. Field, author and journalist. Samuel F. B. Morse, father of telegraphy, was a minister's son. Sir Joshua Reynolds, James Russell Lowell, President Chester A. Arthur, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Mayor Reid, Richard Watson Gilder, of the Century; Jeanette Gilder, of the Critic; Dr. Edward Jenner, who 100 years ago introduced vaccination; Matthew Arnold, the brothers Abbott, distinguished in literature and law; Congressman Robert R. Hitt and James Anthony Froude, all came from ministerial homes.

I noticed somewhere that Congressman Quigg, of New York, had aspirations to be temporary chairman of the Republican national convention. Mr. Quigg will be remembered as one of the speakers at the recent banquet of the American club. Of the three speakers at that banquet, two were ministers' sons, Mr. Quigg's father being a Methodist minister of Eastern Pennsylvania or Delaware, while Congressman Dolliver, though hailing himself from Iowa, has as a father one of the war horses of West Virginia Methodism. This is only an instance of the prominent places filled by ministers' sons. There was a striking instance of this in the presidential campaign of 1888. Grover Cleveland, it is well known, is the son of a Presbyterian minister. With him on the ticket was Senator Thurman, whose father was a Methodist minister. Benjamin Harrison, though not himself a minister's son, is the son-in-law of a Presbyterian minister, while Levi P. Morton's father was a minister of the Congregational church. Senator Quay is the son of a Presbyterian minister, whose father was a Methodist minister. Benjamin Harrison, though not himself a minister's son, is the son-in-law of a Presbyterian minister, while Levi P. Morton's father was a minister of the Congregational church. Senator Quay is the son of a Presbyterian minister, Senator Brice, who is generally supposed to have directed the Cleveland campaign, is also the offspring of a Presbyterian minister.

A SAILOR'S PREMONITION.

"Speaking of sailors' superstitions," remarked the veteran lighthouse keeper Josh Reeves, of Sea Isle City, "reminds me of an incident that happened half a century ago off Five Fathom bank lightship, in which a sailor's prediction, based on an omen, resulted fatally to the prophet himself, says the Philadelphia News. A bright winter morning had caused the crew of the lightship to row a short distance away in a small boat in search of codfish, which are very abundant off the capes in winter time. A few hours' fishing resulted in a goodly catch, and a return was made to the lightship. The fish were cleaned and the refuse thrown overboard, but a calm sea, with not a breath of air to disturb it, caused the refuse to drift in a circle around the ship. Toward noon a large flock of geese came in sight and settled under the lightship's very bows and commenced to feed. The water fowl became very tame and swam, chattering and hissing, close to the ship's sides.

"Josh Crowell, a grizzled old member of the crew, shook his head and predicted death to someone on board in twenty-four hours. He said that whenever geese became so tame as to feed around a vessel's bow or stern it was an unfailing omen of impending death on board. Crowell's companions laughed at his fears, but he told them to bide their time. Toward noon a strong gale came out of the northeast and kicked up a heavy sea. Crowell was on the forward or bow watch. Many of the crew were in the main cabin below enjoying a social game of euchre, checkers or dominoes, when suddenly they heard the sound of a chain running rapidly through the starboard bow scuppers. We rushed on deck in dismay, thinking the windlass gearing had given away. The sight witnessed will never be forgotten. Crowell had been caught in the relief chain and ground around the rapidly revolving windlass. His death was instantaneous. His omen came true."

SOLD HIS TIME.

Count Nicholas Esterhazy is a well-known patron of the fine arts, says the New York Post. Among the artists in his constant employ was formerly Herr Bela Pallik, the animal painter. Four years ago Pallik left Count Esterhazy because his engagement was a hindrance to his name becoming known in the world. Soon afterward he sued the count for 20,000 florins for two large frescoes which he had painted on the walls of the winter garden of that nobleman's castle of Totis, in Hungary. The case has taken some years to decide, and has now ended unfavorably for the artist, who, it is decided, has no right to claim extra payment for work done while he was in Count Esterhazy's pay and enjoying his most liberal hospitality.

The House Put In an Active Time Among the Minor Bills.

Allen, of Mississippi, Makes His First Speech in the House.

Washington, June 10.—When the house reconvened at 10 o'clock this morning, still in continuation of the legislative day of Saturday, the general feeling was that congress would reach a final adjournment by tonight. Notwithstanding this fact, there seemed to be little public interest in the proceedings. There were a few strangers in the public galleries, but the reserved galleries were empty. About 100 members were on the floor.

Some resolutions relating to printing were passed. Representative Stone, chairman of the committee on coinage, weights and measures, secured the passage of a resolution calling on the secretary of the treasury to report at the next session, such information as he may be able to obtain as to the comparative merits of pure nickel, alloy, aluminum and copper bronze as material for our minor coins, and authorizing him to have struck experimental coins.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the parties to the Hopkins-Kendall contested election case from the Tenth Kentucky district, to take testimony as to the result in Clark county up to Aug. 1, 1896.

Towards noon the attendance on the floor and in the galleries increased. The members, encouraged by the number of bills passed under suspension of the rules, besieged the speaker at every opportunity for recognition. With seventy-five or eighty members in the front of the speaker's desk, clamoring with uplifted arms, the house resembled nothing so much as a wheat pit during a semi-panic.

The senate resolution directing the secretary of the interior to resume the work of issuing patents to bona fide purchasers of Union Pacific lands was adopted, after it had been amended so as to exclude the possibility of placing a construction upon its language which would include mortgagees under the term "purchasers."

Bills were passed for the protection of the forest reservations from fire; to enable certain persons in the state of Mississippi to procure title to public lands; to release the sureties on the bond of Neil Hepburn, late postmaster at City Island, New York, and other measures.

During the consideration of a resolution to print 10,000 copies of the bankruptcy bill, Mr. Allen, the silent witness of the house, got the floor and delivered a humorous speech, which convulsed the house with laughter. He satirized the political situation, and made some veiled thrusts at some of the presidential candidates, which appeared to tickle those members immensely. This was the laughter) and I want to say, further, first time Mr. Allen's voice had been heard this session, and he began by referring to the universal criticism of his silence. "I desire to say, however," said he, "that there has been little at this session of congress to inspire a Christian man to be loquacious that I am not the only great statesman whose recent career has been distinguished by his silence. (Renewed laughter).

THE OMAHA EXPOSITION.

Washington, June 10.—The house has passed the bill appropriating $200,000 for a government exhibit at the Omaha exposition in 1898.

MAY ADJOURN TOMORROW.

Washington, June 10.—At 1:50 p. m. members of the appropriation committee of the house expressed the opinion that while final agreements on the sundry, civil and District of Columbia bills were probable this afternoon, the sine die adjournment could not be reached until tomorrow.

THE SENATE.

Washington, June 10.—The senate has passed the contempt of court bill without a division.

The senate has agreed to the final conference report on the District of Columbia appropriation bill, leaving only the sundry civil bill to be acted upon. Axel S. Ellis has been confirmed as postmaster at Sioux Falls, S. D.

The senate has voted to again insist on the public building amendments to the sundry civil bill and has sent it back to conference.

OCEAN SCHOONER LOST.

Vinyard Haven, Mass., June 10.—The three-masted schooner Edward C. Allen, Capt. McLaughlin, from Baltimore for Portland, sunk off Job's Neck, on the south side of this island, this morning. The vessel's boats have come ashore in pieces, and articles of clothing belonging to both men and women have been picked up. It is feared that all on board were lost.

PAPER PAJAMAS.

The most curious use to which paper is put is that suggested by the recent patenting of a blotting paper towel, says the New York Mail and Express. It is a new style of bath towel, consisting of a full suit of heavy blotting paper. A person upon stepping out of his morning tub has only to array himself in one of these suits, and in a second he will be as dry as a bone.

QUEEN RIDES BAREBACK.

Queen Henriette of Belgium, in spite of her snow-white hair and her rank of a grandmother, still finds amusement in circus riding, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. She delights leaping her horse through burning hoops, and over flaming hedges, and besides having jumped a pet horse over a dinner table covered with flowers and lighted candles, she has, standing on the back of one horse, driven a team of twenty-four in hand.

PARKHURST TALKS.

Big Battle Coming on For New York Control.

New York, June 10.—Rev. Dr. Parkhurst and his wife leave the city today on the steamer Germanic. They will go to London and Paris, where they will stop for a short while, after which they will visit Vevey, Lake Geneva, where the doctor has a cottage, and then go to the higher mountains of Switzerland.

In an interview, Dr. Parkhurst said that while he would take no interest in the coming presidential campaign, the time was ripe when steps should be taken to make preparations for the first municipal elections of the greater New York in the campaign of 1897. After reviewing the local situation, Dr. Parkhurst said in conclusion:

"It ought to be understood by us all, at this early date, that there is a terrific conflict in store for us between now and Nov. 2, 1897. The ranks of decency and the Tammany hordes of indecency are going to be marshalled in deadly array The autumn of 1897 will be hotter than that of 1894. The presidential flurry so fills the air at first that plans of the municipal campaign will hardly be drawn prior to the end of next autumn, but there is among all classes of people an anxious and determined anticipation of events that are to come, that is already beginning to knit up in solidity the lax fibers of man's thoughts and purposes.

"No city ever had a greater opportunity than is going to be ours at our next county election. Big as was the stride that was made two years ago, there are yet larger opportunities open before us in the two years that are to come. There has been a tremendous gain since the election of Strong and Goff, which, if discreetly and honestly managed and availed of, may be made to conduct to a gain of a far finer and grander proportion. Concertedness of righteous civic purpose during the next sixteen months will make bossism a lost art in this city, and may make Tammany a doleful and fatal memory."

Dr. Parkhurst said he would not preach while on his tour, nor would he attend any religious assemblies.

DEDICATE THE HALL.

Convention Auditorium Will Be Dedicated This Evening.

St. Louis, Mo., June 10.—The convention auditorium will be dedicated tonight and a notable gathering of prominent men will be present. A program consisting of instrumental and vocal music, interspersed with addresses has been provided, and Manager Durant, of the Bell Telephone company, has promised the dedicating committee that it shall have telephone connections with many leading cities of the East. Thirty long distance telephones have been placed in the committee rooms for the use of those who attend tonight's exercises. The understanding between the Bell Telephone company and the dedication committee is that the former should provide music and speech making at the other end of the line, if possible this agreement will be carried out.

A test of the acoustic properties of the vast hall was made today and it showed that an ordinary speaker can be heard plainly in all parts of the auditorium. Nicholas Bell, who has acted as reading secretary at nearly every Democratic national convention, except the last, since 1856, spoke from different parts of the hall and declared: "The acoustic properties of this hall could not be better. Today it is what we call a 'dead' hall; that is, its emptiness creates an acoustic effect different from that exercised by an auditorium filled with people. The moisture breathed and exhaled by several thousand persons liquifies the atmosphere to a sufficient extent to accentuate the sound waves as well as to accelerate and render them more resonant."

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

Fatal Results in a Pennsylvania Settlement.

Johnstown, Pa., June 10.—One hundred and eighty cans of dynamite exploded a mile below Lilly yesterday afternoon with frightful results. The dead and injured are: Mike Scawnosky, dead. Fatally injured, Antonio Stibe, Gregorious Schild, Gabriel Soml, Frank Smith, colored; Peter Jackson, colored.

The men were at work for Contractor McManus, on the Pennsylvania railway, and were getting ready to make a blast, when a premature explosion followed, blowing up 180 cans of dynamite and burying the seven men beneath a mass of sand and rock. The steam shovel, which stood on the track, was hurled twenty feet away.

A VALISE MYSTERY.

An Explosive Storehouse Which Bothers Chicago.

Chicago, June 10.—Capt. Shipley and the police of Woodlawn station have a valise mystery on hand. Decoration day a middle aged man went into the saloon of Elmer Barron, on State street, and secured permission to leave a large valise in the place. He failed to return. Last night Barron opened the satchel and found that it contained sixty half pound sticks of dynamite, a lot of fusion caps and several boxes of bullets. Each stick contained as much explosive as was probably used in the bomb thrown in the Haymarket riot. Where the stranger came from and where he went and what use he had for the dynamite is a complete mystery.

NATURAL DEATH.

Nothing Strange About Miss Worrall's Demise.

San Francisco, June 10.—A chemical analysis of the stomach of Miss Mayme Worrall, the wealthy young English woman who died suddenly at the Palace hotel last Saturday, has failed to disclose the presence of poison. The physicians who made the examination say that Miss Worrall died from natural causes.

In accordance with a cablegram received from the young woman's father in London, the funeral was held yesterday and the body interred in Cypress Lawn cemetery.

JUSTICE FIELD'S VACATION.

San Francisco, June 10.—Justice Stephen J. Field, of the United States supreme court, arrived from Washington last night, accompanied by Mrs. Field and her sister, Mrs. J. Condit Smith, of New York. The justice will spend his summer vacation in California, as he has been accustomed to do for years.

MONSTER

Female Fiend Hanged in Newgate Prison at London Today.

Notorious Mrs. Dyer, the Baby Farmer, Meets Her Fate.

Believed That She Killed 100 Infants By Strangling Them.

London, June 10.—Mrs. Annie Dyer, the baby farmer, was hanged this morning. Mrs. Dyer was one of the most extraordinary criminals of the age. The police at first became suspicious of her and her son-in-law, Arthur E. Palmer, early in April, when the bodies of a number of children apparently strangled to death, were recovered from the River Thames, where Mrs. Dyer had been throwing them, weighted down with bricks, etc. An investigation led to the arrest of Mrs. Dyer and Palmer. Letters found in her house showed that many of the parents with whom she and her accomplice had dealings were aware of the fate intended for the infants. These letters were from persons in all ranks of society. The coroner had long been puzzled at the fact that so many bodies of infants were found in the Thames between Wapping and Battersea, some of them naked, and others wrapped in linen or brown paper, but all of them weighted down in some way or other, and evidently strangled to death.

The preliminary examination presented a most horrifying condition of affairs. It was proved that since Christmas, at least twenty children had been entrusted to Mrs. Dyer's keeping, and of this number only four were then living. In addition prior to Christmas, many of the children that had been placed in the woman's charge were unaccounted for, and are admitted to have been murdered. A conservative estimate places the number of children killed at forty; but other estimates have it that as many as 100 infants were either strangled or drowned by Mrs. Dyer.

Mrs. Dyer and her son-in-lay lived in Reading, where they had a great reputation for piety. Over the door of her home was a figure of Jesus Christ, beneath which was the inscription "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." Mrs. Dyer had been arrested upon four previous occasions, but somehow she not only managed to escape punishment, but succeeded in maintaining her reputation for piety. But, in court, on the last trial, the woman's nerve entirely deserted her. She had a dejected, terrified look, and apparently was in despair and saw the gallows ahead.

The baby farmer was a gaunt, yet fairly good-looking woman, of about 50 years of age, and she seems to have derived quite a good income from her crimes. Three children were found at Mrs. Dyer's residence when she was arrested. They were a boy, 7 years of age, a girl of 8 years, and a boy 3 months old. There is little doubt that they would have gone the way of the other charges of the baby farmer, had the latter not been arrested. Some idea of the extent of the business done by Mrs. Dyer may be gathered from the statement that baby clothes weighing nearly 300 pounds were found at her house when the police made the first search. A box containing the decomposed body of an infant was also discovered in the woman's dwelling. Evidently being placed there while she waited an opportunity to throw it in the Thames.

Little by little evidence against Mrs. Dyer was gathered. A large piece of brown wrapping paper, in which the body of one of the infants was found was identified by a railroad porter as being the covering of a parcel which he delivered to the prisoner. It was further proven that Mrs. Dyer started on one journey with a baby and a carpet bag, and that when she returned she had the bag, but the baby was missing. In all cases, Mrs. Dyer insisted upon being paid before taking charge of an infant, sums varying from £50 to £500. She also made considerable money by pawning or selling the wardrobes with which nearly all the infants were furnished.

The particular prey of the baby farmer were single women, who had been misled, or servants and poor working women, who were unable or unwilling to take care of their child. In such cases, Mrs. Dyer would write that she was glad to have the chance of having a "dear little baby to bring up and call her own, not for the sake of money, but for the darling's company." In some instances parents tried to regain possession of their children, but when they became too pressing and danger was in the air, Mrs. Dyer would move, and the parents, generally too poor to employ legal assistance, would give up their attempts. Late in April Mrs. Dyer made a written confession, admitting the murders of which she was accused. It was proposed to introduce the plea of insanity in her defense. She was examined later by a physician employed by the home office and was declared to be sane. On May 21 Mrs. Dyer was indicted for murder and on the following day she was sentenced to death. In prison, Mrs. Dyer made several attempts to commit suicide. At Reading she tried to force a handkerchief down her throat and upon another occasion she attempted to cut her wrist against a piece of iron. The baby farmer's last attempt at suicide was on May 26, in Newgate prison, when, while lying in a cell apparently asleep, she twisted a handkerchief around her throat, and almost succeeded in strangling herself.

SALE MAY PROGRESS.

Seattle, Wash., June 10.—Judge Sanford has overruled all objections on the part of those opposing the confirmation of the recent sale of the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern railway property, and has signed an order confirming the sale. He intimated to the parties in the suit that they still had recourse in the circuit court of appeals, and he gave assurance to creditors that their rights would be protected by the court in retaining control over enough of the assets of the road to pay all claims known to exist against the receivers.

SECRETARY SMITH'S DECREE

The Decision in Charles Long's Case Modified.

Washington, June 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary Smith today modified Commissioner Lamoreux's decision in the land case of Charles T. Long, an applicant for a tract of land in the Duluth district under timber and stone. He affirms the decision so far as refusing to reserve the land beyond the day set for filing final proof, but the applicant will be allowed to readvertise and complete the purchase if no adverse claim for the land intervenes.

PRINTERS' STRIKE.

New Men Arriving in the Twin Cities.

St. Paul, June 10.—The printers' strike on the daily newspapers in these two cities still continues, and it has been announced that the president of the Typographical union will come here to attempt to settle the matters in issue. The papers came out as usual again today, and say they will continue work independently of the Typographical union. A number of new men arrived on the early trains today and took the places of strikers on afternoon papers in both cities, replacing the temporary operators that were handling the machines yesterday.

The publishers say they will be able to continue work without further difficulty, but that they still have room for other good men. All the newspapers in the two cities are working together and dividing equally the new men as they are secured.

FOND DU LAC BRIDGE.

Bill Authorizing it Has Passed the House.

Washington, June 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative Fletcher today secured the passage, under suspension of the rules, of Representative Towne's bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across the St. Louis river at Fond du Lac.

BOURBONS CONVENE.

Connecticut Democrats Meet in Hartford Today.

Hartford, Conn., June 10.—The state Democratic convention met here this morning, and ex-Governor Waller was made permanent chairman, and spoke briefly on assuming the gavel, and then the report of the committee on resolutions was adopted. On the subject of the currency, the platform says: "As a necessary consequence, the honest payment of public debts, and the preservation of the public credit, require that the gold standard of money, as a measure of value, shall be maintained. While we favor the most liberal use of silver, consistent with the enforcement of a gold standard, we are unalterably opposed to the free coinage of silver. Under existing circumstances, to pay public debts in silver coin is repudiation; to pay private debts in coin, is to rob the wage-earners; and to provide for the free coinage of silver means the destruction of legitimate business and great suffering among the laboring classes."

The following list of delegates to the Chicago convention was ratified by the state convention as follows: At large—First district: Miles B. Preston, of Hartford; Second district: Lynde Harrison, of Guilford; Third district: Thomas M. Walder, of New London; Fourth district: James M. Aldis, of Torrinton; County delegates—Hartford: Edward D. Coogan, of Windsor Locks; Tolland: Lyman T. Tingler, of Vernon; New Haven: William A. Kennedy, of Naugatuck; Middlesex: Horace R. Butler, of Middletown; New London: William H. Shields, of Norwich; Windham: Frederick A. Morrell, of Putnam; Litchfield: Charles K. Lyman, of Washington; Fairfield: Michael J. Houlihan, of Newton.

In deference to the wishes of ex-Gov. Timothy W. E. Russell, of Massachusetts, expressed in a letter to Lynde Harrison, the delegates were not instructed on the subject of presidential candidates.

MARYLAND DEMOCRATS.

Baltimore, Md., June 10.—Chairman I. W. Talbott, of the state central committee, called the state convention to order, and announced that Senator Gorman would act as temporary chairman. The announcement was hailed with prolonged applause. "I am always at home with Democrats," said the senator, in assuming the chair. "We come together today not to discuss local affairs. I would not give much for the Democracy of any man who would rake up the embers of the past and air his private grievances at the expense of his party."

The speaker referred in complimentary terms to President Cleveland and his administration. Of the Republican party he said it was the party of the dead. He urged the Democrats to bury all their differences and act in harmony in selecting acceptable men to lead them. The convention then took a recess for half an hour to enable the committee on resolutions to formulate its report.

When the convention reassembled, the committee on permanent organization reported the name of Senator Gorman as its choice for permanent chairman, which action the convention ratified with a whoop. Senator Gorman made another speech, in which he said that he would join his hearers in reorganizing the party, so that never again, within this generation, would it pass from control in this state and nation."

The committee on resolutions then reported. As a prelude the platform recited the necessity for an explicit expression of the opinion of the Democracy of Maryland upon national questions. The resolutions favored a tariff for revenue only and endorsed "the vigorous policy of President Cleveland." The financial plank was a straight-out endorsement of the present gold standard of currency, and an emphatic condemnation of the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1.

Maj. Stewart presented a minority report in direct contravention to this, the reading of which was hailed with loud applause, and which he offered as a substitute for the financial clause in the majority report. Maj. Stewart then made a speech of an hour's duration upon the silver question, at the conclusion of which his motion was overwhelmingly defeated and the majority report was adopted.

CARLISLE

Secretary of the Treasury Tells Congress About Bond Issues.

Says They Were Necessary to Maintain the Nation's Credit.

He Recounts the Conditions Which Prompted the Several Bond Issues.

Washington, June 10.—Secretary Carlisle's reply to the sub-committee of the senate finance committee, charged with the investigation of the sale of United States bonds during the years 1894, 1895 and 1896 has been made public. The statement is dated June 1. Reviewing the conditions which led to the bond issues, the secretary says: "Largely on account of apprehensions in this country and abroad as to the ability of the government to continue the current redemption of its notes in gold coin, and maintain the parity of the two metals, the exports of gold during the fiscal year 1893 reached the unprecedented amount of $108,680,844, nearly all of which was withdrawn from the public treasury by the presentation of notes for redemption.

"Notwithstanding the most strenuous efforts by the department to maintain the $100,000,000 reserve intact, on April 22, 1893, it became necessary to use a part of it for redemption purposes. Very little gold was being received on account of dues to the government, and it was therefore impossible to increase the reserve without resorting to the issue and sale of bonds under the authority conferred by the resumption act."

The secretary then refers to the bond call of Jan. 17, 1894, which netted the government $58,660,917. From that date to Nov. 14, 1894, when the free gold in the treasury was $61,878,374, the amount varied but little. The secretary then continues: "In the meantime the frequent presentation of notes for redemption in gold by individuals and institutions not desiring for export, clearly indicated the existence of uneasiness in the public mind, while foreign exchange was almost constantly at or near a rate which made it necessary to export gold to pay bills at their maturity, and consequently withdrawals for shipment were daily threatened. As the season was approaching when large exportations nearly always occur, it was considered absolutely necessary for the maintenance of the public credit and the continued execution of the monetary policy declared by congress in the act of July 14, 1890, and repealed in the act of Nov. 11, 1893, to resort again to an issue of bonds."

The terms and result of the second bond issue is then stated. Secretary Carlisle says: "It soon became evident that the transaction had not been effectual to stop withdrawals of gold. These large withdrawals were due entirely, so far as could be ascertained, to a feeling of apprehension in the public mind, especially among the holders of our securities abroad, which increased in intensity from day to day, until it reached the proportions of a panic in the financial centers, and it was evident that unless effectual steps were promptly taken to check the growing distrust, the government would be compelled within a few days to suspend gold payments and to drop to a silver and paper standard. The situation was so grave that the attention of congress was called to the subject on Jan. 28, 1895."

After freely quoting from this message the secretary says that congress having failed to pass any measure for the relief of the treasury or to take any action to allay the serious apprehensions in the public mind, a contract was entered into on Feb. 8, 1895, with August Belmont & Co., of New York, N. M. Rothschild & Sons, of London, and J. P. Morgan & Co. for the purchase of 3,500,000 ounces of standard gold at the price of $17,804.41 per ounce, to be paid for in United States thirty-year 4 per cent bonds. Not less than one-half of the gold was to be procured abroad and the parties agreed so far as lay in their power to exert any financial influence and make all legitimate efforts to protect the treasury against the withdrawal pending the complete performance of the contract."

The secretary quotes from the president's message sent to congress immediately on the execution of the contract, which he again calls attention to the financial condition of the treasury. The agreement to protect the treasury gold, the secretary says, was faithfully carried out, and he adds: "After a long part of the gold had been furnished from abroad, the secretary, in order to prevent disturbances in the rates of foreign exchange, at a critical period, and create a condition which would force gold exports and consequently withdrawals acquiesced in a departure from the terms of the contract, requiring one-half of the coin to be procured abroad and accepted the deposits of gold then held in this country to complete the delivery.

"Withdrawals of gold set in, and on Dec. 2, 1895, the president again sent a special message to congress asking remedial legislation, but none was enacted, and on Jan. 6, 1896, a circular was issued asking for subscriptions for $100,000,000 4 per cents, of the same character as the others. The result of the call is given." Continuing, the secretary says: "My opinion is that the prices received by the government for the bonds sold in 1894, 1895 and 1896 were as high as it was possible to obtain under the circumstances existing at the time when the sales were made. The fact that bonds are offered for sale by the government only at times when the financial affairs of the country are greatly disturbed, and the market more or less depressed, on account of the business situation, and the feeling of insecurity which always prevails at such periods, necessarily prevents the realization of as good prices as might be procured under more favorable opportunities. The same conditions which make the issue of bonds necessary also depress the price of such securities in all the markets of the world.

"In relation to that part of the resolution which directs the committee to investigate and report 'what effect the bond sales had on the credit and business of the people of the United States,' I have the honor to say that in my opinion the sales were necessary for the preservation of the credit of the government and the security of the business interests of the people, and that they in fact accomplished those results. In general, the effect of each sale was to restore confidence for the time being at least in the power and purpose of the government to maintain its own credit, to preserve the parity of our coins and the value of our currency, and to check the return of our securities in large amounts from other countries for sale in the market here."

FROM GRAND RAPIDS.

Cashier Sheldon Has Found Another Forged Check.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 10.—Cashier F. P. Sheldon received another of the Stevens Bros. check forgeries in his Wednesday evening's mail—this one for $500. Excepting in amount it was an exact duplicate of the check for $100 recently reported in the Herald-Review. It had been cashed way down in Missouri. This $500 forgery was passed upon the Household Furniture company, of Providence, R. I., showing that the slick penman had made a long jump in order to accomplish his purpose. The check was dated April 28 and deposited by the furniture company in their Providence bank on May 26. It purported to be certified by F. Sheldon, paying teller, and was signed Stevens Brothers, drawn in favor of M. R. Stevens, and thus endorsed. Through the New York Clearing house it came to the Merchants National bank, St. Paul, and was received by the Lumberman's State bank here Wednesday evening.

Pete McKenna is again on trial for the murder of John Bacon at Napoleon Russell's ranch in township 60, range 40. McKenna was tried at the January term on a similar charge. On that trial the prosecution was presented, and on the motion that the state had failed to make a case, the action was dismissed. There were many who thought that the dismissal ended the matter so far as McKenna was concerned, but the attorney general has thought otherwise, and it remained to be seen what view the court would take of this feature of the case.

John Ottman, who was charged with stealing railroad tickets from George Lydick, after a conference with Attorney Price, entered a plea of guilty. He is about 17 years of age, so Judge Holland sentenced him to the state reformatory at St. Cloud where he will remain until he is of age.

Edward Seward was represented by C. C. McCarthy, and changed his plea to guilty of stealing a watch from Tom Murray. He was sentenced to two years at Stillwater.

At the Democratic county convention held at the village hall Saturday afternoon the following officers were chosen to represent the county at the state convention to be held at St. Paul on June 11. M. L. Toole, Henry Hughes, Henry Logan, E. C. Kiley, W. J. Kelly, F. F. Price and Charles Kearney. Free coinage of silver resolutions were unanimously adopted.

TREASURE

Litigation Over a Fortune Said to Be Buried on Cocos Island.

Disagreement Arises Among the Syndicate of Treasure Hunters.

Sort of Fairy Tale From the Land of Perpetual Summer.

Stockton, Cal., June 10.—Little credence is placed here in the story telegraphed from New York about a suit to be brought by a San Franciscoan, Richard W. Armstrong, against several wealthy Bostonians, who were said to have recovered $20,000,000 of the treasure from the Isle of Cocos, and to a share of which Armstrong laid claim. The Bostonians are Richard and Catherine Young and William Peyser. Their New York representatives are Alfred T. Sinker, of New Dorp, Staten Island, and Edwin C. Hadwick, of Suffern, Rockland county, N. Y.

In March, 1893, they agreed with Capt. Geyssler that he was to command an expedition fitted out by them, and they were to permit him to take one-fifth of the buried treasure, if located by their charts. The expedition proved unsuccessful and then they wanted Geyssler to permit them to operate on the charts owned by him and Jacob Simon, of this city. This he refused to do and he parted company with the Easterners.

Since then Capt. Geyssler has not departed from the island, so the story of the finding of $20,000,000 by means of the Boscanian charts, is not correct. Since then he obtained, on April 30, 1894, a concession from the Costa Rica government to farm the island and colonize it, he receiving half the land on the treasure island. He and Jacob Simon are now carrying out the terms of this contract with the Spanish American republic, and there is little chance of their permitting Armstrong or the Boston syndicate to search again for the buried treasure.

INDIAN LANDS.

Gamble's Bill is Reported to the House.

Washington, June 10.—Representative Gamble, of South Dakota, in the Indian affairs committee, has reported to the house a bill confirming the title of mixed blood Indians to their lands, and allowing the same to be alienated under certain circumstances. In an accompanying report, the committee incorporates the objections made by the interior department to the bill, but these objections, it is urged, have not the force they had against a previous measure on the same subject. That applied to Indians of the half blood.

The reported measure applies to the Indians of the quarter blood. The committee thinks Indians having only one quarter Indian blood ought to be able to assume the responsibility of citizenship, and bear some of its burdens equally with their white neighbors. It is proposed to allow such Indians to sell and dispose of their lands and incumber the same, also to subject the lands of such Indians to taxation.

POLITICS IN NEVADA.

Reno, Nev., June 10.—The straight out Democrats who claim to represent the Nevada Democracy, meet in convention today to elect delegates to the national convention at Chicago. What is known as the Keating wing of the Democracy held a convention at Carson a few days ago and elected delegates to the national convention. It is said that the Keating men have a proposition to divide the delegation between the two factions, each to have three, but it is not believed the convention in session will agree to the plan.

CUBAN SUCCESSES.

Sixteen Hundred Spaniards Killed and Wounded.

Key West, Fla., June 10.—The following report has been received from Las Villas, Cuba, by letter: The Cuban army in this territory is composed of more than 35,000 patriots. The Spanish commander acknowledges the loss of 1600 men killed and wounded at Calmanera. The Spanish colonels, Segura and Palanca, have been defeated several times in the past month by Gen. Gomez, who in these engagements, captured two cannon. On March 25, at San Juan De Los Yaras, a column of Spanish composed of 5000 men and 100 cars of food and ammunition under Col. Segura's command was attacked by twenty-four squadrons of Cubans, with a loss to the Spaniards of ninety killed on the first day.

The march lasted three days, and during that time the Spanish loss was 250 men killed and forty-nine cars captured, and it is believed that Col. Segura was either killed or captured. These fights were directed by Vicente Nunez, a strategetic member of the last war.

There is no truth in the report that Garrido and Pineiro, Cuban leaders, have been killed. Vicuna, the Spanish general, did not die of yellow fever, but of a wound in the thigh.

SPAIN WILL NEED WHEAT.

Washington, June 10.—Owing to copious rains early in May last the condition of the Spanish grain crop has materially improved, according to United States Consul Fay, at Denia, owing to the diminished area of crops Spain will import 600,000,000 pounds of wheat. He suggests that as no country is so favorably situated as the United States to supply this demand, the market may be secured by the establishment of direct steamship lines.

RAPID BUTTER MAKER.

Washington, June 10.—Butter making in one minute with economy and with many valuable safeguards from disease, as compared with the old-fashioned churning system, is something that United States Consul O'Neill, at Stockholm, tells of in a report to the state department. This is done by a simple machine known as the "Radiator," invented by a Swedish engineer and described and illustrated by the consul. It makes the butter directly from sterilized milk. The machine has been in use several months, creating a sensation among dairymen and promising to revolutionize butter making.

WEST END

Martin J. Corey and Miss Adeline May Hackett Were Married Today.

John E. Foran and Miss Frances Kirby Also Were Wedded Yesterday.

Richards & Gilmour, Blacksmiths, Invent a Knife and Scissors Sharpener.

In the Presbyterian church at New Duluth this morning at 9 o'clock Martin J. Corey and Adeline May Hackett, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. L. Hackett, were united in marriage, the Rev. S. A. Jamieson officiating. The bride's father led her to the altar. The sister of the bride, Miss Ophelia Hackett, was bridesmaid, and Misses Addie Young and Minnie Reynolds, of Aitkin, were maids of honor. Percy Young, of Aitkin, was groomsman. The church was prettily decorated with ferns and wild flowers, the ceremony being performed under an arch of the latter. After the ceremony at the church a wedding breakfast was given at the home of the bride's parents.

Guests from a distance present were: Mr. and Mrs. Young and family and Mrs. Whitlock, of Aitkin; Mr. and Mrs. Young, of Lakeside; Mr. and Mrs. Jamieson, Mrs. Grey and Rev. G. E. Keithley, of West Duluth. Mr. and Mrs. Corey leave today for Minneapolis, thence by way of Montreal to Keene, New Hampshire.

FORAN-KIRBY.

The wedding of Miss Frances Kirby and John E. Foran was solemnized at St. James' Catholic church at 5:30 p. m. yesterday. The church was prettily decorated with cut flowers and potted plants, which added much to the beauty of the scene. Rev. Father Mackey performed the ceremony and Miss Theresa Lynn presided at the organ. The bride and maid, Miss Kinney, were traveling dresses and carried bride's roses and American beauties. The bride was given away by George Lorenger, of Ashland. David White, of St. Paul, was best man, and Messrs. Whalen, Cannery, Dr. Forges and Kliehl acted as ushers. The Schubert quartet sang, and after the ceremony the wedding guests were invited to refreshments. Many elegant presents were received from friends and relatives.

A NEW INVENTION.

The firm of Richards & Gilmour, blacksmiths, have invented a knife and scissors sharpener for which a patent has been applied. It is a simple device, yet it does the work required in a satisfactory manner. Any housewife can use the article, and as a kitchen utensil it promises to be a great improvement over anything of the kind in use. The firm will manufacture the sharpeners at their shop in West Duluth.

Was Clearly Shown.

That Minnesota Point would be a poor place from which to obtain a water supply for the city was well shown yesterday by the condition of the water at this end of the lake. From a line running out into the lake from the canal all water east was the color of the red clay which constitutes the soil in and around Duluth. West of that line and along the north shore the water was clear and of good color.

TO THE ST. LOUIS CONVENTION WITH THE CELEBRATED REPUBLICAN FLAMBEAU CLUB.

A special vestibuled train of sleeping cars, dining and baggage cars, will be run from Minneapolis and St. Paul to St. Louis, June 14, via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway (the popular "Hedrick route"), to accommodate the Republican Flambeau club and their friends throughout the Northwest.

Leave the Twin Cities afternoon of June 14 and arrive at St. Louis next day.

This train will be side-tracked at a point within two blocks of Auditorium convention hall and six minutes walk to the principal hotels. Passengers desiring to do so can occupy the sleepers during the convention at low rates.

The service, in every particular, will be absolutely first-class and all may depend upon thoroughly comfortable and pleasant accommodations, both going and returning, and while occupying the cars in St. Louis.

The Republican Flambeau club is composed of leading business and professional men in Minnesota, and their trips to former national conventions and inaugurations have always done great credit to the Northwest.

The railroad rate is one fare for the round trip. For exact information as to sleeping car rates and accommodations, meals, etc., address Frank P. Nantz, secretary Republican Flambeau club, 604 Oneida block, Minneapolis, or J. T. Conley, assistant general passenger agent, C. M. & St. P. Ry., St. Paul.

Loose clothes and downy cushions bring only a negative sort of comfort to the woman who is suffering with some disease or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. Some clothes and some positions make the pain and discomfort seem less. Perhaps the nerves are most affected and this in turn disturb the digestion. Nothing will ever completely relieve but a radical cure. The start of so-called "female complaints" may be a very slight thing indeed. It may be that in the beginning some small hygienic measures would stop the trouble. Certainly at this time, a little bit of the right medicine would stop it. When the trouble becomes worse, it is harder to cure, but still it can be cured. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will positively cure any trouble of this character. It may be absolutely relied upon. It affords lasting relief to a woman whose natural modesty has kept her from consulting physicians.

THE PRODUCE MARKET.

Blueberries were on Michigan street today and ruled rather cheap for so early in the season. There were some nice blackberries and only a few strawberries. Supplies were rather light, but the market was good. Eggs keep steady at 9 cents and first grade veal rules firmer at 6½ to 7 cents.

DULUTH QUOTATIONS.

Note—The quotations below are for goods which change hands in lots on the open market; in filling orders, in order to secure best goods for shipping and to cover cost incurred, an advance over jobbing prices has to be charged. The figures are changed daily.

DECLINED

Wheat Was Weak Again Today and Prices Took a Drop.

Predictions of a Heavy Crop in the Southwest Started Weakness.

Cables Were Lower and Receipts in the Northwest Were Liberal.

The wheat market, which closed so weak yesterday, opened under such an increase of depression this morning as to suggest that the crops of the world had grown enormously during the night. The trouble was primarily caused by the report of the Southwestern Millers' association at Kansas City, which predicted a crop of 50,000,000 bus for Kansas, 70,000,000 bus for Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska, the largest crop in years, and predicting a crop west of the Mississippi 50,000,000 bus larger than last year.

As if that dispatch might not prove strong enough, it was followed up immediately by another from the same place which read thus: "The amount of old wheat now held for market is shown to be very large." As Kansas has had no wheat to sell since the beginning of last winter, this defeated the object of the whole matter and the market at Chicago, which started in a state of semi-panic under the influence of the original dispatch, recovered when the later transparency flashed upon the previously darkened understanding. Cables came ¾d lower; Northwest receipts were liberal, while there was no new reports of crop damage at hand.

The Duluth market was active at the decline, July opened ¼c lower at 58¾c, declined to 58c, reacted to 58½c, but fell off again to 58¼c. It subsequently sold up to 58¾c, but during the noon hour broke down completely and declined to 57⅝c. It recovered but 1-8c from this figure and was weak at 57¾c asked. The mills bought 40,000 bus to arrive at ½c over July, and shippers took 35,000 bus at the July price. The close was ⅝c lower all round than yesterday. Following were the closing prices:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 58¾c; July, 59c. No. 1 northern, cash, 57¾c; June, 57¾c; July, 57¾c asked; September, 57¾c bid. No. 2 northern, cash, 54½@55¼c. No. 3, 52@53c. Rejected, 49@51c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 58¾c; No. 1 northern, 57¾c. Rye, 32½c. No. 2 oats, 18¼@18¾c; No. 3 oats, 17¾@18¼c. Flax, 79c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 151; oats, 17; rye, 4; barley, 12; flax, 57. Receipts—Wheat, 224,557 bus; oats, 26,424 bus; rye, 3485 bus; barley, 20,573 bus; flax, 5713 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 10,521 bus.

NEW YORK GRAIN.

New York, June 10.—Wheat, June, 64½c; July, 64c; August, 63¾c. Corn, July, 34¼c. Oats, July, 22½c.

GOSSIP.

Received over private wire of B. E. Baker, grain and stock broker, room 107 Chamber of Commerce and 307 Board of Trade. Chicago, June 10.—Wheat opened at nearly 1c decline. Everybody had selling orders, and the buyers on the break were mostly pit scalpers. A slight reaction occurred on some outside covering, but offerings were free on the advance and sales of long wheat continued all day. French crop prospects were reported greatly benefited by the recent rains. Seaboard clearances were fairly large, but little new business was reported. The last quick break was caused by a rumor of President Cleveland having sent a Cuban message to congress, but the market failed to react when this was denied. The main issue today has been the government report, and various tips have been given out. The most reliable guess was for a condition of 78 on winter wheat and nearly par on spring, which would be decidedly bearish. The backbone is out of the market, and the government report will come this time after liquidation has taken place.

Corn and oats dull and featureless.

Provisions firmer on good buying by brokers and local packers.

Puts, July wheat, 55⅝@55¾c.

Calls, July wheat, 59¼@59⅝c.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Sagging Tendency Noted at the Opening.

New York, June 10.—The stock market opened active with a sagging tendency. The industrials were freely dealt in and Tennessee Coal lost 2, Distilling 1⅝ and Sugar ¾ per cent. The market steadied for a brief time around 10:15 and some recoveries ensued. The improvements, however, were short lived, as renewed offerings by the traders depressed prices to the lowest of the morning. The trading was in considerable volume, and a fair distribution was noted, with the railways being more freely dealt in at this time. Louisville & Nashville and Burlington suffered the extreme losses of a point. The various financial and political uncertainties affecting the market favor attacks by the bear contingent, who are especially favored by outbreaks of liquidation in some shares.

The market lapsed into dullness after 11 o'clock, but a better time was generally in evidence. There was buying for both accounts, resulting in an improvement of 1 per cent in Tobacco and Tennessee Coal, and of sharp fractions in Distilling, Laclede, Gas, Pacific Mail and Sugar. A single transaction was made in Silver Certificates, $100,000 at 69. The market at midday was steady at the improvements noted. The sales to noon were 98,900 shares.

A report from Washington that the president is about to send a message to congress relative to Cuba, is in circulation on the stock exchange, and has caused heavy selling all along the line. The market appeared to be full of stop loss orders, and yielded easily.

ARE UP IN ARMS.

Duluth Heights People Defend Their Children.

The residents of Duluth Heights deeply resent the communication which appeared in the morning paper animadverting on the alleged lawlessness of the youth of that locality. They resent it both on account of their children, who, are not, they say, the vandals they are asserted to be in the communication, but also in behalf of the teachers, on whom a reflection was cast.

The feeling culminated in a large-sized indignation meeting which was held in the Duluth Heights Presbyterian church last evening. Speeches of a cayenne pepper savor were made and it was the sentiment of the assemblage that the author of the article should be made to smart for the injustice that had been done. The teachers of the Lowell school, to whom reference was made, are indignant and will demand, it is said, an investigation by the school board that they may be vindicated. It is said that the large number of broken windows, to which the correspondent refers, is the result of the blasting in the vicinity.

COLORED SOLDIERS WANTED.

Special efforts are being made, says the Philadelphia Record, by the local recruiting station of the United States army to enlist men for the colored infantry. Strange as it may seem, however, although would-be recruits are numerous, great difficulty is experienced in finding those who are fitted for this class of service.

There are four colored regiments in the regular army, and the men are looked upon as excellent soldiers. They re-enlist far more frequently than white men, and consequently there are very seldom vacancies in their regiments. This re-enlisting has its objectionable features, however, as the men are thus at times kept in service after their days of usefulness are past.

The greatest trouble experienced by the recruiting officer is to get men who have even the simple education necessary to fit them for the duties of private soldiers. Under recent army regulations the recruits must be able to speak, read and write English, and do simple arithmetic. Nowadays the private needs as much education as formerly would have served the purpose of a non-commissioned officer, and this change has served to Americanize the army during recent years.

For some inexplicable reason the best recruits for the colored regiments come from Tennessee. This is speaking from a physical standpoint, however, for educationally their standard is low.

In order to be fit for enlistment a man must be between the ages of 21 and 30, and be physically, mentally and morally sound. The would-be soldier has to undergo a strict physical examination, and his character is also carefully investigated.

The four colored regiments are officered by white men, and are stationed as follows: The Twenty-fourth Infantry in Arizona and New Mexico, the Twenty-fifth Infantry in Montana, the Ninth Cavalry in Utah, Wyoming and Nebraska, and the Tenth Cavalry in Montana.

PASTEURESQUE IDEA.

London Globe: It is now proposed that instead of vaccinating persons bitten, as in the Pasteur method, dogs should be inoculated with the virus of rabies, in the hope that they may thereby be made proof against the usual effects of the bite of a mad dog—just as human subjects are vaccinated to make them proof against the ravages of smallpox. The result of researches on this matter undertaken by an eminent Frenchman will be awaited with interest.

THE WEATHER.

United States Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth, Synopsis of weather conditions for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m., (Central time), June 10.—Showers in Illinois and parts of Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin and Michigan, have been followed by fair weather, owing to the advance of the area of high pressure now moving southeastward across the Lake Superior region and the Upper Mississippi valley.

An advancing depression, central this morning in Montana, is attended by showers in the far Northwest, and an area of cloudiness covers the region from the Upper Missouri valley northward to the limits of observation.

The temperature has generally risen in all districts, except the Lower Mississippi valley, where a change to 10 degrees cooler is noted at Memphis.

Depth of water in sault canal at 7 a. m. today, 14 feet 3 inches. Forecast for the next twenty-four hours: Failing.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 58; maximum yesterday, 58; minimum yesterday, 44.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity: Increasing cloudiness and cooler tonight; Thursday showers and cooler; northeast winds, brisk tonight and Thursday.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Official.

Chicago, June 10.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Fair with warmer in west and central portions tonight; Thursday increasing cloudiness with probably showers in west portion; warmer variable winds, shifting to fresh southeasterly Thursday. Minnesota: Increasing cloudiness tonight with showers in west portion; Thursday showers and warmer; increasing southeast winds.

NO STRADDLE WANTED.

The News Tribune contends that the platform to be adopted at St. Louis next week shall be made "sound." Exactly what it means by this term is not made clear by the context, nor is the reader enlightened to any great extent by the following statement: "The currency needs to be kept sound and stable, and when we say stable we mean that its silver dollars and paper dollars shall be equal with its gold dollars." If the News Tribune had explained how it proposed to secure this result, there would be some indication at least of the position which it assumes on the money question, but there is nothing in the whole article by which it can be judged where it stands. Probably, however, like all of the scarce money advocates, when it speaks of "sound money" it actually means single gold standard. If it actually means this, it should say so and not indulge in ambiguous language. If, on the other hand, it is preparing to get in line to support Mr. Towne for re-election on a platform declared unequivocally for genuine bimetallism—the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at a ratio of 16 to 1—it should have the courage to take that position without balancing itself on the fence in an endeavor to straddle the question.

The Herald trusts that there will be no straddle in the platform adopted by the Republican national convention. The temper of the people is opposed to any straddle this year. A clear and definite declaration on the currency question is wanted from all the political parties. If the convention at St. Louis favors the maintenance of the single gold standard, let it say so without shuffling or evasion. If the Democratic convention at Chicago next month contains a majority favoring equal recognition of gold and silver as standard money, let it also state its position without language that will bear a double interpretation.

The great issue this year is the money question. Nothing can sidetrack it. The effort to make the tariff the leading issue is a flat failure. It cannot be made the absorbing issue. The tariff and all other questions sink into insignificance beside the money question, and The Herald hopes the various political parties will adopt clear and explicit platforms, so that a campaign, devoid of all false pretenses may be made upon the chief question in which the people are interested.

AN ECCENTRIC PRINCE.

The appointment of Count Thun to be first grand master of the court of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir apparent of the throne of Austria-Hungary, is regarded in Europe as the emperor's way of putting the young man under a sort of guardianship. Francis Ferdinand, who is 33 years old, may not be insane, but he is certainly eccentric, as is his younger brother Otto. Strange stories are told about them. One is said to have stopped a funeral to indulge in the mad feat of leaping his horse over the coffin; the other is reported, on being reminded by the emperor that he must not shirk his duty with his regiment, to have emptied a plate of spinach on the bust of his uncle in the mess hall. Even if these stories should prove exaggerations, it would not be unreasonable to suppose that the two young men have in their veins "the black drop of the Hapsburgs" which carries with it melancholy madness. Royal houses cannot conceal that which a humble family may hide from the world, and the peculiar manifestations of the taint in the Hapsburgs have long been studied by the neurologists. The Bavarian royal line is another family that walks in the shadow of impending madness, and the two houses are closely allied.

Count Thun is a man of strong will and good common sense, and it is possible that he may succeed in the difficult task assigned to him—that of curbing the eccentricities of the heir apparent and moulding him into fitness for the throne of the Austro-Hungarian empire. Should he not be able to infuse some common sense into the heir apparent, the future will not be very bright for the empire over which the sensible Francis Joseph now rules.

WHAT MR. TOWNE HAS DONE.

The close of the first session of the Fifty-fourth congress is at hand, and the time is appropriate for a short review of the work which has been accomplished by Congressman Charles A. Towne, of this district, during the first half of his first term in the greatest legislative body in the world. Mr. Towne was fortunate to secure appointment by Speaker Reed to a position on the rivers and harbors committee—one of the leading committees of the house, and, so far as Duluth and the Sixth district is concerned, the most important from almost every point of view. By reason of this excellent committee place and the high standing and influential position which he secured by his able and brilliant speech on the money question, coupled with a thorough knowledge of the needs of this district, Mr. Towne has accomplished much in behalf of the people who wisely chose him as their representative.

Early in the session Mr. Towne secured the insertion of an item in the urgency deficiency appropriation bill, appropriating $5000 for the payment of certain arrears due to men who had performed services in connection with the survey of the lands of the Red Lake Indian reservation, and who had remained unpaid for a year.

Mr. Towne awakened interest in the matter of the unsettled boundary line between Minnesota and Canada and secured a favorable report from the committee on foreign affairs for the appointment of a commission to negotiate a settlement. The condition of the treasury not warranting any expense beyond the necessary disbursements for running the government, at the request of Mr. Reed, Mr. Towne postponed the consideration of the question till next session. This is a very important matter. Hunter's island, as large as twenty townships, and very rich in mineral resources, is involved, and as it is believed to rightly belong to Minnesota. Mr. Towne is anxious to see the dispute settled soon, so as to avoid, on one hand, losing a valuable piece of territory, and, on the other, a serious international question.

Six or seven years ago some merchants at Cloquet and Fond du Lac furnished some Indian supplies on orders from the Indian agent upon the contractors who were cutting timber on the lands supposed to belong to the Indians. The supplies amounted to $6600 in value. It was subsequently found that the contractors were trespassers. The orders were never paid. The merchants have been trying to get congress to reimburse them ever since. Mr. Towne secured the insertion of a provision in the Indian appropriation bill whereby these merchants receive $5500, and he proposes to get the balance for them hereafter.

Mr Towne has procured the adoption of an amendment to the Indian bill, reducing the membership of the Chippewa Indian commission from three to one, thus making a considerable saving in expenses and promoting the efficiency of the service. He then recommended Secretary Smith to retain Maj. Baldwin as this sole commissioner, he having been a very attentive and efficient member of the board.

The Aitkin bridge bill, to permit Aitkin county to build a bridge across the Mississippi river at Aitkin, was passed through Mr. Towne's efforts. The bill to allow St. Louis county to build a bridge across St. Louis river at Fond du Lac has been favorably reported by the commerce committee and Mr. Towne has made arrangements for its passage this week.

In the legislation which the judiciary committee hopes to pass before the session closes, providing for the reorganization of the Northern Pacific Railroad company, Mr. Towne secured the incorporation of a requirement that the succeeding company shall be bound to carry out the contracts existing between the present company and those settlers, of whom there are many in Minnesota, who have purchased land from the company upon contract. He also co-operated with Mr. Hartman, of Montana, and Mr. Tawney, of Minnesota, in their able efforts in shaping this legislation in other respects.

Another bill passed at Mr. Towne's instance provides for the relief of a large number of settlers who between 1887 and 1889 settled upon lands within the so-called "second indemnity belt" of the Northern Pacific railroad under the assurance of the government that the lands belonged to the public domain, but who, by a subsequent decision, lost their homesteads. By this bill these settlers can within the next two years take new homesteads anywhere on the public lands of the United States, and without further residence, in cases where they would have been entitled to do so originally, commute their entries and secure title. He also obtained the passage of a bill providing for the speedy sale of the pine on the Red Lake Indian reservation in 40-acre tracts. This is a very important measure.

Mr. Towne secured the appointment of a pension examining board at Princeton, thus accommodating a large number of veterans who would otherwise have to journey to St. Cloud or elsewhere for examination. Through his efforts a large number of original and increase pensions were secured, and that the veterans appreciate what Mr. Towne has done in this line is evident from the enthusiastic manner in which they are now supporting him for re-election. Several new postoffices were established in the district at Mr. Towne's request, and a great many cases were expedited in the land office and interior department for homesteaders and others. In some instances, the cases had been hung up for four or five years, and they would be still unsettled but for Mr. Towne's energetic work in pressing them upon the attention of the department.

Reference has already been made to Mr. Towne's great speech, which gained for him a national reputation, and placed him at one bound in the front rank of congressional statesmen, and gave him a standing which no new member ever before attained so early in his congressional career. Of the splendid work which he performed upon the rivers and harbors committee in behalf of Duluth, the whole state of Minnesota and the great waterway between Duluth and Buffalo, The Herald has spoken at length in previous issues. The placing of the Duluth-Superior harbor under the continuous contract system, whereby provision is made for its complete improvement at an estimated cost of over $3,000,000, is an achievement which alone entitles him to the support of every resident of Duluth and the Sixth district, because the deepening of this harbor to twenty feet will result in a further cheapening of transportation rates to and from the whole Northwestern territory. Under this plan, the sum of $750,000 will be expended each year, beginning in 1897, upon this harbor, until the work has been completed.

These are a few of the things which Mr. Towne has accomplished. Of course, there are some things which he has not done through lack of time or for other good reasons, but he proposes to attend to them hereafter. In closing this imperfect review of his work, it may be appropriate to mention the general harmony which prevails among the senators and representatives from Minnesota. They are devoted and hard-working representatives of the state and its interests. While all have treated Mr. Towne well, and were ever ready to assist him in this work, Mr. Towne, in conversation the other day, spoke especially of Mr. Fletcher, who stood by him constantly, especially as to matters coming before his great committee on interstate and foreign commerce and in respect to appropriations; of Mr. Tawney, whose services in the matter of the reorganization of the Northern Pacific Railroad company, have been of great value, not to speak of his well-known connection with important general legislation; of Mr. Eddy, whose aid in all things connected with Indian affairs was invaluable; of Mr. Heatwole, who, as chairman of the sub-committee of the committee on foreign affairs, did excellent work in connection with the question of the Canada-Minnesota boundary and the preparation of the report thereon; and of Senator Nelson, who, as member of the senate commerce committee before whom the rivers and harbors bill went after leaving the house, preserved every valuable feature Mr. Towne had succeeded in getting into it, besides increasing certain important appropriations. Senator Davis, of whose high standing all are proud, is always ready with wise counsel and willing hand to assist everybody on the delegation. Col. Kiefer aided Mr. Towne by getting ready a favorable report on his bill for a public building at St. Cloud, and it was not his fault that the committee on public buildings and grounds, of which he is a member, decided to report no bills at all this season. In order not to leave anybody out, reference must be made to Professor McCleary, whom Mr. Towne's speech on the bond bill gave an opportunity to make a reply which the bankers' committee are sending broadcast over the country as the best answer that was made to Mr. Towne's argument.

The Minneapolis Journal says: "The free silver people in several states have demanded 'the immediate and complete restoration of the bimetallism of money which existed in the United States from 1793 to 1873.' If these people had ever read the financial history of their own country they would know that this country did not have bimetallism from 1793 to 1873 at all." There was a time when this statement by the Journal might have been accepted as true by many people, but the campaign of education on the money question has progressed so far that there are comparatively few people who do not know that the Journal grossly misrepresents the facts.

The Minneapolis Tribune says: "Towne has been most elegantly taken in by the experienced managers of the state machine. Merriam-Clough lose nothing by promising the earth to Towne. The state convention meets July 1, and Mr. Towne's friends stand manfully by the state machine. The Sixth district congressional convention will be held on July 16, and the friends of Merriam-Clough will find it exceedingly convenient to be absent from St. Cloud on that day."

There was a Clough meeting Monday night in the First ward in St. Paul, which is a strong Republican ward. Although it had been advertised that Governor Clough would speak, less than 200 people were present, and many of these were supporters of Gen. Clapp. It is said the meeting was a decided "frost," and at the close cheers for Clapp were mingled with those for Clough.

With bimetallism in force there would be no "50-cent dollar," because if a man could take 412½ grains of silver to the mint and have it coined into a dollar, he would not take less than $1 for it. No scarce-money advocate can successfully combat this argument. It is unanswerable.

The Pioneer Press and the Merriam machine are driven to hard straits in their uphill fight against Gen. Clapp in Ramsey county. The Pioneer Press now accuses Mr. Clapp of favoring free silver and wants him to state his position. Why does it not ask Mr. McKinley to do the same thing?

The Clough boomers have been claiming Aitkin county, but the Aitkin Age says it looks very much "as though Aitkin county would send a solid Gibbs delegation to the Republican state convention July 1."

General surprise is expressed throughout the state because Mr. Towne has acquiesced in the deal which some foolish and short-sighted friends in St. Louis county have made with the Merriam machine.

THE MARBLE PRIEST.

While passing through the rotunda of the capitol the other day two little Irish lads asked me where was the Marble Priest. I sought the proper official and took them to the statue of James Marquette, Wisconsin's gift to the United States. The incident gave rise to the following lines:

No room in your hall for the white marble priest,
O long-boasted land of people oppressed?
Your face full of terrors, your heart full of fears?
The man has been dead full two hundred years!
Ashamed to confess that you owe him a debt?
You've room for Columbus, but not for Marquette.

Twelve millions of people, part of your whole,
With Macs and Maloneys on your pay roll;
They help fight your battles and help build your roads,
They help pay your taxes and help bear your loads.
Ashamed to confess that you owe him a debt?
You've room for Columbus, but none for Marquette

You have room for De Soto, the man of the sword;
No room for the priest, with the word of the Lord?
For he stands in his robe, with his cross and his beads,
Afraid of Pater Nosters, of his rites and his creeds!
Ashamed to confess that you owe him a debt?
You've room for Columbus, but none for Marquette

You have room for the Pilgrims, as forth they embark,
God's rainbow above them, in Freedom's frail ark;
No room for the freedom of speech and of thought
That over the wave of the ocean they brought?
Ashamed to confess that you owe him a debt?
You've room for Columbus, but none for Marquette

O nation first cradled in the bosom of God,
O nation whose fathers in the martyr-path trod,
O fear not the Bible that fostered your youth,
And fear not the churches the pillars of truth.
Rise up and confess that you owe him a debt;
You've room for Columbus, make room for Marquette.

—By President J. E. Rankin, Howard university.

ROCK OF AGES.

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me—"
Thoughtlessly the maiden sung;
Felt the words unconsciously
From her girlish guileless tongue;
Sung as little children sing;
Sung as sing the birds in June;
Felt the words as light leaves down
On the current of the time—
"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee."

Felt her soul no need to hide,
Sweet the song as song could be,
And she had no thought beside;
All the words unheedingly
Fell from lips untouched by care,
Dreaming not that each might be
On some other lips a prayer—
"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee."

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me—"
'Twas a woman sung them now;
Sung them slow and wearily—
Wan hand on her aching brow,
Rode the song as storm-tossed bird
Beats with weary wing the air;
Every note with sorrow stirred,
Every syllable a prayer—
"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee."

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me—"
Lips grown aged sung the hymn
Trustingly and tenderly;
Voice grown weak and eyes grown dim—
"Let me hide myself in Thee."
Trembling though the voice and low,
Ran the sweet strain peacefully,
Like a river in its flow;
Sung as only they can sing
Who life's thorny paths have pressed;
Sung as only they can sing
Who behold the promised rest—
"Rock of Ages, cleft for me,
Let me hide myself in Thee."

"Rock of Ages, cleft for me—"
Sung above a coffin lid;
Underneath all restfully.
All life's joys and sorrows hid.
Never more a storm tossed soul,
Never more from wind and tide,
Never more from billows roll
Will thou ever need to hide.
Could the sightless, sunken eyes,
Closed beneath the soft, white hair;
Could the mute and stiffened lips
Move again, in pleading prayer,
Still aye still, the words would be—
"Let me hide myself in Thee."

DECEIVED BY APPEARANCES.

Some visitors going through a country jail, under the escort of the chief warder, came to a room in which three women were sewing, says the San Francisco Argonaut. "Dear me," one of the visitors whispered, "what vicious looking creatures! Pray, what are they here for?" "Because they have no other home. This is our sitting room and they are my wife and two daughters," blandly responded the chief warder.

FISHING

Gamy Black Bass and Some of Their Well Known Habits.

What the Big Mouth Likes Best to Eat at Times.

A Little Fish Lore For the Anglers Who Need It.

He who fishes for bass out of season, or with any other device than the legal hook and line, is no true sportsman, and fully deserves any fines or penalties that may be imposed upon him for violating the game laws, says the Philadelphia Times. For the black bass is altogether an admirable fish, and it is a public duty to establish and enforce regulations for his preservation. Even a 1-pounder is a prize; a 2-pounder is a thing of beauty, while a 3 or 4-pounder is a noble and heroic being. A weight of over four pounds is very rare. To struggle with a frantic black bass is a thrilling experience; to land one brings that soul-satisfaction which accompanies a well-earned victory over a worthy antagonist. Therefore let us take good care of this fresh water monarch in order that he may thrive and multiply.

Almost any live creature that lives in or near the water is the natural food of the black bass. He quickly recognizes and persistently ignores a corpse. The excitement of the chase seems to be an appetizer for him, and he will not touch anything dead unless it is a grasshopper. There is no better bait in the long run than a chub minnow measuring three inches, more or less, from nose to tail. The chub is preferred because it is a livelier swimmer and lives longer than any other variety. The "shiner" would do as well if it were not so tender and easily killed.

Other creatures which make choice mouthfuls for the black bass are the hellgramite (otherwise known as the dobson, or crawler, or clipper), the crawfish, the small green frog, the grasshopper, the grub found in decaying stumps or logs), the cricket and even the humble angleworm if he is plump and muscular and active. Hook a minnow through the lips, so that he may swim freely; a crawfish through the tail, so that he may waggle naturally; a frog through the leg, so that he may kick to his heart's content; tie the hellgramite to the hook with a thread, so that he may wriggle gracefully; impale grasshoppers, grubs and worms in any way you please.

The bass is capricious in his tastes, and at times will take one kind of prey to the exclusion of all others. Therefore it is well to provide yourself with two or three varieties of bait (of which minnows should always be one) in order to be sure of hitting the fancy of his palate, as he cannot be induced to accept anything which he does not want. The bass has several ways of biting. In a deep hole or placid stretch of water he takes the bait quietly and moves off with it at a leisurely pace, preparatory to swallowing it. Give him plenty of slack line until he has run ten or fifteen feet. If you make your strike before he begins to swallow the bait you will in all probability fail to hook him.

At times the bass will go for a minnow or a frog as if he was shot out of a gun. Having seized his prey "on the fly," as it were, he may swim away at a great speed, although this does not happen often. You must be on the alert when this occurs and strike the hook into his jaw at such a moment as the situation and emergency seem to require. If you throw your bait into a ripple or a running torrent he may take it as quickly as a flash of lightning. In that case he is off again in an instant and no time is to be wasted in guessing at his intentions. Either you have hooked him or you haven't, and the question will be decided in much less time than it takes to write three words of this paragraph.

Having hooked a bass the problem of securing him is by no means solved. A royal battle which will tax your nerves is on hand. An attempt to land him with a sudden jerk will not only fail, but will be liable to result in damage to your outfit, such as a parting of the line or a breaking of the rod. Besides this, you will lose your fish—a depressing and humiliating experience. The bass has astonishing strength as a swimmer and can pull like a wild colt. Moreover, he loves his liberty, and plunges into a struggle for it the very instant he feels the restraining line. He will keep it up, too, with incredible pluck and energy and persistence. He may make for a log, or wind the line about a root, or adopt some other maneuver that will show his fertility of resource and call for opposing strategy on your part.

In lake fishing you should have a comfortable and easy-riding rowboat; an elastic rod weighing ten or twelve ounces; a multiplying reel; fifty yards of braided line; a quarter or half-ounce sinker, and a double leader nine feet long. Fasten the sinker just above the leader. On the tail end of the leader place a small spoon-hook or spinner. At intervals of thirty inches upward attach two snell hooks baited with live minnows. A landing net on a handle three or four feet long is a desirable part of a complete equipment. On arriving at the fishing ground, where there should be from twelve to twenty feet of water over a rocky bottom, slowly pay out seventy-five feet of the line as the boat moves. Either you or your oarsman should row quietly and with moderate speed. The slower the better, so that the bait may sink nearly to the bottom and yet not drag on the rocks. The glittering spinner and the active minnows will thus be brought near to the bass, and the slow motion will permit the minnows to swim about naturally. If there are any hungry bass around they will not be able to resist this temptation.

Fly fishing is an art by itself, requiring a strong right arm well drilled in steadiness and accuracy of motion. Much practice is essential to make a cast of thirty or forty feet, and longer distances are correspondingly more difficult. There must also be the knack of causing the flies to hover in the air and settle quietly and naturally in the water. It is well to practice on some quiet stretch of water, where there are no trees to cause entangling alliances, until the requisite proficiency is attained. The bass rises to a fly instantly or not at all, and you must cover his territory by frequent casts. The selection of flies must be made with reference to location, season and weather. Experience will enable you to determine which are the most killing. The accomplished fly fisherman is inclined to scorn other methods of capture, and it must be conceded that he has good reason to be in love with his art.

POINTS ABOUT BLACK BASS.

The black bass loves clear water.

He is not to be found in stagnant pools.

He dwells where the bottom is covered with rocks.

His abiding place is not over weeds, mud or gravel.

He often lurks in a deep hole at the foot of a torrent.

In a lake you will find him in water from ten to thirty feet deep.

He is clean in his habits and particular as to his dwelling place and associations.

You will not succeed in catching a black bass if you get within range of his vision.

He has an innate distrust of human beings and seems to know that they are his natural enemies.

He will not bite unless you approach him with the utmost caution and keep completely out of sight.

Sometimes he runs away, but frequently he swims to and fro in calm disdain when you try to catch him.

In stream-fishing for bass you must lurk behind fences, trees, bushes or shrubbery, or under the friendly shade of high banks.

THE DAKOTAS.

NORTH DAKOTA.

C. S. Buck, secretary of the cactus commission, at Bismarck, has been relieved from duty in an unusual manner. The letter announcing a probable change is from W. H. Rowe, of Ellendale, one o fthe members of the commission, and says: "I am going to be frank with you and say that in order to enable me to do party work and give a greater assistance in overthrowing Populism in this county this fall, I have today written to the governor and Mr. Casey for their support in giving me the secretaryship of the board. I trust you will accept this in a matter-of-fact way and consider it as no reflection on yourself, as our relations have been pleasant." The secretary's salary is $900 a year. The members of the commission are allowed $3 a day while in actual service.

Judge Lochren has convened a term of the United States court at Fargo in the absence of Judge Thomas. The first morning was taken up with the calendar and setting cases for trial. Frank W. Lyon, sub-agent of Bull Head station, Standing Rock agency, James F. McLaughlin, of Fort Yates, and A. C. Wells, sub-agent of Cannon Ball station, came in from the West with a large party of Indians as witnesses. Wells was chief of Indian police at the time Sitting Bull was killed, and participated in that fight. The Indians are witnesses against Louis Sitting Bull for rape. Brough: Plenty for attempted rape. White Horse for assault with intent to kill, and a number of persons indicted for stealing cattle and horses from the reservation.

The case of Mrs. Etta Cameron, of St. Paul, against the Great Northern Railroad company, will come up in the district court at Grand Forks today. Mrs. Cameron is the widow of Conductor Edward Cameron, who was killed near this city a year ago last fall. He was coupling on the coast train and in some manner he fell off a short distance out. He was not missed until the train arrived in this city and a crew was sent back to look for him. He was found lying close to the track dead. On the last coach in the long train there was a broken step and on this fact the suit for damages in the sum of $20,000 is said to depend largely. The railroad company claims, it is said, that the conductor's attention had been called to this fact, and as a consequence claim that no liability exists on the part of the company.

The property of the North Dakota Milling association was sold at Mandan by Receiver Lyon for $80,000 and was bought in by a committee of large creditors. The new company is organized with Merriam, Kellogg, Severance, Harrington and Leonard as directors, and is known as the North Dakota Millers' association. If the sale is confirmed by the court, the headquarters will be at Mandan under the present management.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Aberdeen citizens gave a reception to Bishop O'Gorman when he arrived on his first visit to Presentation academy and Sacred Heart church. Toasts were made by the mayor, Attorney H. H. Potter and the bishop. Last night the distinguished churchman attended the commencement exercises of the academy and made an address.

While the Republicans at their Huron convention practically expressed themselves for sound money, there is no question that a large element of the party in this state, particularly at Pierce, is favorable to free coinage, and when the St. Louis convention declares against free coinage there is a possibility that the Populists may control the next legislature, in which case none of the Republican candidates will have a show for senatorial honors. When it is considered that less than 3000 votes would have made the last legislature Populist instead of Republican, it will be seen that the national monetary plank might turn that number of voters over and make Kyle's re-election possible. As a probable offset to the desertion of free silver Republicans, however, the party would get the gold Democrat vote.

Settlers on the newly opened Yankton reservation, near Armour, are rapidly opening their farms, and there will be a large crop of sod corn and flax this season. Many of the settlers are going into stock, as it is an ideal stock country, the allotted lands affording abundant range at a very moderate rental. About two-thirds of the opened lands have been homesteaded. There are still good lands to be obtained by actual settlers.

Some days ago two Edgemont doctors were called to Pringle. They found four people in a serious condition. These were Tom Harper and wife and a boy and girl named Nelson. Harper's skull was crushed. Mrs. Harper had several ribs broken. The boy's foot was badly cut and the girl's hand was seriously injured. The doctors treated the patients and returned to Edgemont, it is said, under guard. Some claim that there had been a fight, with several killed, and these were the remaining wounded. Others say that a vigilance committee had visited the place. And still others that Harper and his wife were thrown from a buggy and injured in this way. The affair will be investigated.

Notice of Assessment

For Improvement of the Parkway Space on Superior Street From Eight Avenue East to Twenty-Second Avenue East.

Office of the Board of Public Works, Duluth, Minn., June 5, 1896.

Notice is hereby given that the board of park commissioners of the city of Duluth has filed its report in the office of the board of public works of the city of Duluth, showing it has caused the parkway space between the curb and the sidewalk line on both sides of Superior street in the city of Duluth to be improved by the planting of shade trees at a cost of eighteen hundred and thirty ($1830) dollars; and that the board of public works of said city will meet at their office in the city hall in said city on Tuesday, the 16th day of June, A. D. 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. to make an assessment for the amount of the special benefit beyond the general benefit to all real estate in the city derived from such improvement upon the real estate that may be found and determined to be specially benefited thereby. The highest amount in the aggregate of said special benefit to be so assessed has been determined by said board of public works to the sum of nine hundred fifteen ($915) dollars.

All lands in said city to which special benefits result from said improvement will be assessed in proportion, as near as may be, to the special benefits resulting thereto from said improvement. All persons interested in said proceedings shall have the right to be present and be heard at said time and place in relation to the making of said assessment.

Colored Men Adopted Resolutions Last Evening.

Last evening the colored citizens of Duluth held a mass meeting at the office of Alexander Miles for the purpose of protesting against the action of the hotel and restaurant men at St. Louis in refusing to entertain colored delegates to the convention. The meeting was called to order by A. G. Plummer, and H. J. Shelton was made president and C. W. Dorsey secretary. Messrs. Duncan, Miles and Plummer were made a committee on resolutions and presented the following, which were unanimously adopted:

"Whereas we, the colored citizens of Duluth, in mass meeting assembled, pursuant to a call issued for the purpose of giving expression of indignation against the infamous act of the hotel and innkeepers of St. Louis, Mo., in discriminating against the colored visitors to the Republican national convention to be held June 16, 1896; be it

"Resolved, that we denounce such an atrocious act as an outrage on our patriotism and a blot upon the past record of the grand old Republican party of which the negro is the corner stone;

"Resolved, that we implore the Republican national committee to take cognizance of such base discrimination and their first public utterance to the true and loyal Republicans of this country be one of denunciation in no unmeasured terms;

"Resolved, that we urge upon the colored delegates in attendance upon the Republican national convention to maintain their manly dignity under all circumstances as American citizens, and if the barbaric treatment is persisted in by the hotel and innkeepers in refusing the colored citizens food and shelter, to withdraw without ceremony from the convention."

While the committee was preparing its report Rev. Thornton and John Duncan made vigorous speeches.

FOR AN OLD CRIME.

Duncan C. Beveridge Captured on the North Shore.

The Dixon yesterday afternoon brought in from Port Bay, about seventy-five miles up the north shore, three sheriff's deputies in charge of Duncan C. Beveridge, who was arrested on requisition papers from Michigan for a murder committed there seven years ago. A man named Macdonald, who was convicted of the crime, served six years on a life sentence until he was pardoned out recently, the authorities being convinced that they had the wrong man.

The victim was a woman who, it is said, was aware of the fact that Beveridge had committed a murder some time before. The object in killing her was supposedly that she might tell no tales. Beveridge's partner, a man named Redpath, is already under arrest. Beveridge and two women and a number of men were holding down claims on the north shore, and as he was said to be a desperate man, Sheriff Buchart sent three men after him. The sheriff of Ontonagon county was expected to arrive here this morning after his man.

Beveridge is said to have been a dance house keeper and a desperate man, but he has little of that appearance.

IT RULED

Free Silver Controlled the Democratic Convention Almost Unanimously.

Red Hot Silver Speeches and Some Roasts For Cleveland.

Twenty-Six Delegates to the St. Paul Convention Instructed For Silver.

The Democratic county convention met yesterday afternoon at the city hall and declared plainly and unequivocally in favor of the free coinage of silver at the 16 to 1 ratio. There were about seventy-five delegates in the convention, and there was a fair-sized audience outside the railing anxious to know and hear what the Democracy would do.

Chairman John Flood called the convention to order shortly after 4 o'clock, and read the call for the gathering of the "grand old Democratic party."

A. S. Wilson, for the gold men, nominated B. J. Whitcomb, and C. d'Autremont, for the silver men, named Roger S. Powell.

A rising vote was decided upon. When B. J. Whitcomb's name was called twelve persons arose. When Roger S. Powell's name was submitted, about sixty arose, and he was declared elected.

Judge Powell made quite a silver speech on taking the chair. The issue all over the country, he said, is money. This convention proposes to send a delegation that will push the idea of sound dollars at the ratio of 16 to 1, not a 50-cent dollar or a 32-dollar, but dollars such as the people had before the gold standard was surreptitiously foisted upon us two years ago. The speaker was firmly convinced that the hope of the country lies in the Democratic party, but members high in the party have taken a stand disappointing to the rank and file. If the leaders do not represent the sentiment of the party the people should be incited to choose in their places men who will represent the whole people. The tariff, he declared, is not responsible for the depression, but the money question.

Frank Crasswedler moved that H. B. Fryberger be chosen temporary secretary. This was carried without opposition.

A silence then ensued, which was broken by T. T. Hudson. He moved the appointment by the chair of a committee of seven on credentials. The motion was carried, and the chair named T. T. Hudson, T. F. Gillivary, C. A. Smith, Charles Gaspar, C. O. Flynn, James Hart, Jr., and Dr. Alden.

A recess of ten minutes was then taken.

During the interval Col. A. A. Harris was called on and made a red hot Democratic silver speech. He roasted the "gold bugs," and congratulated the Democratic party on what it is about to do. He said the Democrats would nominate the next president at Chicago, and that the free silver men, regardless of party, will vote for him.

"Where are the Republicans?" he asked. "Where are they in this district? Our talented young Republican friend, Charley Towne, has them by the throat." (Applause).

Cleveland was given a few hard raps because of his bond issues. The Republicans ought to nominate him to be consistent. Col. Harris closed by saying: "We are the people, and, thank God, we are strictly in it in this year of 1896."

E. C. Gridley was called for and took occasion to defend his Democracy from the violent assaults that it has occasionally been subjected to, and he said it all to Maj. Baldwin. This was due to his stand on the iron ore question. Maj. Baldwin made pledges, and on the strength of those, and by Mr. Baldwin's authority, Mr. Gridley had promised the people of the range that if elected congressman he would push the removing of the duty on iron ore. He failed to keep his word, and thus left Mr. Gridley in an embarrassing position. He said he would yield second place to no one in his fealty to the Democratic party, and then made a free silver speech.

P. Dowling, of Eveleth, was called upon, but in a few words asked to be excused from making a speech.

Chairman Hudson read the report of the committee on credentials. The report was adopted.

The temporary organization was made permanent on motion of T. T. Hudson.

Alfred Jaques moved the appointment of a committee on resolutions, and A. Jaques, D. Sang, J. C. Hessian, Morris Griffin and Morris Thomas were named.

As a committee to select delegates, J. G. Brown, C. d'Autremont, Frank Crassweller, Z. K. Brown and W. H. Smith were named.

The committee on resolutions reported the following to the convention:

Resived, by the Democrats of St. Louis county in convention assembled:

First. We affirm our adherence to historic Democratic principles as illustrated by the services and utterances of Jefferson and Jackson.

Second. That we are opposed to the sending of United States troops into any state to police duty unless at the request of the legislature of the state or the governor thereof, when the legislature is not in session, and we denounce the use of United States troops for such purpose as an infraction of fundamental Democratic doctrine.

Third. Believing that the restoration of the money of the constitution is of paramount importance, we declare in favor of the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the present legal rate of 16 to 1, as such coinage existed prior to 1873, regardless of the action or policy of other countries. Gold and silver coin to be a full legal tender for all debts public or private.

The deegates selected to attend the state convention are hereby instructed to vote as a unit in favor of the adoption of the foregoing principle, and for the selection of delegates to the national convention known to be sincerely and steadfastly in favor thereof, and upon all other questions that may come before the state convention or said delegation, a vote shall be taken of the members of said delegation, and as a majority thereof shall vote, the entire vote of the delegation shall be cast as a unit. In case of the absence of any members of the state delegation from this convention at St. Paul, those present are hereby empowered to cast the entire vote of St. Louis county in said convention.

The committee to nominate delegates reported the following: T. T. Hudson, E. L. Ingalls, Beriah Magoffin, R. S. Powell, T. J. Neff, H. B. Fryberger, C. d'Autremont, Jr., George C. Gilbert, John G. Brown, Alexander Sang, Alfred Jaques, A. A. Harris, E. C. Gridley, George Chester, J. F. Gordon, Dr. Z. K. Brown, of Virginia; James Sullivan, C. O. Baldwin, P. McDonnell, Emil Hartmann, M. F. Marion, of Tower; T. J. McKeon, J. C. Hessian, Morris Griffin and Morris Thomas.

The committee then adjourned.

SIMPLICITY ITSELF.

A SIMPLE HARMLESS REMEDY

Yet it Cures the Worst Cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

Dr. Jennison, who has made a life study of stomach troubles, says: All forms of indigestion really amount to the same thing, that is, failure to completely digest the food eaten; no matter whether the trouble is acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, belching of wind, nervous dyspepsia or loss of flesh and appetite; a person will not have any of them if the stomach can be induced by any natural, harmless way, to thoroughly digest what is eaten, and this can be done by a simple remedy which I have tested in hundreds of aggravated cases with complete success. The remedy is a combination of fruit and vegetable essences, pure aseptic pepsin and golden seal put up in the form of pleasant tasting tablets and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these tablets should be taken after meals and allowed to dissolve in the mouth and mingling with the food in the stomach, digests it completely before it has time to ferment, decay and sour.

On actual experiment one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3000 grains of meat, eggs and similar wholesome foods.

It is safe to say, if this wholesome remedy was better known, by people generally, it would be a national blessing, as we are a nation of dyspeptics, and nine-tenths of all diseases owe their origin to imperfect digestion and nutrition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret patent medicine, but a 50-cent package will do more real good for a weak stomach than $50 worth of patent medicines and a person has the satisfaction of knowing just what he is putting into his stomach, which he does not know, when widely advertised patent medicines are used.

Mrs. Western Gray Produced a Few Written Her By Gray.

In These He Calls Her Wife and Refers to Their Marriage.

Minister Who Married Them Died Last May in Madison.

Yesterday afternoon in the hearing on the Gray estate Mrs. Kathryn Western Gray resumed the stand and took up her testimony. She had been telling of the marriage at Hudson when court adjourned, and she continued to describe the minister's house, from the point she had left off in the morning. The door was opened by a woman and they entered a room just off the street. There was an old man there who seemed to expect them from what he said. She identified a photograph of the man whom she met as they entered the house. He had some papers which seemed to have been made out before, and he asked her if the names "Rish A. Gray" and "Kathryn Western" were correct. She replied that they were. The marriage ceremony was then performed. They were in the house not more than fifteen minutes, Mr. Gray taking the marriage certificate and, she supposed, putting it in his pocket. After lunch, which she described, they went back to the station. It was then nearly 12 o'clock.

Mr. Gray left her at the station where she remained alone about three hours. He came back between 4 and 5 o'clock, and they took the train back to St. Paul, starting shortly after he came back. Arriving at St. Paul they took the cable car to her home in Portland avenue. After a light supper they spent the evening together, and he returned to Duluth on the night train. She did not see Mr. Gray until in the following January, when she came to Duluth with Mrs. Munger, who had been visiting in St. Paul. She stayed at Mrs. Munger's about a week. The first time she saw him was about noon and he stayed but a short time. Sunday afternoon he called for a short time and took her out with him about 3 o'clock. After a walk they went to his room on West Superior street, at 208 over Buchanan's grocery store. About 5 o'clock they returned to Mrs. Munger's.

She saw him a few minutes after that again in his room to which she had a key. She went there at his request to look at some clothing he had purchased. She left for St. Paul that afternoon and he left for the East on the night train. She saw him in St. Paul on the street the next day. She was in Minneapolis that day and when she was returning, she met him again, just as he was leaving for the East. When he returned about April 1, she again met him in the Union depot in St. Paul and they went to Minneapolis, to the Nicollet house, where they remained until the next evening or the following morning, occupying the same room.

TOLD OF THEIR MEETINGS.

The witness then told of numerous similar meetings, all carried on quietly and extending over several years. When he visited her home they always occupied separate rooms. There was another meeting in January, 1891, and another in September, with casual meetings and calls in the meantime. In September she was to visit Mrs. Munger, but Gray met her at the train and took her to his room, where she remained twenty-four hours. Then she went to Mrs. Munger's, who supposed she had just arrived. After that she saw him every month or six weeks.

While in Chicago at the World's fair she met him, he coming on from Boston to see her. He arrived there the last day of her stay. After that she did not meet him again until she moved to Duluth, Oct. 17, 1893. She saw him frequently until he left for the East Jan. 1, 1894, but only once in his room.

Sometime in the spring he returned and she met him in pursuance of an appointment at Minneapolis, where they stayed for two or three days. That summer she moved to the Whiteman house, and he frequently called there. On the first of September, 1894, on the day of the Hinckley fire she took the St. Paul & Duluth train for Duluth and was stopped at Pine City by the fire. Next morning her train was taken to Rush City, where she was until Monday afternoon. Late that day she arrived at Duluth, and it was raining. Mr. Gray met her at West Duluth, boarding the train there. At the Union depot he could get no carriage, and they stayed at the St. Louis all night. Next morning she went home.

A few days after that he went away and did not return until about Nov. 1. He called after his return, but Mrs. Bullit was ill. In January, 1895, he met her at Minneapolis and they stayed at the Nicollet for several days. During the spring of 1895 he called occasionally and sometimes she met him on the street. About Aug 1 he went East and was absent until Oct. 15. When he returned he called for her and took her to the St. Louis hotel. At this time he was here until November, and she had no other such meetings before he went away.

THE MASONIC WILL.

In order to allow T. W. Hugo to leave the city in the evening he was placed upon the stand and produced the Masonic will. He said he got it in Minneapolis within two weeks. He found it in the archives of the Masonic consistory at Minneapolis, of which Mr. Gray was a member. The will was introduced in evidence. It was cut from the records.

Mrs. Western Gray resumed the stand and testified that the Saturday before Thanksgiving she was going to St. Paul when Mr. Gray went to the train and took her back to the St. Louis hotel, where they stayed until Sunday noon. She then went to St. Paul. A week later, Saturday night, he came down and they stayed at the Nicollet in Minneapolis until Monday afternoon. She never saw him again, as he went East and never came back.

All this time he was supplying her with money, but she often refused it because she did not need it. He gave her many costly presents, however. She corresponded with him all the time, each writing at least twice a week. In addition he often telegraphed her. She always tore letters up as soon as she had read and answered them. She identified a letter torn up and pasted together, written by Gray last winter. She had found the pieces in her bureau, where she had probably put them intending to throw them away. The letter was as follows:

"Dear wife—I am sorry that we were not married over again last November to please the Duluth people, or had insisted on your coming with me when I left. But it will not be a long time until spring, when we will go abroad and have a good time. I wish you were with me now. My throat is bad again. Yours, R. A. Gray."

Another torn letter was introduced accompanied by the envelope. It was as follows, dated Boston, Feb. 6, 1896:

"Dr. W., yours received. I go today to New York. Will go West from Chicago. Write to me there. Yours, R. A. Gray."

On the back was the following:

"Do nothing. I shall insist on your coming with me in the spring. It is now six years since we were married."

Another letter with envelope was introduced. It read:

"San Francisco, March 7, 1896. Shall go to Chicago soon. Hope to hear from you there. There is lots of climate here and Eastern money; that is all. Yours, R. A. Gay."

Another letter alluded to a registered letter he had sent her containing a pin. At this point an adjournment was taken to 10 o'clock this morning.

MINISTER IS DEAD.

This morning Mrs. Flora Smith, of Ashland, took the stand. She testified that she was the wife of Julius S. Smith, and up to two years ago they lived in Hudson, Wis. She is a daughter-in-law of Rev. Martin H. Smith, who was a Baptist minister at Hudson, Wis. He lived with his son, her husband, there in 1890. Rev. Mr. Smith died at Madison, May 10 last, at the age of 76. Witness saw frequent marriages performed at their house, and she remembered Gray's coming to the house on the morning of Nov. 25. Afterwards he returned with a lady and they were married in her presence. While she could not swear that the principal in this case was the lady was satisfied that she was. She remembered that her father-in-law made Gray swear that there was no legal impediment to their marriage, as was his custom. There was nothing beyond the ordinary in the ceremony.

Witness prepared the certificate herself, as was her custom because of her father-in-law's nervousness. She kept his records and she entered this marriage. The names were fixed in her mind by the peculiar spelling of the given names Kathryn and Rish. After the ceremony the parties left.

Cross examined witness said that her father-in-law had no regular appointment because of ill health, though he preached occasionally. She couldn't tell how many marriages he performed. The first year he averaged perhaps eight or ten a month, but after that he had perhaps twenty a month. She thought he performed perhaps a third of the marriages at Hudson. She had not seen his record book since she left Hudson. When her father-in-law left Hudson he went to live with his son "Lawyer J. B. Smith" at Madison.

HAD NO HACKDRIVER.

The custom was to have herself and the hackdriver as witnesses, but there was no hackdriver on this occasion, so Mother Smith and herself acted as witnesses. Witness volunteered the information that "Mother Smith" thought she had signed as a witness in this case, but she could not remember positively. The hackdriver's name was Dorgan. Asked who had refreshed her memory on that point she displayed some reluctance, but said after a while that Mr. Bullitt had brought it back to her. He had asked her who it was and she had replied that she thought it was Dorgan.

The cross-examination was with the idea of shaking the witness' recollection, but she was pretty positive. She said that she filled out the certificate and the blank which the state law requires to be filed with the register of deeds, and she supposed that it was filed.

The witness said that she had no difficulty in remembering this and other cases. Asked to name some, she said that a butcher named Cook came there and was married, and paid her as well as the minister. His first name was Charles, she could not remember his wife's name, the wedding took place in the summer, and she thought the year was 1892.

On redirect examination, she stated that Rev. Mr. Smith was superannuated and therefore had no pastorate.

Julius S. Smith, an undertaker at Ashland, testified that he lived at Hudson in 1890, and that Rev. Martin H. Smith, with his wife, lived with him at that time. He remembered that a couple in November of that year asked to be directed to a restaurant when he came home to dinner. This incident had been referred to by the other witnesses. He could not swear that the couple were Gray and Mrs. Western-Gray. His father at that time was not preaching because of ill health, but he had been a minister since he was 26 years of age. Mrs. Gray had described the house as of a yellowish color. Witness stated that at that time it was unpainted, but near the time of their removal, two years ago, it was given a single coat of yellow ochre and oil.

Mrs. Western-Gray here resumed the stand and continued to tell of her correspondence with Gray, and his practice of sending her money and presents. When he left his rooming in the Mesaba block he sent her his furniture and pictures, which she now has. She said that she was in Hudson a week ago last Monday, and that she and Mr. Bullitt, who accompanied her to Hudson, walked down town to see if she could find the place where she was married. There was a new depot, and she had to go to the old one to locate herself. She then went to the house of the minister, which she located with little difficulty.

At this point court adjourned, and it was expected that Mrs. Gray's examination in chief and cross-examination would consume most of the afternoon.

TRIALS OF SMOKERS.

How They Used to Suffer in Persia.

In Persia, where but recently jealous strife raged for sole possession of the tobacco trade, Abbas I, of dread memory, cut off the lips of those who smoked and the noses of any who ventured to snuff, says the Gentleman's Magazine. On one occasion he threw an unfortunate man whom he discovered selling tobacco into a fire, along with his goods.

Yet, by and by, this demon of cruelty himself was enthralled by Nicotina's charms and became one of her most fervent devotees.

The Turks, under Amurath IV, were similarly punished for infringing his edict against smoking. Sir Edward Sandys of Pontefrac, in his travels in 1610, bears testimony to similar acts of cruelty by Mahomet IV.

During his stay at Constantinople he witnessed the punishment of a sturdy Turk who had been caught solacing the burden of life with the vapor of his newfound joy. Short lived, however, was his happiness. He was dragged before the tribunal and condemned to the torture of having a hole pierced through the cartilage of his nose and a pipe inserted therein.

Then, in order to render the punishment more impressive to the multitude, he was seated on the back of an ass with his face to the tail and driven through the streets of the city, while criers proclaimed his offense and its merited punishment according to the law of the sultan.

Not less cruel were the barbarities inflicted upon Russian subjects who, under Czar Michael Fedorowitz, were publicly knouted for using tobacco in any form —in some instances their noses being split open. If guilty of a second offense, death alone could wipe out the crime.

The ambassadors of the duke of Holstein, who visited Moscow in 1634, relate that they were eye-witnesses of a public exhibition of this kind, when eight men and one woman were punished with the knout for selling tobacco and brandy.

By way of palliating this Russian atrocity they were informed that houses in Moscow had been set on fire by smokers falling asleep and dropping their lighted pipes.

A REMARKABLE FIND.

Bankers' Monthly: It is one of the familiar proverbs of the Jews that bread cast upon the waters shall be found after many days, but there is no assurance that bank safes treated in that way shall be found after many days, or years. That is, however, precisely what has just happened in the vicinity of Lake Geneva, Wis.

It is now about thirty-two years since the bank in the small town of Elkhorn was robbed. The safe was not "cracked," but carried off bodily. It contained $40,000. It disappeared, money, safe and all, as if the earth itself had opened its ponderous jaws and swallowed them. That disappearance occurred Sept. 7, 1865. The robbery was charged to three men by the name of Hamilton, two of whom were arrested, but released on bail. Soon after they went to Europe, and the case never came to trial. The other man was arrested somewhere in the South, where he had gone, and was placed in jail. His wife visited him, and it is stated that he escaped from the jail in his wife's clothing, and was not found afterward. All this happened so long ago as to have been almost forgotten.

May 12, 1896, a citizen of Genoa, Wis., found a safe in Twin Lakes, in about eight feet of water, which upon examination proved to be the long-lost Elkhorn strong box.

BUSINESS

State Firemen's Association Let Pleasure Severely Alone Today.

Reports of Officers and Committees and Discussion of Topics.

An Honorary Life Member's Sudden Death Announced This Morning.

The first day of the firemen's convention closed with red fire, music and the pomp and glitter of a parade of the department. Thousands of people lined Superior street to see the procession go by, the band whooped it up and there was enthusiasm galore.

In the afternoon the visitors were taken out on the Christopher Columbus, a number of Duluth people going along to help entertain, swelling to the number of about 3000 the crowd that was gathered on the whaleback's deck as it pointed its nose for Two Harbors. The lake was on its good behavior, and put in no claim for tribute from the strangers, the sun shone brightly, and the boys with the horns played "Paradise Alley" to the deep bass voice of the Chris, playing an accompaniment as it passed out of the harbor, saluting its sister craft. To many of the passengers it was the first experience of life on the ocean wave, and the circumstances under which they got their initial glimpse of a sailor's existence made it seem truly ideal. In brief, everybody enjoyed this feature of the entertainment hugely, for, as is well known, your fireman takes naturally to water, believing that for the purpose of extinguishing fire, and as a quite necessary adjunct to boat rides, it cannot be improved upon, whatever may be its defects from any other point of view.

The big boat ran down a few miles beyond Two Harbors, it picked up the miles so fast that it was but 5:30 o'clock when the canal was neared on the return trip. This was entirely too early, the pleasantest hours of the afternoon invited the excursionists to linger, and Lake Superior put on his pleasantest face to induce them to extend their visit with him. The course of the boat was changed, therefore, and a nearer glimpse of the Wisconsin shore was taken, a circuit being made that brought the merry crowd in an hour later.

PARADE IN THE EVENING.

Promptly at 8:30 o'clock in the evening the parade moved from the fire department headquarters in the following order: Carriages containing Mayor Truelsen and the board of fire commissioners, Capt. Randall, A. B. McGregor and E. C. Little, Chief John T. Black and Master John T. Black, Jr., first and second assistant chiefs, Randall and Boyington; City band, Chemical and Engine Company No. 1, Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, Engine and Hose Company No. 1, Salvage Company No. 1, Engine and Hose Company No. 2, Hook and Ladder Company No. 2, Chemical Company No. 2, Engine and Hose Company No. 3, Hose and Chemical Company No. 4, Hose Company No. 5, Hook and Ladder Company No. 3.

The line of march was walled on either side along Superior street, from Sixth avenue west to Third avenue east, by masses of spectators, completely filling the space between the curb and the buildings. A few of the stores were handsomely decorated with Chinese lanterns. Besides those in the parade, the remaining seven companies of the department stood guard, as usual, over the city at their accustomed posts.

Just before the parade formed, the visitors who had gathered at central fire hall, were given an exhibition of the celerity with which the fire boys, and their as well trained coadjutors, the horses, get ready to go to a fire. The signal was given unexpectedly, a gong rang, a row of doors flew open and the air was full of horses. There was a general scrambling for places behind posts.

THIS MORNING'S SESSION.

The second day of the convention dawned fair, and those who had worried lest the beautiful weather of yesterday might be too short to go around were relieved at the indication that a wholesale supply had evidently been provided, and, accordingly, smoothed their ruffled feathers and gave a sigh of relief.

The delegates reported bright and early and ready for business, and the meeting was called to order by Vice President Lafond. The list of delegates as reported by the committee on credentials was read, after which the reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and referred to a joint committee, composed of members of executive and reference committees.

Statistician Cutler submitted his report for 1895, showing detailed returns from 105 cities, towns and villages, the largest number ever included in an annual report. By it, it was shown that there were 189 less in 1895 than in preceding years, while the amount of loss reported is $1,178,419 less for the same period. Number of fires from criminal and semi-criminal causes, viz., incendiarism, defective chimneys, carelessness and unknown is reported as being considerably less than heretofore, while nearly twice as many were caused by electric wires, indicating the necessity of special precautions against the antics of the dangerous fluid. The number of fires reported is 2475, from the following sources: Supposed incendiarism, 177; defective chimneys, 183; lamp explosions, 88; other explosions, 64; matches, 187; spontaneous combustion, 49; accidental, 94; carelessness, 328; overheating, 52; electrical wires, 34; lightning, 24; fireworks, 36; sparks from locomotives, 26; other causes known, 813; unknown, 320. The total loss reported is $1,868,883, of which amount St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Stillwater and Winona contributed $1,045,290, and the balance of the state, $823,593. Omitting the loss of $1,000,000 or more in the Hinckley fire in 1894, the losses in the "country precincts" for 1895 were nearly double that of the preceding year, while those of the cities aggregated some $600,000 less. There are in use a total of 66 steamers, 39 hand engines, 57 chemical engines, 259 hose carts and wagons, and 113 hook and ladder trucks, manned by 753 paid men and 4160 volunteers. The cost last year for the support of the fire departments was $626,746, while the amount of money invested in apparatus and other property, not including water supply, is $1,996,746.

A comparison for the past twelve years shows a great betterment in equipment and increase in efficiency. The statistician asked that chiefs of departments keep more accurate records of fires, the number, causes, losses and insurance in their departments. The report was accepted and placed on file.

STARTED A DEBATE.

Delegate Kortz, of Alexandria, started a debate by a reference to the fact that excessive losses had been charged to his department, in some instances losses three miles outside of the city limits having ben inclouded. He thought more care should be exercised, as rates are thus placed too high.

Secretary Strong reminded Mr. Kortz that his department gained thereby in the apportionment of the 1 per cent allowance, thus gaining in money what was lost in reputation.

Mr. Kortz said if they could not earn the apportionment honestly they did not want it.

Treasurer Joy said that unfortunately he was an insurance man, and that he could say, from his experience that departments were only allowed a per cent on premiums written in their towns, and none on that written outside.

Secretry Strong replied that the departments received credit for all insurance written in their towns, as, for instance, Minneapolis, which gets the benefit of all elevator insurance throughout the Northwest written by a resident agent.

Treasurer Joy responded that such was not the case in his town, whereupon some good-natured sparring followed, Secretary Strong settling the matter to his own satisfaction by telling the treasurer that his information was based on reports from some larger towns than the one the secretary hailed from.

The committee on topics reported the subject and assignments, as heretofore published.

The report of the special legislative committe, appointed to settle the accounts of former committees, reported that all dues had been collected and all bills paid. Amount received, $864.62; amount paid, $723.99; balance, $140.73. The committee recommended that the balance be set aside for a legislative fund. The report was adopted, consideration of the recommendation being deferred until it should be reached in the regular order of business.

HAD GONE FISHING.

The committee on transportation failed to respond to a call for a report, Secretary Joy said he thought they had gone fishing as he had seen Chiefs Stetson and Black, of the committee, going toward the lake with worms in their mouths.

A communication from Faribault, expressing a desire to merge the two relief associations at that point, raised the question of the number of delegates which Faribault would be entitled to in that case. It was felt that this question opened a wide field, and its consideration was deferred for the present. It will probably be taken up this afternoon.

Reading of communications on topics was next in order, the responses being as follows:

Topic 1.—"Should the waterworks and fire alarm systems be the property of the city?"

New Ulm—The end of fire protection at the least possible cost is attained by city ownership of the waterworks, which plan is also conducive to harmony and a concentration of responsibility.

New Prague—Also in the affirmative.

Topic 2.—"What is the most practical system of water supply for city or village, with estimate cost per foot?"

Zumbrota—For villages and smaller cities is a standpipe backed with a good steam fire pump. Zumbrota has 150,000 gallon reservoir at a sufficient elevation to give eight-five pounds pressure at all times. Water is pumped into the reservoir by fire pump, which is also available in case of a protracted fire. Cost of entire system, $8000.

Northfield—Practically the same system, which gives perfect satisfaction.

Topic 3.—"The best plan to extinguish a fire in cellar stored with oil, when the only entrance to the same is on the inside of the building?"

St. Paul—Given, a large cellar without partitions, with oil in barrels and a large fire in progress, would make an opening in the floor as near as safety would permit, close all other openings, insert a pipe known as cellar pipe and flood cellar, playing water against joists and lower floor. If fire breaks through floor, flood it. When fire is under control make all openings possible, for escape of gas and smoke and use chemical fluids. The practice of flooding prevents generation of gas. Water must not be used after oil begins to escape from place of confinement. Recommends statutes prohibiting storing of oil in cellars.

South St. Paul—If fire is in incipient stage, smothering by dry sand or wet blankets. If beyond that stage, chemicals or steam are the best agents.

GASOLINE STOVES.

Topic 4.—"Are coal oil and gasoline stoves hazardous, and should they be permitted for general use only by permit from proper authorities?"

Rochester—Yes, but would suggest no method of inspection.

Topic 5.—"Are our state laws governing the handling and storing of explosives properly enforced?"

Springfield—Yes, so far as record of casualties justifies a conclusion. Recommends adoption of ordinance, specific and stringent in nature, where no such regulations now exist.

Willmar—Fairly well. The Standard Oil company is believed to be violating in many instances Sections 1088 and 1299, laws 1894, relating to storage within corporate limits.

Stephen—Stringent laws should be passed and enforced to the letter.

Topic 6.—"Should fire insurance companies contribute to the support and maintenance of volunteer fire companies?"

Royalton—Emphatically, yes.

Rush City—Yes.

The committee on transportation had returned from its fishing expedition by this time and it made its report. In it, thanks were extended Messrs. Greatsinger, McBride and Philbin for special favors extended by their roads.

Vice President Lafond announced to the convention the receipt of a dispatch by Chief Black conveying intelligence of the sudden death of P. E. Russell, of Anoka, an honorary life member of the association. O. L. Cutler, W. M. Brackett and R. O. Strong were named as a committee to draft and report resolutions appropriate to the said occasion.

It was resolved to grant further time to those who had not reported on topics, the answers to be in prior to the publication of the annual report, otherwise the usual penalty to be enforced.

The convention adjourned at noon until 2 p. m.

CONVENTION NOTES.

The delegation from Alexandria came in like an army with banners. There are thirty-two in the party of whom six are delegates. They traveled to Duluth in a special car, bearing the legend: "From Alexandria in the Park Region to Duluth by the Inland Sea." The party left Alexandria at noon of June 8, arriving here at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. All of its members express themselves as being highly pleased with their reception and entertainment.

The entertainment committee took a party of convention visitors, numbering seventy-five, for a ride on the boulevard and a visit to the High School this forenoon. In the afternoon, a trip to Lester Park was made in cars chartered for the occasion.

The fireman who attracted the most attention in the parade last evening was John T. Black, Jr., aged 3½ years, who rode with his father, the chief. At one point in the parade, a number of youngsters ran alongside the chief's buggy, talking to the young man. Their attention finally wearied him and he remarked with a dignified air: "I wish you boys would go home; it is time you were in bed."

Rochester, whose delegates were inadvertently omitted by the committee on credentials from its report, is represented by D. McGuire, chief; T. H. Amberger and J. E. Gemmell.

An invitation to the delegates to attend a firemen's convention to be held in Salt Lake City on Aug. 10 was received. Treasurer Joy said it might be a good thing for the single men to go as, he understood, since the abolition of polygamy, that section was long on women and short on men.

The program for tomorrow is as follows:

9 to 12 a. m.—Business session.

10 a. m. to 1:30 p. m.—Steamer Henrietta leaves Fifth avenue west for Zenith park, leaving the park on return trips at 5:30 and 8:30 p. m.

THE FESTIVAL CONCERT.

Fine Program Presented By Mr. Lachmund's Pupils.

Ernest Lachmund's annual festival concert was given at the Lyceum last evening. The audience was large, sympathetic and appreciative, and the entertainment was a thorough success. The program was large and varied, and everyone, pupil and master alike, did his or her own best. The result was a very charming concert. The first part was entirely composed of pupils' numbers, and their work was a credit not only to themselves but to the care and skill of their perceptor.

In this very interesting part of the program the following pupils took part: Bertha Van Benschotin, Eleanor Pineo, Harry Ammerman, Kate Headley, Helen Smith, Gertrude Voss, Edna Boyle, Mildred Cleland, Helen Spencer, Eva Willcuts, Emma Mueller, Ray Leland, Louise Cappel, Lizzie Sharvy, Cornelle Smith, Mae Kennedy and Daisy Butchart. The numbers consisted of a duo of 12 hands, two duos of 8 hands and a trio of six hands, all of which were warmly received.

The second part consisted entirely of Mr. Lachmund's own compositions, and it was especially well received by the audience. The first number was a "Romanze," a concerted number with 'cello solo by Mr. Lachmund and accompaniments for strings, flute and 'cello in which Messrs. Oelschlager, Trautvetter, Peck, Lignell, Willard and Miss Palmer took part. The composition is spirited and beautiful, and it was immensely pleasing. A charming number was that by Mark C. Baker accompanied by Mrs. John Loman. He gave two pleasing songs by Mr. Lachmund, "Slumber Song" and "Happiness," and was heartily applauded.

Miss Winnifred Holmes and Mr. Lachmund gave a piano duet which was well received, and Minnie Vial gave a double number, a melody by Mr. Lachmund, and E. A. McDowell's "Elfentanz" the latter by request.

In the third part the pupils again participated. A charming number was a fantasia by Czerny for four pianos in which Mrs. Moer, Mrs. O. W. Baldwin, Bernice Crowley and Dorothy Nichols took part. Miss Winifred Holmes gave Saint-Saens rhapsodie "D'Auvergnes" Op. 7, a most delightful composition excellently rendered. The Hayden trio, Dorothy Nichols, piano; Clara Palmer, violin, and Virginia Willcuts, 'cello, gave Hayden's "Gypsie Rondo" and were heartily applauded. A fantasie by Coop was performed by Alice Ammerman, Jessie Cooley, Alice Cooley, Mary Scott and Mildred Downie. Cornelle Smith gave Moszkowski's "Spanish Dance," and the following pupils gave an overture by Rossini: Annie Tupper, Kate Kingman, Minnie Vial, Minnie McLean, Mattie Lester and Edward Koors.

A PATHETIC BALLAD.

Hutchinson (Kas.) Clipper: Father, dear father, come home with me now, for ma has some carpets to beat; she's got all the furniture out in the yard, from the front door clean out to the street. The stoves must come down and be put in the shed, and the yard must be cleared of some grass, for it's time to clean house and the devil's to pay—and the front windows need some new glass. Father, dear father, come home with me now, and bring some bologna and cheese, it's most 12 o'clock and there's nothing to eat—I'm so hungry I'm weak in the knees. All the dinner we'll have will be cold scraps and such, and we'll have to eat standing up, too, for the table and all are out in the back, oh, I wish that housecleaning was through. Father, dear father, come home with me now, for ma is as mad as a Turk; she says that you're only a lazy old thing, and that she shall put you to work. There's painting to do and paper to hang, and the windows and casing to scrub, for it's housecleaning time and you've got to come home and revel in suds and cold grub.

A CHEERFUL LANDLORD.

Washington Star: "I stopped at a very small town in Kansas a few weeks ago," said L. M. Martinez, of Chicago, at the Raleigh. "I had been in the place once before and knew where the hotel was. It was late at night when I got off the train and went to the hotel. After repeated knocking and shaking the door the landlord came down and let me in. The next morning breakfast was not ready when I got up, but the landlord was in a good humor about it, saying: 'Everybody is sick about the house. You are the only guest, so I didn't get breakfast ready.' He went out into the kitchen, and in half an hour served a very good meal for me. I found that my customer was out of town, so had nothing to do but stay around the hotel all day. The landlord, got dinner and supper for me, and I asked, 'Who is sick?'

"'My wife, two children, the cook, the waiter, and the porter.'

"'I should think you would get some one else.'

"'Can't. They won't come.'

"'Why?'

"'They are all afraid of the smallpox. I'm the only one who hasn't got it, and I feel the symptoms. I'll be in bed tomorrow, but I think the porter will be well enough to run the hotel by that time. He is sitting up today.'

"I paid my bill very suddenly and put myself under medical treatment when I reached the next town."

ABOUT DREAMS.

You dream, of course, but do you know that there is good luck in dreams, and that there is misfortune, too? Here is an interesting and authoritative catalogue of the things that dreams portend, compiled from the observations of philosophers of all ages, says the New York Journal:

To dream of seeing a wraith, or of seeing your face in water, or of being married, is said to mean death of a very severe illness. Also, to dream of the devil indicates illness, sometimes followed by death, and to the sick it foretells certain death. If one's teeth fall out in a dream, or one finds oneself eating very heartily of food, illness will follow. To dream of the dead signifies that you will have news of moment from the living. A funeral foretells an inheritance of money, or a wedding; and to dream of being buried signifies the gaining of a large amount of wealth.

Snakes are always the sign of enemies, or a false sweetheart; so are caterpillars and flies, and to kill them is a good sign. A cat signifies a false friend, or an affliction if it scratch and bite, whereas a dog, unless he bites you, is always a good friend.

To walk in a garden and pick flowers, or to be surrounded by flowers in season, is a sign of some good fortune or unexpected happiness. To walk in an orchard full of bloom or of fruit, signifies that you will receive a sum of money, or, if unmarried, that you are about to make a happy marriage. But beware of eating an apple in your sleep, for it means that you will be very angry. Cherries foretell a disappointment in love or in a friend. Grapes insure gain, figs in season stand for an unexpected pleasure, but the eating of nuts foretells a quarrel with a friend.

Much as silver and gold may appeal to the life of reality, they portend ill fortune in the dream life. To be the possessor of a lot of silver coins presages a loss of something of value, or that you will want for money, while gold signifies a loss of a friend. Paper money, on the contrary, is a good sign, meaning you will be fortunate in a business enterprise or some undertaking.

To eat from silver or gold dishes, means an inheritance from relatives; if one's clothes are trimmed with gold, it signifies an honor. Jewels are always fortunate; the wearing of jewels, especially diamonds, portends that some very good fortune is in store; pearls, however, mean tears, and opals the loss of a friend or death.

To be dressed in silk and finery, if all parts of the costume match in splendor, is a sign that an unexpected honor will soon make you famous. If you are dressed in clean linen, you will have a letter with good news, while soiled garments signify a disappointment; to be dressed in rags or velvet means a purse full of money. Trouble and disappointment will follow the person who dreams of walking in mud, and great trouble if the mud clings to the shoes or garments. Muddy water surrounding one signifies worriment of mind, while clear water, either drinking, seeing, or bathing in it, is a most propitious dream. To drink white wine or milk means a present.

Playing at cards, if you are lucky, foretells for woman that she will soon have a new lover, or much admiration, while for man, it means that he is about to fall in love. It is good fortune to dream that a man kisses you—it means a favor at the hands of a friend—but the kiss of a woman foretells that an untruth will be told about you.

To dream of fowls signifies some damage to one's belongings; geese, however, bring good luck, and birds pleasant news. To see a lot of frogs means you will be in the company of flatterers or false friends. Monkeys mean malicious persons. To dream of goats means an accident, either at sea, or upon a journey. To see horses signifies meeting with friends; if they are running, you will have hasty news.

A white horse is the bearer of good news, so, also, is good music, and the reading of newspapers or letters. A black horse portends bad news. If you are driving horses, you are about to take up some work very successfully; if you are mounted upon a horse, you are about to make a successful change of some kind. To dream of fire presages hasty news, usually a telegram, and to dream of falling from a high place signifies danger by fire.

Mountains or high places are vexatious unless you come to the top, when you will accomplish what you next set out to do. To be out in a rain or under lowering skies, is fortunate for the dreamer, but a rainbow promises some changes in your life for the better. To dream of washing means a change, generally a moving.

You may look for quarrels with your lover if you dream of salt, and with your friends when you dream of knives. To see one you love, drunken, is the best of signs; it means some prosperous undertaking. To be drunk yourself means unhappiness, or that you will find yourself in a disagreeable position. Keys are a loss by robbery to a woman, but mean some new possession to a man. Iron foretells a misfortune.

To be hungry, very hungry, foretells sudden cessation of riches. A house of mourning means a house of feasting, a wedding denotes a funeral, laughter denotes tears.

Perhaps the most fortunate dream of all is the bees; they signify the gratification of every desire unless they turn and sting you, which means that you have many difficulties to overcome in order to realize your ambitions. A dream of bees was said to follow Napoleon the Great, who, for that reason, as well as the fact of their diligence, adopted them as his favorite insignia.

The Whaleback Barge No. 131 Has Been Pulled Off the Sand.

She is Practically Uninjured and is Loading Ore at Ashland.

Many Escanaba Vessels Are After Cargoes and the Rate May Drop.

Ashland, Wis., June 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steamer Colgate and tugs arrived at the Central ore docks last night with whaleback barge 131, having succeeded in pulling her off the sand yesterday afternoon. Superintendent Corlis surveyed the barge and pronounced her practically uninjured, and she is being loaded with ore this morning. The Colgate and tugs have gone after the other barge, and the captain thinks he can get her afloat also.

ESCANABA RATE MAY DROP.

Cleveland, June 10.—(Special to The Herald.)—The number of Escanaba vessels seeking cargoes is large, and any further weakness in Chicago grain will certainly cause a drop in the Escanaba rate. The coal situation is weak all around.

VESSELS CAN LOAD DEEPED.

About Aug. 1, says the Sault Ste. Marie News, vessels drawing from 18 to 19 feet can navigate the St. Mary's river with safety, that is by passing through the Canadian ship canal. While this may be a good thing for Canada, it will prove disastrous for the American canal, as it is a certainty that the larger craft loading to the depth of the limit cannot use either of the American locks, notwithstanding that there will be twenty feet of water over the miter sill of the new one. The reason for this is that there is an obstruction in the canal near its head—the sill of the moveable dam, which reaches clear across the channel. At normal stages there is never more than 16 feet 6 inches of water over the sill. The sill of the movable dam will not be removed until next year. At Sailors' Encampment the 21-foot channel will be completed by Aug. 1, and perhaps sooner, when vessels can pass through the Canadian lock and canal on a draught of 19 feet 6 inches.

PORT OF DULUTH.

Arrived—Sacramento, Abyssinia, City of Naples, Uganda, John Mitchell, barge 130, C. F. Bielman, A. A. Parker, B. W. Parker, Frontenac, Lake Erie, coal; Spokane, Lake Erie, light for ore; Northern Queen, Lake Erie, light for flour; India, Buffalo, pass and flour; Kearsarge, Mahoning, Buffalo, light for grain.

Departed—S. C. Reynolds, Nyanza, Spencer, Pennington, Kaiahdin, Ashland, light for ore; Badger State, Montana, T. W. Nicholas, Buffalo, flour; Monarch, Sarnia, pass and flour; Onoko, J. B. Trevor, barges 105, 126, Sheldon, Negaunee, Thomas Maytham, Kirby, Hartnell, Livingstone, Thomas W. Palmer, Spokane, Lake Erie, ore; S. O. barges 75, 76, South Chicago, light.

MARINE NOTES.

The tug Ray returned to Ashland yesterday afternoon from the whaleback barges 104 and 134, ashore on Madeline island. The barges were found in water only two feet deep. Both are right side up and seemed to be uninjured, though each is embedded in sand.

The steamer Fitzhugh, of the tow of the steamer Waverly, lost her deck load of lumber in the blow, and the rest of her cargo shifted so that she was badly disabled. She will be put in shape so she can continue her voyage.

Duluth clearances—Livingstone, 2100 tons ore; Negaunee, 1100 tons ore; Sheldon, 1000 tons ore, Buffalo; Monarch, 10,521 bushels wheat, 8890 barrels flour, Sarnia.

The Inman tug W. B. Castle left early this morning for Madeline island to release the stranded whalebacks. The tug Corona will go on the same errand tonight.

The steamer W. H. Gilbert is in dry dock with a small leak. She will be out about Friday.

OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.

Southampton — Arrived: Steamer Spree, New York, for Bremen.

SLEEP IN COFFINS.

A Strange Sect in Montreal, Canada.

In all the world, probably, there is no body of religious enthusiasts whose regimen is so severe as that of the Aubins, of Montreal, says the New York Journal. Deprived of every suggestion of comfort, they sleep at night, not in beds, even of the hardest sort; not on a pallet of straw, not even on a bare board, such as pious monks of the middle ages used, but in coffins, narrow and grim and black. These gruesome resting places are not cushioned or even lined, and year in and year out the devotees occupy them, for the betterment of their souls and a more thorough forgetting of the vanities of the world.

They subsist upon bread and water, and, to vary the weird monotony of such living, they spend hours of each day kneeling in prayer, about an altar in a darkened chapel, their necks laden with chains of great weight. The austerities prescribed by the rules even of the Carmelite nuns are trivial compared with what these women undergo.

This strangest of all religious companies was founded by a Dr. Jacques, a graduate of the Victorian School of Medicine. Years ago, when the smallpox epidemic filled off hundreds of the people of Montreal, Dr. Jacques had among his 1500 patients the family of Aubin.

They were persons of good social standing, but after the disappearance of the smallpox they set about the fulfillment of vows they had made during sickness. Father, mother and five daughters, they withdrew entirely from the world, and live now in the house of Dr. Jacques, who, himself, is the head of the company.

The upper floor of the house is divided into rooms, or cells, bare of carpets or of furniture, save the unsightly coffins, plain, unpainted tables and tin washbasins. There is not a single article of bedding or of raiment, and no ornamentation except the images, to which prayer is said. In the room used for purposes of regular worship there stands, in the shadow of the altar, a post, with heavy chains hanging from it.

The prime motive of these recluses is to intercede for the souls of their sisters of the world whom destiny has thrown in the way of temptation. So, when the social season arrives, when parties, balls and festivals are in progress, when the word comes to them from the outside world that the spirit of carnival is abroad, and temptation and danger go hand in hand to waylay and destroy the souls of men and women, then, in the Aubin household, all the rigors and deprivations of monastic life are redoubled and the cloistered family, with their learned preceptor, Dr. Jacques, fast faithfully and spend hours of each day upon their knees in urgent prayer, their necks weighted with the heavy ox chains, in exaggerated token of humility and self-abasement. Even in the fierce cold of a Canadian winter they have no fires in their cells.

MATHEMATICS AND LOVE.

Bankers' Encyclopedia Monthly: "I wish," said the young man, as the twilight deepened, "I could believe you loved me as much as I love you."

"That," replied the college maiden, "is simplicity itself. Suppose I demonstrate it to you mathematically?"

"Well," he responded, somewhat doubtfully.

"You and I," continued Miss Axiom, "belong to a social circle, do we not?"

"Yes," he assented.

"Consequently," said she, "we might call ourselves radii of that circle."

The young man nodded.

"Two radii of a circle are equal to a third radius of the same circle."

He did not contradict her.

"It is established beyond all possible dispute that things which are equal to the same thing are equal to one another."

The young man was interested, but still puzzled.

"Now," she concluded in triumph, "if you and I are both equal to an unknown quantity, which we will call X"——

"What is X?" he interrupted.

"Our love for each other," was the prompt reply.

"Oh," he said, satisfied.

"If," she repeated, "you and I are both equal to X, our mutual love, then, as things which are equal to the same thing are equal to one another, I must love you in the same ratio that you love me."

And he was so satisfied that, not needing any more light on the subject, the gas was not illuminated for fully two gas was not illuminated for fully two hours.

ARRIVALS

Delegates to the National Republican Convention Arriving in St. Louis.

Senator Thurston Favors Hobart, of New Jersey, For Vice President.

Says He Would Make a Good Running Mate For McKinley.

St. Louis, Mo., June 10.—Senator Thurston, member of the national Republican committee from Nebraska, and delegate to the convention, was among the early arrivals today. He appeared at the breakfast table wearing the first presidential and vice presidential badge which has been displayed by any of the Republican leaders. It bore the faces of McKinley, and Hobart, of New Jersey. "It is pretty well understood," said the senator, "that I am for McKinley for first place. With his nomination assured, as it is," the senator continued, "we we want an Eastern man as his running mate, and I believe Hobart to be the available man. He meets the requirements of the situation in all respects. We want to keep New Jersey in the Republican ranks now that we have it there. Furthermore, Hobart is strong in New York, where he is personally well known and much esteemed."

The senator expressed the opinion that the Indiana platform would be satisfactory to all the Western states, except the five silver-producing states, Colorado, Utah, Montana, Idaho and Nevada, and possibly Wyoming, but, he said, that as they have all told only nineteen votes in the electoral college, the party could afford to lose them. Mr. Thurston said in reply to a question, that he had no doubt that some of the delegates from the Eastern seaboard would make a strong contention for a free silver declaration, but pronounced expiled declaration for gold, but that it would not be wise to concede their extreme demands. "They will in the end be satisfied with a conservative pronouncement," he said, "and they will be glad enough to take it in preference to the unequivocal free silver declaration the Chicago convention will give out."

In the forthcoming analysis of the situation as to the financial plank of the platform seems to indicate that a straddle will not be popular. It has resulted in a study of the loss and gain. The belief of many leading Republicans is, that in case of a straddle in the platform here, and a free coinage declaration at Chicago, the gold Democrats would put up a candidate and carry some of the Eastern states. A straddle to hold the silver states, the leaders now here say, would lose New York, New Jersey and Connecticut in case a gold Democrat was in the field. The silver men declare that no straddle the Republicans could adopt would hold Colorado, and such states as Idaho; a combination of Democrats and Republicans on a free silver platform.

The figuring is being done on the basis of the electoral college, and it is declared that the only logical and candid way will be to condemn free coinage and declare in unmistakable terms for the present standard. The phraseology plain, unpainted tables and tin washbasins. There is not a single article of bedding or of raiment, and no ornamentation except the images, to which prayer is said. In the room used for purposes of regular worship there stands, in the shadow of the altar, a post, with heavy chains hanging from it.

JUDGING BY FACES.

Your True Condition Can Be Told By This Most Infallible Means.

The face is a true index to the state of the health and a person's looks will always show when anything serious is the matter. For instance, the signs of a run-down system are plainly indicated by wrinkled brows, a pale or sallow complexion, dullness of the eyes, bad breath, dark circles under the eyes, twitching of the muscles and a tired, miserable expression.

There are thousands of men and women who bear these signs of ill health in their faces. We meet them in the streets, in the cars, at church and elsewhere. All of them show the imprint of sickness, unhappiness and misery. Ask them if anything ails them, and in most cases they will tell you they suffer from tired feelings, strange sensations, dyspepsia, constipation and loss of vitality.

But is there no way for such people to change their sickly appearance into looks of health and vigor? Yes, but not without help. Nature requires and must have assistance. The system needs stimulating, strengthening and building up. How? Simply by the use of a pure, medicinal stimulant, and for this purpose there is nothing better than pure malt whisky. Leading physicians and scientific men have declared this fact and it has also been proved by experience that no whisky is so pure and strengthening as Duffy's pure malt. It stimulates healthfully, feeds the wasted tissues, quickens the circulation and invigorates the whole body. All grocers and druggists keep Duffy's pure malt, but in purchasing see that you get no inferior imitation. Accept only the genuine, for nothing else can produce the same effects.

STAGE DECEITS.

How Some Peculiar Sounds Are Produced.

Pearson's Weekly: The orchestra attached to the theater which is in the habit of playing realistic drama, thus introducing upon the boards steam engines, ships, race horses and similar startling novelties, use some very queer instruments whereby certain sounds necessary to the surroundings of the scene may be successfully produced.

Take for instance the roaring of a lion. None of the ordinary brass instruments will give this effect. To produce the desired sound a special apparatus must be used, technically known as a "lion roarer." This is a large trumpet-shaped instrument, usually made of sheet iron. Two thin tongues of tin run down the middle, which, when the instrument is blown, vibrate and produce an excellent counterfeit of a lion's roar.

Instruments which imitate the notes of birds are to be found in most orchestras. A wooden tube, down the middle of which runs a reed, joined to a thin cup, is used for imitating the crow of a cock. The note of a cuckoo is likewise produced by a reed instrument; while some short time ago an ingenious piece of mechanism was brought out whereupon the notes of a lark, linnet, and the finches could be imitated to the life.

To produce the effect of a horse galloping along a road several contrivances exist. One way, as simple as it is effective, is to take cocoanut shells cut in half, and strike them upon some hard surface; but some orchestras can boast of specially made instruments for this purpose. These are wooden blocks cut into the shape of a horse's hoof to which real horse shoes are attached, and this somewhat queer contrivance is played by striking the shoes upon a piece of marble or stone.

One would have thought the bagpipe, with all its horrors of discordance, might have escaped imitation. Yet such is nowise the case. A very excellent imitation, we are informed, can be produced by means of a brass horn with a gradually narrowing bore, the instrument being furnished with finger-holes, and played after the manner of a flageolet.

One of the most ingenious and successful contrivances for imitating the sound of a puffing engine, an effect which, in the provinces, invariably brings down the house, is as follows: The player holds in each hand an implement something like a brick, composed of steel wires, and in order to produce the puff-puff of a locomotive, strikes a semi-cylinder of sheet-iron with each alternately. When the train first starts the operator strikes slowly, and gradually increases the pace until, when the engine is supposed to have got up steam, he strikes the cylinder as quickly as he can.

The noise made by the screw of a steamboat, as well as the puffing of a locomotive, has also been successfully produced by the aid of a special instrument.

AN ADMIRABLE HOTEL.

The following unique advertisement has been prepared by the humorist of the Puyallup (Wash.) Commerce, and is among the standing matter at the head of editorial and just beneath a cut of the Egyptian pyramids:

"The famous Paradist Park hotel takes pleasure in announcing that it will open up as soon as the snow melts down to fourteen feet. Delightfully located on the instep of old Mount Tacoma-Ranier-Puyallup, 14,444 miles high. No flies, no fleas, no bugs. No stagnant air climate. Guests have the privilege of doing their own washing if so bent. Fine fir board. Fresh frost cake every morning—frost right off the grass. No xtra charge for standing in the kitchen door and seeing New York and other Eastern villages. Free sidewalk to and from the house, and drinking water free to guests xcept in July, August and September. No mortgages.

"Scenery everywhere. No xtra charge for scenery, xcept special sun-ups that have to be xpedited with special xplosives.

"Only twenty-seven miles across the ridge to Lard Valley, where sugar-cured hams of mountain goats grow on the trees.

"Among the distinguished tourists hoped for this year are Owen Wister, W. D. Howells, Professor Charles E. Norton, Theodore Roosevelt, Frederick Remington and Maj. McKinley.

"If Senator Squire gets through his bill to make a national park of it, he will also be welcome; otherwise otherwise.)

"Now is the time to telegraf for front bay windows, with glaciers right under them.

"No dogs, children or kranks allowed."

THE SUN'S DISTANCE.

"The sun is about 93,000,000 of miles distant from the earth," writes Alden W. Quimby in June Ladies' Home Journal. "It varies through the year because the earth's orbit is elliptical, and the sun is at the focus of the ellipse. The earth is more than 3,000,000 of miles nearer the sun in December than in June, at which time the latitudes south of the equator receive his direct rays and experience the great heat of their summer.

"Let us try to comprehend the figures stated. The other day two racers of the sea proudly lowered the record of trans-Atlantic passage. Could they turn their prows to the sun, and drive their great engines day and night in the crossing of the other main, it would be 500 years before they could reach harbor.

"Most persons have noticed the appreciable interval of time between the stroke of an ax at a distance and the resultant sound; could we hear the sound of a solar explosion we would know that the explosion had occurred fourteen years before. Perhaps the most striking illustration is that which imagines a little child to have an arm long enough to reach the sun. The child might thrust its fingers into the seething fires, but it would grow up to maturity, and calmly descend into the valley of extreme old age, blissfully unconscious of any pain from the burning; in fact, it would require another such a lifetime to bring the news to the brain."

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made, executed and delivered by Scargill Wakelin and Mary Wakelin, his wife, of the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, mortgagors, to Homestead Building and Loan Association, of the same place, mortgagee, dated the eighteenth (18th) day of February, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the twenty-seventh (27th) day of February, A. D. 1889, at the hour of two (2) o'clock in the afternoon of said day, in Book M of mortgages on page one hundred and thirty-one (131).

And whereas there is claimed to be due and is now due on said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of two hundred and ninety-eight and 83-100 dollars ($298.83), and no proceeding or action has been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and of the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of the premises therein described, at public vendue by the sheriff of the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, at the front door of the district court house of said county, in the city of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, on Friday, the twenty-fourth (24th) day of July, A. D. 1896, at ten (10) o'clock in the forenoon of said day, to satisfy the amount which shall then be due on said mortgage, with interest thereon and the costs and disbursements of the sale and twenty-five ($25.00) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage in case of foreclosure.

The premises described in said mortgage and so to be sold are the tracts and parcels of land lying and being in the city of Duluth, St. Louis County and state of Minnesota, known and described as follows, to-wit: Lots numbered two (2) and three (3), in block "A," in the Endion Division of Duluth, according to the plat of said division filed in the office of the register of deeds in and for St. Louis County.

Dated Duluth, Minn., June 6th, 1896.

PROTEST

Northern Pacific Railway Contemplates a Radical Change of Time.

The Train Going West to Leave Early in the Afternoon.

Board of Trade Men Are Seriously Affected and Strongly Object.

The Northern Pacific railway is about to inaugurate a change of time for the train to the West out of Duluth. At the present time it leaves here at 7:30 p. m. This does not give a connection with the westbound through train out of St. Paul and this the road claims it must have. It has therefore been decided to change the time of leaving Duluth to 2 p. m. The date for the change to go into effect has not yet been given out. The announcement that this is to be done has been received by the board of trade men with dismay. It would injure their business beyond calculation. The cannot make up the mail after the board closes in time to catch a 2 o'clock train and this would cause a twenty-four hours' delay which their clients in the West would seriously object to. This morning the members of the board passed the following resolution:

Resolved, that we the members of the Duluth board of trade hereby enter our protest against the proposed change in time for the western train on the Northern Pacific road leaving Duluth from 7 o'clock p. m. to 2 o'clock p. m. Such change would work almost irreparable damage to the Western business interests of this board as it would cause a delay of twenty-four hours to the majority of the mail for our customers and patrons. We therefore urge upon the authorities of the Northern Pacific Railroad company that the contemplated change be abandoned.

A petition to the same effect was also circulated and these will be forwarded to the road officials.

LAND DECISIONS.

Rulings By the General Office and Secretary.

Decisions were rendered by Acting Commissioner Best in two "special hearing" cases today, and Register Taylor reversed and Receiver Ryan sustained in each. The cases decided were those of William E. Steinmetz, involving w½ of se¼ of ne¼ of sw¼ and se¼ and nw¼ of section 20-51-3, and Lewis Steinmetz, involving e½ of nw¼ and lot 3, of section 18 and se¼ of sw¼ of section 7-61-3. The register decided against the claimants and the receiver for them, the latter being affirmed.

In the case of Margaret Monaghan vs. Finley Morrison and G. W. Armstrong, the register is reversed and the receiver sustained. The defendants were pre-emption claimants and the plaintiff filed a homestead over them. Receiver Ryan decided for the pre-emptors, the original settlers who are living on the land, and is affirmed. The land involved is the sw¼ of se¼ and e½ of sw¼ of section 1 and nw¼ of ne¼ of section 12-50-8. Miss Monaghan paid $200 for the minutes to the land and supposed when she bought it that it was unoccupied.

Secretary Hoke Smith has rendered a decision on the appeal of J. Coleman O'Malley from the order of the general land office denying him the privilege of readvertising his final proof on timber and stone application to purchase the s½ of nw¼ of section 2 and the s½ of ne¼ of section 3-67-21. The secretary allows him to readvertise in the absence of any protest or adverse claim.

The secretary also gives a decision sustaining the commissioner of the general land office and the local officers in the case of Peter Nowak vs. William G. Clark, involving the w½ of nw¼ of section 19-52-16, Nowak made the homestead entry and Clark the timber and stone. The decision is for Clark.

Acting Commissioner E. F. Best has given a decision in the case of Peter Friberg vs. Lulu Smith, involving lot 7 and sw¼ of sw¼ of section 26-57-18. Lulu Smith made a homestead entry and Friberg contested it claiming she had abandoned the land. The contest was sustained by the local officers and this decision is affirmed.

THE PINKMAN ESTATE.

F. E. Pinkman Objected to For Administrator.

The application of Fred Pinkman to be appointed administrator of the estate of Edward E. Pinkman, the well-known explorer, who committed suicide a few weeks ago, came up in probate court yesterday. The hearing was postponed until after the Gray estate is disposed of. Ellenora Gray, the woman with whom Pinkman was living when he committed suicide, filed a protest to the appointment of Fred Pinkman as administrator. She said that she was married to Pinkman in May, 1885, and lived with him as his wife up to the time of his death, eleven years in all. She claimed that as his wife she was entitled to name the administrator, and she asked the appointment of L. H. Corcoran. She stated further that she did not believe that the interests of herself or the creditors of the estate would be served if the deceased's brother was appointed.

Six creditors also objected to the appointment of Fred Pinkman, on the ground that he was not a fit person for the position. They alleged that before his death Pinkman transferred about all his property to his brother, who transferred it to his wife, with the intention of protecting it from the demands of the creditors.

MORE BARGAINS FOR THE PEOPLE AT THE HEAD OF THE LAKES.

Mr. Panton, of the big Glass Block store, returned from Chicago this morning, and reports business in the Windy City very quiet. So much so that the jobbers and commission houses are accepting any reasonable offer for their surplus stocks. He says within a day or two the people will be treated to some great bargains in silks, wash goods, shirt waists, millinery, etc.

The Alabama Land company will give an excursion to Fruithurst, June 23. Tickets furnished at office, 205 Providence building.

Yourself and friends are invited to hear the Chicago orchestra at Ideal Beer Hall tonight. Admission free.

TREE DAY EXERCISES.

Pleasing Entertainment at Maynard School Yesterday.

The tree day exercises at Maynard school yesterday afternoon were pleasing and beautiful beyond all anticipations, and were witnessed by a great number of people. They were held on the campus in front of the school building. The grounds were prettily decorated and the arrangements were perfect in all details. Previous to the exercises the class of '96 planted a tree.

The form of the exercises was original and unique, being a "modern masque" or carnival, intended to symbolize the foundation and growth of the city of Duluth. Miss Blanche Marot, the vocal teacher, sang a poem, composed by one of the teachers, which described the progress of the city. The pupils of the school illustrated the poem as she sang.

"Nature" was first presented by a group of pupils dressed in green and trimmed with leaves. They presented the idea of the forest primeval which but a few years ago covered the spot where the city now stands.

Next came six young ladies in Indian costume, with all the paint and fuss and feathers that a full-blooded Chippewa or Sioux brave could desire. They carried bows and arrows and were decidedly picturesque in appearance.

The pioneers then appeared on the scene, coming in the emigrant train, wearing slouch hats and with their trousers tucked in their boots. The kindergarten boys personified the pioneers. One carried an ax, and the erection of a little log cabin quickly followed. This marked the beginning of civilization's entry upon the scene, and following it the shipping, milling, lumber and ore interests were typified.

The educational progress of the city was presented last, and this feature was illustrated by the seniors arrayed in Oxford gowns of white, with lavender robes and student caps. The "Dance to Athena" closed the masque.

The class day exercises of the seniors followed and were highly entertaining. A platform with a canopy had been erected, and from this the papers were read and addresses delivered. All were very bright and clever and reflected great credit on the class.

Miss Cora Lyon Hubbell, class president, welcomed the people in a very charming manner, speaking of the occasion which had brought them there and the pleasure which the class felt in their presence.

Miss Katherine Watrous Ensign read "The History of the Class of '96," and it was exceptionally clever. It contained many hits and recited the trials and troubles of Maynard girls in a very amusing manner. She spoke of the cyclonic disturbance which seemed, somehow, to always come in vacation week, and repeated many of the class jokes.

The class prophecy by Miss Nellie Stikeel Wolvin was also very excellent. It mapped out the future of the class members in a way which caused considerable merriment.

"The Address to the Undergraduates" was delivered by Miss Leslie Mitchell, and it contained much advice and considerable warning, as well as some wise words for the members of the class of '97, who received it with proper respect.

Miss Bertha Hansard Wilson delivered an "Address to the Spade." The class tree was planted with this, and Miss Wilson tenderly entrusted it to the class of '97, with some advice as to its care.

Miss Bessie Shores, of the class of '97, to whom fell the task of receiving the spade, evidently thought that considerable gratuitous and patronizing advice had been given the undergraduates, and so informed the class of '96 in a very clever speech. It was one of the hits of the afternoon and pleased the crowd immensely.

The class poem by L. Louise Hubbell was a gem. It was full of clever hits at the class members, the school and the teachers, and received much applause.

Misses Maude Muller Barileson and Mayme Florence McDougall were field marshals and escorted the young ladies who spoke to and from the platform, and in general looked after the entire details of the exercises.

Following the reading of the class poem the seniors filed into the building and reappeared carrying their books bound in red ribbons. These were piled together and burned up and the ashes scattered to the four winds of the heavens.

Tonight the commencement exercises will be held. Rev. John Paul Sgbert, of St. Paul, will deliver the address. Extra cars will leave the Spalding corner at 7:10, 7:20 and 7:30 o'clock.

ST. LOUIS

Gossip About the Work of the Big Republican Convention.

Growing Strength of Hobart For Second Place on the Ticket.

All Sorts of Schemes to Produce a Popular Platform Are Heard.

St. Louis, Mo., June 11.—None of the large delegations have arrived in the city yet. The delegates now in the city are simply those who have come ahead of the state delegations to arrange matters, or the delegations from states where there may be contests. By Saturday or Sunday night the big delegations will arrive. New York is expected Sunday night, as also Ohio and Pennsylvania. Illinois will be here Monday. They are expected on special trains with brass bands and banners, and propose to wake the dead when they get here. The Blaine club, of Cincinnati, with 600 rooters for McKinley, will come on a decorated train Sunday night.

A second special train will bring 500 members of the Lincoln club of the same place. Senator Foraker and the Cincinnati end of the delegation will come on this train. The Lincoln club, of Toledo, will also arrive Sunday night with 300 shouters for McKinley. Most of the Ohio delegation will come on this train. Among them will be James B. Garfield and Web Hayes, sons of former presidents. The Tippecanoe club, of Cleveland, with 700 howlers, will arrive either Sunday night or Monday morning. The Buckeye club, of Ohio, with Governor Bushnell and staff and many delegates, will arrive Sunday night.

The Topeka Flambeau club, with their red paint and light, will be here Monday. The McKinley clubs of Chicago, Ind., Detroit, Mich., Minneapolis, Chicago and Leavenworth, Kan., will arrive Sunday night. The Marquette club, of Chicago, will get in on Monday morning, and the American club, of Pittsburg, will arrive either Sunday night or Monday morning, so that the town will be full of howling marchers by Monday noon.

Great preparations are being made to receive the delegations and clubs as they arrive, and a lively time may be expected Monday. Henry Cabot Lodge, who is talked of for chairman of the committee on platform and resolutions, has telegraphed to Murray Crane, the national committeeman from Massachusetts, to rally the friends of the gold standard. Mr. Lodge says that no evasion would be tolerated and that a straddle would be disgraceful. He said that the Indiana platform, which has been popular in certain circles for the past few days, would not be acceptable. The Indiana platform, he says, declares for the best money known to the world, and pronounces emphatically against the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. It has been suggested to amend this declaration by striking out the words "at a ratio of 16 to 1," so that the paragraph would read "unalterably opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver." It was stated that if the words at a ratio of 16 to 1 were kept in the platform it might be construed to mean that the Republicans were in favor of the free coinage of silver at some other ratio.

There has been so much talk about this Indiana platform that the suspicion gained ground that the McKinley people were in favor of it. Nothing definite, however, can be had from those supposed to represent McKinley. The supporters of the Ohio man from the East declare that McKinley is in favor of the gold standard. The supporters of McKinley from the West insist that he is in favor of the largest use of silver consistent with the maintenance of the parity of the two metals. Mr. Hanna, who could settle the uncertainty in a few moments, declines to speak. There is no doubt that the dispute will be taken into the convention. It cannot be settled in the committee.

John R. Tanner, candidate for governor of Illinois on the Republican ticket, has thrown the gauntlet to free silver Republicans. In an interview with a reporter he declared emphatically for the gold standard, and said the platform to be adopted by this convention should not hold out the slightest hope for the silver Republicans. Senator John H. Gear of Iowa does not believe the platform will declare for gold. When asked what he thought would be the result if the Republicans should declare for gold, he said: "I do not suppose anything about it. I should like to see my opinion on that point appear in print. Of course no man can tell just exactly what will happen, but I am confident that McKinley will not be nominated on the first ballot, and it is no foregone conclusion that he will be nominated at all. As to the nomination for vice president I have formed no definite opinion. I think some one in the East will be selected."

There is a demand from some sections that the platform should declare for an international agreement, and pledge the party to take steps to bring about such an agreement. This is the plea of some of the Western states, where it is claimed that the party might be able to run against a free coinage declaration, by the Democrats. There is another body that does not want more than to declare against free coinage, without an international agreement, and to say nothing more. The demand of those who want the party pledged to urge an international agreement is not likely to be acceded to, as there seems to be a preponderance of sentiment in favor of taking a step which will prevent further agitation. The ultra silver men say they prefer a declaration for a single gold standard to anything else, and say that the issue cannot be made plain in any other way.

Robert G. Evans, member of the national committee and head of the Minnesota delegation, says that his state is against any free coinage. "I don't object," he said, "to a declaration against free coinage, without an international agreement, but I do not want the party pledged to urge such an agreement and compelled to take steps to further a conference looking to such an adjustment. It will continue the agitation, an agitation which will be useless, and which will be injurious to the country. I am in favor of the present standard, and think we ought to maintain it, and allow the country to enter on a period of prosperity which will follow a settlement of this question."

Chicago is engaged in an attempt to get the headquarters of the national committee removed from New York to Chicago. For this work, the state central committee of Illinois appointed a committee to lay the matter before the new committee. The committee is as follows: C. P. Hitch, chairman; Dr. L. S. Wilcox, of Champaign; L. T. Linnel, of Cobden; C. S. Rennels, of Jacksonville, and Sheriff James Pease, of Chicago. This committee is here now and with them several other gentlemen, among them Dr. T. N. Jamison and C. M. Pepper. "All that we can do now," said Mr. Pepper, "is to find out who the new committeemen will be, and work on them."

Dr. Jamison explained: "The fighting ground of the campaign will be in the South and West, and Chicago is the geographical center of the battlefield. It would be a benefit to have the headquarters in the West and a detriment to have it in the East. To have the headquarters of a gold campaign under the shadow of Wall street would be a menace to the interests of the party. Chicago is accessible from all parts of the country, and will afford accommodations for the committee. Chicago is a railroad and telegraphic center. The city will accommodate the headquarters in every way and will contribute largely to the fund."

H. Clay Evans, of Tennessee, arrived in town today and his appearance at once started fresh talk of his candidacy for the vice presidency. Mr. Evans said his newspaper friends had kindly kept him before the country in connection with the second place on the ticket. While he would of course be pleased to have the place, he was not losing any sleep over his prospects. Senator Hawley, of Connecticut, is being discussed in connection with the second place. There are very few United States senators who would care to be vice president and it is not known here if the proposed candidacy of Gen. Hawley is with his consent.

Buttons and badges with McKinley and Hobart, of New Jersey, and McKinley and McAlpin, of New York, are quite plenty, showing what the talk has produced. The sentiment in favor of Hobart seems to be pretty strong, and there are reasons to believe that he is more likely to be the nominee for second place than any of the men so far mentioned.

Discussing the probabilities as to the nominee of the convention for the vice presidency, Henry C. Payne, national committeeman from Wisconsin, said today, that the nomination would, in all probability, go East, and thought it would be thrown to either New Jersey, New York, or Pennsylvania. "At present," he continued, "Hobart, of New Jersey, has the lead with those now here. We cannot, however, tell how it may be when more delegates arrive, still, Mr. Hobart is generally recognized as an available man." Mr. Payne expressed the opinion that in the present case, the opposition would not be able to unite upon a candidate and that the McKinley men would be permitted to choose his running mate. He also said that Hon. H. Clay Evans would have a considerable vote and said he would be especially strong in Pennsylvania, having been born in that state.

Henry C. Payne has prepared a draft of a financial plank which has been passed aroung among a large number of delegates and members of the committee, and has met with quite general approval. Mr. Payne is a pronounced anti-silver man, and says that he could vote without the least hesitation for the plank which he has prepared. It follows: "We are unalterably opposed to every measure calculated to debase our currency or impair the credit of the country; we are therefore opposed to free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, or any other basis, except upon international agreement, which shall embrace the leading commercial nations of Europe. We favor the use of as much silver as is necessary for commercial purposes and which is consistent with maintaining the parity of gold and silver as circulating mediums. The Republican party caused the enactment of the law providing for the redemption of specie payments in 1879. It will favor al measures designed to maintain the money of the United States, whether coin or paper, at the present standard, which is the same as that of the most enlightened nation of the earth."

There seems to be a determination to make Senator Thurston, of Nebraska, the permanent chairman of the convention. Mr. Thurston has expected to make the first speech seconding the nomination of Maj. McKinley. It is possible that ever should he be permanent chairman, he will also make the seconding speech for McKinley.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE.

Hard at Work on the Contest Cases.

St. Louis, June 11.—Chairman Carter was prompt in calling the National Republican committee to order at 10 o'clock today notwithstanding the absence of fully half of the members. The day's work was begun with the hearing in the cases of the California contests, beginning with that of the third district. The claimants on the one side were C. M. Belshaw, and W. B. Parker. Congressman Hilborn appeared for Belshaw and Parker.

Judge Thompson, of Ohio, represented the interests of Denison and Hochefmer. He contended that the committee could not go into the irregularities of primaries on county conventions; he said that as there was no district committee in the Third district the state committee had appointed the district delegates and that the committee had proceeded in the regular manner to call the convention. Furthermore, a large proportion of the so-called primary convention delegates were appointed, as were the delegates in the other convention, by the superior committee. Mr. Payne moved that Messrs. Denison and Hochefmer be placed upon the rolls and the motion prevailed without division.

The contest in the Fourth district, including the greater part of the city of San Francisco, was made by W. W. Montague and Samuel M. Shortridge against J. S. Spear and H. I. Kowalsky, who claimed to be regularly selected delegates. This contest was a very spirited one from the beginning, and it is claimed to have resulted in one murder. Mr. Shortridge was the spokesman of the contestants. The state committee, he said, recognized the convention by which Mr. Montague was chosen, and intimated that the other convention was controlled largely by the proxies of members of the state committee which called the convention by questionable means. He claimed he represented the almost unanimous voice of the Republicans of the state.

ADJOURNS

Both Houses of Congress Finish Their Labors This Afternoon.

Vice President Stevenson Declared the Senate Adjourned at 4 O'Clock.

Speaker Reed Closed the House at the Same Hour.

Washington, June 11.—Both houses of congress were adjourned this afternoon at 4 o'clock; the senate by Vice President Stevenson, and the house by Speaker Reed. There were the usual scenes incident to adjournment.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, June 11.—The senate began the closing day of the session without any confusion and activity usually incident to the departure of congress. There was a scattered attendance in the galleries during the early hours, and the score of senators present gathered in groups and chatted. The last obstacle in the way of adjournment was removed when, soon after the session opened, the enrolling clerks brought in the last of the great supply bills, that for the District of Columbia, and it was signed by the vice president and soon thereafter dispatched to the White House for the signature of the president. This done, business was suspended until Mr. Sherman secured the passage of a house bill pensioning the widow of Gen. William H. Gibson, of Ohio, at $50 per month.

Then the galleries were cleared for a brief executive session, after which the open session was resumd.

The monotonous waits were broken at intervals by routine reports from the house. On motion of Mr. Platt, the immigration bill, which had been displaced, was made the unfinished business. The effect is to give the bill the right-of-way when the decision begins. Mr. Sherman moved the appointment of two senators to accompany the committee of the house to wait on the president. The vice president named Senators Sherman and Smith. The vice president also announced the appointment of Senators Harris, Faulkner and McMillan as a committee to inquire into the charities of the District of Columbia, with a view to ascertaining the extent of sectarian control. The house inquiry has provided for in the District of Columbia appropriation bill. The senate then took a recess till 3 p. m.

IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, Jun 11.—Scores of members left the city last night after the appropriation bills were disposed of and there were not more than fifty members on the floor of the house when it met at 11 o'clock today for the final session of the first session of the Fifty-fourth congress. The reading of the journal of the legislative day of Saturday, which continued from 11 o'clock on Saturday until 11 o'clock last night, consumed half an hour.

On a motion of Mr. Dingley a resolution was adopted for the appointment of a committee of three members to join a committee from the senate to wait upon the president and inform him that congress was ready to adjourn, and ascertain if he had any further communications to make. The speaker appointed Mr. Dingley, Mr. Cannon and Mr. Sayer.

Mr. Turner, on behalf of the minority, offered the following resolution:

"Resolved, that the thanks of this house are due and are hereby tendered to Hon. Thomas B. Reed, speaker of the house of representatives, for the ability, efficiency and strict impartiality with which he has discharged the arduous and responsible duties of his office during the present session of congress."

The presentation of the resolution was greeted with a round of applause and was enthusiastically adopted by a standing vote.

While Mr. Jenkins was trying to secure action on the senate bill for the relief of the administrator of Henry Van Vleck, which involved an expenditure of $4500, Mr. Wheeler, of Alabama, got the floor and made a test for a statement as to the marvelous growth of the governmental expenditures during recent years. He declared that the cost of government in the United States, federal, state and municipal, was the largest on earth, reaching $1,100,000,000 per annum.

Mr. Owens raised a laugh at Mr. Wheeler's expense by calling his attention to the fact that if the Van Vleck bill went through it would only increase the grand total of our expenditures to $1,100,004,500. The bill was passed, but in order to prevent further clamor for recognition the house took a recess until 2 o'clock.

At 2 p. m. the house reconvened. Mr. Pruden, the president's executive clerk, announced the presidential approval of the two appropriation bills last passed.

TOTAL APPROPRIATIONS.

Statements Will Soon Be Made Public.

Washington, June 11.—Chairman Cannon, of the appropriations committee of the house, and Mr. Sayers, of Texas, who is at the head of the minority of the committee, are preparing elaborate statements of the appropriations at this session of congress, which will be given to the press tomorrow. The actual appropriations for the session (exclusive of future liabilities, contained in contracts authorized) reach a grand total of $515,759,840.

NOMINATED BY GROVER.

Washington, June 11.—The president today sent the following nominations to the senate: Navy—Capt. George Dewey to be commodore; Commander Francis A. Cook to be captain; Lieutenant Commander Charles T. Hutchins, to be a commander.

CHAIRMAN HANNA.

Can Head the National Committee if Willing.

St. Louis, June 11.—All the talk about the chairman of the national committee for the campaign results in one conclusion, that Hon. Marcus A. Hanna will be selected if he will consent to take the place. When asked about it today Mr. Hanna said that one thing at a time was enough for him, and he was not going into the campaign before the convention was over. He added that after going through a preliminary canvass he was not anxious to take a campaign on his hands.

It has been definitely settled that C. W. Fairbanks, of Indiana, will be the temporary chairman of the convention. Possibly some other man might be selected later, but the fact that Fairbanks has been the choice of McKinley, very nearly settled it, as it does about everything else in this convention.

No determination has yet been reached as to the permanent chairman, although Senator Proctor is still being talked of for the place. Mr. Proctor says he has no desire for the place, but will accept it if he is requested to. The impression seems to be that the permanent chairman will be selected from the East.

FINED $125,000.

Johannesburg Reform Leaders Are Now Released.

Pretoria, June 11.—At the special meeting of the executive counsel today it was decided to release John Hayes Hammond, Col. Rhodes, George Farrar and J. W. Leonard, the leaders of the Johannesburg reform committee, upon the payment of a fine of £25,000 ($125,000) each, or in default fifteen years' banishment.

THE NEWS IN LONDON.

London, June 11.—The secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Chamberlain, has received a private telegram saying that the leaders of the Johannesburg reform commission have already been released, subject to a fine. The dispatch adds that the conditions of their release were the same as imposed upon the other reformers.

Dr. L. S. Jameson and his fellow conspirators, who took part in the raid on the Transvaal were again arraigned, on remand, at the Bow Street police court today, fresh witnesses having arrived from South Africa to testify. Interest in the case, however, has fallen off almost entirely. The evidence presented was upon the same lines as previously.

ENGLISH COMMERCE.

Congress of Foreign Bodies in Session at London.

London, June 11.—The sitting of the congress of the chambers of commerce of the British empire, opened at 10 o'clock this morning in the hall of the Grocers' company, under the presidency of Sir Andrew Kaye Rollitt, president of the London chamber of commerce.

The resolution of the Aberdeen chamber of commerce, regarding the codification of the commercial law of the empire, moved by Professor Dove Wilson, was adopted. The resolution was as follows: "That the bills of the exchange act of 1882, the partnerships act of 1890, and the sales of goods act of 1893, and other consolidating statutes, have established the practicability and benefits of codifying British commercial law. It is highly expedient that the commercial law of the whole British empire should now be embodied in a code, and that therefore the government be memorialized by the congress to initiate the steps necessary in order to the appointment, for the purpose of drafting such a code, of a commission on which the United Kingdom and all the colonies and countries embraced in the empire should be duly represented."

The congress then adopted the resolution of the London chamber of commerce on the copyright question, moved by F. R. Dalby, that the law of copyright should be uniform throughout the empire. Sir Samuel Montague, Bart. M. P., on behalf of the London chamber of commerce, then presented a motion declaring "that in the opinion of this congress, the laws relating to bills of exchange would be made uniform in the British empire; also that uniformity with the laws of continental powers should, wherever practicable, be established internationally. The motion was adopted.

A delegate from the Croyden chamber of commerce presented a resolution which also was adopted, advocating the introduction for the reply letter card feature in the postal system of the empire and in international communications, to which latter end the British and colonial postmaster generals are asked to give their aid at the postal union congress which meets in Washington in 1897.

NEW YORK STOCKS.

Strong and Higher Opening Noted Today.

New York, June 11.—The stock market opened strong and higher, with trading active. The fact that London prices for Americans failed to reflect yesterday's scare encouraged the traders to bid up values, and the cheerful sentiment was further stimulated by Washington dispatches suggesting the adjournment of congress today. Prices at 10:15 o'clock showed improvements extending from ⅜@¾ per cent in the leading shares.

Realizing sales were executed later under which prices receded fractionally throughout the list. Tennessee Coal and Manhattan figures for ⅞ per cent, with less activity displayed on the down grade. The selling movement appeared to be exhausted at 11 o'clock, and prices were fairly steady except in a few instances.

Large purchasing orders were executed in the leading shares during the ensuing hour, resulting in a sharp resumption of the upward movement and the attainment of the best prices of the morning. Commission houses were buyers on a more extensive scale than for some time past, and shorts also covered freely. In consequence, gains over yesterday's final figures were made tending to 1@1½ per cent in the more active stocks. The tendency continued upward at midday. The sales to noon were 107,000 shares.

DRUNKEN TRAGEDY.

Chicago, June 11.—In a drunken rage John Wolter made an unsuccessful attempt last night to kill his wife. He then shot and killed one step-daughter and wounded another so seriously that her life is despaired of.

HINRICHSEN NOMINATED.

Jacksonville, Ill., June 11.—In the Sixteenth congressional district today, W. H. Hinrichsen was nominated for congress by the Democrats. He is secretary of state, and is a prominent silver man.

DORAN

Goldbugs Win in the Test Vote at St. Paul Today.

Democratic Delegate Convention There Elected Hall Temporary Chairman.

Ballot Was Hall, 454; Champlin, 290---Doran's Great Enthusiasm.

St. Paul, June 11.—The Democratic convention of delegates to the Chicago convention was to meet in the market hall in this city, and the hall was crowded before that hour, everybody anticipating a lively session. The chief fight was on the question of silver, but the fight on National Committeeman Michael Doran was well to the front. The state committee had decided not to place a candidate for temporary chairman, and the gold and silver people each selected a candidate, so that a test vote was immediately possible on the chief question at issue.

Ex-Speaker E. T. Champlin was the standard-bearer of the 16 to 1 silverites, while Congressman Hall was selected as the candidate of the gold standard delegates. Less than the usual delay in calling to order was filled with music from the First regimen: band. State Chairman McDermott made a brief but ringing Minnesota speech in calling to order, eulogizing Democracy and Democrats, and denouncing extravagance in administration of public affairs, but avoided all mention of the financial question.

P. B. Winston, of Hennepin county, nominated E. T. Champlin, the silver candidate, for chairman, and E. W. Durant, of Stillwater, nominated O. M. Hall, the gold candidate. Mr. Doran seconded the nomination of Hall, who explained that the vote on temporary chairman was a test of the gold and silver strength here, and E. C. Gridley, of Duluth, in seconding the nomination of Champlin, emphasized the same point.

After a number of very warm speeches, covering a wide range and lasting till past noon, the vote was taken. The ballot resulted in Hall receiving 454 out of 744, and before the Champlin vote could be given, the convention went wild, Michael Doran finally being heard above the uproar, as he shouted: "The old man's here yet."

The motion of P. B. Winston, one of the leading free silver delegates, to make the nomination unanimous was declared carried, although a big negative vote was given. The vote had been: Hall, 454; Champlin, 290, and showed pretty accurately the strength of the gold and silver delegates, although some of the silver men voted for Hall, because he was favored by Mr. Doran. On taking the chair, Mr. Hall spoke at some length on party issues. Mr. Everett, of LeSueur, and T. T. Hudson, of Duluth, were chosen temporary secretaries. Committees on credentials and resolutions were named. The temporary organization was unanimously made permanent and recess taken for dinner.

In the committees the Eleventh judicial district was represented on that on credentials by R. S. Powell, of Duluth, and on resolutions by Albert Jaques, of Duluth.

REED IS SHOCKED.

By Manley's Declaration of McKinley's Success.

Washington, June 11.—The interview given by Joseph Manley, conceding the nomination to McKinley, was a surprise and a shock to Speaker Reed and his support in Washington. The speaker refused to believe the report when it was shown to him last night and denounced it as a lie. Today he declines to speak of the matter. Mr. Manley took the step entirely on his own authority without consulting Mr. Reed or any of the Reed contingent in Washington. A letter was received at Reed's headquarters written by Mr. Manley just before he left Augusta for St. Louis, in which he says he had not given up hope of Reed's nomination. His last step is embarrassing to the Reed men.

One of the Reed managers said: "The speaker could not believe that Mr. Manley had spoken as quoted until we received corroboration of the interview. He has made a mistake. We do not question his motives at all. Probably he was laboring under the discouragement caused by the adverse decision in the Alabama contests, which we had expected to gain, as the seats undoubtedly belonged to us. Perhaps he was discouraged also by the number of McKinley voters who have arrived early on the scene.

"We know that no one can regret the interview today more deeply than Mr. Manley does. There are least 100 delegates to the convention instructed for McKinley who do not want to vote for him. Circumstances might arise, under which the convention would see that the nomination of McKinley was unwise, and in that event Mr. Reed would stand the best chance for the nomination. We do not consider the fight hopeless, nor do we believe Mr. Manley does today. He made a mistake that was all wrong.

STRANGE GEORGIA STORY.

Harlem, Ga., June 11.—Last night A. T. Verdy was killed and George Edmonds fatally wounded. Edmonds was sick and Verdy, who lived a short distance from him went to stay with him during the night. An unknown person hit Verdy over the head several times, crushing his skull and beat up Edmunds' face and head, breaking his jaw bone. Mrs. Phillips, a neighbor, who was stopping in the house, ran half a mile across the fields and alarmed the neighbors who found Verdy dead and Edmunds' chances for recovery small.

THE TREASURY CONDITION.

Washington, June 11.—Today's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $206,192,504; gold reserve, $106,398,898.

HARVARD

Students Go Crazy Over the Defeat of Princeton at Baseball.

Three Thousand Young Men Attack the Cambridge Police Force.

Biggest and Most Disgraceful Riot in University History.

Boston, Mass., June 11.—Three thousand Harvard men, encouraged by the phenomenal event of a Harvard victory, fought 100 policemen in the streets of historic old Cambridge last night. It was the biggest riot that the university has ever seen. The moment it was known that Harvard had won there was a roar that shook every window for miles aroud. Then all was pandemonium.

In half an hour there was on feet the biggest celebration ever known at Harvard. The whole city was a blaze of red fire, while all kinds of fireworks spirted in every direction, and the evening was made hideous with the blasts of 1000 giant horns. A mammoth procession was formed, and marched to Harvard square. The police, anticipating trouble, were out in extra force. The majority of the Harvard men were armed with revolvers, and took up a running volley, firing into the air.

While cheering for the individual members of the team was going on, Clay Stone Briggs, a Harvard student, from Galveston Tex., was arrested. He had discharged his revolver in the very face of a policeman. As the policemen were hurrying him off, the mob took in the situation, and there was a mad rush of 3000 enraged students to the rescue. A line of Harvard men jumped on the backs of the policemen, who still clung to their prisoner. Arthur T. Pilling, a student from Washington, was the first to tackle an officer. He was promptly knocked down. Goldwait H. Derr, of Orange, a student, jumped on another policeman. He was seized and arrested. Many policemen and students received wounds.

Finally the police were victorious, and the three students named were dragged into the station house, and the heavy doors was slammed in the faces of the howling mob. For an hour 3000 mad students surrounded the station clamoring for the release of their comrades. The chief of police and prominent citizens addressed the students, and urged them to disperse. The students paid little attention to the officers and refused to disperse until the three men who were arrested had been released on bail. Then they departed, cheering as they left the police station, the three heroes mounted on the shoulders of the mob.

STATE BANKERS' CONVENTION.

The Minnesota state bankers' convention closed its session at Minneapolis yesterday. The president announced the appointment of the following delegates and alternates to the national convention in St. Louis: F. E. Kenaston, of Breckenridge; F. M. Prince, of Minneapolis, and J. C. Hunter, of Duluth; alternates, A. A. Crane, of Minneapolis; A. C. Anderson, of St. Paul, and F. E. Searls, of Duluth. The report of the committee on nominations was adopted. It was as follows: J. F. R. Foss, of the Nicollet National bank, Minneapolis, was elected president; D. A. Montfort, of the Second National bank, St. Paul, vice president; F. H. Welcome, of Granite Falls; W. H. Putnam, of Red Wing; H. R. Wells, of Preston; F. A. Seymour, of St. Paul; F. M. Prince, of Minneapolis; F. E. Searle, of Duluth; F. E. Kenaston, of Breckenridge; N. O. Werner, of Minneapolis, and C. E. Oakley, of Buffalo, members of the executive committee.

ACCESSION ANNOUNCED.

Washington, June 11.—The accession of Denmark to the international union for the protection of industrial property is officially announced. This accession which took place Oct. 1, 1894, includes the Faroe islands, but neither Iceland, Greenland, nor the Danish West Indies.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills, which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge, that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only and sold by all reputable druggists.

If in the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, laxatives or other remedies are then not needed. If afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

CARELESSNESS

Often Causes No End of Suffering.

Probably half the people who see this article suffer from piles. It is one of the commonest diseases and one of the most obstinate. People have it for years and just because it is not immediately fatal they neglect it. Carelessness causes no end of suffering. Carelessness about so simple a thing as piles has often caused death. Hemorrhages occur from no apparent cause, and loss of blood causes death. Hemorrhages occur during surgical treatment, often causing death.

Piles are simple in the beginning and easily cured. They can be cured even in the worst stages, without pain or loss of blood, quickly, surely and completely. There is only one remedy that will do it —Pyramid Pile Cure.

It allays the inflammation immediately, heals the irritated surface, and with continued treatment, reduces the swelling and puts the membranes into good, sound, healthy condition. The cure is thorough and permanent. Druggists sell the Pyramid Pile Cure at 50 cents. Send for free book on cause and cure of piles.

JUDGE CALDWELL'S OPINION.

Glenwood Springs, Col., June 11.—Judge Henry C. Caldwell, of the United States circuit court, who is stopping here was asked whether he would accept a nomination for the presidency from the Populists and silver conventions at St. Louis. He replied emphatically that he would not. He stated that he wanted to vote for a silver man this coming election, but he was afraid he might have to choose between two. He thought that if all friends of silver could be brought together they could win the greatest victory of the people since the days of Lincoln.

M'KENNA RE-ARRESTED.

Grand Rapids, Minn., June 11.—The second case of murder against Peter McKenna, alias One Eyed Pete, is ineffectual. Attorney McCarthy argued that the jeopardy of defendant in the first case connecting him with the death of John Bacon, which was dismissed by the court last January, was a bar to further trial thereon. Judge Holland ruled for McKenna, who, on leaving the court room, was re-arrested, charged with arson in setting fire to Russell's ranch, where John Bacon disappeared Aug. 27. He was arraigned before Judge Stillson and held in default of bail.

INCREASED MEXICAN MAILS.

Washington, June 11.—An agreement has been made between this government and Mexico for a daily international registered mail pouch, exchanged between St. Louis, Mo., and the City of Mexico, to go into operation July 1. This is in accordance with the recently adopted revised system of passing the mails uninterrupted across the Mexican border lines, and locked mails will now be forwarded under system of hand to hand receipts between postal officers of both countries.

THE JURY DISAGREED.

San Diego, Cal., June 11.—The jury has disagreed in the suit for $100,000 for alleged libel brought by Dr. J. C. Hern against M. H. DeYoung, proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle. The jury stood 6 to 6. The alleged libel connected Hearn's name with the murder of Amos J. Stillwell, in Hannibal, Mo., seventeen years ago.

COAL MINERS TO STRIKE.

Lafayette, Col., June 11.—A mass meeting of the coal miners of Northwestern Colorado has ordered a general strike in all the northern coal mines, until the difference between the United and Gladstone companies and their employes is adjusted and agreements made. If the companies import negroes to operate the mines, as they threaten to do, serious trouble is likely to result.

WESTERN PLUCK.

Secures Several Government Building Appropriations.

Washington, June 11.—Excepting the case of Savannah, the Western congressmen from the four new states, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and Utah, are the only delegations which have succeeded in securing public buildings bills from this session of congress. The house policy has been to report no bills for new buildings, so after exhausting their efforts in that body the Western men turned their attention to the senate. They secured amendments to the sundry civil bill, and these were the hardest fough: between the two houses and threatened the session for some days.

Senator Dubois, who engineered the campaign in the senate, was importuned to consent to drop the amendments, but the Western representatives refused to capitulate on any conditions, and finally the house accepted them, when Mr. Wilson, of Idaho, made the motion to that effect yesterday.

PUGILISTIC REVIVAL.

But Some 'Frisco People Object to It.

San Francisco, June 11.—Since the announcement that Corbett and Sharkey have been matched for a meeting, this has been the Mecca to which the eyes of all pugilists are turned. The fistic experts are hastening to San Francisco from all parts of the country in expectation of a revival of the glorious times when there were several prize fights a week here. There is a state law prohibiting prize fights, but a complacent ruling of the supervisors has allowed contests for a limited number of rounds, under the guise of charity entertainments. Numerous fights have been pulled off during the past four months under this arrangement. But now the civic federation has discovered that prize fights are against the law and its members will endeavor to prevent the Sharkey-Corbett affair.

KOOTENAI

Barney Barnato and Cecil Rhodes Will Try Our Gold Fields.

Agent of These Men Are Now Making Glowing Reports.

And Extensive Mining Operation in British Columbia Will Begin.

San Francisco, June 11.—The Chronicle says the great South African mining kings, Cecil Rhodes and Barney Barnato, have turned their attention to the newly discovered gold fields in the region lying west and southwest of Lake Kootenai, in British Columbia, just north of the international boundary line.

They have sent their own experts out to investigate the prospects and report. They declare that the richness of the Rossland and Trail Creek Mountain regions far surpasses anything that South Africa could ever have dreamed of.

This report will doubtless be followed by the investment of a large amount of capital in that section by those mining magnates and other wealthy Englishmen who follow their lead in such enterprises.

THE DAKOTAS.

NORTH DAKOTA.

William Budge, of Grand Forks, a former druggist, will probably be the Republican nominee for governor.

A Driving and Speed association has been organized at Langdon with a capital of $2000, for the purpose of this year and racing meet there this fall. It will also have charge of the Fourth of July celebration which promises to be one of the largest ever held in that section of the state.

The result of the first day's shooting in the North Dakota Sportsmen's association tournament at Fargo, which began a fair with St. Cloud second, Minneapolis and Duluth tied for third and Winnipeg fourth. No individual scores will be announced till the close of the tournament. A special competitive shoot between Mrs. Shattuck, of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Day, of Duluth, for the lady championship of the Northwest the former led in today's events by five birds. Much interest is being taken in the tournament and sportsmen are here from all over the Northwest.

The Red River is rising rapidly at Fargo and has already covered the roadway on Fourth street south and backed up, completely surrounding Island park. The rise is unusual for June and the water is the highest for years. Denizens of Shantytown may have to move.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Because Dr. McLouth addressed a Populist meeting at Brookings a few days since, the report has gone out that he has espoused the Populist cause and will be a candidate for governor. Dr. McLouth denies this and says he delivered the address by "the invitation of an assemblage of good-looking, well-behaved citizens, as he is glad to do at any time when desirable to them and possible for himself, no matter what their religion or politics. I spoke for the Populists just as I sometimes speak for the Presbyterians, without pretending to be one."

Information from the northwestern part of Buffalo county is to the effect that the alleged discovery of gold in that vicinity is still causing considerable talk among those who are striving to force themselves into the belief that gold has really been discovered in paying quantities. More samples of the alleged gold have been sent to Eastern assayers, but returns have not yet been received. J. V. Drips, publisher of the only newspaper printed in Buffalo county, says the alleged gold discovery was first made by J. W. Parmely, a thrifty farmer and stockman living in the vicinity of the "find;" he communicated the secret to his father and brothers, and a great effort is said to have been made to keep the matter quiet until the lands could be secured. But notwithstanding the most careful precautions, the facts became known to the public and a number flocked to the scene.

Two tramps boarded the east bound express at Pierre yesterday morning and were put off the train at Harrold. As the train again started they attempted to get aboard and failing threw stones through the windows of the sleeper. Some passengers narrowly escaped injury. The express messenger fired at the tramps and one is supposed to have been hit.

ANOTHER COREAN REVOLT.

Vancouver, B. C., June 11.—The steamship Empress of Japan, which has just arrived from the Orient brings news that another rebellion is feared in Corea, owing to the protracted stay of the king at the Russian legation. The insurgents declare the king's absence is a disgrace to the country. Twenty-two thousand men have already risen in revolt. Famine prevails in Tonquin, owing to the prolonged drought and consequent failure of the rice crop.

TO MANUFACTURE STEEL.

Report That Rockefeller Will Build Steel Works.

A Cleveland dispatch says: Some weeks ago it was announced that the Standard Oil company was about to remove their great refining works to this city. It is now possible to announce the sequel of the removal of the great institution, which has been for so long one of the principal industries of the city. Some years ago Mr. Rockefeller and a few associates obtained possession of the Mesaba range of iron mines in the Lake Superior region, the richest and most important in the world. No one seemed to exactly understand what the Standard magnate was aiming at, but believed that it was one of his outside investments, and many prophesied that it would be a disastrous one.

"The next movement of Mr. Rockefeller was to contract for the construction of ten of the largest and finest freight boats that can be built. He took his usual precaution in giving out this work. Only two were given to any one firm. Most of this magnificent fleet, the most effective for the work in hand of any of the whole chain of lakes, is now in service. Only one step further was necessary, and that has now been taken. Mr. Rockefeller has long been fully aware that Cleveland is the most available point in the whole country for the manufacture of steel and iron. He is a close student of census returns and other figures which prove this. His plan in full then is as follows, as has just been ascertained, without question:

"He will build the largest blast furnaces and Bessemer steel works in the world on the site that has been occupied by the Standard works for many years past. With this done it will be very hard for any one to compete with him in the business of manufacturing steel billets and steel rails. He has long proceeded on the plan that the only way in which to make money in manufacture is by doing so on a very large scale and through economies that can always be introduced in a large concern that are impossible in small ones. By owning his mines, Mr. Rockefeller can first make the profit of mining the ore, which is of itself considerable. With his own fleet of vessels he can convey the ore more cheaply than any one else, and make the profit, which is large, in that particular. Lastly, with his own blast furnaces and Bessemer mills right on the river bank at Cleveland, where he can unload his own ore, he can produce steel cheaper than it has ever been dreamed of before.

"It is believed by those who know the most of this matter that this movement on the part of Rockefeller is revolutionary in its character, so far as the production of everything that steel and iron enters into is concerned. He can snap his fingers at the present pool, and while greatly underselling it, he can still reap a rich harvest annually. Mr. Rockefeller realizes fully that this is an iron and steel age, and that the man who is in position to manufacture cheaper than any one else is sure to make millions. No one will doubt for a moment that Mr. Rockefeller has the executive ability to carry such a scheme to a successful issue."

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of that certain mortgage, made executed and delivered by Freeman Keen and wife, Nellie Keen, his wife, mortgagors, to Daniel W. Scott, mortgagee, dated the 25th day of September, 1891, and recorded in the register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 12th day of October, 1891, at 9 o'clock a. m., in Book 93 of mortgages, on page 199;

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned in writing by the said Daniel W. Scott to Henry T. Hillebrand, by written assignment, dated the 20th day of October, 1894, and duly recorded in said register of deeds' office, on the 27th day of October, 1894, at 9 o'clock a. m., in Book 108 of mortgages, on page 139;

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby was duly assigned in writing by the said Henry T. Hillebrand to George L. Crosby, by written deed of assignment, dated the 20th day of December, 1895, and duly recorded in said register of deeds' office, on the 4th day of January, 1896, at 2:40 o'clock p. m., in Book 93 of mortgages, on page 372.

And whereas, said default consists in the non-payment of the semi-annual installment of interest, amounting to twenty dollars, which became due and payable by the terms of said note and mortgage on the 1st day of April, 1896, by reason of which default, said George L. Crosby, has elected to exercise the option to him given by the terms of said note and mortgage, by declaring and he does hereby declare the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage with accrued interest thereon, to be due and payable.

And whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due and there is actually due, upon said mortgage debt at the date of this notice the sum of five hundred twenty-five and 55-100 dollars, principal and interest;

And whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale in due form, which has become operative by reason of the default above mentioned, and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has been instituted to recover said debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof;

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein, to-wit:

Lot number thirteen, in block number forty, in Oneota, St. Louis County, Minnesota, according to the recorded plat thereof on file in the register of deeds' office, in and for said county, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 27th day of June, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m., at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of five hundred twenty-five and 55-100 dollars and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and twenty-five dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated May 14th, 1896.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of four thousand six hundred seventy-five and 54-100 dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Philip M. Graff, widower, mortgagor, to Michael Lutz, mortgagee, bearing date the first day of April, 1894, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 16th day of June, 1894, at 8:20 o'clock a. m., in Book 80 of mortgages, on page 558.

Which said mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said Michael Lutz, mortgagee, to Frank Hibbing by written assignment dated the 31st day of March, 1896, and recorded in the office of said register of deeds on the fourth day of April, 1896, at 10:25 o'clock a. m. in Book 148 of mortgages, on page 10, said assignee being now the owner and owner of record thereof, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, viz: The undivided one-third of all that part of the west half of lot twenty-four (24) and of all of lots twenty-five (25), twenty-six (26) and twenty-seven (27), in block five (5), in that part of Duluth formerly called Portland, and of lots fifty (50) and fifty-two (52), on East Superior street, in Duluth Proper, First Division, that lies within one hundred (100) feet of the southerly line of Superior street, in said city of Duluth, according to the plats of said premises as the same are recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said Saint Louis County, Minnesota, all of said premises being situated in Saint Louis County and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the sheriff of said Saint Louis County, at the front door of the county court house, the city of Duluth, in said county and state on the 27th day of June, 1896, at ten o'clock a. m., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $4675.54 and interest and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and seventy-five dollars attorneys' fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Company H Will Give a Military Ball In the Near Future.

Fourth of July Celebration Is Being Planned By the Citizens.

Edward Home Taken With a Fainting Spell This Morning.

Company H will give a grand military ball at Great Eastern hall next Thursday evening. Sometime ago Capt. Holmberg promised the boys of his company that when Great Eastern hall was secured as an armory they could have a dance and the captain has set the date in fulfillment of the promise. The balls formerly given by this company have always been a success and the coming one will be looked forward to with great anticipations.

FOURTH OF JULY MEETING.

Last Fourth of July a celebration was given in West Duluth which proved to be a success and a number of the business men are desirous of repeating the experiment. In furtherance of the matter a meeting will be held next Monday evening at 3 o'clock at the parlors of the Phillips hotel. All business men and others interested in this portion of the city are invited to attend.

A FAINTING SPELL.

Edward Home, of the firm of Home Bros., grocers, was stricken down by a fainting spell about half-past eleven this morning. He was alone in the store at the time and when first discovered was lying prostrate on the floor behind the counter. He was at once carried up to his rooms above the store and medical aid summoned. Early this afternoon full consciousness was restored and he was much improved.

Streets in Bad Shape.

To the Editor of The Herald:

A few things have come to my notice, facts that are very unpleasant and quite unsatisfactory to this end of the city—West End, so-called. In the recent heavy storm, as everyone knows, a number of the principal streets and avenues were made entirely impassable. Why are these not repaired? Sufficient time has been allowed. Let me tell you why, Mr. Editor. They are not repaired and we are doomed to wade in clay for some time to come. Incompetency, heedlessness, don't-careativeness are characteristic of at least two of our salary-drawing individuals.

Our street commissioner does not understand his work, for the reason that it is not policy. A member of the board of public works has a social duty to perform, that of returning or placing to his credit a visit in the southern part of the state. So public duty is sacrificed for social pleasure, on his part. Last spring the watchword was "a business administration." Does this appear business like?

Once more; the very needy are told that they will receive at least one week's work, until all are served, but if this policy is carried out the street commissioner should sell his two teams and discharge two-thirds of those who have done nothing but eat from the public trough for the last three years, men who will not give an "honest day's work for an honest day's pay." A large force of teams and men have been at work for the last ten days and nothing has been done. Let the board of public works wake up and those in charge show some ambition, and let duty to society sink into oblivion, till the press of business has subsided.

A foul breath is one of the greatest afflictions that a man or woman can have. An affliction not only to themselves, but to those with whom they come in contact. A foul breath is a dreadful discourager of affection. It would probably be more so if people only realized just what bad breath means. Bad breath is one of the symptoms of constipation. Some of the other symptoms are sour stomach, loss of appetite, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, heartburn and distress after eating. These things mean indigestion. They lead to dyspepsia and worse things. They all start with constipation, and constipation is inexcusable because it can be cured—cured easily, quickly and permanently, by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They give to nature just the little help that she needs. There is no case of biliousness, constipation, indigestion, "heart-burn," or any of the rest of the night-mare breeding brood, that these little "Pellets" will not cure. Sold by all medicine dealers.

THE PRODUCE MARKET.

Michigan street, usually peaceful, was almost the scene of a riot this morning when the early receipts of green stuff and berries came in. Buyers fought and scrambled for strawberries and the commission men had to use considerable diplomacy to keep the contestants from fisticuffs. California peaches and plums, Michigan sour cherries, red raspberries and Georgia watermelons made their first appearance. Meats were scarce and poultry not over plentiful.

WAS WILD

Wheat Prices Went Up and Down Today With Startling Rapidity.

The Bearish Character of the Government Report Caused Weakness.

Good Buying Held Up the Market For a Short Time.

The wheat market was very wild today. The government report issued yesterday afternoon had its usual effect and satisfied the anticipations concerning it. It did not confirm damage to the winter wheat to the extent which had been indicated by the state reports. That was the chief reason for the bearish interpretation given to it by the speculators which the latter evinced by offering wheat at the opening at ¾c below the price it had closed at yesterday. However, some thought the bearish report was discounted by the break early this week and good buying on the decline sent up the price again. July, which started ¾c lower at 67c and fluctuated between 57c and 57¼c until after 11 o'clock, dropped to 56¾c and lost ¼c before noon. Later it sold up to 57c and advanced ⅞c within twelve minutes before 1 o'clock. Then there was a sudden bulge at Chicago, July advancing 3¾c in less than three minutes. The Duluth board tried to follow and advanced ¾c in a minute but fell back suddenly to 57c, regaining ⅜c without trading.

The mills bought 25,000 bus to arrive at ¼c over July, while shippers took 25,000 bus at the July price. The close was unchanged from yesterday, as follows:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, cash, 58¼c; July, 59c. No. 1 northern, cash, 57¼c; June, 57¾c; July, 57¾c bid; September, 57¾c bid. No. 2 northern, cash, 54½@55¼c. No. 3, 53@56c. Rejected, 49@54c. To arrive—No. 1 hard, 58¾c; No. 1 northern, 57¾c. Rye, 32c. No. 2 oats, 18@18½c; No. 3 oats, 17½@18c. Flax, 80c.

Car inspection—Wheat, 283; corn, 11; oats, 17; rye, 5; barley, 28; flax, 21. Receipts—Wheat, 193,682 bus; corn, 15 bus; oats, 30,717 bus; rye, 1794 bus; barley, 22,843 bus; flax, 28,647 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 136,000 bus; oats, 25,000 bus.

PAY AND PRECEDENCE.

The annual allowance of the duke of Connaught from the British people is $125,000, says the Chicago Dispatch.

In all state ceremonials the sovereign takes precedence of all persons whatsoever.

The treasurer of her majesty's household follows the commissioner of the great seal.

The archbishop of Canterbury ranks immediately after the members of the royal family.

The Princess Louise draws from the British treasury the modest allowance of $30,000 per year.

The oldest sons of the younger sons of peers take precedence over the oldest sons of baronets.

The eldest sons of dukes, marquises and earls are usually called by the second title of the father.

The duchess of Teck is expected to get along somehow or other on an annual allowance of $25,000.

The Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein has an annual allowance from the British people of £6000.

The secretary of foreign affairs and the first lord of the treasury in England receive each a salary of $50,000.

The home secretary, the secretary for war and the secretary for India receive each a salary of $25,000 per year.

IN A ROCKIN CHAIR.

Oakland has a taxpayer whose home is nothing more or less than an antiquated rocking chair and who has astonished the authorities by obeying an ordinance, which, it was thought, would serve to end his peculiar ways if enforced. The eccentric resident is a Chinese named Chang Wee, and he repairs cane-seated chairs for a livelihood, says the San Francisco Chronicle.

Chang Wee covers a great deal of territory, and does not consider it worth while to establish himself in a house. So he carries a sample chair with him upon his back, and when meal time or night overtakes him he plants himself down wherever he chances to be, and enjoys a repast of rice and prunes or goes to sleep for the night. Chang is partial to these ways, and many people have been puzzled to see him huddled up in a chair at the side of some suburban road, calmly waiting for the morrow.

Some time ago Chang was told that he could not occupy the streets at night unless he hung out a lantern, for the law was explicit on the point that obstructions should be indicated by lights after dusk. This did not discourage the Chinese, and he at once secured a beacon, which he hangs from the back of his chair now upon retiring.

Chang is a property holder and owns a lot, in partnership with another Chinese on East Fourteenth street. Nevertheless, he considers himself too poor to afford a place in which to eat and sleep. He walks through Alameda and Contra Costa counties, repairing chairs, and makes fair wages thereby. He has put in the past week in Oakland and will now strike out on his country beat, to be gone two months.

Among the Chinese of this city he is looked upon with suspicion, for they consider his ways radically inconsistent and absurd. Nevertheless, Chang Wee is making a good living and saving all but a mite of it.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by J. M. Markham and Hella Markham, his wife, mortgagors, to the Duluth Trust Company, a corporation, mortgagee, dated May 10th, 1894, and recorded in the register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on May 31st, 1894, at four o'clock p. m. in Book one hundred twenty-four (124) of mortgages on page eighty-three (83), which mortgage was assigned for a valuable consideration by the Duluth Trust Company to Morgan M. Lewis by an instrument of assignment dated June 5th, 1894, and recorded in the register of deeds' office for St. Louis County, Minnesota, on June 11th, 1894, at 8:20 o'clock a. m. in Book one hundred thirty-two (132) of mortgages on page fifty-three (53). Such default consisting in the non-payment of the semi-annual installment of interest upon said mortgage debt due the 1st day of January, 1896, for the sum of eighty ($80.00) dollars, by reason of which default the undersigned, the legal representatives of said assignee of said mortgage have elected to exercise the option to them given by the terms of said mortgage, by declaring and they do hereby declare, the whole principal sum secured by said mortgage with all accrued interest thereon to be now due and payable and,

Whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due and there is actually due upon said mortgage debt at the date of this notice the sum of two thousand one hundred fifty-three and 96-100 ($2153.96) dollars principal and interest, and,

Whereas, the undersigned, Benjamin V. Lewis and John F. Lewis, were duly appointed and have duly qualified as administrators of the estate of Morgan M. Lewis, deceased, the said assignee of said mortgagee and that said administrators have filed a duly certified copy of their appointment in the office of the register of deeds for said St. Louis County, Minnesota, dated January 10th, 1895, which said instrument was recorded on January 23rd, 1896, at ten twenty (10:20) o'clock a. m. in Book one hundred twenty-two (122) of deeds on page one hundred ninety-seven (197) and,

Whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, has ever been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale contained in said mortgage which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, described as follows to-wit: Lot numbered three (3), in block number nine (9), Portland Division of Duluth, according to the recorded plat thereof on file in the office of the register of deeds in and for said county and state; which said premises with the hereditaments and appurtenances will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest and taxes (if any) on said premises and seventy-five (75.00) dollars attorneys' fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 25th day of July, 1896, at ten (10) o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as provided for by law.

THE WEATHER.

United States Agricultural Department, Weather Bureau, Duluth. Synopsis of weather conditions for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a. m., (Central time), June 11.—The storm which was central yesterday in Montana has moved northward to the Saskatchewan valley, increasing in energy. In its place an extensive high pressure area now covers the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains.

Severe gales have been reported in the Dakotas and showers have been general in the Upper Missouri valley, the Dakotas, Western Minnesota and the Canadian Northwest. In the remaining districts fair weather has continued.

There has been a general change to cooler in the Canadian Northwest, and the states west of the Missouri river. Minimum temperatures of 36 and 40 degrees are reported in Wyoming and Montana.

Duluth temperature at 7 a. m. today, 54; maximum yesterday, 62; minimum yesterday, 52.

Local forecast for Duluth and vicinity: Showers and warmer tonight; Friday fair and warmer; light easterly winds shifting to brisk to high southwest by tonight; brisk westerly winds Friday.

JAMES KENEALY,
Local Forecast Official.

Chicago, June 11.—Forecast until 8 p. m. tomorrow. Minnesota: Partly cloudy tonight with local rains in north portion; Friday generally fair; fresh to brisk south to west winds. Wisconsin: Generally fair tonight and clear; warmer tonight; fresh southerly winds.

The depth of water in St. Mary's ship canal at 7 a. m. today is 14 feet 3 inches, and the forecast is that it will remain stationary during the next twenty-four hours.

SHOULD HEED THE PROTEST.

The Herald trusts that the officials of the Northern Pacific railway will listen to the protests of the members of the board of trade and other business men of Duluth against the proposed change in its timetable under which the train for the West would leave Duluth at 2 p. m. instead of 7 p. m. As this is the only train now carrying mail in the evening out of Duluth to Northern Minnesota and the Dakotas, the effect of the proposed change would be very serious from a business standpoint. It might be the means of diverting a considerable portion of Duluth's grain trade to Minneapolis.

The session of the board of trade does not close until 1:15 p. m. It is impossible for the members to prepare their letters to customers and other correspondents, based upon the day's business, or to secure the printed market circulars which their customers desire, in time to catch a train leaving here at 2 o'clock. The present hour at which the train leaves, 7 o'clock, gives ample time for this purpose. If a change must be made, the hour should be fixed not earlier than 5 o'clock. The railway officials say that the change is necessary in order to give proper connection with the west-bound through train from St. Paul. This is rather a flimsy excuse. The amount of business which is discommoded by the present train arrangements is very small, especially when compared with the business of Duluth grain men and others which would be seriously injured by the proposed change.

The railway officials who have this matter in charge should give heed to the protest and arrange the time table to suit the business interests of Duluth.

IS THE RUMOR TRUE?

The News Tribune does not indicate whether it intends to support Congressman Towne for renomination. It is true it says he deserves re-election, but this statement is coupled with the following: "While the News Tribune honestly differs with Mr. Towne on the question of a standard currency of the nation, it feels that with a positive declaration by the party soon to assemble in St. Louis in favor of the supremacy of sound money that at the proper time he will be found well to the front of the advance guard of the party, keeping step to the music of universal harmony, and stand with the party with that same fidelity and devotion to principle which the party itself stands for the people."

From the above ungrammatical mass of verbiage the conclusion may be fairly drawn that if the platform adopted at St. Louis should contain a straight-out gold plank and Mr. Towne should decline to subscribe to that plank, in direct opposition to his expressed views on the money question, the News Tribune would not support him for the congressional nomination. Is this not the position of the morning paper? If it is not, then it should make a more explicit statement, because its readers cannot reach any other conclusion from the paragraph quoted above. And what lends strength to this conclusion is the steadily-growing rumor that the Hon. Guilford Goldite Hartley has indicated a willingness to make the congressional race upon a gold standard platform, if Mr. Towne declines to abide by the decision of the St. Louis convention.

OBSERVATIONS OF MARS.

Tomorrow Mars will be in perihelion with the sun and not again for seventy-nine years will the red planet be so near the earth. By being in perihelion it is meant that the planet, in its orbit is at the nearest point to the sun as seen from the earth. To watch this phenomenon an expedition of members of the faculties of the leading universities in England, France, Spain, Italy and the United States will assemble at Oaxaca, Mexico, and begin a series of observations of the ruddy planet. The work will be under the special charge of the Harvard university observatory staff. Oaxaca has been selected as the best point from which to observe the surface or disc of Mars, and it is expected that the work of the expedition will become of intense astronomical interest and valuable as history.

M. Camille Flammarion, the French astronomer, and Schiaparelli, the Italian savant, are taking the greatest interest in the expedition. One of the first purposes is to determine the exact diameter of Mars. Tomorrow the planet will be five times as bright as it ordinarily is, by reason of its proximity to the sun, and our favorable situation—33,800,000 miles distant—will enable the astronomers, they hope to make some startling discoveries on our nearest and martial neighbor. The present favorable position of Mars occurs once in seventy-nine years, and the interest of these astronomers is readily accounted for. They have with them the finest telescopes and an astronomical kinetoscope which registers ninety changes per second. An attempt will be made to establish communication with the Martians, if there are any, and the condition of Mars indicates there are, and this will be along the line of Flammarion's suggestions. He has abandoned the idea of signal lights, and now proposes to pierce the luminous ether between the earth and Mars by a method not yet made fully public.

The young men of the expedition are represented as being enthusiastic over the prospects, but the older astronomers are very grave and reticent and the world will await with interest the results of their observations under a Mexican sky. Next December, when the earth is passing between Mars and the sun, Percival Lowell, the well known Boston astronomer, will turn his big telescope upon the full face of Mars to examine its fields and groves and canals, and, perhaps, discover the existence there of a higher order of beings than ourselves. The records of the expedition will be published in every known civilized language.

SENTIMENT AGAINST CLOUGH.

With Hennepin county certain to elect an anti-Clough delegation, with the Merriam-Clough machine battling desperately to keep Ramsey county from electing a Clapp delegation, and with a popular uprising all over the state against the machine, the Clough organs are finding it very difficult to keep up their boasts that the governor will win out in the state convention on July 1.

The fact is that outside of the machine workers, the state officeholders and those who are interested in seeing them maintain their positions, there is absolutely no sentiment in any section of the state in favor of Clough. If Dave Clough were compelled to seek the nomination without the power and aid of the Merriam machine and without the aid of the state pap, he could not carry a single county in the state. But even with the assistance of the powerful influences which are being employed he cannot win. The Republicans of Minnesota do not want his accidency in the gubernatorial chair for another term. If it had been thought that the governorship would become vacant by reason of Mr. Nelson's promotion to a higher position, Dave Clough could not have secured fifty votes in the convention two years ago for lieutenant governor. It was against the protest of many staunch and decent Republicans that he was elevated to the rather empty honor of the lieutenant governorship, and the greatest obstacle which the friends of Mr. Nelson found to his senatorial aspirations was the widespread opposition to doing anything that would place Dave Clough in the governor's chair.

The opposition to Clough's nomination is intensified by the knowledge that his return to the governorship is desired by William R. Merriam as an aid to his senatorial ambition. The idea of sending Merriam to the United States senate is disgusting to every honest Republican, to whom Merriamism is the synonym for all that is corrupt, debasing and degrading in politics. With a pliable tool like Clough in the governor's chair, owing his nomination to the machine, William R. Merriam would be able to employ all the power of the state patronage to aid his election to the United States senate, in the face of the earnest protest of every decent, self-respecting Republican.

That Mr. Towne should decline to declare himself in opposition to this iniquitous scheme and should tacitly consent to the combine entered into by his business partner and his friends who hold down state jobs, whereby they promise to deliver the St. Louis county delegation to the Merriam machine, is a serious disappointment to the Republicans here who believed that he was sincere in his former protestations of unceasing opposition to the gang that has dictated the Republican politics of the state for years and well nigh disrupted the party.

A GROSS INSULT.

The action of the St. Louis hotelkeepers and restaurant men in drawing the color line during the Republican convention week has naturally aroused the indignation of all the Northern people. If there had been any idea entertained by the national committee that this action would be taken by the St. Louis men, it is certain that the convention would never have been given to that city. It practically kills all chance of St. Louis ever getting another national convention of the Republican party—at least for many years to come—and The Herald believes that the committee would have treated the St. Louis people in the manner they deserve if, when it was first discovered that the color line had been drawn, it had promptly issued a new call for the convention in some other city—Chicago, for instance, which has far better facilities for handling the crowds which will attend and could take care of them without any extra provision.

The statement that the business men, who secured the convention for St. Louis, have vainly used their influence to induce the hotelkeepers to change their attitude, may properly be regarded with suspicion. If popular sentiment in St. Louis was not with them, the hotelkeepers would hardly persist in the stand they have taken. It is shameful that the colored delegates to the convention should be insulted in this manner, and the Republican convention should take official notice of the insult and adopt a resolution condemning those who are responsible for it, because it is an insult not only to the colored delegates, but to the whole Republican party.

It is stated that King Monelek of Abyssinia has promised that as soon as peace is restored in his dominions he will not object to a committee of European scientists making an examination of the vaults of the cathedral church of Axum, where from forgotten time the monarchs of Abyssinia have been crowned. Tradition gives wonderful accounts of the treasures hidden in these vaults, it being claimed that the ark of the covenant, the tables of stone having on them the ten commandments, the seven-branched candlestick which figured in the holy of holies at Jerusalem's temple, besides a quantity of ancient manuscript, is concealed in these vaults. It is said all the treasures of the temple were carried to Abyssinia from the temple when Jerusalem was sacked by Shushak, king of Egypt.

The New York board of health has made public announcement of the fact that it is prepared to furnish an antidote for lockjaw on demand. To public institutions in this city it will be furnished free of charge. Outsiders will have to pay for it. According to the health board's doctors, no one need hereafter die of lockjaw unless he wants to. All he has to do if he runs a rusty nail into his foot or gets any kind of hurt suggestive of lockjaw, is to secure some tetanus anti-toxin, a stock of which should be secured by all communities.

The state office holders and some others favorable to Clough held a meeting last night to organize more thoroughly and subscribe funds to carry on the campaign in St. Louis county. They are troubled by the popular protest against this county being delivered over to the Merriam machine.

The thought that there is a demon in the storm is strengthened by the fact that there was great destruction done among the churches by the recent storm which devastated part of St. Louis.

A story is going the rounds of the press that Miss Helen Gould contributed $100,000 to relieve the distress in St. Louis. The fact is she donated $1000, and it was a generous donation.

The Merriam machine must look with feelings of envy on the czar of Russia. He selected himself for emperor, gave himself a certificate of election and then swore himself into office.

The people will tolerate no straddle in the party platforms this year. The party that tries to straddle will be overwhelmingly defeated. Let the issue be clearly defined.

Bicyclists should remember that pedestrians have rights which must not be abridged. "Scorching," therefore, in the streets cannot be tolerated.

Mr. Reed will not accept a nomination for the vice presidency. Mr. Reed is right. He is too large a man to be the tail to the McKinley kite.

Joe Manley admits that McKinley will be nominated. Joe resembles the morning papers—always a day late with the news.

The attempts of the Pioneer Press and the Dispatch to catechize Mose Clapp on the silver question proved a flat failure.

The Merriam-Clough machine is fighting desperately. It is now a fight for its life.

Another cyclone will strike St. Louis next week—the McKinley cyclone.

Mike Doran has a few troubles of his own today.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

REPUBLICAN CUCKOOISM.

Its Attitude in Opposition to Bimetallism.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The advocacy of the Cleveland discovered term, "sound money," (which means the single gold standard) by the bought up Republican newspapers and echoed by the leaders and unthinking members of that party, is as clear a case of admitted cuckooism as humanity can give. Such advocacy is the plainest illustration of the present "innocuous desuetude" of American nationality possible. Why will not Eastern Republicans listen to reason and their own judgment, when told that their Western brethren in all the states west of the Alleghenies are for real, straight bimetallism, i. e., silver and gold, 16 to 1, with free and equal mint privileges, when even the old "rebellious," "Bourbon," "cuckoo Democrats," who everyone says, "never learn anything," admit its truth?

The Republican party had its birth and growth in its voicing and leadership advocacy of the wants and belief of the "common people," who are the real founders and sustainers of this nation, and who have never failed of triumphantly carrying their party into full national control, when its leaders led them along the lines and principles in harmony with that party's foundation principles and their own convictions. The Republican platform of 1892, clearly stated and is to this date in full force that, "the American people, from tradition and interest favor bimetallism, and that the Republican party demands the use of both gold and silver as standard money." Now, by what authority do its party leaders and its party papers dare to assert that Republicans who still stand on and believe in this financial platform are disloyal to its national principles?

Where else can we stand and where is the cause to change, and where the party treason to advocate the same sound principle, especially when the mass of Democrats even affirm it as a sound national financial policy? Why must we now, at this time, repudiate it? Why and for what reasons do the Republican leaders and papers so strongly, yes, abusively, assert that our own people demand that our next presidential candidate must stand upon a party platform embracing that double meaning Buzzard's Bay cuckooism "sound money?" When, where and how have the American people ever asked for the demonetizing, or displacement of silver from its nationally inherited place, as the foundation metal of our financial policy and under which honored placement of its leading value as the common people's money metal, we have as a nation been upbuilded and developed into the most prosperous, hopeful and richest nation on earth, with our natural resources not one hundredth, thousand part yet developed?

They know they cannot prove that a single citizen even, of these United States ever demanded or voted for the displacement of silver as the standard and leading metal. They know they cannot produce a single certificate from any member of either house of congress of February, 1893, or a single member of the executive of that time, Michigan the president down, stating that they knowingly voted for or approved of the displacement of silver from its place in our government's foundation since 1792. Put this question squarely to them to produce such a man and it will solve the question we have been trying for twenty-three years to find out, i. e., who it was that struck 16, but which no one yet has been found willing to admit any agency in so doing, for he knows that hereafter Judas Iscariot would stand no show as the boss betrayer. You can talk right out, they can't find a single witness. Not a Brutus can be found to admit he struck the fatal blow. Still it was done.

The best posted man in 1873, in both business and national finance, was Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia. In an interview last month he said he suspicioned Dr. Lindermann, at that time superintendent of the mints, and who congress relied onto draw up and formulate allmintage and currency regulations, and who a little while before had been dined and flattered in England, while W. H. Harvey, in his "Tale of Two Nations," squarely accuses Senator Sherman and a representative from Massachusetts as the ones. Still, this as yet utterly dark conspiracy, must have had more or less of fathers in both houses. It was not simply a "Topsy" growth. Space forbids telling how silver was demonetized in a bill for the "revision of the currency laws," drawn up by Dr. Lindermann and reported and its demonetizing effect denied by John Sherman, then chairman of the finance committee.

The insertion of six words changed the "unit," or foundation metal, from silver to gold. So secretly and silently was it done, that it was years before its silver demonetizing effects were known, and now most of the Republican leaders and their party papers abuse and misrepresent the life-long Republicans and the people who have trusted their honesty and fidelity to their party principles, who kick against the placing of the cuckoo catch word, "sound money" or any modification of it, in the soon coming Republican platform of 1896, as the voice and wish of our people.

Naturally one asks what is the influence that so secretly demonetized silver and now tries to maintain its unrighteousness and that boldly commands in cold ink, our board of trade and milling men to "dry up their silver talk or lose their discounts?" Surely it can be no other than our American bankers and their money loaning satellites. For our national government and every class of our people, save them, are being impoverished by the maintenance of the gold standard, or the same thing, "sound money." How false the assertion that we cannot cure this imported foreign "Rinderpest" disease but "through foreign permission." So we must all suffer to fatten "American bankers," and who are they? Local offense would be given if we did not admit—as we do—that our local bankers were a fair average sample of their profession as a whole. Still knowing them as we all do, we know they come from "all sorts and conditions of men," and not from any choicely bred or trained breed of men as European bankers are. Do the financial wrecks, or court records, or our people's losses of the past six years show them as more successful, solvent or of higher integrity than the proportionate per cent of other classes? Each can make their own thoughtful answer.

A nation with only 4 per cent of its entire commerce that is foreign, as ours is, cannot be charged with entire dependence upon foreign permission, as "international agreement" implies, to regulate its own financial or coinage matters in harmony with its best general interests. Every other civilized nation, but the United States, is simply forced by their mass of commerce being foreign to them, to almost entire dependence upon foreign permission, as "international agreement" implies as to the regulation of its own financial policy. The only true way for the United States to obtain and maintain "international agreement" is to unbuild and sturdily maintain our complete "national independence" and a fixed, unflinching "national policy." It has been this ever maintained "national policy," and this alone, that has upbuilded those little English islands into the present British empire. Would that the Americans of today would thoroughly respect and follow our English fatherland's example in unflinchingly and always, and in every way, proclaim and maintain their highest and best national independence.

Very respectfully, Thomas Dowse.
Duluth, June 10.

HUMORISTS IN CONGRESS.

Champ Clark in St. Louis Republic: There were a great many men in congress who made humor an incident of speech; but the humorist par excellence was Private John Allen, of Mississippi. He is one of the three greatest humorists that ever sat in the American congress. The other two were Tom Corwin and Proctor Knott.

It would be difficult, if not impossible, to determine to which of this illustrious trio the palm belongs. By a humorous speech in the house in 1840 in defense of Gen. Harrison, Corwin so thoroughly demolished a Michigan militia general named Cleary, who had attacked the hero of Pipecanoe, that in a day or two afterwards John Quincy Adams referred to him in debate as "the late Cleary, of Michigan." Corwin's humor actually ended the man's political career. Knott, by his Duluth speech, stunted "the Zenith City of the Unsalted Seas" for twenty years, and gave him a fame commensurate with the English speaking world. Yet Corwin said in his old age, addressing a law school class: "Young men, if you desire a reputation for wisdom, never joke. Be as solemn as an ass;" and Knott declared that after his Duluth and Pennsylvania avenue speeches he never could induce congress to take him seriously, and that those two star performances as a humorist wrecked his reputation as a lawyer, though he was subsequently chairman of the judiciary committee—the ne plus ultra of positions for a lawyer in the house. My own opinion is that the fame which the genial ex-attorney general of Missouri and the ex-governor of Kentucky won as a humorist richly compensated him for all the reputation he lost as a lawyer.

CLOUGH'S CHIEF SUPPORT.

Little Falls Transcript: The officeholders in Minnesota are making a determined effort to nominate Clough for governor, so that they may continue to draw their salaries. These, with the men who hope for office from the Republican state administration, are the strength and support of Clough's campaign.

CLAPP'S STRENGTH.

Crookston Tribune: If anything were needed to show Clapp's strength in St. Paul, it can be seen in the fact that the Pioneer Press and the Dispatch find it necessary to publish cartoons and columns of editorial and local matter every day in their effort to defeat him—in the interest of Merriam and Clough.

A POPULAR REBELLION.

Midway News: The dividing line, now, is definite and pronounced. It is "the machine against the party" and "the party against the machine." If the least vestige of suspicion yet remains it ought to be dispelled. The machine has been busy for two years secretly organizing. The opposition has less than one month. But the tremendous Republican uprising all over the country, upon which the Clough people depend for the election, is clearly a great popular rebellion against machine rule, and the result of the convention to name state officers ought not to differ from the result of the convention which instructed its delegates to the national convention, which, in the same way, it is attempted to control by machine methods. Unless all signs fail Mr. Clough is sure to be defeated.

PNEUMATICALLY TIRED.

St. Paul Globe: A Duluth teacher used a piece of rubber hose on a pupil in place of the regulation birch. It gave the boy a pneumatic tire.

ECHOES FROM BERLIN.

London Punch: "Have you carefully packed up that silver cup and dispatched it to Cowes?"

"Yes, your majesty."

"Have you looked out a showy decoration for the acceptance of the negus?"

"Yes, your majesty."

"Have you had a copy of the engraving of my famous picture framed in diamonds for the khedive?"

"Yes, your majesty."

"Have you selected a diplomatic suit (cocked hat, sword, breeches and all) for use of President Krueger?"

"Yes, your majesty."

"Have you forwarded my plan for the Paris exposition of 1900 to President Faure?"

"Yes, your majesty."

"Have you mailed my scheme for a new constitution of the United States of America to President Cleveland?"

"Yes, your majesty."

"Have you posted my pamphlet, 'How to Ride a High Horse,' to the emperor of Austria on the occasion of his becoming my brother officer in the British cavalry?"

"Yes, your majesty."

"Have you handed my last sermon to the archbishop of Canterbury, the emperor of Abyssinia, Gen. Booth and the pope?"

"Yes, your majesty."

"Have you sent my memorandum on 'The Extraction of the Yolks of Eggs by Suction' to the most venerable of my reverend relatives?"

"Yes, your majesty."

"Then after you have filled out a telegram of congratulation to the winner of the boat race, leaving the name blank, you can go to dinner."

"Yes, your majesty."

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Whereas default has been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage executed and delivered by Margaret E. King and Hervey M. King, her husband, mortgagors, to William A. Jenner, mortgagee, dated December 19th, 1892, and recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on December 21st, 1892, at nine (9) o'clock a. m. in Book one hundred four (104) of mortgages on page fifty-four (54), such default consisting in the non-payment of the principal and interest money due on said mortgage and in the non-payment of the sum of forty-eight and 66-100 (48.66) dollars for insurance heretofore paid by said mortgagee for insurance premiums upon said premises in accordance with the provisions of said mortgage, and

Whereas, there is therefore claimed to be due and there is actually due upon said mortgage debt at the date of this notice the sum of seventeen hundred forty-four and 82-100 (1744.82) dollars for principal and interest and insurance premiums paid, and

Whereas, said mortgage contains a power of sale which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned and no action or proceeding, at law or otherwise, having been instituted to recover said debt or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of said power of sale contained in said mortgage which has become operative by reason of the defaults above mentioned and pursuant to the statutes in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by the sale of the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: All that tract or parcel of land lying and being in the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, described as follows to-wit: The easterly twenty-five (e 25) feet of lot seven (7), block two (2), of Fleischer & Cremer's rearrangement of block fifty-six (56), Duluth Proper, Third (3rd) Division, according to the plat thereof on file or of record in the office of the register of deeds in and for said county of St. Louis, and located on the west half (w½) of northwest quarter (nw¼) of section twenty-seven (27), township fifty (50), range fourteen (14), which said premises with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt, interest and insurance premiums paid and taxes (if any) on said premises and seventy-five (75.00) dollars attorneys' fees as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state on Saturday, the 20th day of June, A. D. 1896, at ten (10) o'clock a. m. of that day subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale, as provided by law.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE SALE.—

Whereas, default has been made in the conditions of a certain morigage which was duly executed and delivered by Frank S. Whitelaw, and Kate C. Whitelaw, his wife, of the city of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, mortgagors, to James A. Butchart and Alexander J. B. Michaud, of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, mortgagees, bearing date the 24th day of April, A. D. 1895, and which was duly filed for record in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the county of St. Louis, and State of Minnesota, on the 1st day of June, A. D. 1895, at ten o'clock a. m. of that day, and duly recorded in Book ninety-five (95) of mortgages, in said register of deeds office, on page two hundred and sixty-six (266).

And whereas, the said James A. Butchart and Alexander J. B. Michaud, on the 4th day of October, A. D. 1895, for a valuable consideration to them in hand paid by John T. Michaud, of the city of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, by an instrument in writing, did duly assign all their interest in said mortgage and the note accompanying the same, to John T. Michaud, which said instrument of assignment was duly filed for record in the office of the register of deeds, in and for the county of St. Louis, and state of Minnesota, on the 16th day of October, 1895, at nine o'clock and forty minutes a. m. of said day, and duly recorded in Book one hundred and seven (107) of mortgages, in said register of deeds' office, on page three hundred and twenty-one (321):

And whereas, there is claimed to be due and there is due at the date of this notice upon said mortgage and debt, the sum of six hundred and fifty and 67-100 ($650.67) dollars, the principal and interest, and also the sum of twenty-five ($25) dollars attorney's fees, as provided for in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and no actions or proceeding at law or otherwise having been instituted or commenced to collect said mortgage debt or any part thereof;

Now therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz:

An undivided one-half (½) of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter, and lots 1 and 2 (1 and 2), of section nine (9), township fifty-one (51) north range twelve (12) west, all in the county of St. Louis, and state of Minnesota, will, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, be sold at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, together with twenty-five ($25) dollars attorney's fees, as stipulated in said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at the front door of the county court house, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on the 26th day of June, 1896, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale as provided by law.

The Commencement Exercises at Maynard Hall Last Evening.

A Fine Address By Dr. John Paul Eghert, of St. Paul.

Miss Jones Explains the Aims of the School---The Reception.

Maynard hall was a scene of life and beauty last evening. A veritable picture and the handsome school building has never seen a prettier commencement. The exercises were held in the large room on the first floor, and it was filled with the friends and pupils of the school. The room was decorated with the class colors, lavendar and white and flowers of many varieties of form and color filled the air with their fragrance.

The "swee: girl graduates" entered after the guests had been placed and, of course, were very charming to look upon. All were gowned in white and carried beautiful boquets. They were: Misses Maude Muller Bartleson, of Minneapolis; Cora Lyon Hubbell and L. Louise Hubbell, of South Manstique, Mich.; Katherine Watrous Ensign, Mayme Florence McDougall, Bertha Hansard Wilson and Nellie Sitsel Wolvin, of Duluth; Leslie Mitchell, of St. Cloud.

A chorus of pupils under the direction of Miss Blanche Marot sang "Evening" as the opening number of the exercises. Rev. F. C. Southworth read from the Scriptures and Dr. A. W. Ryan made the prayer. Miss Blanche Maro; sang "Au der Weser' by Pressel. She has a very pleasing voice of contralto quality and her singing was greatly admired.

Dr. John Paul Egbert, of St. Paul, delivered the commencement address and it was a worthy effort, filled with brigh: and crisp ideas and sentiments, and evidenced great thought and reflection. It is always a pleasure, he said, to one who is striving for education to say a few words to the persons who are themselves seeking it. It is delightful to drop a seed in the soil that is fertile and a great satisfaction to give some encouragement in the time of weariness.

SPRINGTIME OF LIFE.

"This is your springime of life," he continued, "the time of spontaneous enthusiasm, the time when the growing power is you, and it is when the growing power is in you that you develop. You may sow seed in fertile soil at any time, but it will only grow in the spring when the growing power is in it. So it is with life. The power of growth is the greatest we know of. None other equals it. This is illustrated all acound us. Look at it in nature. The tender plant that you can crush with your hand pushes its way through the solid earth upward to the open air. An acre of land that will produce thirty bushels of wheat has 1800 pounds of the grain supported by little straws. When the growth stops, decay comes and the wheat will fall. It is the same with man. While growth continues he will never grow old.

"The power of growth is the greatest with which we as suden's have to deal. A great mistake is made in substituting knowledge for education. Education is the proper use of power. Knowledge is acquisition, education is becoming. Knowledge is the discovery of things, education is the discovery of self. There are many men who are great quotations. I know a man whose powers of acquisition dominate all others. He is an encyclopedia in himself, but he is not educated. The greatest discovery any man can make is himself, to find his power and know how to use it. We are dealing with power constantly."

The speaker here referred to the use of the great power in Niagara and said the amount obtained is infinitesimal in comparison with the possibility. It takes enormous power to compress the gases which form water into the liquid. If some man could find the secret of loosening those gases again it would give a power before which all others would pale into insignificance. The comparison was applied to the human being.

Take the immortal soul of man that from a babe grows to a Dante or a Shakespeare by the simple process of expansion of the power stored therein. The power in a soul is natural; it is born there and all the training of the world cannot place it there. Education takes it and trains it. Every man who can find this power in himself and expand it can go through life rich in himself, rich in God and rich in his capacity to benefi: his fellowmen.

"But it is not enough to have power and to have it well trained. There is something beyond that. It is not the mere use of power but the highest use of it that brings us nearer to freedom. No one has ever known perfect freedom and never will until he has grown to the stature of fulness of a perfect man!"

THE POWER TO USE.

The speaker emphasized the fact that it is not the mere possession of knowledge, but the training in the power to use it that gives real power. The growing power is in the intellect of the pupil, who can be taught and instructed, but whose education must be in self.

"The power within the soul is permanent and can never die, but you can kill it yourself by misuse. Nothing from without can kill it. All the greatness and beauty lies before the human soul to make man like to God. He can only be like God. He cannot be like others. He can imitate them only. The aim of all growth is to be like God. We see the beauty of God everywhere. He has touched with his skill all creation. He is a God of beauty, working out all discords and removing all deformities. What is beauty? Plato says it is 'the splendor of truth.' He heard it said that men have died for the truth. Man never died for the truth; he died from the truthfulness in his own nature. It is not valuable to know truth unless we assimilate it into self.

"We resent sometimes the great efforts made for education and try short cuts to reach the height, but we always have to go back. All greatness is reached only through difficulty, through striving after something higher. The man who will not strive will not go upward. Look up. Always strive to let the past be only that from which you go. Live and do all your work remembering that you have a soul that can rise to God. Immortality iwings the soul for flight to perfect freedom."

Dr. Egbert then spoke a few words to the graduates.

"Have an ideal that is always growing higher, richer and more beautiful," he said. "Don't drift through this life. As you grow your ideal should grow, but place your ideal as high as you can. Let it be not some thing, but yourself. If we could see life as God sees it, I believe we would see ourselves ultimately perfect. Be sure, too, that your ideal becomes your motive. If your ideal is so high how can you make better use of it than to bring it down and put it into your life so that you can do nothing to shame it.

"Remember that the whole world and the whole universe is for us to discover. Don't think everything is discovered. In each of you there is some Columbus faculty, and like him you should set your course westward and go straight ahead and discover a new world of great riches. Remember that God is still building this universe. He is not through yet. He is still driving chaos out and replacing deformity with symmetry. Remember that education is your introduction to the great society of the noble living and the noble dead that the world can never lose. There is a great difference between companionship and fellowship. You can touch elbows with a companion; you can touch souls in fellowship. As you go on in life, strive always to get in place with those who have shown the possibilities of a human life. We may reach that place of perfection; we have all time and eternity before us. Education is the spring of life awakening under God's own immortality."

As Dr. Egbert concluded his profound address he was given great applause. The chorus then sang: "Homeward on the Flowing Tide."

AIMS OF THE SCHOOL.

Miss Jones, the principal of the school, addressed the assemblage for several moments, informing them of what she intended Maynard school to be.

"President Harper, of the Chicago university has said that educational institutions have as much individuality as persons," said she. "If there is a distinctive personality in every school you will pardon me if I take a few moments to tell you what the personality of this school is to be. It is not an unimportant question. The atmosphere which surrounds the pupil is no small factor in the development of life. In placing your child in school you want to study the personality of that school and to choose according to your ideal.

"We want here not simply to help to gain knowledge. We do want to teach these girls to live. The time was when a sweet girl graduate was expected to go home broken down and requiring a year to recuperate. I hope it may never be said that a girl left here needing a year to recover. I wan: to enter a protest against the idea that educated women must be feeble. Each girl while here shall be putting away something on which to build life. The girl who is using all her nervous power will break down when the possibilities of life are thrust upon her. Our aim is to teach each girl to live within her income. We believe in plenty of good sleep and outdoor exercise, education that will give alertness. We propose to educate them in the hygiene of life.

"But we are in a school and we think of the intellect, too. Our aim is that our pupils shall learn facts not words. We want to discourage parrot memorizing. We don't want to give them information alone, we want it in its relation to truth. We don't want to have lessons learned verbatim, we want reasonings for cause and effect. We want them to think for themselves. We want these girls to learn to think; if they can do this they are being educated."

Miss Jones said further that the aim would also be to instruct the girls in current events and to open their eyes to the beauties of literature. It will be the aim of the school to make its diploma a testimonial that the pupil is thorough. An Eastern college wrote a few days ago that this is the best preparatory school in the Northwest, but it is intended that it shall be more than that. She spoke also of the social life which is provided and is intended to give the ease of entertaining, which is a part of education, this being introduced as recreation. The development of the spiritual side also is not overlooked.

Miss Jones then addressed the graduates and in a few words presented them with their diplomas.

Miss Marot sang "Take My Life and Let It Be," by Schnecker, and Dr. Humason pronounced the benediction.

A reception followed the program and the graduates were showered with congratulations.

The Minstrel Show.

The minstrel show given by the high school boys, which proved such a success when given at Turner hall some time ago, will be repeated, by request, on Friday evening in Assembly hall at the High School. In the first part, a number of young ladies will appear, which feature is a departure from minstrel traditions. The second part will consist of the usual specialties and dialogues—with the qualification that the varnish has not been entirely worn off of the jokes.

Convention of the Firemen's Association Adjourned Sine Die Today.

Officers Elected and Little Falls Selected For the Next Meeting.

Ball at the Pavilion and a Picnic on Clough Island.

There was a diminished number of delegates present at yesterday's session of the firemen's convention, the outside attractions having proven too alluring for a large number. Directly upon convening, at 2 o'clock, the delegates proceeded to the High School, where a group picture of them was taken, after which they returned to the hall and proceeded with the transaction of business.

In addition to the papers on topics handed in at the morning session, those of Winona and Owatonna were submitted, both being on the problem of how to extinguish a fire in a cellar stored with oil, when the only entrance is on the inside of the building. Winona advocated the theory of at once opening all windows that the smoke may escape and the fire be located more quickly. If possible, carbonic acid gas should be utilized, but if not available, water should be applied directly at the seat of the fire.

Owatonna had never heard of a cellar without an outside opening. If any were constructed, would cut a hole in the floor, as near as possible to the fire, and flood the cellar with water.

Faribault withdrew its communication relative to the merging of its two relief associations, and raising the question of the number of delegates to which they would in that case be entitled.

A resolution was adopted providing that the balance in the hands of the special legislative committee be devoted to the legislative fund.

Chief Black addressed the convention on a resolution in favor of an amendment to the firemen's benefit act, admitting single firemen to participation. He told the delegates that the attorney general had rendered an opinion to the effect that under the law the heirs of single firemen could receive no money from the fund. The resolution was passed.

VOTE OF THANKS.

The convention at this point passed, by a rising vote, a resolution of thanks to Mayor Truelsen, the board of commissioners, Chief Black and the citizens of Duluth, and, on motion of Secretary Strong, gave three rousing cheers for "everybody in Duluth."

The report of the Warren department on the topic assigned for its consideration was submitted, the opinion being set forth that both the waterworks and fire alarm systems should be the property of the city.

Delegate Gregorson presented a resolution to amend article 1, section 3, of the constitution, by adding after the word "be," in the first line thereof, the words "entitled to be," so that the section shall provide that "each organization shall be entitled to be represented at each annual meeting." The amendment was adopted.

Th committee on honorary membership reported as eligible to honorary membership in the association, G. M. Phillips, D. F. McIntosh and J. T. Bennett, Jr., the report being adopted, and they were designated as such.

Delegate Brackett moved to amend the by laws to provide that ex-presidents of the association be eligible to honorary life membership on application, the amendment being adopted, and the application of A. J. Wright, of Moorhead, president for 1894, the first under the new rule, was received and granted.

The reference committee had a narrow escape from annihilation, an assault with intent to wipe it out of existence being made upon it in the shape of a motion for its abolishment. Secretary Strong had suggested that the papers on topics be referred to the committee, but the convention did not fall in with the idea, whereupon the secretary remarked that the reference committee would have nothing to do. Several delegates upon this asserted that the committee should be wiped out, but the motion to that effect failed to pass.

The joint committee to which were referred the reports of the secretary and treasurer, reported that the accounts had been found to be correct, and the report was adopted.

The committee also reported favorably on suggestions of Secreary Strong that the actual expenses of committees while in discharge of their duties be paid, and that ex-presidents of the association be eligible to be and that they become honorary life members without further action of the association. The report as to expense of committees was adopted. The report on the second recommendation was withdrawn. Delegate Brackett's motion having anticipated it.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was next in order, C. N. Lafond, of Little Falls, was placed in nomination, and it was moved that the convention proceed to vote.

Delegate Brackett moved as an amendment to the motion that the matter of nomination of officers for the ensuing year be placed in the hands of a committee of five, to be appointed by the chair.

Delegate Hein, of Chaska, and others voiced an opposiion to this measure, and it received no second. On motion, the secretary was instructed to cast the ballot for C. N. Lafond as president, which was done, and that gentleman was declared elected.

The other officers elected are as follows, the secretary in each case casting a ballot for the nominee by instruction of the convention: First vice president; H. M. Young, of Chaska; second vice president, Thomas Dugan, of Austin; secretary, R. O. Strong, of St. Paul; statistician, O. L. Cutler, of Anoka; treasurer, F. E. Joy, of Stillwater.

Secretary Strong was called on for a speech. He responded by saying that he felt like crying, but would reserve his tears to some more serious occasion. He expressed his gratitude for the honor conferred upon him.

A spirit of fun was rife, and while Secretary Strong was speaking, several grey-headed veterans sitting just in front of the stage commenced to "josh" the secretary as he went on with his speech. He stopped to tell them that they could not phase him, and just at this juncture Delegate Cutler moved that the rest of the secretary's speech be printed. There was a yell of laughter at this.

Delegate Joy was the next candidate to be voted for, having been nominated as treasurer, and Secretary Strong interjected a motion, just as Mr. Joy rose to express his thanks, that the whole of the latter's speech be printed. Mr. Joy retorted that he could shed tears readily enough, the reason being that he had to room with the secretary.

Delegate Brackett had called attention to the necessity of an arrangement that should prevent the selection of a place of holding the succeeding meeting each year influencing the election of officers, and a motion with that bearing, providing that the convention should, at each meeting, select the place for holding the next year's meeting, the motion, however, being lost.

By the secretary's report, it appears that thirteen organizations have joined during the year ending June 8, 1896, and one has dropped out, having been disbanded. Membership at date of report, eighty-nine departments, representing 180 organizations.

Chief Black appeared at this time and announced the program for the day following, and warned the delegates not to leave Duluth until the entertainment committee got through with them. The session adjourned to this morning, after having named Little Falls as the place for holding the next meeting.

BALL IN THE EVENING.

Dancing was the order of business before the firemen's convention last night, and the sun had hung his banners in the east this morning before it was concluded. The music was excellent, the floor in good conditon, and dull care was the only visitor not made to feel at home. Not a detail that was calculated to contribute to the comfort and pleasure of the guests had been left unattended to by the committee in charge, and everything passed off without jar or hitch.

Until 10:30 o'clock, the trials of "La Mascotte" and her shepherd lover engrossed the guests, at which hour the floor was cleared of chairs, the orchestra took its place on the stage and nearly 800 merry dancers took possession.

On the lower floor ample preparation for feeding the hungry revellers had been made, and it was seen to that nobody went hungry. The balcony had been liberally provided with chairs for the benefit of those who wished to gaze at the stars, and the committee saw to it that that retreat was not too brilliantly lighted. Those in charge of the floor had special instructions to allow no loafing. They carried out their orders to the letter, and the genus wallflower was an unknown plant. The flight of time was not heeded, and a reminder from the prompter that the last car left the Pavilion at 3:30 was necessary before there was any remission in the assiduity with which the merrymakers followed the music's measures.

THE CLOSING SESSION.

The closing session of the firemen's convention this morning was very brief, and at 10 o'clock an adjournment sine die had been taken, and it was a thing of the past. There were not many more than enough to make a corporal's guard on hand at 9:30, when President Lafond's gavel fell, the majority of the delegates having succumbed to the temptation of an extra snooze.

A resolution introduced by Statistician Cutler was passed requesting the various fire departments to transmit to the chairman of the Western Passenger association, at a time not later than sixty days before the next annual convention of the Firemen's association, resolutions asking for a rate of one fare for the round trip for delegates attending.

To the Duluth & Winnipeg, the Duluth & Iron Range and the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroads was tendered a vote of thanks for their courtesy to the association, this action being taken on motion of Treasurer Joy, who remarked that it should be noted that there are a few roads in the country that appreciate the services of firemen.

The business concluded, Chief Black reminded the delegates of the excursion up the river this afternoon, and requested that a guard be appointed to prevent Secretry Strong and Treasurer Joy from leaving for home at noon, as they threatened to do. In accordance with the chief's request, Messrs. Mitchell, Wright and Young were detailed by President Lafond to take charge of the secretary and treasurer, with strict orders to prevent their escape.

On motion the chairman then declared the convention adjourned sine die, and those present proceeded to the steamer Henrietta, which was in waiting at Fifth avenue west, to take the first load of excursionists to Zenith park. The boat made trips to the park at 10 a. m. and 5:30 p. m., going well loaded each time. The ride up the river on a stern-wheeler, made after a design most ancient, was in striking contrast with, and a fitting companion excursion to, the trip on the great lake on a craft which is the very latest and most daring conception in marine architecture, and which would have been looked upon by those to whom the Henrietta type was the acme of perfection as nothing more nor less than a monster. The last day was put in by the visitors in boating and in dancing on the green, lunch being served in old-fashioned picnic style during the afternoon.

DULUTH DOWNED.

Mankato Stalwarts Too Much For Home Boys.

That they know how to play ball down in Mankato was very evident from the way the nine stalwart boys from that place acted on the West End grounds yesterday. Their batting was terrific, they threw to bases unerringly, and with one or two exceptions they fielded admirably. Yet it was plain that they did not play their best game yesterday, nor did Duluth, for inotwithstanding the fact that in sports the game was one of the best ever seen on the home grounds, the score went up rather light and when the nine innings were finished Mankato had run up 12 scores and Duluth had but 8.

From the time the Mankato boys took their places in the field for practice before the game it was apparent that Duluth was at least face to face with its equal if not its superior, and it is quite likely that it was the latter. And when Mankato went to bat first the impression was strengthened, for she circulated her men rapidly about the bases, pounded the cover off the ball and kept the Duluth fielders busy falling over it all over the field. They got in two scores, but in the second half Duluth did just as well and the score was tied.

The second inning was unproductive of scores for either side and in the third Mankato made one while Duluth went out in one, two three order. In the fourth neither scored again, and in the fifth Mankato only got one man to first while Porter and Murphy, two new men in Duluth's forces, got home. This was interesting, but in the next inning Mankato pounded the ball all over and got in six scores, making a lead which Duluth could not overcome. In this inning Duluth went all to pieces, showing the result of the loose game she has been playing. Jules Conrad on third fumbled most awfully, something unusual for him. Fitch threw wildly and everyone juggled with the ball in the most awkward manner.

Though Duluth lost the game it will be a lesson to the club not to waste its powers of concentration by playing with such nines as Stillwater put out. Mankato plays a strong team game, and in that she had the advantage of Duluth, R. Conrad pitched for Duluth yesterday. He was pretty well hit, but he managed to strike out six men while his opponent only struck out two. Conrad allowed one base on balls while Noyes, of Mankato, allowed three. Duluth made four two-base hits and Mankato made three two-baggers and one three-base hit. On Connors, the Duluth catcher, there were no passed balls, while Jones for Mankato allowed one. Duluth made one double play and Mankato made two.

Noyes, the Mankato pitcher, is a slim, boyish genius, and he seldom says a word, but he can play ball from the word go, and he played ball yesterday. He struck out but two men, but he caught a lot of them on bases, and he played an errorless game. The score by innings was as follows:

	1	2	3	4	4	6	7	8	9
Mankato	2	0	1	0	0	6	0	0	3	—12
Duluth	2	0	0	0	2	0	3	0	1	—8

Another game is on for today and another for tomorrow, and Saturday and Sunday Chippewa Falls will play here.

Was said to have supported the world upon his shoulders. If so, he must have been a decidedly muscular individual. We can't all be muscular, but we can enjoy a fair medicum of physical vigor if, when that blessing is denied us by nature, we supplement her deficit by an appeal to the national tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which reinstates digestion upon a permanent basis, remedies nervousness, billiousness and constipation, and overcomes rheumatic and kidney troubles. It also counteracts the poison of malaria in air or water, and recruits exhausted energy when impaired by unusual bodily or mental fatigue. The aged, infirm and convalescent have no more potent and thorough helper that this justly popular invigorant, with a successful record of nearly half a century.

CYCLE CLUB MEETING.

Several Matters of Importance Were Considered.

There was a large attendance at the regular monthly meeting of the Duluth Cycle club last night. W. H. Loud reported the appointment of Joe Davis and J. Green to the ordinance committee, and the Marshall-Wells Hardware company reported its road races on London road, which were outlined in Saturday's Herald. A grand stand seating 500 will be erected at Twelfth avenue east. P. H. Hasselblad, S. M. Linander and E. Satler were appointed a committee to see H. O. Missler about building one of his saucer-shaped board tracks.

An invitation from the ladies of the Unitarian church to attend a cycle meet at Lester Park Tuesday evening was accepted. P. H. Hasselblad, E. C. Regli and C. Geist were appointed to see about having a benefit performance at the Pavilion for the club. L. E. Harris, J. H. Poteet and E. F. Blowers were appointed to have full charge of the races July 4, which will be held in the morning to allow club members to attend the Superior races.

A Big Saturday!

Last Saturday was a big day in Duluth shopping. The stores which have made themselves best known were crowded by people who had turned out to buy. A better Saturday has rarely been experienced at this time of the year and the crowded condition of the stores, which was foreshadowed by the crowded state of the advertising columns of the preceding day, was a forerunner of the business that may be expected during this and the coming weeks. Saturday is always the big trading day of the week, and advertisements in The Friday Herald reach people at just the time they are considering what to buy.

PERSONALS.

Peter C. Hart, of the United States steamship Concord, is home on a visit after a cruise of seven years. He is visiting his parents at 914 East Sixth street.

"The Flower Queen."

The beautiful cantata, "The Flower Queen, or the Coronation of the Rose," by George F. Root, will be given by a chorus of fifty voices at Turner hall Friday evening for the benefit of Miss Mary L. Barnes.

Argument—The flowers meet in a secluded dell in the forest to choose their queen. A person discontented with the world seeks, in the same place, retirement from its cares and disappointments. The flowers tell of love and duty, and the recluse—learning that to till well the station alloted by Providence is to be happy—resolved to return again to usefulness and contentment among his fellow-creatures.

Solos by the Rose, Sunflower, Dahlia, Tulip, Crocus, Hollyhock, Dandelion and Japonica.

Duet by the Violet and Lily.

Duet by the Heliotrope and Mignonette.

Semi-chorus of Heatherbells—sixteen little girls.

Semi-chorus of Poppies.

Duet—Nightingale and Rose.

Full chorus—Coronation march.

Solos by the Recluse.

The characters will be taken as follows: Rose, Miss St. Clair Nichols, Recluse, J. G. McDermid; Sunflower, Miss Mabel Mercer; Lily, Miss Edna Boyle; Crocus, Miss Florence Clement; Dahlia, Miss Anna Mallett; Japonica, Miss Ethel Cannon; Violet, Miss Eunice Smith; Dandelion, Miss Grace Barrows; Two Little Daisies, Grace Farmer and Mina Hay.

Mr. Towne Elsewhere.

Mat O'Meara, who was in the shoe business here several years ago, is in the city. He was recently in Washington for three weeks, and has been traveling through Illico's, Indiana, Ohio and Virginia, and he says Congressman Towne's silver speech in congress is talked of everywhere. He heard hundreds say that Mr. Towne ought to be representing Minnesota as United States senator. In Washington he found him considered to be the most brilliant and polished speaker in congress, and one of the very best advertisements Duluth ever had. Proctor Knott's speech pales into ineffectual insignificance beside that silver speech.

Eight dozen trimmed hats, including ladies' and children's trimmed hats and bonnets, to be sold at a great sacrifice. Stock must be sold by July 1. Come early and get your choice. Mdlle. Gagnier.

Manager Taylor Here.

Frank Taylor assumed charge of the Spalding yesterday. Mr. Taylor is a first-class hotel man and very popular. He is no stranger to Duluth people and is well known on both sides of the bay. Under his management the Spalding will continue to be recognized as one of the very best hotels in the Northwest.

A Druggist Arrested.

David Shesgreen, proprietor of "The Lion" drug store, at the corner of Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, was arrested this morning charged with selling liquor without a license. He waived preliminary examination and was held to the grand jury in $100, which was furnished.

CITY BRIEFS.

Cullum, dentist, Palladio. Phone No. 9. Smoke Endion cigar. W. A. Foote.

Children's day will be celebrated next Sunday at the First Swedish Baptist church, Nineteenth avenue west and First street. Children will take part in the evening with songs and recitations in both the Swedish and English tongues.

Deputy Sheriff Dash left today for Stillwater with Albert Quade, who is to serve a reformatory sentence for forgery.

Francesca and Anton Cimperman were arraigned before United States Court Commissioner T. H. Pressnell last evening for selling liquor without a license, and their cases were adjourned until tonight. The woman was released on her own recognizance, and the man was held in $200 bail.

Miss Catherine S. Ottinger, daughter of Christopher Ottinger, and Lincoln G. Nevin were married last evening at 408 East Seventh street by Rev. C. C. Salter. A number of their friends were present. A wedding supper was served after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Nevin will reside at 225 West Fifth street.

At Lakewood operations are progressing expeditiously. The brick work in the intake well will be finished tomorrow, and the contractors are making arrangements to commence in the next day or two on the foundation of the pump house. The tunnel has been excavated a distance of fifty feet.

G. E. Booth was sentenced by Judge Edson this morning to pay a fine of $5 and costs or be confined in jail for riding a wheel without a light. He liquidated.

The birth of a son to Nelson and May Flint, of 322 East Fifth street, has been reported to the health department.

John Thomas, James Cahill and Alexander McCabe were this morning sent up on the hill for ten days for drunkenness. Andrew Erickson paid a fine of $10 and costs for the same offense.

If you need millinery be sure and attend Mdlle. Gagnier's closing out sale. Must be sold by July 1 regardless of cost. Come early and get your choice.

TO BE WITHDRAWN.

Minnesota Inspection to Be Forbidden at Superior Elevators.

The directors of the board of trade, at Superior, through Secretary Atkinson, have notified the railroad and warehouse commission of Minnesota that the present system of weighing grain in the Superior elevators will be discontinued after Aug. 31. This means that Superior has decided to do away with Duluth inspection. Secretary A. K. Telsberg of the Minnesota commission has notified the board that arrangements will be made to withdraw.

This action has been taken by the Superior board under the warehouse bill passed at the last session of the Wisconsin legislature. Under it any elevator of 100,000 bushels capacity or over, is a public warehouse. The law was framed for the purpose of inducing the elevator companies having houses in Superior and offices in Duluth to transact their business in Superior. It is claimed that the law has failed to accomplish this; that the Globe Elevator company has followed the spirit of the law; that the Superior Terminal & Belt Line railways have done so only in a perfunctory sort of way, and that the Great Northern company has paid no heed whatever to it. The Superior board therefore feels that it is warranted in making the change in inspection, which has always been desired over there. What system it intends to adopt is not given out.

The general opinion on the Duluth board of trade is that if the Superior people insist on the change, and the law is constitutional and can be enforced, the elevators over there will have to close up. At present almost all the grain which is stored in the elevators there is handled on the Duluth board of trade. If the Minnesota inspection is withdrawn, wheat received in those elevators will not be receivable on contracts made on the Duluth board of trade for delivery in New York or Chicago. It will shut Superior entirely out of the Duluth market with no opportunity to hedge, or do business here at all. The elevator companies are more disturbed over the prospect than the grain men.

North Land Reception.

The postponed reception and promenade on board the beautiful steamer North Land will be given on Friday evening from 8 to 11 o'clock. The steamer will lie at her pier. Hoare's orchestra will play and a program of vocal and piano numbers will be given by some of the best talent of the city. This affair is under the auspices of the Duluth Home society, and the receipts will be turned over to the building fund of the new home. A cordial invitation is extended to all friends wishing to add their mite to this fund.

NO RECORD

John C. Bullitt Found None of the Gray-Western Marriage.

He Examined the Books in the Register of Deeds Office.

S. F. White Identifies the Handwriting in the Letters Introduced.

In the Gray case yesterday Mrs. Gray continued on the stand nearly all the afternoon. She explained that the reason the marriage was kept secret was that Mr. Gray wished it kept so for five years. It was to have been made public last fall, but as Mrs. Gray's sister was ill she did not wish to leave her until she had recovered, and thus it was again put off until it was too late.

This morning Mrs. Gray was on the stand in cross-examination for a short time. She said that one of the reasons why she has asserted herself was because she heard two strangers on the street cast reflections on her relations with Gray.

The last time she saw Gray in Minneapolis she had been visiting Mrs. Woodbridge. In St. Paul she was visiting Mrs. Magee, on Ninth avenue, and with Mrs. R. A. Smith. After seeing Mr. Gray in Minneapolis she returned to Mrs. Magee's, staying there a short time, perhaps all night, and went to Mrs. Smith's next day where she stayed until she went back to Duluth.

Questioned by Mr. Hollembaeh she said R. A. Smith is mayor of St. Paul, and George Magee keeps a wellknown restaurant. She had known the Smiths all her life and the Magees for twenty years.

HANDWRITING IDENTIFIED.

S. F. White, the attorney, was called to the stand and said that he was Mr. Gray's attorney for the last ten years. He identified the handwriting on Mrs. Gray's letters as that of Mr. Gray. There was no doubt that letters and envelopes were in his handwriting. Cross-examined he said that he did not pretend to be an expert in handwriting, but he recognized the writing of Mr. Gray as he would his face, by their general physiognomy. One letter with a pencilled endorsement on the back saying that they would be together in the spring was questioned by Mr. Billson, but while the writing in pencil was different from that in ink, the witness was confident of his position. Some letters from Mr. Gray which Judge White had in his possession were introduced for the purpose of comparison.

John C. Bullitt, Jr., Mrs. Gray's brother-in-law, was called to the stand and testified that he lived in St. Paul for ten years from 1883, and he was for a large part of the time assistant counsel for the Northern Pacific railroad and was counsel from 1890 until he removed to Duluth, where he acted as advisory counsel until the present time. He corroborated Mrs. Gray's story of the inmates of his house in November, 1890, and as to her being left alone in the house at that time, with a Miss Clark who stayed there nights. He knew that he and Mrs. Bullitt were not in St. Paul Nov. 25, because they were in New Haven, having changed their minds about going to the Yale-Princeton football game on that day. What impressed it on his mind was the fact that the grand stand at the football game fell and a number of people were killed.

He was first informed of the death of R. A. Gray May 7 by Alex Fraser. He informed his wife and she informed Mrs. Western Gray, whose deportment created an impression upon his mind that she was brooding over it. She would spend hours in her room, and when the boats were searching for Pinkman's body she acted so that he feared she might follow his example of suicide. She grieved over it terribly. Witness was first informed of the marriage by Mrs. Western Gray in the presence of her mother Monday, May 25. After that witness exerted himself to secure evidence of the marriage, and after questioning Mrs. Gray he went to Hudson. First, however, the heirs were informed Thursday, and on Sunday, May 31, they left for Hudson.

FOUND NO RECORD.

Arriving there Monday witness went to the register of deeds' office to see if the certificate had been recorded. He found no certificates, but he only looked at the index and cross-index for an hour, but the names were not there. He did not look over the actual certificates He went to the pastor of the M. E. church, and told him of his errand. They looked at the records of that church without result. Nothing was found at the Baptist minister's except that he learned who performed the marriage. While going to see another minister he met Mrs. Gray, and they went to the court house where they remained for ten minutes talking. After dinner he went to see C. S. Bunker, from whom he learned that Martin H. Smith was the minister who lived in the house where Mrs. Gray was married.

Then the witness told how he had gone to Ashland and seen the minister's son and his wife. He employed Detective W. K. Twomey to find the hackman who drove Mr. Gray to the minister's house on the morning of the marriage. That is all Mr. Twomey had to do with the case. Asked if he had ever offered any witness inducements to testify in the case, he said "no," though he had paid the expenses of Mr. and Mrs. Julius C. Smith.

Mr. Billson was cross-examining the witness when court adjourned at noon.

Black Bass Seized.

Game Warden Green seized seventy-five black bass at the Union depot this morning en route from Ely to Kansas City, Mo., being carried by the United States Express company, the shipment being in violation of the law prohibiting the sending of game to points outside the state.

Mr. Green says that heavy seizures are being made constantly in the Twin Cities, the value of the stuff confiscated amounting to nearly $100 in one day last week. He told a tale of a green deputy who, upon his appointment, bombarded him daily with letters asking for advice, and, often containing rather inane questions. Tiring of it finally, Mr. Green wrote him to do more work and waste less postage. The deputy obeyed the request to the letter. He started out the next day and seized 500 feet of net and arrested six men. The warden says he has now developed into a daisy.

WHEEL RAN AWAY.

Arthur Melker Injured While Coasting Down Hill.

Arthur Melker, colored, residing at 114 East Second street and employed as second waiter at the Spalding, lost control of his bicycle while descending First avenue west, shortly before 6 o'clock last evening, colliding with a freight car at the railroad tracks, receiving injuries that may prove fatal.

Melker was a tyro at cycling and had attempted to coast before he was fairly acquainted with the tricks of the wheel. He was on his way to the hotel to attend to his duties when the accident occurred. He turned into First avenue west from Second street at a pretty high rate of speed and had not proceeded down the steep grade a hundred feet before his machine was beyond his control and he was utterly helpless. The unfortunate man was thrown with terrific force against the car and dropped to the ground in an unconscious condition.

The ambulance was summoned and Melker was taken to his home. His recovery is doubtful.

Melker was resting easily this morning, and Dr. McCormick, who is attending him, says that he will be able to be about in a week or so, but that it will be a month before he will be able to work. The right side of his face is badly swollen and he may lose some of his teeth.

Officer McManus, who was standing at the Michigan street crossing, had a narrow escape from being struck by the runaway wheel. He says that he heard a zip and felt a rush of air, followed, before he had time to realize what had passed him, by a crash as Melker struck the car. So great was Melker's momentum, said McManus, that he rebounded from the car nearly thirty feet.

TO BE TRIED AGAIN.

Pugilists Released Today on Writs of Habeas Corpus.

Mose Jackson and Pig Iron Kelly, the principals of the prize fight which was interrupted by Sheriff Butchart a few weeks ago were released this morning on a writ of habeas corpus, demanded by C. O. Baldwin, and they will be taken back to Virginia to be tried again there. It appears that the last legislature passed a law by which municipal courts in cities of a certain size, may, by resolution of the attorneys, assume exclusive jurisdiction of cases in that city. Under this law these men would have to be tried in Virginia, and there they will be tried. The men were serving sentences of ninety days.

THE POINT DEFENDED.

Minnesota Point Water Said to Be Clear.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The comments yesterday that Minnesota Point would be a poor place to obtain water supply for the city requires more proof than the description given of the water and its color. We believe the citizens who used the city and Point water during the last storm, or in fact all storms, can clearly prove which has the best and clearest water. The color referred to on Tuesday is only very seldom seen on the north shore. The water southeast from the canal will discount it in color most of the time in regard to cleanliness and clearness. Besides, it makes no difference how the weather is, the Point people have no kick coming; they have good, clear and wholesome water at all times, whether it has the color of the soil around Duluth or not. But that cannot be said of our city water very often, and it is questionable if such can be stated of water brought from Lakewood.

The Point, for some reason, has been raked over of late for its unfitness to obtain water, or for anything else, and pointed out as the dumping and refuse deposit of Duluth and Superior, but the people are better informed and make it their temporary homes during the summer just the same, paying little attention to what they know are not facts, and can prove that the Point, lake and bay beaches are much cleaner than the north shore beach, which is thick with lake and other refuse for a half mile or more off shore, especially during our frequent northeasters. Anyone who will take the trouble to examine will be convinced; besides, our city water supply shows it in our houses. Give the Point a little justice, placing it on an equal with other parts of the city, whether water is obtained there or not, and by adding more modern conveniences to cross the canal and other improvements, it would be equal, if not surpass any part of our city as a healthy locality and general pleasure ground. Justice.

Struck By a "Scorcher."

Lois Persons, 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Persons, was struck by a bicycle ridden by Ed Thompson on London road about 8 o'clock last evening. Thompson was "scorching" with his head down over the handle bars and was going at a terrific rate. The child was crossing the street, and when she saw the wheel coming was paralyzed with fright. Thompson did not see her until too late and struck her with terrific force. At first it was feared that the child was badly hurt, but fortunately it proved to be otherwise. A bad bruise on the forehead and face where she fell in the road was the extent of the injury. Thompson felt very badly over the accident. Mr. Persons does not want to interfere with anybody's pleasure, but thinks there ought to be some limit to the speed allowed on residence portions of the road.

Will Report Monday.

The committee from the St. Louis County Bar association appointed to draft resolutions referring to the death of Judge O. P. Stearns will report Monday morning at 9:30 in court room No. 1, when the association will take action upon them. Members of the bar have been requested to attend for that purpose. There will be speeches by friends of the deceased judge.

Bicycle Meet.

One of the events for next week which the young people are looking forward to, is the bicycle meet at Lester Park on Tuesday evening, arranged by the ladies of the Unitarian church. The grounds will be handsomely decorated with Japanese lanterns and refreshments will be served during the evening. A number of cycling parties have been made up for the occasion.

CONGREGATIONAL PILGRIMS.

Plymouth, June 11.—The Congregational Pilgrims who arrived here today from New York, were met by a delegation of non-conformist ministers. They will remain here over Saturday and will visit the scenes connected with the departure of the Pilgrim Fathers. The mayor of Plymouth will hold a reception in their honor on Saturday.

KNIGHTS OF HONOR ELECTION.

Louisville, June 11.—The supreme lodge Knights of Honor election of officers today resulted as follows: John R. Mulligan, supreme dictator, Yonkers, N. Y.; B. F. Nelson, supreme reporter, St. Louis, Mo.; Joseph W. Branch, supreme treasurer, St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS

and Kowalsky, said the only question at issue was whether there was a quorum present of the eleven members of the state committee, residing in the district, and he claimed there was such a quorum irrespective of the proxies. Mr. Shortridge declared this meeting was practically a proxy meeting and the regular committee men were notified of the meeting. Spear and Kowalsky were seated.

The contestants from the Alabama district, which was passed yesterday, did not appear when the district was reached today, and on motion of Committeeman Youngblood, S. S. Booth and John Harmen were seated. They are McKinley men.

There was considerable interest in the contest from the Fifth Kentucky district, which embraced the city of Louisville. It was a contest between McKinley and friends of Governor Bradley. The McKinley delegation, composed of George D. Todd and Charles E. Sapp, appeared as the regular delegates, and the Bradley men, E. J. Knoebel and J. W. Reeder, as the contestants. Hart Vance, who appeared as counsel for Knoebel and Reeder, contended that the primaries for the Todd convention were held in a retired place, and said it was proven that bribery and personal assaults had been resorted to. He created considerable merriment in the committee by stating that the votes cost only 50 cents each. Mr. Vance said he represented the Republican majority obtained in the election by which Governor Bradley was chosen, and asserted that if "these frauds" were endorsed by the national committee seating Sapp and Todd, the action would result in the loss of at least 5000 votes in Louisville. Judge Thompson spoke for Todd and Sapp. He contended that the convention could not go behind the returns to investigate the alleged frauds. Mr. Weatherland moved to seat Knoebel and Reeder. Mr. Clayton's motion prevailed, on an aye and nay vote, the vote being 28 to 6 in their favor. Recess was then taken until 2 p. m.

The Long delegation, representing the state of Florida at large, was seated by the national committee. They are McKinley men.

MANY INDICTMENTS.

Thirteen Bills Found Against an Ex-Official.

Camden, N. J., June 11.—The grand jury today returned thirteen bills of indictment against ex-City Treasurer Michelon, six for embezzlement and seven for malfeasance in office. The indictments charge embezzlement at various periods during the years 1891 to 1894, of sums ranging from $10,000 to $3900.

He is also charged with having neglected to enter on his books the salaries paid to city officers to the amount of $35,000, and failing to take up a note for $5000 in the National State bank, of Camden, after it was paid.

CROCKERY HOUSE FAILS.

St. Joe, Mo., June 11.—The R. Douglas Crockery company filed a deed of trust today, naming George E. McInnich as trustee. The firm was one of the largest dealers in crockery, glassware, etc., in the West. Liabilities about $100,000; assets not given.

IT MAY DO AS MUCH FOR YOU.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so-called kidney cures but without any good results. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure all kidney and liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50 cents. At Duluth Drug company's drug store.

CHANGE OF TIME ON N. P. R. R.

GEO. R. LAYBOURN, 14 Phoenix Block.

STATE OF MINNESOTA, COUNTY OF ST. LOUIS.—

District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

In the matter of the appointment of a receiver to the property and estate of Louis Beaurivage and Elisee Michaud, insolvents:

ORDER.

Waite H. Squier, receiver in the above entitled proceedings, having filed his affidavit setting forth that as such receiver there has come into his control certain property as part of the assets of Louis Beaurivage, one of the above named insolvents, consisting of real estate in said petition described and of certain shares of stock of the Zenith Saving and Investment Association, a corporation of the city of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, and it appearing to the court that the facts stated in said affidavit are true and that it is for the best interest of the creditors of the said insolvent estate that said property be sold as therein petitioned.

It is hereby ordered that the said Waite H. Squier shall on the 26th day of June, 1896, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day at his office in the Burrows building, in the city of Duluth, Minnesota, sell the property described and referred to in the said affidavit, to the highest bidder for cash, as follows:

1st. All the real estate which is more particularly described in said affidavit, being the undivided ⅓ of the e½ of the sw¼ and the nw¼ of the sw¼ and the sw¼ of the ne¼, S. 6 N. 22 W.

2nd. Twenty shares of stock in the Zenith Saving and Investment Association, a corporation of Minnesota.

And it is further ordered that the creditors of said insolvent estate whose names are set forth in the schedule of liabilities in said matter and filed in the office of the clerk of the district court of the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, be notified of the time, place and manner of said sale by mailing forthwith a copy of this order to their respective places of abode or business and by publishing the same twice in The Duluth Evening Herald, a daily newspaper published in the city of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, and that on Saturday, the 27th day of June, 1896, at 9:30 o'clock, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, at the court house, in the city of Duluth, at a special term thereof, the court shall consider the petition and hear evidence in the matter of the said sale.

Dated this 11th day of June, 1896.

By the Court:

PAGE MORRIS,

Judge of the District Court.
